Brockville, May 9.—The Brockville opera house will be closed permanently, according to a resolution passed at last night's council meeting, the contract of F. I. Ritchie, the lessee, expiring Thursday. This action is taken in view of the fact that the ratepayers recently defeated the bylaw to spend $14,000 on the building for improvements.

Grocers Sold Carbolic Acid.

Brockville, May 9.—During the past couple of weeks, a Government detective has made his appearance in a number of rural grocery stores in quest of information. It seems they are not allowed to sell carbolic acid, but it has been done. One or two merchants has been caught in the act and has had to pay the fine of $20.

Few Girl Immigrants.

Toronto, May 9.—"Out of nearly 14,000 immigrants, who have come under our attention this year, more than eight per cent. have been women and girls," said an officer of the Ontario Immigration, "and nearly all the gentler sex were married woman. This shows there is good ground for the statement from the west that men there are unable to find wives."

American Admiral For Turkey.

Constantinople, May 9.—In the event of war between Turkey and England, the Sultan's navy will probably be commanded by an American. He is Admiral Ramsford Bucknam. He is a native of Bucksport, Maine, and for many years sailed between San Francisco and Oriental ports. Later he became trial captain for warships built by Cramps, and commanded vessels sent by Cramps to Turkey.

Chicago City Hall Unsafe.

Chicago, May 9.—The City Hall was was condemned today as dangerous, and Chief Sanitary Inspector Hedrick said that it should be vacated at once.

Several months ago the County Building which adjoins the City Hall on the east, was torn down to permit the erection of a new structure and because of this, the walls of the City Hall have settled several inches and much of the plumbing has become disjointed.

After the Indians.

Chamberlain, S.D., May 9.—Dowie has signified his interest in the proposal of M. B. O'Connor, a wealthy farmer and rancher, living in Brave Bull Creek country, in Western South Dakota, that he accept O'Connor lands as a site for a new Zion. O'Connor says the fact that Pine Ridge and Rosebud Indian reservations are not far away would give him excellent opportunity to get converts among the Indians. It is intimated, however, that if Dowie does proselyting among the red man, it will be among Cherokee's, who will soon get from the United States $4,500,000.

BROKER SUICIDED

Suffering from Acute Indigestion Edwin Clark Shot Himself.

New York, May 9.—The Times says: Edwin Clark, a middle-aged broker, and a member of the Cotton Exchange, shot himself early yesterday in his apartments at the Hotel Marseilles.

Mr. Clark had suffered several attacks of acute indigestion on Friday and Saturday. Yesterday morning a still more violent attack taxed to the limit his endurance.

Mrs Clark telephoned for the family physician, but found he was out of the city. Then she called up two other physicians, who advised her to use mustard plasters until their arrival. Mrs. Clark hurriedly made and applied them. Her husband, seeming more comfortable, she went into the next room for a moment. The sound of a pistol shot brought her quickly back into the sick room, and she found her husband dead.

LONGFELLOW SAID:

"We lead but one life here on earth;
We must make that beautiful,
And to do this, health and elasticity of mind are needful,
And whatever endangers or impedes these must be avoided."

Just a plain bit of good,
old-fashioned common sense.
Now apply common sense to your "health of body and mind."
It's largely a question of

FOOD

When "run down" or ailing in any way you may be sure the life forces are not taking up from your present food, the things required to keep Body and Brain well. It is very sure you will discover help when the food is changed properly. The reason for advocating GRAPE-NUTS is that this food contains the natural Phosphate of Potash obtained from Wheat and Barley from which nature makes (in combination with Albumen of the food) the gray filling of Brain and Nerve centres.

Build Brain and Nerves up strong and vigorous and you have achieved the power to "make this life beautiful."

There's a Reason.

10 days trial of Grape-Nuts will prove.

A DR.'S FOOD.

Found a Food That Lifted Him Out of Trouble.

The food experience of a doctor experimenting with himself is worth knowing. He says:

"I had acid dyspepsia since I have any knowledge, from eight years old, I know.

"It worked down from stomach to intestines locating at the umbilicus in enteritis until six years ago the agony every few years was something terrible. I have walked the floor for hours unable to eat or digest if I should eat.

"Medicine would not relieve me at all. Four years ago I began the use of Grape-Nuts and since the first dish I have not had an attack of the old trouble. I take four tablespoonfuls once a day with my supper which is composed only of whole wheat bread and the Grape-Nuts.

"The wonderful part of my case is that I have never had an attack or even any of the dreadful symptoms since the very first meal of Grape-Nuts. Most of my patients know how suddenly and promptly Grape-Nuts cured me and I have prescribed the food with good results in many cases." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Grape-Nuts is regularly prescribed in place of medicine by many physicians for stomach or intestinal trouble, lack of nourishment, brain-fag and nervous prostration. The result usually shows immediate improvement and a speedy complete cure.

Ten days trial of Grape-Nuts in place of starchy foods works wonders.

"There's a reason."

UNION LABEL

PETERBORO, MAY 7, 1906

RESPONSIBILITY OF LABOR UNIONS.

The temper of the British courts in respect to the legal responsibility of labor unions has been communicated to the Canadian courts.

There is before the British Parliament a bill the effect of which would be to give trade unions, as individual bodies, immunity from the effects of boycotting and similar practices which are at present illegal. The present labor situation in Great Britain shows something of the effect of the decision in the Taff Vale Railway case, which induced the labor organizations to seek legislation which would hold their funds exempt from seizure by reason of prosecution of members of the unions. In the Taff Vale case, the House of Lords held that the funds of the union were attachable.

In Toronto the Ontario Divisional Court confirmed the verdict of a jury giving the Toronto Metallic Roofing Company a verdict of $7,000 and costs against the officers of the Amalgamated Sheet Metal Workers. The members of this trade union boycotted the company some time ago, over a dispute as to whether the company should maintain a closed or an open shop, and, as the union was not incorporated, the company brought its action for damages against the officers of the union.

In the Taff Vale case the Lords decided that the funds of the union were attachable, while in the Ontario case the judgment is against the officers of the union, and the reasonable supposition is that the judgment will be satisfied by the officers of the union under the union funds.

It seems plain, at any rate, that the British and Canadian courts agree on the main principle, and that is that under the laws as they stand, the labor unions should be held subject to the same liabilities as may be enforced against bodies properly and legally incorporated.

An Essay on Editors.

In a little country school, not a dozen miles from Peterboro, literary exercises are regularly indulged in every Friday afternoon. The following has been handed The Times as the production of a twelve-year-old boy, on "The Newspaper." The latter-day youthful Solomon treats his subject thusly: "Newspapers are sheets of paper on which stuff to read is printed. The men look over the paper to see if their names is in it and the women use it to put on shelves and such. I don't know how newspapers came into the world. I don't think God does. The Bible says nothing about editors and I never heard of one being in heaven. I guess the editors is the missing link them fellers talk about. The first editor I ever heard of was the fellow who wrote up the flood. He has been here ever since. Some editors belong to church and some try to raise whiskers. All of them raise Cain in their neighborhood and all of them are liars—all I know, and I only knew one. Editors never die. At least I never saw a dead one. Sometimes the paper dies and then people feel glad, but some one starts it up again. Editors never went to school because editors never get licked. Our paper is a mighty poor one, but we take it so ma can use it on our pantry shelves. Our editor doesn't amount to much, but paw says he had a poor chance when he was a boy. He goes without underclothes in winter, wears no socks, and has a wife to support him. Paw hasn't paid his subscription in five years and don't intend to."

Methodist Divine On the Great Race

Rev. Dr. Crothers, one of Peterboro's most talented and eloquent clergymen, on Sunday night, at the George street church, referred, in terms that will ensure him much sympath and appreciation by all lovers of true clean sport to the recent great victory won during the Marathon Athens race, of 27 miles, by William Sherring, the greatest of Canadian foot racers.

The rev. gentleman said that a few months ago few persons knew anything about Sherring, but now he is known the world over as the greatest runner living. Sherring left Hamilton a couple of months ago, without a trainer or companion, and went to Athens of his own accord. He entered the race in which there were nearly a hundred competitors and he emerged victorious after running nearly twenty-seven miles in two hours and fifty-nine minutes. The reverend speaker said that today the eyes of the world were turned towards Canada, the country which produces experts in all classes of athletics.

Nobody Pays But Father.

Nobody pays but father, nobody pays but dad;
Nobody looks so solemn when everybody else is glad,
Nobody looks so seedy when all the rest are prim—
Everybody else seems happy, but dad has lost his vim.
Flossie's taking lessons in French; Lulu's painting art;
Amelia's pounding the ivory in a way that would break your heart,
And Gentleman Jim is right in the swim—gets next to the newest fad—
But nobody pays but father, nobody pays but dad.

Everybody spends but father, everybody rides but he;
But he walks home in the snow and rain as lonely as can be.
Everybody joins in the gay parade and looks on the passing shows,
While dad sits home and chews his quid and warms his lonesome toes.
Julia's gone mobiling, Marie to the equine show;
Bessie's in the parlor a-singing to her beau.
And Gentleman Jim, well groomed and trim, plays the prodigal cad,
And nobody pays for it all but pop, nobody pays but dad.

Nobody gets dear father, everybody sits on dad.
Nobody seems to worry when he's sick or sad.
Everybody else has a lovely cinch, they all have a beautiful snap;
Nobody cares when due day comes, for they charge it all to pap.
Flossie's over in gay Paree, Lulu's going, too;
Amelia's getting ready to make her grand debut,
And Gentleman Jim pulls his old dad's limb, to shine as the gilded lad—
But nobody pays for it all but pop, nobody pays but dad.

"AGENT OR PRINCIPAL?"

British House of Lords Deals With a Matter of Great Importance to Married Women and Tradesmen.

The Daily Mail, commenting upon an important ruling from the House of Lords yesterday, says:

In the interesting case of Paquin v. Holden, the House of Lords dealt with a matter of the utmost importance to married women and tradesmen. Messrs. Paquin in the first instance sued Mrs. Holden for £245 for dresses which had been supplied to her. She pleaded that she was acting as the agent of her husband, and was therefore not liable, but, though, the jury disagreed, judgment was entered against her. The Appeal Court reversed this decision, and decided in her favor, and on a further appeal to the House of Lords, the House was equally divided, with the result that the judgment of the Appeal Court stands.

This is the first time that such a question has been carried to the House of Lords, and the consequences of this judgment are not wholly satisfactory from the business point of view, as the immunity which is conferred upon the married woman places her in a very peculiar and privileged position. That the House of Lords felt some qualms as to its decision can be inferred from the division of opinion of the eminent legal authorities who form the highest court in the land. A married woman is apparently free to contract what debts she likes without disclosing the fact that she is an agent of her husband. When she is sued for payment of those debts she can plead that she is an agent, and she escapes all liability.

The burden of ascertaining the facts rests with the tradesman, and he is, in legal theory at all events, supposed to put to his customers of the fair sex, whose names show that they are married, a series of embarrassing questions. He must ask them whether they are "principals" or "agents," and if he does not take this precaution he supplies goods at his peril. In these days of acute competition, such conduct on the part of the fashionable tradesman would, it is to be feared, issue in the loss of custom and result in his bankruptcy. As the same results follows if he supplied the goods and found himself unable to obtain payment, he is impaled upon the horns of a dilemma.

Nor must it be assumed for a moment that it is all plain sailing for the shopkeeper, even if he makes the most careful inquiry and is definitely informed that the lady is acting as a principal. It is a matter of common knowledge that settlements are the usual rule in the upper stations of life, and a married woman whose property is settled is again practically immune, and cannot be reached by her creditors. Thus the tradesman is once more in difficulties, and it is not very clear how he is to succeed in business. Definite assurances that the husband has given authority to the wife to incur debts and that the wife is an agent are, as we have already pointed out, not easy to obtain without giving offence in some direction. The existing state of the law may be a good argument for matrimony, but it is certainly detrimental to business.

The remedy for this state of affairs can only be attained by a change in the law. If the customer is acting as an agent and has no responsibility, it should be incumbent upon her to disclose that fact. If she neglects to make such a disclosure at the outset and allows the tradesman to look to her for payment, she should be debarred from pleading at some future date that she has been only an agent, and that therefore her estate is not liable. This was the view taken by Lord Robertson and Lord Atkinson, and, since it is not actually the law at present, it should be made such by a short bill. It is contrary to public policy that any person should be permitted to enter into contracts without a clear statement as to his or her status.

When Mr. Chamberlain Broke Down.

The only occasion on which Mr Chamberlain was ever known to betray emotion in the House of Commons was when an allusion was made to his son by Mr. Gladstone. It was in the very height and agony of the fight over the home rule bill. Young Mr. Chamberlain had made a speech, and to that speech Mr. Gladstone had to make an allusion. Nobody knew what was coming when Mr Gladstone mentioned the name; and it is possible that Mr. Chamberlain may have imagined that the allusion would not be complimentary. Anyhow, what happened was that Mr. Gladstone said that the speech was one which a father might be proud to hear from the lips of his son. Mr. Chamberlain broke down promptly, visibly, without any power or effort at restraint. He drew his hand across his forehead and his eyes—evidently to hide unbidden tears. It was a curious instance of the man of iron revealing for a moment the softer side of his nature.

Arctic Mosquitoes.

The presence of mosquitoes in myriads within the bare, uninhabited arctic circle is surely in some degree a mystery. The mosquito is a blood-sucker, but in these unvisited plains he is for the most part, and of strict necessity, a vegetarian. A few birds excepted (and the birds are furnished with impervious feathers), there is no local life whatever. The Lapp in summer drives his reindeer to the sea, and no native crosses the fjeld if he can help it. Yet in this region, "seemingly the most unsuitable for its effective working," the mosquito flourishes, "a primeval and enduring curse, inexplicably developed to its utmost."—London Chronicle.

Land of Surprises.

New Zealand is not exactly contiguous to or a part of Australia, as many seem to imagine, there being a slight difference of some 1,700 miles between them. Things go by contraries in the "land of the kangaroo." The farther north you travel the hotter it is—125 degrees in the shade in Queensland. Lignum vitae, which sinks in other waters, floats in Australian waters. The Christmas dinner is eaten in Melbourne and Sydney when it is over 100 degrees in the shade.

EARLY CREEK HISTORY.

In the Time of Cortes the Tribe Life Was Idyllic.

The Creeks are an entirely different race of people from the Cherokees and other northern Indians. They are of Aztec, or, rather, Toltec, origin, and in a teocallis, or pyramidal, temple, located in a secluded wild of the Creek country, the same religious rites and ceremonies are performed today that were performed in the imposing teocallis located on the bank of the beautiful Lake Tezcuco, in the days of the ill starred Montezuma II. The archives of the nation are here preserved in hieroglyphics, beautifully painted on shells, strung together on deer tendons. Here are also preserved their most cherished relics, their green jasper altar and a life sized image of their great war god, both brought from their former home near Vera Crux, Mexico.

At the time Cortes made his appearance in that neighborhood, bent upon a career of conquest and plunder, the Creeks, as they are now called, were living a peaceful, idyllic life in a land made sacred to them by having been the home of their ancestors for untold thousands of moons and containing the ashes and bones of their wise and loved old men through many generations. Gathering their warriors together, they gave battle to the invaders, but weapons of stone and flint could make but little impression upon the steel clad warriors of Spain, and they were defeated with terrible slaughter. Gathering wives and little ones together and taking with them their most cherished possessions, among which were the records of their race, the jasper altar and their war god, holding in his extended right hand the sacrificial knife of flint, they made their weary way to the capital of Montezuma, the sacred city of Mexico, where they were warmly welcomed by that unfortunate monarch and where they fought bravely in defense of the devoted city. They assisted Gautomasin, the chivalric nephew of Montezuma, in his glorious, if ill fated, attempt to regain the throne of his ancestors, and upon its failure and the attendant death of that young chieftain by torture, after the manner of the ancient Israelites, they determined to seek a land that man knew not, where they might provide homes for their families and worship the gods of their ancestors.—Exchange.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS.

The man who loves his joke is usually unpopular.

Put yourself in the other man's place and you may stop abusing him.

It is commendable to save your money, but it is not commendable to look it.

We worry as if we had to go through a whole year tomorrow instead of just one day.

The cares and worries of life look pretty good, after all, to those returning to town through the cemetery gate.

When a soldier returns from a battle his story of the fight is more interesting and less truthful if he returns alone.

Of course friends are a good thing, but when misfortune comes to you which do you wish you had more of—friends or dollars?

—Detective Wells, who attended the Spring Assizes, held here a few days ago, has thrown much light upon the now celebrated Barton murder, which will probably lead to a complete solution.

The Harvest Mining Co.'s

Property is in the heart of the

BLACK HILLS of SOUTH DAKOTA

And is the pioneer mining company of Rapid Creek Mining District. Perhaps you are not aware of the magnitude of these words! Let us explain! Pioneer companies are always the ones that are branded with success, for the reason that they are the first in the promising districts and, consequently, take the best property to be obtained and, for this reason, it is invariably the case that the investors in these companies are the ones that reap the rich reward, and not the investors in the cheap "boom stocks" that come later and are selling on the merits of what their neighbors have.

We appeal to your reason and personal knowledge: The Homestake was the pioneer company of the Ida Gray Mining District; the Golden Reward was the pioneer of the Bulwer District; the Portland (Colorado) was the pioneer of the Cripple Creek District; The Anaconda (copper) was the pioneer of the Silver Bow Mining District; the Calumet and Hecla were the pioneers of the Lake Region, and they are the companies that have made their stockholders rich, for the reason that they were first and had first choice of all the property to be had—"The property on which the ore bodies were located"—and this is what The Harvest Mining Company has done. We have come first and acquired 160 acres of the best property to be had in the whole Rapid Creek Mining District, a property that is most suitable for working in both manner of mining and milling. First—We are near railroad and have lots of timber for mining purposes. Second—Our ore is a smelting proposition and we will not have to go to the enormous expense of installing costly machinery.

Our ore carries an assay of 30 per cent. lead, 4 ounce silver and $3.50 in gold, and is classed as a wet ore by the smelting companies. Ore carrying lead is also a basis of monopoly at the smelters, as the lead is used as a collecting agent in separating and collecting the gold and silver.

A shaft has already been sunk to a depth of 40 feet on the main ledge and we have exposed a vein of about 30 feet in width. The vein is strong and well defined between two walls of granite and schist, dipping slightly east with a northerly strike, and it is for the purpose of sinking the working shaft to a greater depth that the company is offering a small amount of their treasury stock at 25c. per share (which is fully paid and non-assessable) to help do the dead or development work that is non-productive, preparatory to shipping ore to the smelter.

Although we have numerous ledges on our property, and the famous copper glance lead which also passes through it and is exceptionally rich in copper, the company has deemed it best to concentrate its work on the gold, silver and lead vein and put that to producing money before the development is begun on the others.

We wish to call your attention to some of the mines that are gold-silver-lead mines and have produced millions, among which are, "Daly West," "Le Roi," "Bunker Hill," "Sullivan," and others, and The Harvest Mining Company is offering as lucrative investment as any of the above. We have the gold, silver and lead ore in sight, and are inviting you to become an equal owner to help do the primary development work. Our Treasury Stock Certificates have the condition "Treasury Stock" printed on the face, which assures the investors that their money goes for the development of the company.

Black Hills, an area less than 100 miles square, has produced $150,000,000.00 in the past 29 years. In the same period of time to come it will probably more than double the past production, and The Harvest Mining Company, being situated as it is in the richest section of the Black Hills, is extending to you the most exceptional advantage of an investment. We appeal to your reason: "Read the past and you will know the future." Our property is offering today the same as the big mines of the continent have offered in the past, and now is the time to become a stockholder.

100 PER CENT. ADVANCE JUNE 1

Present Price of Stock FIVE Cents per Share

If you want to get in on the ground floor before the price advances to 10 Cents per share, NOW IS YOUR CHANCE

When The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Company was organized the officers of the company foresaw the certainty of a big mining boom in Clear Creek County, Colorado, U.S.A., and they congratulated themselves on securing a property which showed 1,500 feet of development work, and could be classed with the MINES of the region.

The steady increase in the mineral production of the county, new strikes, the development of old mines at depth (proving the continuity of the ore bodies and the increased richness of the ores), the availability of mining supplies, the abundance of water the great amount of timber for mining and fuel, the adaptability of the topography for deep tunnel mining, and the large number of milling and smelting plants, means that the district possesses all the elements of successful and economical mining.

It was a foregone conclusion that investors would awake to a realization of the conditions, and inaugurate a new boom in 1906. It is but natural that they should desire to place their money in a locality that shows more PROVEN MINES than prospects, and where the chances for speedy returns are greater than the chances of loss. Because of economic conditions money will go farther in development work and bring RESULTS quicker. Many new companies have recently been organized, foremost among them being The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co. Stock in all Clear Creek County companies is finding a ready market among both Eastern and Western investors, and in consequence The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co forestalled the boom by securing one of the best mining propositions in the locality, consisting of 16 mining claims, situated on Standard Mountain, in the Ohio and Jackson Mining District, two and one-half miles south of Idaho Springs. The Gold Leaf properties are credited with a past production of $75,000, and the tunnel is being steadily driven toward the rich ore bodies from whence former shipments were made. The old workings are now drowned with water which the tunnel will drain and also give unlimited stoping ground for the ores. Surrounding mines have produced over $11,500,000. Now is the time to purchase stock. When we re-open our ore the opportunity will be lost to investors.

Don't overlook this exceptional opportunity! Think of the acreage; Think of the development work done; Think of the past ore production; Think of the future possibilities; Think of investing—THEN ACT AT ONCE!

Sufficient stock subscriptions have already been received to carry our Frontier Tunnel a distance of 600 feet, or to the Standard Vein, from which point ore shipments will be resumed. Future stock subscriptions will be applied on the purchase of a power plant or on contracts to facilitate the work of driving the tunnel.

Our General Manager estimates that the completion of the tunnel will place at our disposal OVER FOUR MILES OF ORE, aggregating 96,000,000 tons.

It is altogether probable the auto-service will be established.

Warrants Out For Street Scrappers

Talking of the "Thin Red Line," at the Battle of Waterloo reminds one of the scrap on Aylmer street, near Sherbrooke street, on Monday afternoon.

It seems that four sons of Albion got into a fuss with a fellow citizen. Another local citizen, happening by, and considering that the odds were unequal, asked the Englishmen to be fair and to give his fellow citizen a show. To this, it is said, they would not listen, so the new arrival sailed in to help his friend. The thin redline was out in R when the scientific use of their fists, displayed the superiority of the home talent. Warrants were out yesterday afternoon for those engaged.

Another Local Company Formed

The Rapid Tool Co. of Peterboro Has Obtained a Charter From the Government.

The Ontario Gazette of last issue contains the following which is of local interest, the directorate of the company noted, being local men. The article in question reads thus:

The company have purchased the Canadian patents for lightning bits and augers, from J. W. Caldwell, of Toronto, and expects to be ready for work by July 1st. They will turn out 1,000 bits a day at the start, and will employ some 20 hands. Premises are now being negotiated for, and every indication of success is assured.

All Saint's Will Build at Once

At the adjourned vestry meeting of All Saints' church held on Monday evening, with the rector, Rev. W. Major in the chair, part of the evening was spent in discussion regarding the new church which it is proposed to erect, and while nothing definite was decided upon, it is practically assured that the new edifice will be erected.

A very satisfactory financial statement for the year was presented by the church wardens, Messrs. W. Dayman and F. Wise.

Messrs F. Wise and J. H. McClellan were appointed lay delegates to the Synod in place of Messrs. Edgar and Bell, who have resigned.

Mr. A. E. Brandreth, the very efficient vestry clerk, tendered his resignation, as he will shortly leave for the west.

Mr. E. Peake was elected to fill the position vacated.

It was decided to increase the salaries of the organist and sexton.

As noted in these columns before, the new building will be erected on the lot immediately north of the present edifice. The property having already been purchased.

T. A. S. Puffed Rice Social.

The "Puffed Rice" social in St. Peter's T.A.S. rooms, which not being noted for stringent and perfunctory social etiquette was a most successful and interesting event. "P. & P." which does not mean poker and pinochle, but puffed rice and progressive euchre were the order of the evening. After the small hand of the clock had wavered towards midnight, euchre and puffed rice were superseded by tripping it on the "light fantastic." Taken altogether the entertainment went off most successfully.

Horner, conductor, were sent to convey them to Toronto, and were to do their best from the time they left Campbellford until they reached Toronto a distance of 135 miles. The trip was made in two hours and fifteen minutes, making the fastest time on record. The gentlemen congratulated conductor and driver for their skilful management, and kindly remembered them both.

Local Fishermen Hire a Boy to Work

Party of Local Fishing Enthusiasts Get Busy at Garden Hill With Good Results.

One day last week a party of Peterboro sports went out to Garden Hill on fishing bent. They took with them the usual accessories of such trips, including refreshments, contained in glass, fifty-two pieces of paste-board, some chips (possibly for starting the fire), some small change, and it is rumored a rod and line. On arrival at the sweetly murmuring brooklet, they unlimbered their baggage and overlooked the situation. "Well," said one of the party, "its an pligant day, too good to waste on chasing up and down a creek." Presently a small boy armed with a long tapering bough, spliced a rod, a line and hook unhitched and a can of worms. "Hey, fmy," yelled one of the party, "do you want to earn an honest quarter?" "You bet your boots," said the boy. "Well here you are," answered several voices, and many quarters were forthcoming. The boy got busy, so did the fishermen. The boy, baiting his hook, travelled up and down the stream, catching the elusive trout; the fishermen got busy watching that elusive, blub that, in fisherman's lingo, makes a flash. On their return to the city the party proudly exhibited the fish they had caught (per the boy), and supplemented their exhibit by tales of wading knee-deep after refractory trout. The same old story, told in the same old way. One circumstance omitted during the trip, was that when they got tired of their game, "Mumbledy Peg," an innocent game played with the assistance of an impressed jack knife and sundry quarters, assisted the fishermen in their day's enjoyment. Their respective families and friends admired their catch.

McWilliams vs. Dickson Company

The Toronto papers of yesterday's date in their reports of the proceedings at the Divisional Court contains the following reference of local interest:—

McWilliams v. Dickson Co., of Peterboro—R. F. McWilliams, Peterboro, and A. B. ## Is Disease a Crime?

Not very long ago, a popular magazine published an editorial article in which the writer asserted, in substance, that all disease should be regarded as criminal. Certain it is, that much of the sickness and suffering of mankind is due to the violation of certain of Nature's laws. But to say that all sickness should be regarded as criminal, must appeal to every reasonable individual as radically wrong.

It would be harsh, unsympathetic, cruel, yea criminal, to condemn the poor, weak, over-worked housewife who sinks under the heavy load of household cares and burdens, and suffers from weaknesses, various displacements of pelvic organs and other derangements peculiar to her sex.

Frequent bearing of children, with its exacting demands upon the system, coupled with the care, worry and labor of rearing a large family, is often the cause of weakness, derangements and debility which are aggravated by the many household cares, and the hard, and never-ending work which the mother is called upon to perform. Dr. Pierce, the maker of that world-famed remedy for woman's peculiar weaknesses and ills—Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription—says that one of the greatest obstacles to the cure of this class of maladies is the fact that the poor, over-worked housewife can not get the needed rest from her many household cares and labor to enable her to secure from the use of his "Prescription" its full benefits. It is a matter of frequent experience, he says, in his extensive practice in these cases, to meet with those in which his treatment fails by reason of the patient's inability to obtain from hard work long enough to be cured. With those suffering from prolapsus, anteversion and retroversion of the uterus or other displacement of the womanly organs, it is very necessary that, in addition to taking his "Favorite Prescription" they abstain from being very much, or for long periods, on their feet. All heavy lifting or straining of any kind should also be avoided. As much out-door air as possible, with moderate, light exercise is also very important. Let the patient observe these rules and the "Favorite Prescription" will do the rest.

Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., 21 one-cent stamps for paper-covered, or 50 stamps for cloth-bound.

British Warships at Piraeus Have Full Steam Up--Prince Louis There.

Athens, May 9.—The British fleet, consisting of twenty-one warships, that has not cast a particle of her is lying at Piraeus with steam up, in readiness as in recent years, and is today as much as ever the nation in the Near East [illegible] or squadron commanded by Rear-Admiral Prince Louis of Battenberg.

Constantinople, May 10.—Frequent conferences have been held during the last few days between the members of the cabinet in connection with the Anglo-Turkish dispute.

An official of the Foreign Office today had a long interview with Sir Nicholas O'Conor, the British Ambassador, but up to the present there are no indications to show what course the Porte will decide to pursue.

The general opinion, however, is that the Turkish troops will evacuate Tabah before the British ultimatum expires.

MAY FORCE PASSAGE.

London, May 10.—The Times states that a good many British naval officers believe that Admiral Beresford will take his fleet up the Dardanelles before the Egyptian affair comes to a settlement. They believe, too, that the Sultan would prefer that he should fight it and make a vigorous demonstration close to Constantinople rather than content himself with seizing Turkish ports and islands in the Mediterranean. The theory of this view is that seeing the Sultan expects to yield eventually, he would undoubtedly like to have the Egyptian incident close in dramatic fashion, with Great Britain in such a strong and threatening attitude that the world would say that there was nothing else for Turkey to do than yield. It is also suggested, on what authority I am unable to state, that the Sultan really wishes Britain to intervene from the Egyptian affair with increased prestige, so that the evacuation may arise [illegible] should subsequently [illegible] demands. It is said the Sultan desires to shake himself free from German domination, and guesses that he can do it if he can convince his advisers that Great Britain is a much better power to cope to than Germany. This reading of the Sultan's mind certainly attributes to him a marvelous philosophy.

SULTAN WILL NOT YIELD

The Times' correspondent at Constantinople, under yesterday morning's date, cables as follows: The official Turks still seem to maintain that the Sultan is determined not to yield.

These utterances are discounted by diplomatists and the outside public, and the general opinion is that Tabah will be evacuated before the expiration of the ten days' grace. But it is quite possible that the Sultan will hold out, for there is an impression in some Turkish quarters that the British Government would be considerably embarrassed if forced to resort to force, and great hopes are placed in the agitation in Egypt as a means of frightening Great Britain from proceeding to extreme measures.

One [illegible]ry feature of the situation is that the Sultan does not enjoy the support or even the sympathy of any European Government in his aggressive policy. In fact, there is little doubt that the whole influence of the diplomatic corps is being used to induce him to yield. Nor is he backed by the public opinion of his country, which favors a prompt settlement of the dispute, and the establishment of really friendly relations with Great Britain.

It is reported that the Turkish troops are again being employed in aggressive action on the Persian frontier, and have now seized another district, which, according to the Anglo-Russian map, is indisputably Persian territory.

Local Boy's Legs Cut Off By Train

William Taylor, 10 Years Old, Severely Hurt By Train.

Yesterday shortly after noon, one of those seemingly unavoidable, but far too common, accidents occurred in this city, by which one of the injured boys, William Taylor, the eleven-year-old son of Philip Taylor, 11 Alfred street, had the misfortune by falling under a C.P.R. freight train, to have both his legs cut off below the knees.

The injured boy is employed at the Ontario Works.

It seems that the boy tried to take a ride on the train and, missing wheels, and half pitch legs cut off, wheels, and had both legs cut off. The train was [illegible] going at a fast rate.

He was found by a section man, lying between the rails of the main track, about fifty yards west of the point where Chamberlain street crosses the C.P.R. track. The injured lad was conscious when discovered, and told the section man that he never heard the train till it struck him.

Dr. T. N. Greer was summoned and looked after the boy's injuries, while the Dan Spence ambulance, conveyed him to the Nicholls hospital, where he is doing as well as can be expected.

Coffin Nails Are Strictly Tabooed

It will Cost $200 to Sell Cigarettes After July 1st.

It will cost $200 a year to sell cigarettes. This is a mistake in only so far as there should be a fine of $200 imposed on every dabbler of a man who inhales the coffin nails and thereby, not only poisons the surrounding atmosphere, but places the fatal hold Nick has degree fitness on the smoker.

The by-law, which reflects great credit upon its father, Ald. Ball, reads plainly;

The owner and keeper of every store or shop in the City of Peterboro (other than taverns and shop licensed under the liquor license act), where cigarettes are sold by retail shall procure a license therefor from the city clerk, and every person so licensed shall be subject to the provisions of this by-law, and no owner or keeper of such store or shop (other than aforesaid) shall within the City of Peterboro, sell or expose for sale cigarettes without first obtaining such license.

No person licensed under this by-law to sell cigarettes by retail shall directly or indirectly, sell cigarettes otherwise than by regular sale therefrom in his licensed store or shop, and no cigarettes shall be sold by means of any mechanical device or machine exposed or placed inside or upon the outside of such licensed store or shop.

No person licensed under this by-law to sell cigarettes shall keep open his shop for the purpose of selling or retail sell any cigarettes on Sunday.

Every person obtaining a license under this by-law shall keep the same posted up in a conspicuous place on the premises so licensed during the term the same is in force.

There shall be levied and collected from the applicant for a license granted under this by-law, a license fee of two hundred dollars, which fee shall be paid to the city clerk, who shall on the payment of such fee issue such license.

Every license given under this by-law unless it shall become sooner forfeited, shall be for a term of one year from the first day of the month in which it is issued.

The city clerk may in his discretion transfer any license issued under this by-law from the person to whom he is on payment of a transfer fee of one dollar, and the particulars of such transfer shall be endorsed on such license.

Any person guilty of a breach of this by-law shall on conviction thereof be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty dollars and costs, and on default of payment thereof, the said fine and costs may be levied by distress and sale of the goods of the offender; and in case of there being no distress or no sufficient distress out of which the same can be levied, the said offender may be committed to the common jail, with or without hard labor, for any period not exceeding six months.

This by-law shall come into force and take effect on the first day of July, 1906.

HENRY BEST, Mayor.
S. R. ARMSTRONG, Clerk.

POLICE NEWS

Daily Happenings in Court Room and Station.

Yesterday the "Sons of Rest" and "Morbid Minded Mortal" clubs were out in legions at the police court and thoroughly enjoyed the "washing of dirty linen" during the case against Wm. Hayes, charged with having committed an aggravated assault upon a young man named Williams, a son of the man in charge of the city dumping ground. A concensus of the evidence for the prosecution was brought to bear to show that Hayes had been instrumental in beating up young Williams, having, it was alleged, mistaken him for young Wm. Connors, who was mixed up in the police court case of the preceding day. Williams, who showed evident signs of having received a terrible mauling, said he was near the Billiard property about twelve o'clock at night, when two men sprang from ambush and gave him a dreadful beating, knocking him senseless. He claimed to indentify Hayes as one of his assailants.

Young Connors and Williams were placed side by side in the court room to establish the validity of the supposition that the latter had been mistaken for the former, and beat up by mistake. The likeness between the two men was somewhat startling.

Dr. Eastwood was placed in the box and testified to the extent of Williams' injuries. He said they had been inflicted by some blunt instrument.

A young man named McMullen testified to having been called out by Williams after the affair, and to Williams having the blood pouring from his nose and face.

Samuel Kennedy swore that he saw the defendant and Mrs. Connors walking together at 8.30 that night.

A young man named Gautier said he saw Williams about 9.25 that night. He was not very full, and saw him in front of Murty's store on Hunter street. He himself had two drinks of ginger ale. Mr. Kerr remarked "A man has no right to be out till 11 p. m. on ginger ale."

The next witness, a brother of defendant, who lives with him, testified to defendant having come home at 9 o'clock that night. He had taken out his watch at the time, as defendant was unusually early in coming in.

Defendant then went into the box. On Friday went early in the evening to the Grock's pool room. Young Connors brought down his bicycle and the two of them were together till about 9 o'clock, when feeling sick he went home. His bicycle had been injured, the tyres having been punctured and cut by a knife maliciously. He took his wheel to Mr. Parker's to be repaired before nine o'clock that night. He went to bed at home shortly after nine o'clock and did not get up again until next morning, so could not have taken part in the assault upon Williams.

As Mr. Parker could not be found to corroborate Hayes' story, being at work in the north end of the city, the case was enlarged until today.

The next case called was that of Mrs Connors, the heroine (?) of the trouble involving Hayes, who was charged with having used threatening language towards Samuel Kennedy, her brother-in-law, and for using the words "I will murder you if you don't keep out of the house."

Kennedy then went into the box and swore that defendant had said "I'll murder you if Hayes does not do it." He then went on to say that Hayes was the whole cause of the trouble, coming to see Mrs. Connors at the house, night after night. He had told Mrs. Connors she would have to leave the premises, so that he would not be disgraced by such proceedings as she had been engaged in recently.

Young Connors, her son, then went into the box and said that Mrs. Connors had said if Hayes did not kill him and complainant she would kill him.

Mrs. Connors then went into the box and absolutely denied making the threats as alleged.

As the murderous threats seem to have been made last Thursday night and the information was laid for Monday night, when no such words were used, His Worship discharged Mrs. Connors.

It might be added that the gay Lothario, who has been spending several successive evenings in company with Mrs. Connors, by his own admission, is a married man, who should, and does, know better. He will, it is to be hoped, cut out his liaisons with veteran women of too generous a disposition, and get his alarm clock working overtime to prove early arrival at his own home.

A TRAGEDY RECALLED

Seven Persons Burned to Death in Omemee 60 Years Ago.

Mr. R. W. Brooks, who 60 years ago was a resident of Omemee, yesterday dropped into The Times sanctum, and in a reminiscent mood related the story of a holocaust which occurred in that village 60 years ago, to, in the year 1846.

He said that during the winter of that year, the house occupied by the Cottingham family, who it will be remembered afterwards lived out on the "Gravel pond," was destroyed by fire during the night. The fire breaking out in the front of the house.

Five children, from two to fourteen years of age, were sleeping in a room upstairs, with two servants. Mr. and Mrs. Cottingham occupied the room over the kitchen at the rear, and several relatives were also in the house.

Mr. and Mrs. Cottingham and their visitors were awakened by the crackling of a fire, and, when they opened the door leading to the main part of the house, they found the whole building was afire.

Mr. and Mrs. Cottingham, the latter with an infant baby in her arms, were forced to jump from the window to the ground, the snow, which was about four feet deep, broke their fall. By the time the five children and two servants had perished in the grasp of the fiery fiend. This tragedy was the sensation of the day and much sympathy was extended to the bereaved parents, in their terrible affliction.

Mr. Brooks assisted in recovering the charred bones of those who had been burned to death, next day, and which were buried in the village cemetery.

Game Protection In Scugogville

Lindsay to Determined That the Scugog Shall Be Preserved.

The Bowmanville News contains a letter that might well give pointers to those interested in saving the game fish of this county, which reads;

Dear Sir,—I beg to ask you for a small space in your paper, as I am very much interested in the fishing of those waters and the protection of the fish. I only say this, that the fish have always been slaughtered at the Lindsay mills, also at the Lindsay river and Sturgeon lake in the spawning time. But this season there is a big change, as the Ontario Fishery Department has sent Mr. John Watson, fishery overseer, to Omemee, to Lindsay, with two men, for the all the fish that came up the river to the mills, and put them over the dam, and I must say that this has been a great success. It is a pity that we could not keep Mr. Watson at Lindsay. The year round as he has been assisting Overseer Bradshaw in his spare time and good results follow. They went down the river on Sunday and seized five muskinonge, weighing 5, 8, 10, 12 and 18 pounds each, and they got a fine pair that fined him $10 and sold the fish for $2.75, and sent the money to the department.

Mr. W. Tiffin Here on Business Trip

G. T. R. Superintendent En Route to Foxboro.

Mr. W. R. Tiffin, superintendent of the northern division of the Grand Trunk Railway, was in the city for a short time yesterday. Mr. Tiffin left on the noon train for Foxboro, to inspect the work which is now going on there. The track in that district is being graded and otherwise improved.

As far as can be learned nothing has yet been done regarding the proposed line from Lakefield to Warsaw, which villagers of both places claim will pay heavy dividends on contemplated outlay.

Great Britain Has Gained All Points

London, May 10.—As is always the case with Chinese diplomatic methods, there has been a prolonged period of delay and anxious suspense. But with final result Great Britain gains all the points for which she strived. There is no impairment of China's suzerain status in Thibet. Indeed it is strengthened, inasmuch as Great Britain binds herself not to encroach one step upon Thibetan territory. This self-denying resolution amounts to nothing, for from the first the British declared their intention of making no permanent advance across India's border line. The real object of the Lhassa expedition was to prevent Russia from gaining a foothold in Thibet. This is expressed by the clause in the treaty which binds China not to allow any other foreign state to encroach on Thibet, or to interfere with the government or internal administration of the country. Thus Thibet becomes a buffer state between Russia and India, as Afghanistan has for long been maintained on the north-western frontier of India. This is the consummation of Great Britain's policy in Asia—always to keep her potential enemy at arm's length, with as wide a stretch of neutral territory as possible intervening.

Two Miners Murdered.

Vancouver, May 10.—News of a terrible tragedy has reached here from Lillooet. Two miners who had been placer mining along the Fraser, and had hoarded up their dust in their cabins, were hacked to pieces with an axe by unknown parties. All their gold gold dust was gone.

SPRING CATARRH

Disease Prevalent Now, But Can be Quickly Cured with Hyomei

A great many people suffer more with catarrh during the spring than at any other season of the year, the changes in weather seeming to have a bad effect upon the disease.

Some of the cures made by Hyomei seem marvelous when one remembers that the patients had suffered from catarrh since childhood, and that for years they had been unable to get a good night's sleep, on account of the disagreeable tickling and dropping at the back of the throat caused by this offensive disease. A few day's treatment with Hyomei brought quick relief, and its continued use made a complete and lasting cure.

By breathing Hyomei through the pocket inhaler that comes with every outfit, all the air passages of the lungs and throat are filled with air laden with Nature's remedies for the cure of catarrh. All disease germs are killed, and the irritated mucous membrane is healed.

The complete outfit costs but $1.00, extra bottles 50 cents. Compare this small expense with the fees charged by specialists.

If you cannot obtain Hyomei of your dealer, it will be forwarded by mail, postage paid, on receipt of price. Write today for consultation blank that will entitle you to services of our medical department without charge. The R. T. Booth Company, Hyomei Building, Ithaca, N. Y.

Who Aided Escape of Murderer Chalabran

Conditions Inside Kingston Penitentiary Said to Be Usatisfactory Owing to the Scarcity of Guards.

Kingston, May 10.—No trace has yet been secured of the escaped murderer, Chalabran. He travelled all Monday night [illegible] entirely out of the district, which the police are scouring. There was a rumor at the Penitentiary to the effect that Chalabran had crossed the river at Brockville to New York State.

This morning Penitentiary Inspector Stewart arrived to conduct an investigation. Two Dominion police have also arrived from Ottawa to assist in the pursuit.

SHORT OF GUARDS.

The escape of Chalabran brings to notice the fact that for some time past the prison has been short of guards. Quite a number of vacancies have never been filled, and, as a result, there has been much grumbling among the guards, who, being required to work longer hours and cover more ground. Formerly there were two and three guards in the insane ward from which Chalabran escaped. Now there is [illegible]. A penitentiary officer stated that the guards were not interested in their work nor were they satisfactual as to years gone by. There is no the same good feeling between the higher officers and the guards. The latter have been keenly disappointed over not receiving an increase in wages, after the liberal way in which the Ontario Government treated its employes at Rockwood Asylum here.

As to the escape itself, the fact that the convict had to saw through three bars, to scale two lighted yards and climb over a lighted wall, gives ground for very grave suspicion. That Chalabran received aid from both inside and outside, seems to be the general opinion.

Will Defeat Itself.

There is a bit of a rift in the Conservative party in town over the treatment of the license question. The prohibitionist wing of the party are evidently playing into the hands of the prohibitionists regardless of fair play and common justice. It is said that there will in all likelihood be plenty of wigs on the green before long. Moderation, a properly enforced law and common freedom between man and man is what we want. Too much repression will defeat itself.

PROF. WICHER WRITES

Former Local Citizen Sends Another Report of Earthquake.

Many of our older Peterboro citizens will remember the lad who we used to call "Little Eddie Wicher," who at one time worked in Mr. John Erskine's dry goods store on Hunter street.

Toronto Saturday Night, of last issue, contains an illustrated account entitled, "My Story of the Earthquake," by Rev. Professor Edward A. Wicher of the San Francisco Theological Seminary, with a portrait of this former Peterboro boy. This well written account of the disaster was from the pen of a former dry goods messenger boy, who has by ambition, intelligence and close application to his duties, risen to an important position.

Rev. Mr. Wicher says, concerning the recent California earthquake;

"When the earthquake struck us I was lying asleep at the house of a friend in Berkeley, not far from the University of California. It was at 5.13 on Wednesday morning, April 18th. Suddenly I was awakened by the violent tossing of the bed, which was thrown [illegible] out into the middle of the room and as suddenly thrown back again. At the same moment I saw the tall wardrobe that stood in the corner thrown half-way to the floor, then checked in mid-air and violently thrown back to the place where it belonged. The room was filled with pieces of flying chamber, porcelain ornaments, books and toilet utensils. But Berkeley suffered least of all the cities in the Bay region and I afterwards learned that what had saved Berkeley was the counter-shock which came almost instantaneously upon the primary shock and neutralized its effect. In most other places the two shocks were separated from one another by some seconds, so that each increased the power of destruction of the other.

After the lateral motion there followed a perpendicular motion. The house seemed to be lifted high in the air and then let fall, and this action was repeated several times. I stood upright on the bed and was able to reach the ceiling of the room with my hands. Remembering old experiences of earthquakes in Japan, and the danger of falling plaster, I thought I would balance myself thus and at the same time hold up the plaster. But another violent movement threw me headlong to the floor. I thought that the house was falling, and decided, whether wisely or unwisely, to make a dash for the street. I was thrown from side to side and down the stairs. A heavy glass globe struck me in falling and dazed me, but no bones were [illegible] and I was in the open. The noise was terrible and indescribable. It was like the boom of a million of cannon and fled by thunder, and yet close. There were not the sounds of falling buildings, they were the sounds of the earth itself, and set in Berkeley the effects of the earthquake were accounted slight: some porches were knocked away, some windows broken, and all the chimneys toppled over—this was all. In a few minutes quiet crowned a deep, tremendous quiet—and I returned to the house. It was not until breakfast time that we learned something of the awful horror into which the whole region had been plunged.

The day, however, then went on to describe how the high element of the city broke into the saloons, and getting drink, began a series of rapine and pillage.

Sir Thomas Has Accepted.

Quebec, May 10.—Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, President of the C. P. R., having cabled to the Quebec Board of Trade that he would be at liberty to attend a banquet in this city on the 18th instant, it was decided by the board to appoint a sub-committee composed of Messrs. G. Tanguay, E. B. Rattray and G. A. Vandry, to make arrangements for the function, which will take place at the Chateau Frontenac.

It is proposed to erect a statute of Washington in Buda Pesth, Hungary, and Emperor Francis Joseph, as King of Hungary, will be asked to invite President Roosevelt to unveil the statue.

Indian Women Sold To Highest Bidder

White Men Seldom Desert Indian Wives But Some Squaws Are Peddled Around.

Ottawa, May 10.—A return was brought down in the House, on motion of Mr. R. L. Borden, respecting the alleged sale and slavery in British Columbia of Indian and half-breed girls. The Department of Indian Affairs sent out a circular to the several Indian agents on the coast, containing a number of questions as to marriage between white men and Indian women, and desertions and sale of women. The answers indicate that in a majority of cases the white man has married to the Indian woman with whom they live and that desertions are not numerous.

As to the sale of women, no knowledge of such cases was had by nearly all the agents who replied to enquiries, but G. W. T. Beck, agent in charge of the Kwawkewich Agency, said;

"This practice was quite common a few years ago, but the Indians seem to think they were not getting enough money for the service, and have adopted a different method. Instead of selling the girls outright they peddle them around. Three or four women and girls will travel among the logging camps, remaining until driven away by the foremen."

R. J. Walker, an missionary and school teacher at Cape Mudge, writes; "The Indian woman is not a voluntary agent in the contraction of marriage, but she is bought and sold, and if the agreements made at the time of marriage be not carried out, proceedings are at once set on foot to get a higher and more profitable bidder. In this way a woman may change around two or three or more times, often against her own will, and especially those this condition exist among the young and newly-married. It cannot be regarded as desertion, because in a degree compulsory."

HOME FROM INDIA

Prince and Princess of Wales Were Heartily Welcomed by Children and People.

Portsmouth, Eng., May 10. — The Prince and Princess of Wales, who arrived here from India, landed yesterday after over six months' absence. They were accorded a great naval welcome. Most of the vessels of the Channel fleet had assembled here and fired salutes as the battleship Renown, with the Prince and Princess on board, entered the harbor. The three elder children of their Royal Highnesses were awaiting their parents. They raced up the gangway of the Renown and were the first shore visitors to board her.

London, May 10.—The Prince and Princess of Wales arrived at Victoria Station last evening. They were greeted by King Edward, the Duke and Duchess of Connaught, and Princesses Henry and Ina of Battenberg. The route to Marlboro House, their London residence, was lined by cheering people and guarded by about four thousand police.

Vienna, May 10.—It is announced that the German Emperor will visit Emperor Francis Joseph in June. He will arrive here on June 6, and will stay two days.

Yesterday's Fire Cleverly Checked

Local Fire Brigade Do Good Service at (Hon.) Mrs. Hamilton's House.

Yesterday afternoon about 3.30, the local fire laddies were called by the alarm bell from their respective places of business, and responded with their usual alacrity and enthusiasm.

It was found that the fire was located in some outbuildings at "Auburn" the beautiful home of Mrs. (Hon.) R.A. Hamilton.

On their arrival, in marvelously quick time for the distance covered, the brigade found that an incipient conflagration had begun in the outbuildings and barn house, adjoining Mrs. Hamilton's residence. Unfortunately the barn, whilst within the city limits, had not paying taxes on a city basis, and was consequently from all hydrants and such preventive appliances as their taxes should warrant. The nearest hydrant was altogether too remote for practical use.

Fortunately Mr. James Kendry, manager of the Auburn Woolen Mills, came to the rescue, and by his command the private pumps of the factory were promptly directed to use of the brigade.

Chief Rutherford ran nine 1300 feet of hose from the fire to the Auburn power supply, and quickly had water playing on the flames.

Thanks to the efficient services of the brigade and the kindness of the Auburn Woolen Mills, who might have been a most serious conflagration, involving thousands of dollars' loss, the actual damage done was confined to perhaps $200 to $300. Stables, barns and sheds, leading from the rear of the [illegible] to Mrs. Hamilton's residence, and all of inflammable build, were saved, [illegible] the horses, etc., now being compelled to be withdrawn.

We respectfully congratulate Mrs. Hamilton on her comparatively small loss, and must again refer to the kindly act of the Auburn Co. in supplying water that the city could not have given.

Mr. M. Mowry Made Secretary Y. C. Club

Owing to Mr. Brundrette's Resignation Conservatives Make Changes

At a meeting of the executive of the Young Conservative Club, held this week, Mr. W. A. Brundrette, the popular and efficient secretary of this most aggressive and hound-to-win association, resigned his position, so ably sustained, as secretary, as he will shortly leave for the west.

His resignation being compulsory, was regretfully received, and Mr. M. Mowry was appointed in his stead.

The return cricket match which was to have been played yesterday evening between representatives of St. Peter's T.A.S. and the Young Conservatives, has been postponed until a later date.

WATER LILY AFLOAT

Fine Steamer Purchased By Captain White Launched.

Inspector Davis of Kingston, yesterday inspected the fine steamer Water Lily, which was launched during the morning. Mr. Davis the official Government inspector of hulls, pronounced the Water Lily entirely satisfactory in every respect.

The launching took place without a hitch, the boat sliding into the water as easily as drops from a duck's back. She has somewhat high-pressure engine and is in very serviceable craft in every respect.

SOME OF BURBANK'S MIRACLES

If Luther Burbank of California had lived a few hundred years ago and done some of the things he has now done he might have been burned at the stake for presumptuously trying to improve the work of Nature's God, or for being a wizard. The latest stories told of his achievements are amazing. The talk is that he has discovered that a hybrid walnut tree—a cross between the California and the New England walnut—will make timber anywhere in the country in one-third the time the old ones would. These trees grow so fast and spread so rapidly that he plants them forty feet apart, and in twelve years they have made progress that ordinarily takes thirty or forty years for the old kind. They bear a splendid fruit, and their wood is firm, hard, takes a high polish and is in every way superior to either of the two trees combined in production.

Mr. Burbank has produced a chestnut tree that bears fruit when eighteen months old, and better fruit than the old trees bear at that, while the old trees were fifteen to seventeen years of age before they began to bear; has an improved black walnut tree that in twelve years develops a trunk that will make a log fifteen feet long and a foot and a half square. These trees, he says, if set out in about the proportion of thirty-six to the acre, and as far apart as that would allow, would in twelve years be worth at the market rate of timber $80 each.

We are living, we are moving, in a grand and awful time, as the old hymn says. If the next century sees as many and as important changes as the last one did the world will continue to be a very interesting place.

POISON IN CHOCOLATES

Young Man Charged with Abetting in Death of Girl.

Edmonton, May 9.—The verdict of the jury in the Rat Creek case, was that Miss Fehr came to her death by poison, and that George McLean was a party in assisting to bring it about. The inquest was held on Saturday afternoon, and lasted four hours. McLean quite recovered from the effects of the poison he had swallowed, and was brought up from the police court, where he in person held his counsel, and told his story. Contrary to the story he told in the hospital on Friday afternoon, he denied any knowledge of how the poison got into the chocolates, and says he did not know there was poison in them when he took them.

Cheese Factory Regulations Issued

The Times was yesterday in receipt of the amended law regulating the management of cheese factories and creameries, which, in part, says:

Section 2 of Chapter 251 of the Revised Statutes of Ontario, 1897, is amended by adding the following clause:—

No person supplying milk or cream to a cheese factory or creamery shall keep his dairy, milk house, milk stand, or any vessels or equipment used for the storing or the carrying of milk or cream, in an unclean or unsanitary condition.

Every cheese factory and creamery manufacturing butter and cheese for public use or sale, and the surroundings of every such cheese factory and creamery shall be kept in a clean and sanitary condition, and all the water used therein for the manufacture of any dairy products must be clean and pure.

The owner or manager of any cheese factory or creamery refusing or neglecting to observe the provisions of the previous section after being warned or advised by a dairy inspector, shall, upon conviction thereof before any Justice or Justices of Peace, forfeit and pay a sum of not less than $5, nor more than $20, together with the costs of prosecution, and in default of payment of such penalty and costs, shall be liable to be committed to the common gaol of the county with hard labor for a period not exceeding six months.

Upon the recommendation of the Minister of Agriculture the Lieutenant-Governor in Council may appoint one or more persons as inspectors for the enforcing of the provisions of this Act, who shall be known as Dairy Inspectors. The Lieutenant-Governor in Council may determine the remuneration to be paid such inspectors.

All Dairy Inspectors appointed under this Act shall have free access and admission to all cheese factories and creameries located within the Province, and to all the lands adjoining the same, and to the premises of all persons supplying milk or cream to any cheese factory or creamery, and any person refusing admission to the same or offering obstruction to the work of inspection, shall be subject to the penalties provided in Section 9 of the Act to Prevent Fraud in the Manufacture of Cheese and Butter.

Every Inspector appointed under this Act shall make such reports and in such form as the Minister may direct.

Train Went Over Him.

Ingersoll, May 9.—George Burns, of Ingersoll, was run over by a C.P.R. passenger train last evening, and was almost instant. The train had just left the station, but was going at a good rate of speed, when the engineer noticed a man lying face downwards at full length between the rails. He was unable to bring the train to a stop before the engine and all the coaches had passed over the man, and the crew went back, expecting to find a corpse. To their surprise they met Burns walking towards them. The only injury he sustained was a bruise on the hip. It is supposed that Burns was bewildered, but was spared by the shock.

Safe.

In a mediaeval German tale it says that the parish council of a small village met one evening to discuss certain improvements in the water supply. In this debate the town's one watchman entered the room quietly, placed in a corner his lantern and spear, and sat down to listen to the argument. Suddenly a councilman turned to him fiercely.

"Fritz," he cried, "what are you doing here? Who is to watch that nothing is stolen in the village?"

Fritz, with an easy smile, answered: "Who is there to steal anything? We are all here?"

An Odd House.

One of the best known houses in Northamptonshire, England, was designed to represent the days, weeks and quarters of the year. It has four wings, facing the four quarters of the heavens, to represent the four quarters of the year; 365 windows, one for each day; fifty-two chimneys, one for each week, and seven entrances, to represent the seven days of the week.

Pretension.

The world is his who can see through its pretension. What deafness, what stone blind custom, what overgrown error you behold, is there only by your sufferance. See it to be a lie, and you have already dealt it its mortal blow.—Emerson.

In England, under the Tudors, the man who gave to a beggar was fined and the recipient of the gift was punished.

THROAT EXERCISES.

Evils That Come From Misuse of the Vocal Organs.

The chronic sore throat is not infrequently produced by the misuse of the vocal organs. Very often that unruly little member, the tongue, is accountable for the difficulty, as it is for a great many other troubles in this transitory life. Many people have a habit when talking of pushing the tongue so far back against the delicate membranes that line the throat that irritation more or less painful is caused, and if it continues any length of time ulcers will form, and so will a doctor's bill.

Control of the tongue is excellent in all senses of the word. Physically this organ may be managed by depressing it into a hollow at a point three-quarters of an inch back of where the tip of it comes when in a natural position in the mouth and at the same time singing very light head tones. This exercise requires some patience at first, but the habit of keeping the tongue down is soon acquired. In speaking or singing it should not be allowed to hoop up and fill the mouth, thus interfering with the free passage of the tones of the voice from the throat to the front of the mouth, where they should strike and then escape clear as a bell. This hooping up of the tongue in the mouth is the cause of much of the indistinct and slovenly utterances to which we are too often obliged to listen.

In many people we notice the line from the point of the chin to the neck is in the form of a right angle. In a shapely throat this line forms a curve, just as a canary's does when the small yellow artist is warbling his carols.

To develop the throat and make this angle a curve stand before a mirror so that you may watch the threat swell out. Now thrust your tongue out as far as it will go, then draw it back quickly and forcibly, at the same time bringing it downward in the mouth as far as you can. Place your thumb and forefinger against the larynx (commonly called the Adam's apple), and if you are making the right movement you will feel the larynx pass downward. For a week or two make the movements lightly. After that time put as much force into it as you can. The exercise should be practiced for a few minutes several times a day to insure rapid and good results.

To fill up the hollows of the neck stand correctly and then slowly fill the lungs with air without elevating your shoulders. As the air is forced upward into the throat hold it there a few seconds and then expel slowly. This exercise is best performed soon after rising in the morning and before retiring at night.

Time and Eternity.

The stream of time never runs dry, and the ocean of eternity will forever send its mighty surges mountain high against the bank of time's little stream, sweeping with each receding billow over its expansive bosom the frail human craft from the shore of time, with earth's happiness, human affection, toil, trials, tears and sin, to the eternal shore of celestial beauty and bliss. Oh, mighty ocean of eternity, your wonderful authem of life and death brings eternal woe and condemnation to him who is untrue to himself and his divine pilot, but to the trusting, faithful man it sings of endless felicity in the presence of time who has redeemed his people from the bondage of sin and has swept them through the pearly gates.

The Wonderful Diatom.

One of the most wonderful things in vegetable life is a beautiful and minute class of seaweeds called diatoms. They belong to the seaweed family, yet they may be found by the thousands in any roadside ditch, fresh or salt water lake or even in cisterns, wells, springs, etc. Most species of plants are made up of an infinite number of little cells, but with the diatom it is otherwise. Each representative of this wonderful family of plants is formed of but a single cell and this so minute that it would require 2,500 of the most common form, laid end to end, to make a string an inch in length. Some species of diatoms have the power of independent motion, and on that account were for some time believed to be animals.

Candy and the Flag.

The following is accredited to the late Senator Hoar: At a Fourth of July celebration in a Canadian town where both English and American guests were assembled the flags of the two countries were used in decorations. A frivolous young English girl, loyal to the queen, but with no love for the stars and stripes, exclaimed: "Oh, what a silly looking thing the American flag is! It suggests nothing but checkerberry candy." "Yes," replied Senator Hoar, "the kind of candy that has made everybody sick who ever tried to lick it."

Charity.

Charity is a universal duty which it is in every man's power sometimes to practice, since every degree of assistance given to another upon proper motives is an act of charity, and there is scarcely any man in such a state of imbecility as that he may not, on some occasions, benefit his neighbor.—Johnson.

His Advantage.

First Man—How do you do? Second Man—Beg pardon, but you have the advantage of me. First Man—Yes; I guess I have. We were engaged to the same girl, but you married her.

The taste of beauty and the relish of what is decent, just and amiable perfect the character of the gentleman and the philosopher.—Shaftesbury.

Shampoo.

There is a honey and rhubarb shampoo that is said to lighten the hair without injuring it. The preparation is made of an ounce of strained honey and an ounce of rhubarb stalks steeped for twenty-four hours in three ounces of white wine. Strain and wet the entire head and long hair, letting it dry in. Then wash off in clear water.

HOW THE TIGER KILLS.

Never Faces His Prey, but Attacks It on the Flank.

I have taken considerable trouble to find out how tigers kill large game. Some time ago I was asked to come and see a full grown bullock that had been killed by a tiger. On examining it I found the animal had its neck broken, and there were claw marks on the nose and shoulder, but nowhere else. There was no doubt that the tiger had jumped at the bull and landed on the shoulder, and when the bull turned his head to gore the tiger he must have put his claw out and with a sudden jerk broken the neck.

On another occasion I went to see a young buffalo which had been killed by a tiger, and found the same thing had happened. There were similar marks on the nose and also on the near shoulder, which clearly indicated that this animal had been killed in the same way. Malays who have actually seen a tiger killing a buffalo told me they saw the same thing happen; also that in dragging off a heavy carcass, such as buffalo or bull, he gets most of the weight across his shoulder.

This must be fairly correct, as I have often followed a kill, and the marks left indicate that only a portion of the animal was trailing along the ground. I have known a full grown bull, which ten men could not move, dragged for two miles by a tiger in a heavy jungle, where roots of trees and swamp had to be gone through. In no case have I seen the pug marks facing the wrong way except when stopping to feed, which proves he must carry a portion of the animal over his shoulder.

The old idea of a tiger killing large game by a blow from his paw is nonsense; besides, in India a tiger never faces his prey, but attacks him on the flank unless charged. Another curious fact that may seem very like a fairy tale is that a tiger does not seem to mind a small lamp being tied over a kill about ten feet high, but will come and feed. I have known three occasions when this has been tried, and each time a tiger has come to feed upon the carcass.—London Field.

Women Electrical Workers.

An industry into which women are going is that of making electrical apparatus, and because it is comparatively modern they have, at starting, more nearly an even chance with men than in most other lines. In lamp work especially more women are now employed than any one would suppose until an investigation had been made, and this is because, perhaps, of the manual dexterity needed. The deftness of woman's fingers is especially valuable in the delicate operations of inserting the tiny wires and filaments. The preliminary washing of the glass globes, which must be spotlessly clean, is another job generally intrusted to women and girls. It is said that when paid by the piece a woman makes generally more than a man in many of these operations because of the greater rapidity with which she works.—Philadelphia Record.

Branding Baby For Identification.

Let a mother study the appearance of her child's body well and decide for herself whether there be about it any ineffaceable mark by which she could identify him anywhere and at any time. If there is nothing that time may not efface, then let her have him marked in such a way that she would know him. It is only a question of a few drops of Indian ink, an operation no more painful than vaccination.—Family Doctor.

The Harvest Mining Co.'s

BLACK HILLS of SOUTH DAKOTA

And is the pioneer mining company of Rapid Creek Mining District. Perhaps you are not aware of the magnitude of these words! Let us explain! Pioneer companies are always the ones that are branded with success, for the reason that they are the first in the promising districts and, consequently, take the best property to be obtained and, for this reason, it is invariably the case that the investors in these companies are the ones that reap the rich reward, and not the investors in the cheap "boom stocks" that come later and are selling on the merits of what their neighbors have.

We appeal to your reason and personal knowledge: The Homestake was the pioneer company of the Lead (Dakota) Mining District; the Golden Reward was the Pioneer of the Ruby Basin District, the Cariboo (Colorado) was the pioneer of the Cripple Creek District; The Anaconda (copper) was the pioneer of the Silver Bow Mining District; the Calumet and Hecla were the pioneers of the Lake Region, and they are the companies that have made their stockholders rich, for the reason that they were first and had first choice of all the property to be had—"The property on which the ore bodies were located"—and this is what The Harvest Mining Company has done. We have come first and acquired 160 acres of the best property to be had in the whole Rapid Creek Mining District, a property that is most suitable for working in both manner of mining and milling. First—We are near railroad and have lots of timber for mining purposes. Second—Our ore is a smelting proposition and we will not have to go to the enormous expense of installing costly machinery.

Our ore carries an assay of 20 per cent. lead, 4 ounce silver and $3.50 in gold, and is classed as a wet ore by the smelting companies. Ore carrying lead is also a basis of monopoly at the smelters, as the lead is used as a collecting agent in separating and collecting the gold and silver.

A shaft has already been sunk to a depth of 40 feet on the main ledge and we have exposed a vein of about 20 feet in width. The vein is strong and well defined between two walls of granite and schist, dipping slightly east with a northerly strike, and it is for the purpose of sinking this working shaft to a greater depth that the company is offering a small amount of their treasury stock at 75c. per share (which is fully paid and non-assessable) to help do the dead or development work that is non-productive, preparatory to shipping ore to the smelter.

Although we have numerous ledges on our property, and the famous copper gloucc lead which also passes through it and is exceptionally rich in copper, the company has deemed it best to concentrate its work on the gold, silver and lead vein and put that to producing money before the development is begun on the others.

We wish to call your attention to some of the mines that are gold-silver-lead mines and have produced millions, among which are "Daly West," "Le Roi," "Bunker Hill," "Sullivan," and others, and The Harvest Mining Company is offering as lucrative investment as any of the above. We have the gold, silver and lead ore in sight, and are inviting you to become an equal owner to help do the primary development work. Our Treasury Stock Certificates have the condition "Treasury Stock" printed on the face, which assures the investors that their money goes for the development of the company.

Black Hills, an area less than 100 miles square, has produced $150,000,000.00 in the past 29 years. In the same period of time to come it will probably more than double the past production, and The Harvest Mining Company, being situated as it is in the richest section of the Black Hills, is extending to you the most exceptional advantage of an investment. We appeal to your reason: "Read the past and you will know the future." Our property is offering today the same as the big mines of the continent have offered in the past, and now is the time to become a stockholder.

If you want to get in on the ground floor before the price advances to 10 Cents per share, NOW IS YOUR CHANCE

When The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Company was organized the officers of the company foresaw the certainty of a big mining boom in Clear Creek County, Colorado, U.S.A., and they congratulated themselves on securing a property which showed 1,500 feet of development work, and could be classed with the MINES of the region.

The steady increase in the mineral production of the county, new strikes, the development of old mines at depth (proving the continuity of the ore bodies and the increased richness of the ores), the availability of mining supplies, the abundance of water the great amount of timber for mining and fuel, the adaptability of the topography for deep tunnel mining, and the large number of milling and smelting plants, means that the district possesses all the elements of successful and economical mining

It was a foregone conclusion that investors would awake to a realization of the conditions, and inaugurate a new boom in 1906. It is but natural that they should desire to place their money in a locality that shows more PROVEN MINES than prospects, and where the chances for speedy returns are greater than the chances of loss. Because of economic conditions money will go farther in development work and bring RESULTS quicker. Many new companies have recently been organized, foremost among them being The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co. Stock in all Clear Creek County companies is finding a ready market among both Eastern and Western investors, and in consequence The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co forestalled the boom by securing one of the best mining propositions in the locality, consisting of 16 mining claims, situated on Standard Mountain, in the Ohio and Jackson Mining District, two and one-half miles south of Idaho Springs. The Gold Leaf properties are credited with a past production of $75,000, and the tunnel is being steadily driven toward the rich ore bodies from whence former shipments were made. The old workings are now drowned with water which the tunnel will drain and also give unlimited stoping ground for the ores. Surrounding mines have produced over $11,500,000 Now is the time to purchase stock. When we re-open our ore the opportunity will be lost to investors.

On the Ground Ahead of the Boom

Don't overlook this exceptional opportunity! Think of the acreage; Think of the development work done; Think of the past ore production; Think of the future possibilities; Think of investing—THEN ACT AT ONCE!

Sufficient stock subscriptions have already been received to carry our Frontier Tunnel a distance of 600 feet, or to the Standard Vein, from which point ore shipments will be resumed. Future stock subscriptions will be applied on the purchase of a power plant or on contracts to facilitate the work of driving the tunnel.

Our General Manager estimates that the completion of the tunnel will place at our disposal OVER FOUR MILES OF ORE, aggregating 96,000,000 tons.

AN AMERICAN DISEASE

Indigestion is Responsible for More Sickness in America Than Any Other Disease.

Some doctors go so far as to say that indigestion is the national disease of America. Repeated attacks inflame the lining of the stomach and cause the glands to secrete mucous in stead of the juice of natural digestion. Consequently the blood is poisoned, nerve force is reduced, the vitality of the entire system is weakened.

There is but one national remedy for indigestion and that remedy is Dr. Hamilton's Pills, which are being used by thousands with marvellous success.

Dr. Hamilton's Pills accelerate the action of the gastric glands and give tone to the digestive organs. They strengthen the kidneys and liver, cleanse and purify the blood, and thus add general tone to every organ of the body. Flesh and strength are fast restored and the patient can eat and digest any food he pleases.

Under the vitalizing effect of Dr. Hamilton's Pills your system will soon rally; once more you'll enjoy the blessings of health. Test Dr. Hamilton's Pills yourself. 25c. per box or five boxes for $1; at all dealers, or by mail from N. C Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S.A., and Kingston, Ont.

Work is being rapidly pushed on demolition of the old Separate school on Murray street. This is due to the fact that the 57th Regiment has received word that plans for the armouries will be ready in a couple of weeks. Mr. E. H. Armstrong has charge of the operations. As before noted the timber and other material of the old school belongs to the Public School Board, having been given to them by the Minister of Public Works.

New Whey Tank at Buckhorn.

Messrs Nathan, Stabler & Sons, the local hog-buyers, have a gang of men engaged at Buckhorn, in connecting up the huge tank they recently built about half a mile from Buckhorn cheese factory. From this cheese factory, 2 1-2 inch iron pipes are being laid to the tank which holds thirty barrels. The idea of the tank is that Messrs. Stabler have a huge hog pen, in which are 180 hogs, and these animals are fed by the whey from the cheese factories, whey being one of the best known hog fatteners.

The whey will be conveyed by the pipes to the tank, from which, when required, it is drawn off into troughs and fed to the hogs. The large tank was necessary to store whey for Sundays when the factory is closed.

Citizen Objects to Recent Disclosures

Correspondent Thinks That Town Commissioners Should Make a Change.

(To the Editor of The Times.)

Dear Sir,—Although not a regular visitor at the police court, I happened to be present during the trials involving a young married man, who has by his own confessions under oath, confessed to have been a regular visitor to our women living on city property. So far as this I do not intend to pose as a moralist or an example offering himself for simple to be followed by others, I must say that the whole details enjoyed at yesterday's and a former trial, show clearly that a state of things exists that is a shame to the fair name of this city.

In this connection it is not necessary to mention the names either of men or women, but the scandal shown up in public court is so rank, that the town commissioners should, for the sake of the city as well as themselves take immediate steps, as to whom city property is leased. If such proceedings as have been shown to exist on city property are true, they should at once call a halt and demand that on city property at least, there should be a semblance of decency.

Yours truly,
CITIZEN.

Engineer Merrick Is in the City

Yesterday, Mr. W. P. Merrick, of Toronto, an expert engineer, belonging to the Department of Public Works, Ottawa, arrived in the city, preparatory to making report to the Government on the cost of dumping the dredgings from the river onto the city property beside the C.P.R. tracks.

It will be remembered that Ald. Elliott and City Clerk Armstrong made such a proposition to Hon. Mr. Hyman at Ottawa last week, and Mr. Merrick's visit is a result of their endeavors. The pay will pay the difference in cost between the proposed plan and that of carrying the materials to the lake. The cost will be little more. Yesterday afternoon the Board of Works accompanied Mr. Merrick on his tour of investigation.

"Water Lily" Commences Regular Trips

Lindsay Mill Has Close Call.

Lindsay Post says: Just as the six o'clock bell was announcing the hour, the large smokestack of Crowe's mill took fire and burned very fiercely, distributing sparks and cinders in all directions, setting fire to the mill and several sheds in the yard. Fortunately Mr. Crowe was on hand—he got the fire pump and sprinklers going, and the danger was soon over.

Local Men Go Fishing.

Last night a party of local fishermen left by the nine o'clock G.T.R. train for Gardon Bill. They expect to be out this morning about two hours before the sun gets to work after the trout. It was rumored that they took a rod and line along; whether this is so or not, their supply of "luck" was fully up to fishermen's records. There will be a great chance for the small rod to help the fishermen out, in getting proof for their return, and consequent fish stories.

A Valuable Agent,

The glycerine employed in Dr. Pierce's medicines greatly enhances the medicinal properties which it extracts and holds in solution much better than alcohol would. It also possesses medicinal properties of its own, being a valuable demulcent, nutritive, antiseptic and antiferment. It adds greatly to the efficacy of the Black Cherrybark, Golden Seal root, Stone root and Queen's root, contained in "Golden Medical Discovery" in subduing chronic, or lingering coughs, bronchial, throat and lung affections, for all of which these agents are recommended by standard medical authorities.

In all cases where there is a wasting away of flesh, loss of appetite, with weak stomach, as in the early stages of consumption, there can be no doubt that glycerine acts as a valuable nutritive and aids the Golden Seal root, Stone root, Queen's root and Black Cherrybark in promoting digestion and building up the flesh and strength, controlling the cough and bringing about a healthy condition of the whole system. Of course, it must not be expected to work miracles. It will not cure consumption except in its earlier stages. It will cure very severe, obstinate, chronic coughs, bronchial and laryngeal troubles, and chronic sore throat with hoarseness. In severe coughs it is not so effective. It is in the lingering coughs, or those of long standing, even when accompanied by bleeding from lungs, that it has performed its most marvelous cures. Send for and read the little book of extracts, treating of the properties and uses of the several medicinal roots that enter into Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and learn why this medicine has such a wide range of application in the cure of diseases. It is sent free. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y. The "Discovery" contains no alcohol or harmful, habit-forming drug. Ingredients all printed on each bottle wrapper in plain English.

Sick people, especially those suffering from diseases of long standing, are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter, free. All correspondence is held as strictly private and sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of customs and mailing only. Send 21 one-cent stamps for paper-covered, or 50 stamps for cloth-bound copy.

Cowboys and Indians After Train Robbers

Desperadoes Who Held Up the Imperial Limited Missed $30,000, Owing to the Nerve of Clerks--No Harm Done to Passengers.

Vancouver, B.C., May 11. — Three polite bandits held up the Imperial Limited at 11.50 p.m. on Tuesday, hoping to get a rich haul of cash sent from eastern points for the relief of San Francisco, but owing to the nerve of the mail clerks they got for their pains some estimated at less than a hundred dollars. They overlooked over $30,000 in hard cash because the mail clerks bluffed them out of looking into the mail pouches. The train was making fifteen miles an hour when two masked men climbed over the tender into the cab and said to the engineer, "We are here to hold up the train." Engineer Gallan took this as a joke and made an off-hand reply. But when the train proceeded about a mile further one man tapped Gallan on the shoulder and said coolly, "This is where we stop." Looking round the engineer saw he was covered with two revolvers and that the fireman was in the same predicament. He stopped the train, and a third bandit, carrying a sack of dynamite got aboard. The engineer and fireman were forced to uncouple the mail car and run it half a mile from the rest of the train. Two clerks were in the car. One named Willis was forced to climb out, while the other, McQuarrie, was pleasantly requested to pull out the registered mail sacks. Only seven letters of any account were found in the pouches McQuarrie produced.

MISSED THE BOOTY.

"Where's the San Francisco mail?" he was asked.

"We don't carry any," he replied.

"What's that mail in the pigeon-holes?" asked the bandit.

"Only ordinary letters," said McQuarrie.

The robbers went no further. As a matter of fact, the registered letters in the pigeon holes contained over $30,000.

McQuarrie was put out of the car and Willis made to climb in. The latter was asked if there was any more registered mail than the robbers held in their hands. He said he guessed the visitors had got all there was.

"Oh, all our trouble for that," said the chief bandit. "Well, I'm sorry to have bothered you," he went on to Willis, who was half-undressed, "you must feel chilly."

The engineer was then made to run another mile along the track and again stop. The trio of robbers then hanged down, and as they ran from the track they shouted to the railway men, "Good-bye, boys, take care of yourselves."

OFFER BIG REWARDS.

A posse of 100 cowboys and Indians, with police, are in pursuit. And hope to overtake the party before they can reach the border. The C.P.R. has offered $1,000 reward for each, of $5,000 for the three robbers, which either is supplemented by a Dominion Government reward of $1,000 for all and a Provincial reward of $500 for each robber, all being payable, "dead or alive."

The railway people believe that the band have a cabin in the mountains, well stocked, to which they will make and the location of which it will be difficult to discover.

One suspect has been arrested at Revelstoke.

The robbers were disappointed in not finding any Dominion express matter. The car was a combination mail and express, but on this train there was a big ocean mail to be handled, as the whole car was given up to the Postal Department, and valuable express stuff was in the part of the train that had been left behind.

The hold-up men had not sufficient courage to make the engineer take them back to the car. They told the engineer that they thought they had both mail and express. As it was, they gold-bricked themselves nicely. One of the robbers stood outside the express car when the train first stopped, and did not notice what it was. Express Messenger Jones stuck his head out of the window, and heard a voice from the gloom, says, "Oblige me by putting your head inside that car."

"I never felt so willing to oblige in my life," said Jones, "especially as when I saw the robber walk away and heard the mail car taken up the line I realized that the men had made a mistake."

BILL MINER'S GANG TO BLAME.

It is supposed that the hold-up was done by members of Bill Miner's gang, who held up a train in this province two years ago. Mail Clerk McQuarrie, who got a glimpse of one of the men, says he answered the descriptions given of one of Miner's desperadoes.

Most of the passengers knew nothing about the affair. The robbers did not molest them, and the majority slept through it all. They were only aware of the incident when they heard the train crew discussing it this morning.

Among the passengers on the train were a score of Methodist ministers, who were going to Victoria to attend the General Conference of British Columbia.

Rev. L. Thomas of Hedley City says he was among the few passengers who happened by the use of their berths when the train suddenly stopped. He saw two of the two offenders circling round in order to get from the back to the front of the train. Some excited person in the car asked, "Is that a hold up?" There was no answer for half an hour, when the engine returned and the mail clerks told their story.

King Edward May Visit Peterboro.

The Times is informed that Peterboro will be expected to invite His Majesty to visit us, should he come to this country next autumn. Invitations have been extended to His Majesty by the Parliament of Canada and Legislature of Ontario to pay us a visit, and it is altogether likely that we will be honored by the King. The Council will be called on to deal with the matter in a few days.

PETERBORO PRESBYTERIANS

Held Special Session in Toronto on Wednesday.

By permission of the Synod, the Presbytery of Peterboro held a special meeting in Toronto on Wednesday. There were present, Rev. A. E. Camp, B.A., Havelock, moderator; Rev. D. A. Thompson, Hastings, clerk; and Rev Messrs. Wm. Beattie, Cobourg, A. K. McLeod, B.A., Brighton; A. E. Reeves, Campbellford; A. McKenzie, South Monaghan; E. F. Torrance, B.D., and J. G. Potter, B.A., Peterboro; G. A. McLennan, B.D., Norwood; D. D. McDonald, Keene, ministers, and Messrs. Sheriff Hall and Wm. Fowler, Peterboro, elders. The transfer of Mr. Parsons, the licensure of Mr. A. Bright, assistant at St. Paul's and the call to Springville and Bethany were among the more important matters considered.

Parsons and Beaver Creek, which have been under the Kingston Presbytery, Kingston transfer, and Peterboro accepts these congregations which will be served by the Rev. James Paulin in conjunction with Cordova.

The Presbytery decided that the license of Mr. Bright to preach the gospel be granted.

A call from Springville and Bethany to Rev. John McKenzie, B.A., a recent graduate of Knox College, was presented. The matter was not proceeded with and the moderator was given leave to call a minister as soon as the congregation is ready.

Leave was granted to the congregation at Lakefield to call a successor to the Rev. C. A. Campbell as soon as prepared.

A committee consisting of Revs. Dr. Torrance and J. G. Potter, and Sheriff Hall and William Fowler, was appointed to consider the best methods of raising the offerings for the mission schemes of the church.

The Rev. Wm. Beattie reported the excellent work that is being done in Mill street church, Port Hope, by the Rev. R. H. Nelles, and an appreciative resolution was passed.

Killed Wife at Her Request.

Newport News, Va., May 11.—Julien Pavlinic, an Austrian, 40 years old, working in a shipyard, appeared at police headquarters yesterday and announced he had killed, bathed and shrouded his wife, aged 30 years, at her request. The husband fired seven bullets into her body. The victim of the tragedy was for several years a patient of the Eastern State Hospital at Williamsburg, but was discharged February last. Recently she had shown evidences of a return of her mania and asked her husband to kill her.

Local Clergyman May Be Bishop

Rev. Canon Davidson Mentioned as Possible Candidate.

Prevailing sentiment throughout the city points to Rev. Canon Davidson, rector of St. John's church, being a strong candidate for the honored and honorable candidature as coadjutor to his Lordship Bishop Sweatman.

The names of several gentlemen within the diocese are prominently mentioned in connection with the appointment. Among the Toronto clergy Archdeacon Sweeny, Archdeacon Langtry, Canon Cody, Provost Mackieur, of Trinity College, Canon Welch and Canon Baldwin, are all mentioned. Outside of that city the names so far mentioned in connection with the position are Canon Farthing of Woodstock; Canon Davidson of Peterboro, and Principal Rigby of the Port Hope College.

Whilst Canon Cody of Woodstock, is a strong candidate, outside the Toronto possibilities, Rev. Canon Davidson has a strong backing.

POLICE NEWS

Daily Happenings in Court Room and Station.

The "Sons of Rest" had a fair sized deputation present at yesterday's session of the police court. The first case called was that of a foreman, employed by a local manufacturing company, charged with having struck a young man named Ward Graham. It seems that Graham's younger brother had been discharged from the mill, and complainant went to get the boy's wages due. Some words passed and the foreman kicked and struck him. The boy said the foreman had also hit him. A fine of $1, without costs, was imposed.

The case against a man named Hayes, accused of having beaten a young man, by name Williams, last Thursday, was taken up. It might be noted that Hayes said that, last Thursday night, he had taken his bicycle to Mr. Parker's repair shop, on Hunter street, to be fixed. This might have been the strongest link in the chain of evidence, substantiating Hayes' alleged alibi.

Mr. Parker was called to the witness box. The Magistrate asked whether he kept any record of dates when he received bicycles for repairs. Mr. Parker said such was not his practice, and he could not remember whether it was Thursday or Friday night that Hayes brought his wheel for repairs.

Mr. Kerr said the only defence that Hayes could have put in was that of an "alibi," and the best witnesses would be the women who could prove it, if possible. The defendant's wife could, he said, have determined Hayes' presence at home that night, had he been there, but defendant did not call her. The attack, Mr. Kerr said, was a cowardly one, and was made on young Williams as he was going home quietly, in mistake for young Connors, who greatly resembled Williams. There was a motive shown for Hayes wanting to hurt Connors. Defendant had shown himself to be a physical coward by drawing a revolver on the people at Mrs. Connors' house, and a moral coward by his confessions concerning the six nights at Mrs. Connors' house.

Hayes then, in his own defense, addressed the court, saying he did not want to bring his wife into a public place like the court house, and could produce witnesses to prove his presence in the pool room that night. There was also a witness for the defense refused to hear as he had heard the evidence given during the trial.

His Worship, in summing up, said that whilst he believed Hayes to be guilty, owing to the contradictory nature of the evidence, he would give the defendant the benefit of the doubt, and discharged him.

The Thibetan Treaty.

London, May 10.—The Chinese Government has given its ratification to the treaty concluded between India and Thibet, and the work accomplished by Colonel Younghusband's famous march to the sacred city of Lhassa is thus completed. At one time it looked as if China, possessing no vestige of real power in Thibet, might have been safely ignored. But as she clung resolutely to her theoretical suzerain rights, obviously the wise policy on the part of the British Government was to refer the treaty for final approval to Peking. Without this, there would have been the risk of claims cropping up at any time, on the part of China or of any power such as Russia having special interests in Thibet, to have the treaty set aside as informal and incomplete.

T. V. C. Officials Visit Lindsay

Superintendent McClellan and Engineers Out on Duty.

The Lindsay Post says that on Saturday afternoon last, a party of Trent Canal officials, comprising Superintendent McClellan, Chief Engineer Grant and Overseer Gordon, spent a few hours in town. While here they inspected the dilapidated locks and dam, and took various measurements. We understand that that work on substantial new structures to replace these will be commenced in the fall, and that the improvements to be carried out will include steel swings for Lindsay street and Wellington street bridges.

Salvation Army Immigrants.

Sarah in a Dance Hall.

Seattle, Wash., May 11. Sarah Bernhardt played to 1500 persons in a beer and concert dance hall in Leschi Park, located three miles out of the city, last night. The first ten rows of seats were chairs, and the remainder camp stools.

Brockville Opera House Closed.

Brockville, May 11.—Owing to the unsafe and unsanitary condition of the Brockville Opera House, owned and controlled by the town, the council has voted to close the building for an indefinite period. Last week the ratepayers defeated a proposition to expend $14,000 on improvements. Brockville is now without a playhouse.

Workman Cut to Pieces.

Pittsburg, May 11.—Challoner Dickson, 27 years old, was cut to pieces by revolving shears at the McKeesport tube plant yesterday. Dickson was in charge of the machine, and in some manner his hand became caught in the machinery. Before the machinery could be shut off Dickson had been dragged into contact with the sharp blades.

McLean Charged With Murder.

Edmonton, Alta., May 11.—A charge of murder has been preferred against Geo. W. McLean, companion of Mary Fortier, the young woman who was found dead near Rat Creek on Friday. McLean, who has been held by the police till his release from the hospital, had his preliminary hearing before Magistrate Wade yesterday afternoon.

Corner Stone Laid.

New York, May 11.—Andrew Carnegie and Mrs. Carnegie assisted yesterday in the laying of the corner stone of the 14-storey building in West 39th street, which is to be the joint home of three national engineering associations, the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, the American Institute of Electrical Engineers and the American Institute of Mining Engineers. Mr. Carnegie gave $1,500,000 for the erection of the building.

A New Era Dawns For Russian Empire

For the First Time Since "Bloody Sunday" the Emperor Entered St. Petersburg to Find it in Gala Attire For Historic Occasion.

St. Petersburg, May 11.—An ideal May Day, like a happy augury, greeted the uprising of the curtain for the new act in the great historical drama, Russia's struggle for liberty.

Never did the gray snow-bound northern capital of Peter the Great present a more brilliant picture than for the inauguration of the Russian Parliament. Just a suspicion of haze hung over the Gulf, softening the outlines and giving the scene a touch of fairyland. The city, spreading out over the numerous green islands in the river, seemed swimming in a flood of light.

THE IRON HAND EVERYWHERE.

The city might have been in a state of siege, so heavy was the array of troops. Not only were detachments of infantry, cavalry and gendarmes stationed at strategic points, but large reserves were massed in the court yards of the public buildings. Early on the morning the Palace square re-assembled a field camp, two regiments of Guards having bivouacked there all night. At daylight battalions of police took possession of all the approaches to the palace for the distance of a third of a mile, and all day no one was allowed to pass the lines without tickets. The draw of the Nicholas bridge from Vasili Island, was opened, and the Palace bridge, which rests on pontoons, was allowed to swing down the current so as to permit the Imperial yachts bearing their majesties and the court from Peterhof to pass up the river to the landing place in front of the Winter palace.

THE CZAR ARRIVES QUIETLY.

Like all great State functions in Holy Russia, the ceremonies began with religious services. At 10 o'clock in the morning the whole city reverberated with bells and chimes. While the bells were still ringing the Imperial yacht Alexandra, with the Imperial standard at the fore, moved majestically up the river, dipping her flag in answer to the salutes and cheers from the Emperor's warships lying at the Baltic works. Instead of proceeding to the Winter Palace, the yacht stopped at the landing stage of the English quay, below the Nicholas bridge, where the Emperor, the Empress and the dowager Empress entered a launch and attended by a launch on each flank moved on up the river.

ARASED BEFORE THE ALTAR.

Without halting at the Winter Palace the launches crossed the river and their Majesties landed under the grim walls of the St. Peter and St. Paul fortress, which they entered by the Imperial Water terrace, driving hurriedly to the cimmgaas cathedral inside the walls, where repose the remains of the Romanoffs. There, before the tombs of his Majesty's ancestors, the Imperial family knelt for twenty minutes, made their devotions and asked for the blessing and guidance of the Almighty. As their Majesties, after their devotion, returned to the terrace and re-entered the launch, the faint echo of a cheer swept up the Neva. The Imperial launch immediately crossed the river and entered the Winter palace from the quay entrance.

BACK IN HIS CAPITAL.

For the first time since the ceremony of blessing the waters, January 19, 1905 when the Emperor escaped death from the charge of grape fired from a gun of the saluting battery on the opposite bank of the river, their Majesties were back in the Russian capital.

A CONCILIATORY SPEECH.

The Emperor's reception passed off without any untoward incident.

The tone of the speech from the throne was conciliatory. It expressed the Emperor's wish that relief be given to the peasants in their present unfortunate conditions and called on the members of Parliament to put their hearts into their work and to co-operate with him in solving the present problems of Russia, and in handing down a united and prosperous empire to his successor.

NO UNTOWARD INCIDENT.

The Emperor and Empress, after leaving the palace, entered a launch, passed down the river, boarded the Imperial yacht Alexandra, and returned to Peterhof. The crowds on the banks of the river and islands heartily cheered the Imperial party. There was no other incident.

The members of the Lower House of Parliament, after the ceremonies at the Palace, embarked on steamers and went up the river, landing at the Tauride Palace, where the House will assemble.

ROBBED OF $3,000

A Canadian Who Travelled for a New York Jewelry Firm Loses His Samples at Station.

New York, May 11.—Hardly a spot in New York is more closely watched for thieves than the Grand Central Station, yet a daring and successful robbery was committed there yesterday afternoon.

J. H. Racelcot is a salesman for one of the largest jewelry firms in New York. He lives in St. John's, Que., and travels through Canada, booking orders from merchants. He carries his samples—watches, chains, and other jewelry—in a case which weighs 75 pounds. His outfit is valued at $3,000.

He went to the Grand Central station yesterday to buy a ticket for Montreal, intending to get dinner and take the seven o'clock train. At the ticket window he put down the heavy bag and counted out the fare, put the ticket in his wallet, and then turned to pick up his case of samples.

It was gone. Evidently he had been followed by thieves, who knew his occupation, and the value of the contents of his bag.

The salesman found a policeman, to whom he told his story. The bluecoat hurried the victim to two detective sergeants on duty, and at all the doors men were stationed to see the bag, if still in the building, was not carried out. The thieves must have left the building, however, by the time Racelcot noticed his loss.

Information of the robbery was telephoned to police headquarters, and detectives at all ferries were directed to keep a lookout. A list of the samples were given to the police. Racelcot, after communicating with a member of his firm, took his train for Montreal.

Marriage of Old Peterboro Boy

The Winnipeg Free Press of recent date, contains the following reference to the wedding of an old Peterboro boy, who has many friends here, viz., Mr. Frank Rush of Belmont.

Grace church was the scene of a pretty wedding Wednesday afternoon when Miss Effie M. Mitchell, sister of Mrs. W. J. Mitchell, and Frank Lush of this city were united in marriage. Dr. Sparling, the pastor, officiated. The church was prettily decorated with palms and ferns. At 2.30 the groom with his best man, Gordon Thompson, took their places at the altar, and shortly after the bride entered the church, preceded by the ushers, Fred Ure and Wasler Mills, and the bridesmaid, Miss Mabel Mitchell, the little flower girl, Lila Young, niece of the bride. The bride was becomingly dressed in a gown of cream silk poplin over taffeta, with white maline and tulle hat, trimmed with white ostrich plumes and carrying a bouquet of bridal roses. The bridesmaid wore a costume of champagne silk colienne, with touches of blue, and carried pink roses and carnations. The little flower girl looked very dainty in a white silk dress, and white poke bonnet, carrying a basket of white and pink carnations.

At the close of the ceremony a reception was held at the residence of J. F. Mitchell, St. John's, where the happy couple received the congratulations of the friends. Refreshments were served from a table decorated with carnations and roses and the wedding cake for the center piece. Miss Billington played appropriate music during the reception. The newly wedded couple left on the evening train, amidst showers of rice and good wishes, for a short trip in the west, after which they will take up their residence in Belmont. The brides' going-away costume was a handsome tailor-made suit of grey broadcloth, the Eton coat, with embroidered vest, opening over a dainty white silk waist, a pretty hat of grey mohair braid trimmed with soft blue ribbon and pink roses completed a charming costume. The bride was the recipient of numerous beautiful and costly gifts, also several checks from friends out of town.

Coffee Hurts One in Three

It is difficult to make people believe that coffee is an absolute poison to at least one person out of every three, but people are slowly finding it out, although thousands of them suffer terribly before they discover the fact.

A New York hotel man says: "Each time after drinking coffee I became restless, nervous and excited, so that I was unable to sit five minutes in one place, was also inclined to vomit and suffered from loss of sleep, which got worse and worse.

A lady said that perhaps coffee was the cause of my trouble, and suggested that I try Postum Food Coffee. I laughed at the thought that coffee hurt me, but she insisted so hard that I finally had some Postum made. I have been using it in place of coffee ever since, for I noticed that all my former nervousness and irritation disappeared. I began to sleep perfectly, and the Postum tasted as good or better than the old coffee, so what was the use of sticking to a beverage that was ruining me?

"One day on an excursion up the country I remarked to a young lady friend on her greatly improved appearance. She explained that some time before she had quit using coffee and taken Postum. She had gained a number of pounds and her former palpitation of the heart, humming in the ears, trembling of the hands and legs and other disagreeable feelings had disappeared. She recommended me to quit coffee and take Postum and was very much surprised to find that I had already made the change.

"She said her brother had also received great benefits from leaving off coffee and taking on Postum Food Coffee."

"There's a reason."

County Goal Creates Friction

Bowmanville Statesman on United Counties Prison.

The Bowmanville Statesman says: No gentle reader, the Counties' Council seemingly did not take into account that prhon local option is in operation in these counties that much less jail accommodation will be required. In this connection notice the differences in the number of licenses issued in West Northumberland and West Durham—four in the latter and 18 in the former. The question naturally arises, if Northumberland furnishes seven-ninths of the criminals, should that county not pay seven-ninths of the cost of the new gaol at Cobourg? The old jail is good enough for the few Durham criminals who find their way down there.

Cowboys and Indians After Train Robbers

Desperadoes Who Held Up the Imperial Limited Missed $30,000, Owing to the Nerve of Clerks--No Harm Done to Passengers.

Vancouver, B.C., May 11. — Three polite bandits held up the Imperial Limited at 1130 p.m. on Tuesday, hoping to get a rich haul of cash sent from eastern points for the relief of San Francisco, but owing to the nerve of the mail clerks they got for their pains sums estimated at less than a hundred dollars. They overlooked over $30,000 in hard cash because the mail clerks bluffed them out of looking into the mail pouches. The train was making fifteen miles an hour when two masked men climbed over the tender into the cab and said to the engineer, "We are here to hold up the train." Engineer Gallan took this as a joke and made an off-hand reply. But when the train proceeded about a mile further one man tapped Gallan on the shoulder and said coolly. "This is where we stop." Looking round the engineer saw he was covered with two revolvers and that the fireman was in the same predicament. He stopped the train, and a third bandit, carrying a sack of dynamite got aboard. The engineer and fireman were forced to uncouple the mail car and run it half a mile from the rest of the train. Two clerks were in the car. One named Willis was forced to climb out, while the other, McQuarrie, was pleasantly requested to pull out the registered mail sacks. Only seven letters of any account were found in the pouches McQuarrie produced.

MISSED THE BOOTY.

Where the San Francisco mails" he was asked.

"We don't carry any," he replied.

"What's that mail in the pigeon-holes?" asked the bandit.

"Only ordinary letters," said McQuarrie.

The robbers went no further. As a matter of fact, the registered letters in the pigeon holes contained over $30,000.

McQuarrie was put out of the car and Willis made to climb in. The latter was asked if there was any more registered mail than the robbers held in their hands. He said he guessed the visitors had got all there was.

"Oh, all our trouble for that," said the chief bandit. "Well, I'm sorry to have bothered you," he went on to Willis, who was half-undressed, "you must feel chilly."

The engineer was then made to run another mile along the track and again stop. The trio of robbers then hopped down, and as they ran from the track they shouted to the railway man, "Good-bye, boys, take care of yourselves."

OFFER BIG REWARDS.

A posse of 100 cowboys and Indians, with police, are in pursuit, and hope to overtake the party before they can reach the border. The C.P.R. has offered $1,000 reward for each, of $5,000 for the three robbers, which offer is supplemented by a Dominion Government reward of $1,000 for all and a Provincial reward of $500 for each robber, all being payable, "dead or alive."

The railway people believe that the band have a cabin in the mountains, well stocked, to which they will make and the location of which it will be difficult to discover.

One suspect has been arrested at Revelstoke.

The robbers were disappointed in not finding any Dominion express matter. The car was a combination mail and express, but on this train there was a big ocean mail to be handled, so the whole car was given up to the Postal Department, and valuable express stuff was in the part of the train that had been left behind.

The hold-up men had not sufficient courage to make the engineer take them back to the car. They told the engineer that they thought they had both mail and express. As it was, they gold-bricked themselves nicely. One of the robbers stood outside the express car when the train first stopped, and did not notice what it was. Express Messenger Jones stuck his head out of the window, and heard a voice from the gloom, says, "Oblige me by putting your head inside that car."

"I never felt so willing to oblige in my life," said Jones, "especially as when I saw the robber walk away and heard the mail car taken up the line I realized that the men had made a mistake."

BILL MINER'S GANG TO BLAME.

It is supposed that the hold-up was done by members of Bill Miner's gang, who held up a train in this province two years ago. Mail Clerk McQuarrie, who got a glimpse of one of the men, said he answered the descriptions given of one of Miner's desperadoes.

Most of the passengers knew nothing about the affair. The robbers did not molest them, and the majority slept through it all. They were only aware of the incident when they heard the train crew discussing it this morning.

Among the passengers on the train were a score of Methodist ministers, who were going to Victoria to attend the General Conference of British Columbia.

Rev. L. Thomas of Hedley City says he was among the few passengers who happened to be out of their berths when the train suddenly stopped. He saw one of the two bandits circling round in order to get from the back to the front of the train. Some excited person in the car asked, "Is this a hold up?" There was no answer for half an hour, when the engine returned and the mail clerks told their story.

Local Clergyman May Be Bishop

Rev. Canon Davidson Mentioned as Possible Candidate.

Prevailing sentiment throughout the city points to Rev. Canon Davidson, rector of St. John's church, being a strong candidate for the honored and honorable candidature as coadjutor to his Lordship Bishop Sweetman.

The names of several gentlemen within the diocese are prominently mentioned in connection with the appointment. Among the Toronto clergy Archdeacon Sweeny, Archdeacon Langtry, Canon Cody, Provost Macklem, of Trinity College, Canon Welch and Canon Baldwin, are all mentioned. Outside of the city the names so far mentioned in connection with the question are Canon Farthing of Woodstock; Canon Davidson of Peterboro, and Principal Rigby of the Port Hope College.

Whilst Canon Cody of Woodstock, is a strong candidate, outside the Toronto possibilities, Rev. Canon Davidson has a strong backing.

POLICE NEWS

Daily Happenings in Court Room and Station.

The "Sons of Rest" had a Tair sized deputation present at yesterday's session of the police court. The first case called was that of a foreman, employed by a local manufacturing company, charged with having struck a young man named Ward Graham. It seems that Graham's younger brother had been discharged from the mill, and complainant went to get the boy's wages due. Some words passed and the foreman kicked and struck him. The boy said the foreman had also hit him. A fine of $1, without costs, was imposed.

The case against a man named Hayes, accused of having beaten a young man, by name Williams, last Thursday, was taken up. It might be noted that Hayes said that, last Thursday night, he had taken his bicycle to Mr. Parker's repair shop, on Hunter street, to be fixed. This might have been the strongest link in the chain of evidence, substantiating Hayes' alleged alibi.

Mr. Parker was called to the witness box. The Magistrate asked whether he kept any record of dates when he received bicycles for repairs. Mr. Parker said such was not his practice, and he could not remember whether it was Thursday or Friday night that Hayes brought his wheel for repairs.

Mr. Kerr said the only defence that Hayes could have put in was that of an "alibi," and the best witnesses would be the women who could prove it, if possible. The defendant's wife could, he said, have determined Hayes' presence at home that night, had he been there, but defendant did not call her. The attack, Mr. Kerr said, was a cowardly one, and was made on young Williams as he was going home quietly, in mistake for young Connors, who greatly resembled Williams. There was a motive shown for Hayes wanting to hurt Connors. Defendant had shown himself to be a physical coward and by drawing a revolver on the people at Mrs. Connors' house, and a number of witnesses had given testimony corroborating the statements concerning the six nights at Mrs. Connors' house.

Hayes then, in his own defense, addressed the court, saying he did not want to bring his wife into a public place like the court house, and could produce witnesses to prove his presence in the pool room that night. There was also a witness for the defense refused to hear as he had heard the evidence given during the trial.

His Worship, in summing up, said that whilst he believed Hayes to be guilty, owing to the contradictory nature of the evidence, he would give the defendant the benefit of the doubt, and discharged him.

The Thibetan Treaty.

London, May 10.—The Chinese Government has given its ratification to the treaty concluded between India and Thibet, and the work accomplished by Colonel Younghusband's famous march to the sacred city of Lhassa is thus completed. At one time it looked as if China, possessing no vestige of real power in Thibet, might have been safely ignored. But as she clung tenaciously to her theoretical suzerain rights, obviously the wise policy on the part of the British Government was to refer the treaty for final approval to Peking. Without this, there would have been the risk of claims cropping up, at any time, on the part of China or of any power such as Russia having special interests in Thibet, to have the treaty set aside as informal and incomplete.

A New Era Dawns For Russian Empire

For the First Time Since "Bloody Sunday" the Emperor Entered St. Petersburg to Find it in Gala Attire For Historic Occasion.

St. Petersburg, May 11.—An ideal May Day, like a happy augury, greeted the opening of the courtain for the new act in the great historical drama, Russia's struggle for liberty. Never did the sun shower northern capital of Peter the Great present a more brilliant picture than for the inauguration of the Russian Parliament. Just a suspicion of haze hung over the Gulf, softening the outlines and giving the scene a touch of fairyland. The city, spreading out over the numerous green islands in the river, seemed swimming in a flood of light.

THE IRON HAND EVERYWHERE.

The city might have been in a state of siege, so heavy was the array of troops. Not only were detachments of infantry, cavalry and gendarmes stationed at strategic points, but large reserves were massed in the court yards of the public buildings. Early in the morning the Palace square resembled a field camp, two regiments of Guards having bivouacked there all night. At daylight battalions of police took possession of all the approaches to the palace for the distance of a third of a mile, and all day no one was allowed to pass the lines without tickets. The draw of the Nicholas bridge from Vasili Island, was opened, and the Palace bridge, which rests on pontoons, was allowed to swing down the current so as to permit the Imperial yachts bearing their majesties and the court from Peterhof to pass up the river to the landing place in front of the Winter palace.

THE CZAR ARRIVES QUIETLY.

Like all great state functions in Holy Russia, the ceremonies began with religious services. At 10 o'clock in the morning the whole city reverberated with bells and chimes. While the bells were still ringing the Imperial yacht Alexandra, with the Imperial standard at the fore, moved majestically up the river, dipping her flag in answer to the salutes and cheers from the Emperor's warship lying at the Baltic works. Instead of proceeding to the Winter Palace, the yacht stopped at the landing stage of the English quay, below the Nicholas bridge, where the Emperor, the Empress and the dowager Empress entered a launch and attended by a launch on each flank moved on up the river.

ABASED BEFORE THE ALTAR.

Without halting at the Winter Palace the launches crossed the river and their Majesties landed under the grim walls of the St. Peter and St. Paul fortress, which they entered by the Imperial Water terrace, driving hurriedly to the Cimmgnas cathedral inside the walls, where repose the remains of the Romanoffs. There, before the tombs of his Majesty's ancestors, the Imperial family knelt for twenty minutes, made their devotions and asked for the blessing and guidance of the Almighty. As their Majesties, after their devotion, returned to the terrace and re-entered the launch, the faint echo of a cheer swept up the Neva. The Imperial launch immediately crossed the river and entered the Winter palace from the quay entrance.

BACK IN HIS CAPITAL.

For the first time since the ceremony of blessing the waters, January 19, 1905 when the Emperor escaped death from the charge of grape fired from a gun of the saluting battery on the opposite bank of the river, their Majesties were back in the Russian capital.

A CONCILIATORY SPEECH.

The Emperor's reception passed off without any untoward incident.

The tone of the speech from the throne was conciliatory. It expressed the Emperor's wish that relief be given to the peasants in their present unfortunate conditions and called on the members of Parliament to put their hearts into their work and to co-operate with him in solving the present problems of Russia, and in handing down a united and prosperous empire to his successor.

NO UNTOWARD INCIDENT.

The Emperor and Empress, after leaving the palace, entered a launch, passed down the river, boarded the Imperial yacht Alexandra, and returned to Peterhof. The crowds on the banks of the river and islands heartily cheered the Imperial party. There was no other incident.

The members of the Lower House of Parliament, after the ceremonies at the Palace, embarked on steamers and went up the river, landing at the Tauride Palace, where the House will assemble.

A HAVELOCK WEDDING

Mr. Geo. Worboy Weds Miss McCracken of Havelock.

Mr. George Worboy, of this city, was married on Wednesday afternoon at Havelock to Miss Annie McCracken, daughter of Mr. Jas. McCracken of that village. The wedding, which was a very pretty one, took place at the home of the bride's father. The ceremony was performed by Rev. H. Ogilan, of the Church of England. The bride was assisted by her sister, Miss Olive, and looked very pretty in a costume of white mull trimmed with lace and insertion. The groom was supported by Mr. James Brownlee of Peterboro.

The groom is an employe of the Peter Hamilton Company. The happy couple will reside at 346 Murray street.

County Goal Creates Friction

Bowmanville Statesman on United Counties Prison.

The Bowmanville Statesman says: No gentle reader, the Counties' Council seemingly did not take into account that when local option is in operation in these counties that much less jail accommodation will be required. In this connection notice the difference in the number of licenses issued in West Northumberland and West Durham—four in the latter and 18 in the former. The question naturally arises, if Northumberland furnishes seven-ninths of the prisoners, should that county not pay seven-ninths of the cost of the new jail at Cobourg? The old jail is good enough for the few Durham criminals who find their way down there.

Pretty Wedding In St. Peter's

Rev. Father McColl Unites Mr. A. Blodgett and Miss Lazure.

A pretty wedding was celebrated in St. Peter's Cathedral Wednesday morning, when Miss Julia Lazure, daughter of Mr. Arthur Lazure, became the bride of Mr. Ambrose Blodgett. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father McColl. The bride looked charming in white silk, trimmed with lace, and white chiffon hat to match. She carried a bouquet of white carnations, and was assisted by Miss Mary Mober, who wore a gown of cream, trimmed with lace and baby ribbon, and hat to match. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations. The groom was supported by Mr. Joseph Lazure, brother of the bride. After the ceremony a dainty breakfast was served at the residence of the bride's father on Parnell street. The bride received a number of costly presents, including a silver fruit basket from the employees of the Canadian Cordage Company.

REBUILD YOUR TIRED, ACHING BODY

Winter has left you in a state of fatigue and weariness.

The vitality of your blood is gone.

Your nerves are wretchedly weak and you find it hard to sleep.

The temptation to "brace up" with an alcoholic mixture is great,—but it's uselessness is plain to everyone.

Better follow Nature's plan; it's always a safe one.

First cross new appetite.

Improve your digestion.

Perfect the process of assimilation.

This will ensure a supply of rich, nourishing blood.

Healthy blood soon makes a healthy body, and a system fed by pure, rich blood is bound to gain in energy and strength.

To get well and stay well, use the food tonic "Ferrozone" which is composed of concentrated vegetable extracts that supply nutrition that every weary person needs.

No matter how long you've been in poor health, Ferrozone will win you back like it did Mrs. Sadie E. Hislop, of Whitby, Ont., who writes: "Ferrozone not only brings health to the sick, but has power to cure quickly. After being confined to bed with sickness, I seemed unable to make any headway on the road to complete health. My vitality was low and I was in great need of strength. My nerve force was gone, and from headaches and poor sleep I was in bad straits. Ferrozone was just what I needed. It increased my strength, gave me a new feeling entirely. I used about eight boxes and was made perfectly well. My doctor thinks Ferrozone a wonderful cure."

Your druggist sells it in 50c. boxes or six boxes for $2.50. By mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., and Kingston, Ont.

PARLIAMENTARY RETURNS

Mr. Oliver complains quite properly, says the Ottawa Journal, that members of Parliament call for returns which involve too much labor by the officers and clerks of Departments. He tabled in the Commons the other day a return which stood some feet high. It had engaged in preparation the constant work of 56 typewriters for a considerable time. Another return will necessitate the examination of a million documents. At a document a minute, one man could cover 480 in a working day, that is to say one man would finish the work in six years.

The grievance is not new. The Liberal party when in opposition was guilty of the same thoughtlessness. No one would argue for a lightening of the necessary and proper tasks of the civil servants, as no one would argue for a lightening of the necessary and proper tasks of the members of any other class of the community. The argument is that the civil servants might be more usefully employed than in preparing returns of a bulk which must render them incapable of understanding by anyone but an expert examiner of official documents.

Ordinary business sense would suggest a concise request by the member for the information which he desires to obtain, and possibly a conference with the minister as to the best means of obtaining it. Then the return could be brought down in simple form and in such shape as to make it possible for the enquiring member to understand it.

As it is many of the returns are not read through, even by the members who ask for them. And curiously enough, it has been found in Parliamentary practice that the really important returns, furnishing most meat for discussion in the House, are of the brief order.

Rod and Gun for [illegible]

Fishing and fishing stories are the predominant notes in the May number of "Rod and Gun in Canada," published by W. J. Taylor, Woodstock, Ont. It is appropriate that the opening of the fishing season should be marked in this way by Canada's leading sporting magazine and the generous manner in which the fare is given ought to rejoice the heart of every fisherman. Mr. F. P. Armstrong leads off with a well written description of his capture of a salmon, not notable for his weight but his fighting qualities, and the graphic account given of the death of this champion enables the reader to follow every episode in the long encounter, and final triumph of the angler, with the deepest interest. How the members of an American fishing club found Temagami an ideal fishing ground and enjoyed the best outing of their lives is told by Mr. T. F. Brennan, who was one of the party. Mr. B. Connor relates how Parisian anglers pursue their favorite amusement despite the difficulties in their way and gives an account of a typical [illegible] Many fishermen will be astonished to learn how much the Dominion Government is doing in the art of fish culture as told in a special article on this subject. Notes on the fishes of the Northland is interesting, and an account of the unsuccessful efforts of two lady novices on Rice Lake, Ont., is amusing. The possibilities of Algonquin Park as a fisherman's paradise are told both in prose and illustration, and makes one wish to be able to start off at once to visit the favored spot. In "The Angler's Motto" Mr. W. R. Gilbert appeals to the highest classes of sportsmen and writes with grand effect about the true angler who does not fish for fish alone. Mr. Woolsey's account of his fishing trip to Chats Rapids is both amusing and interesting. Canadian Fishing Territories is a rapid run through the Dominion, giving a bird's eye view of the principal fishing grounds sufficient for the reader to realise that the choice of the fisherman in Canada is almost infinite in its wonderful variety. A special article is devoted to the organization meetings of the Alpine Club of Canada (at which the Magazine was adopted as the official organ) and the constitution of this new and important Canadian Club is given in full. Hunters are not forgotten. "Watching a Deer-tick" is a delightful piece of realistic writing which appeals to even a wider class of readers than sportsmen and should be enjoyed by every one. A Lone Deer Hunt, and Joe's Panther Story both furnish good reading, and the more serious side of Canada's game problems receive due attention in articles on the proposed settlement with the Club lessees in Quebec Province, and a summary of the report and recommendations of the Ontario Game Commission. The departments all show marked vitality and progress. Canada's first automobile and motor boat show, the widespread preparations for acquatic sports throughout the Dominion during the coming summer, the pastime of trap shooting and sporting news items all combine to make an excellent number. Even these do not exhaust the list, for Viscount John continues to discourse his quaint philosophy, and the canvas covered canoe and its treatment comes in for treatment. Altogether the May number of this progressive magazine is not to be beaten for quantity or quality, and in interesting to every sportsman, and indeed to every Canadian.

SERIES OF SHIPWRECKS.

The Most Singular Chain of Marine Accidents on Record.

The most singular series of shipwrecks on record began with the loss of the English merchantman Mermaid, which was driven on the rocks of Torres strait in October, 1829. The officers and crew clung to the shattered vessel, which was held fast upon a sunken ledge, until, a few minutes before the doomed ship went to pieces, a passing frigate picked them up.

The Swiftsure, as the latter craft was called, resumed her northward course, to be foundered in a terrific gale three days later.

Her combined crews were saved by the warship Governor Ready, on voyage to India, May 18, 1830. The last named, overtaken by a storm, was stranded on a barren coast, her three crews to a man succeeding in reaching the shore.

After staying a week on the inhospitable island they were taken off by the revenue cutter Comet, which a few days later sprang a leak and sank in spite of all efforts to save her.

Fortunately a rescue ship was again on hand, the four crews being saved by the Jupiter.

Even then, however, the chain of disasters was not broken, for the Jupiter just as she was entering the harbor of Port Raffe turned turtle and went down with scarcely a moment's warning. Her crews barely escaped with their lives, to be picked up by boat sent to their aid.

Thus the crew of the Mermaid was wrecked five times in one voyage, that of the Swiftsure four times, of the Governor Ready three times and the Comet twice.

The rescues had been purely accidental in every case, none of the ships having been sailing as a consort or even to the same port.

Though the weather had been tempestuous and the escapes barely made, not a life had been lost.

PIANO EXPERIMENTS.

Playing by Sweeping the Strings With a Feather.

Open—while your piano so that the wires are exposed. Over the wires place sheets of music, and when you strike a tone you will find that it has a rattling sound. If now you play a tune in the same manner, with the sheets of music still lying on the strings, it will sound as if the instrument were a banjo. Anyhow, it is a good imitation.

Now remove the music sheets and press down gently, but firmly, the keys belonging to any cord. Take the simple cord C, E, G, for example. The keys must be pressed down without sounding them and held down while some one gently brushes the strings with a feather or a straw. The effect will be as if the cord were played far away and is heard by you as very soft tones.

Change the cord, always pressing down the keys without sounding them, while the feather still sweeps the strings lightly. In this way you may modulate or play a slow piece, and the effect will be very beautiful, indeed, as if heard from a great distance.

The reason of this is that ordinarily a damper rests against each string, but when the corresponding key is struck or pressed down the damper is raised. In sweeping the strings with the feather, lightly, only the strings that are undampered sound, the others being held mute by the dampers, but if the touch of the feather is too heavy even the other strings may sound, so your care must be in making a light and delicate touch.

Now press down a key gently and hold it. Strike very hard the octave above this key, but do not hold it after striking the tone. When the wire of the tone struck has been sufficiently dampered, so that it does not sound so loud, the pressed down key will be heard to "sing" clearly, even though it was not struck. This is because every note struck is composed of several notes, being in reality a cord in itself, and each note contained in that cord causes the corresponding note in the keyboard to vibrate, or "sing," in sympathy if held down in like manner.

The other notes that will sound under these conditions will always be the fifth above the octave, the second octave and the third and fifth above that, and these tones that sound are called "overtones."

For illustration, if C in the lower part of the piano be struck, any or all of the notes that follow will sound if their keys are first pressed and held down.

When you are all done but finishing, you are just half done.

If you have time to boast about being worked to death, you have not much to do.

Some people are so unfortunate that their troubles make people laugh instead of cry.

A man who underestimates himself may be tiresome, but he is not a circumstance to the man who brags.

People may disdain a compliment, but they feel a tender little spot in them where it hit and refused to be dislodged.

It is a theory growing in conviction that the man who says a mean thing about another isn't as mean as the man who carries it.

The man who travels over the path behind you wisely looks at your footprints and sees where you could have avoided many a pitfall.

Tiny Trees.

The midget of the whole tree family is the Greenland birch. It is a perfect tree in every sense of that term and lives its allotted number of years from 75 to 130 just as other species of the great birch family do, although its height under the most favorable conditions seldom exceeds ten inches. Whole bluffs of the east and southeast coast of Greenland are covered with "thickets" of this diminutive species of woody plant, and in many places where the soil is uncommonly poor and frozen from eight to ten months a year a "forest" of these trees will flourish for half a century without growing to a height exceeding four inches.

Strange Dances.

Queensland's government aboriginal settlement on Fraser's island holds a weekly dance for the blacks. Among the bundles of old clothes sent to the settlement there are often ball gowns, so the gins sport decollete dresses. Neither sex wears boots. The sexes have to dance separately.—Sydney Bulletin.

PHYSICAL HARMONY.

Therein Lies the Secret of Health and Long Life.

The necessity of relative harmony throughout the entire physical system cannot be too strongly urged. Herein lies the chief secret of health and long life. Manifest weakness or even predominant strength in any part opens the avenue for the invasion of disease and the approach of death. What can be done for the realization and maintenance of structural and vital harmony? Space would fail us to give details adapted to varying conditions, but the underlying fundamental principle for its accomplishment may be imparted in few words. Strive to strengthen and develop those parts of the body which have been slighted by nature or weakened by disease or abuse; guard zealously such structures and see that they are never subjected to undue strain or too active exertion; neglect not the improvement of every part of the economy, but seek first to improve the weakest structures; look well to organs of vital importance—the heart, lungs, kidneys, etc.—and seek especially to advance their good. A fine physique is not to be ignored, but of far greater importance are a strong pair of lungs, a normal, well guarded heart, good digestive apparatus and functionally sound kidneys. The developing and strengthening of vital structures require more skill and perseverance than the training of the muscular system and should be conducted with much care and diligence.

Pedro the Cruel.

Pedro of Castile was designated the Cruel on account of his barbarity to prisoners taken in battle, who were fortunate if they were put to death at once without torture.

Right as a Trivet.

"As right as a trivet" is a piece of household slang. The trivet was a rod placed across the fireplace for the purpose of suspending from it a pot over the fire. It was necessary that the trivet should be exactly horizontal or disaster to the pot and its contents would result.

The Three Cent Piece.

The silver three cent piece was authorized by act of congress March 3, 1851, and its coinage was begun the same year. Its coinage was discontinued Feb. 12, 1873.

A kicking horse may be cured by tying one of his fore legs with a rope to the hind leg on the other side. Then, as soon as he commences to kick, he jerks his front leg off the ground and goes down in a heap. Two or three doses of that kind will cure the worst case possible.

The Harvest Mining Co.'s

BLACK HILLS of SOUTH DAKOTA

And is the pioneer mining company of Rapid Creek Mining District. Perhaps you are not aware of the magnitude of these words! Let us explain! Pioneer companies are always the ones that are branded with success, for the reason that they are the first in the promising districts and, consequently, take the best property to be obtained and, for this reason, it is invariably the case that the investors in these companies are the ones that reap the rich reward, and not the investors in the cheap "boom stocks" that come later and are selling on the merits of what their neighbors have.

We appeal to your reason and personal knowledge: The Homestake was the pioneer company of the Ida Gray Mining District; the Golden Reward was the Pioneer of the Ruby-Hawk District; the Portland (Colorado) was the pioneer of the Cripple Creek District; The Anaconda (copper) was the pioneer of the Silver Bow Mining District; the Calumet and Hecla were the pioneers of the Lake Region; and they are the companies that have made their stockholders rich, for the reason that they were first and had first choice of all the property to be had—"The property on which the ore bodies were located"—and this is what The Harvest Mining Company has done. We have come first and acquired 160 acres of the best property to be had in the whole Rapid Creek Mining District, a property that is most suitable for working in both manner of mining and milling. First—We are near railroad and have lots of timber for mining purposes. Second—Our ore is a smelting proposition and we will not have to go to the enormous expense of installing costly machinery.

Our ore carries an assay of 20 per cent. lead, 4 ounce silver and $1.50 in gold, and is classed as a wet ore by the smelting companies. Ore carrying lead is also a basis of monopoly at the smelters, as the lead is used as a collecting agent in separating and collecting the gold and silver.

A shaft has already been sunk to a depth of 40 feet on the main ledge and we have exposed a vein of about 20 feet in width. The vein is strong and well defined between two walls of granite and schist, dipping slightly east with a northerly strike, and it is for the purpose of sinking this working shaft to a greater depth that the company is offering a small amount of their treasury stock at 25c. per share (which is fully paid and non-assessable) to help do the dead or development work that is non-productive, preparatory to shipping ore to the smelter.

Although we have numerous ledges on our property, and the famous copper glance lead which also passes through it and is exceptionally rich in copper, the company has deemed it best to concentrate its work on the gold, silver and lead vein and put that to producing money before the development is begun on the others.

We wish to call your attention to some of the mines that are gold-silver-lead mines and have produced millions, among which are: "Daly West," "Le Roi," "Bunker Hill," "Sullivan," and others, and The Harvest Mining Company is offering as lucrative investment as any of the above. We have the gold, silver and lead ore in sight, and are inviting you to become an equal owner to help do the primary development work. Our Treasury Stock Certificates have the condition "Treasury Stock" printed on the face, which assures the investors that their money goes for the development of the company.

Black Hills, an area less than 100 miles square, has produced $100,000,000.00 in the past 29 years. In the same period of time to come it will probably more than double the past production, and The Harvest Mining Company, being situated as it is in the richest section of the Black Hills, is extending to you the most exceptional advantage of an investment. We appeal to your reason: "Read the past and you will know the future." Our property is offering today the same as the big mines of the continent have offered in the past, and now is the time to become a stockholder.

If you want to get in on the ground floor before the price advances to 10 Cents per share, NOW IS YOUR CHANCE

When The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Company was organized the officers of the company foresaw the certainty of a big mining boom in Clear Creek County, Colorado, U.S.A., and they congratulated themselves on securing a property which showed 1,500 feet of development work, and could be classed with the MINES of the region.

The steady increase in the mineral production of the county, new strikes, the development of old mines at depth (proving the continuity of the ore bodies and the increased richness of the ores), the availability of mining supplies, the abundance of water the great amount of timber for mining and fuel, the adaptability of the topography for deep tunnel mining, and the large number of milling and smelting plants, means that the district possesses all the elements of successful and economical mining.

It was a foregone conclusion that investors would awake to a realization of the conditions, and inaugurate a new boom in 1906. It is but natural that they should desire to place their money in a locality that shows more PROVEN MINES than prospects, and where the chances for speedy returns are greater than the chances of loss. Because of economic conditions money will go farther in development work and bring RESULTS quicker. Many new companies have recently been organized, foremost among them being The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co. Stock in all Clear Creek County companies is finding a ready market among both Eastern and Western investors, and in consequence The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co forestalled the boom by securing one of the best mining propositions in the locality, consisting of 16 mining claims, situated on Standard Mountain, in the Ohio and Jackson Mining District, two and one-half miles south of Idaho Springs. The Gold Leaf properties are credited with a past production of $75,000, and the tunnel is being steadily driven toward the rich ore bodies from whence former shipments were made. The old workings are now drowned with water which the tunnel will drain and also give unlimited stoping ground for the ores. Surrounding mines have produced over $11,500,000 Now is the time to purchase stock. When we re-open our ore the opportunity will be lost to investors.

Don't overlook this exceptional opportunity! Think of the acreage; Think of the development work done; Think of the past ore production; Think of the future possibilities; Think of investing—THEN ACT AT ONCE!

Sufficient stock subscriptions have already been received to carry our Frontier Tunnel a distance of 600 feet, or to the Standard Vein, from which point ore shipments will be resumed. Future stock subscriptions will be applied on the purchase of a power plant or on contracts to facilitate the work of driving the tunnel.

Our General Manager estimates that the completion of the tunnel will place at our disposal OVER FOUR MILES OF ORE, aggregating 96,000,000 tons.

RHEUMATISM

Lives in the Blood

Consequently it requires an internal treatment—one that will restore the blood, and thereby relieve the cause of the pain.

After years of experiment, Dr. Hamilton succeeded in producing a remedy that quickly cures rheumatism, gout and all uric acid disorders.

This marvellous cure has been given to the public as Dr. Hamilton's Mandrake and Butternut Pills; in every case they cure quickly.

By toning the kidneys and liver, Dr. Hamilton's Pills ensure a clean healthy body. The blood is restored to a normal healthy condition, renewed vigor is imparted to overworked organs, and thus the general health is built up, and no room is left for rheumatism to creep in.

Discouraged sufferer, relief is at hand. Use Dr. Hamilton's Pills and you will soon shake hands for good with your old enemy. Here is substantial proof:

A Cripple's Story of Cure

"This is a glad day for me, writes James E. Brown of Mill Rd, Ont., "because I can speak of my permanent cure of rheumatism. I have been all through the aching days and sleepless nights, have spent my money on worthless remedies, and consequently in recommending Dr. Hamilton's Pills, I feel sure of their merit. No remedy gave such relief or did me so much good as Dr. Hamilton's Pills. My rheumatism they cured, and ever since my health has been perfect."

When Dr. Hamilton's Pills are to be had in any drug store, it's foolish to live on in misery and ill-health. You ought to get this medicine today and cure yourself. Price 25c. per box, or five boxes for $1 at all dealers, or by mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S.A., and Kingston, Ont.

An agitation is on foot to make arrangements with the brigades of other places to all join in and have a right royal time here.

Police After Tax Neglectors.

The police officers were yesterday on the war-path busily engaged in hunting up delinquents in paying up statute labor taxes. It seems that a large number of men who avail themselves of the privilege of casting their votes at the Ontario Government elections, vote, some taking what may be coming to them for such votes, and then, like the Arab of the well-known saying, pack up their tent "and steal away" to the shanties or elsewhere. All those owing their little $1 had better step to and pay up.

57th Regt. Officers At Brantford

Local Soldiers Well Treated in Brantford While Arranging Trip.

A Brantford despatch received yesterday, says that the officers of the 57th Regiment in that city yesterday making arrangements for the coming visit of our celebrated regiment on Dominion Day, viz., Lt.-Col. J. W. Miller, Capt. Eastwood, Quartermaster, and Capt. Bennet, were met by Lt.-Col. E. D. Cameron, commanding officers of the 38th Dufferin Rifles of Canada, and Major Howard, with other officers of the regiment, who took the visiting officers for a drive around the city and entertained them very hospitably. They visited the armories, and exhibition grounds, where it is probable that the camp will be pitched when the regiment go there.

Ald. Elliott on River Dredging

The City Father Considers That $20,000 Could Be Added to City Property.

In conversation with Ald. Elliott yesterday concerning the recent visit here of the Government officials regarding the placing of the dredgings taken out by the dredge now at work, the jolly Father told a Times' representative that he was fully of the impression the government would comply with the desire of our citizens and dump their material where and as requested by the city. The aldermen considers that it would be cheapest to dump this material along the C.P.R. tracks, than to tow it down to fill up the Little Lake. He also remarked that if these river bottom dredgings are placed as the city wants, it will create fully $20,000 worth of land for the municipality.

S. S. Teachers' Union.

The Primary and Junior Union of Sunday school teachers will meet in the Y.M.C.A. tonight, from seven to eight o'clock for the study of next Sunday's lesson. The primary lesson will be taught by Mrs. H. W. Powlds, representing Mark street, east ward Sunday school.

Young Taylor Doing Well.

A rumor was current last night, that the boy, by name Taylor, who had his legs cut off by a railroad freight train on Wednesday, was dead. A telephone message received by The Times at a late hour last night, assured us that the boy was still living and doing as well as could be expected.

The local companies which go to Cobourg this year as part of the Composite Brigade will be in command of Captains Bennett and McWilliams. Of the other four officers Capt. McLean as lieutenant and also Lieut. Wallace will accompany the local representatives. The composite battalion will in all probability spend the last four days at the Cobourg camp.

English Aid to Sufferers.

The Times has yesterday in receipt of a circular letter sent by Mr. F. L. Rawson, representing the London, England, Musical Club. This club has opened a subscription list, the proceeds of which will be forwarded to sufferers by the recent fire and earthquake in San Francisco and other California cities. The Lord Mayor, and principals of London gave their personal patronage to the club's entertainment given on May 3rd. This proves their "blood is thicker than water," and that the mother country has kindly feelings towards our cousins to the south.

A Sad Sight From Evictment.

A pitable sight was in evidence yesterday at the corner of Aylmer and McDonald streets. A Mrs. Dunsford had been evicted from her former residence whether for non-payment of rent or other cause could not be ascertained. The household goods were piled along the pavement, and several children were crying over the summary evictment.

A Practical and Amusing Monthly.

The Times is in receipt of the magazine entitled "Physical Culture." This magazine, whilst sold at the low price of 10 cents per monthly issue, is one of the most comprehensive exponents of "How to keep well," now on the market. It must not be inferred that "Physical Culture" is simply a collection of rules of health. The magazine, which is well dressed, well printed and well edited is a compendium of useful information presented in most readable style. Those wanting to learn the most modern ways of developing muscle, retaining health, rejuvenating the system, and a work of most intense interest from start to finish, should subscribe for Physical Culture, which is on sale at The Times Bookstore.

Good Work By "Children's Aid."

In view of the recent and somewhat sensational developments shown up in the police court, there is one redeeming feature attaching to the somewhat malodorous exposes, and that is the splendid work being done by the Children's Shelter on Charlotte street. As before noted in these columns, a few days ago, three children belonging to the Connor woman, living in the fourth ward, were taken to the shelter. Mr. Henry, the manager, showed a Times' representative yesterday, the clothing that these children arrived in. From a casual glance, one would not like to take the clothing to make a bed for his dog, unless he grudged paying dog tax for the dog. Here are children that would have had a future in dirt, misery and, possibly something worse, but now in clean healthy surroundings, cleanly and decently clad, and with a probable respectable and respected future.

Aged Sisters Die Suddenly

Relations of Mr. R. E. Layfield Passes Away.

Mr. Edmund Layfield, 268 Reid St. has received the intelligence of the death of his two sisters at their home at Inverness, Megantic county, Que. Their death is unusually sad as they passed away within twenty-four hours of each other. Miss Emma, who was 69 years of age, was found dead in bed on Monday morning, and on Tuesday afternoon Miss Agnes dropped dead at the age of eighty-one years. It is thought that the shock occasioned by her sister's demise was responsible for her sudden death.

The deceased were the only sisters of Mr. Edmund Layfield and aunts of Mr. R. E. Layfield of the Canadian General Electric Company.

The funeral took place on Wednesday afternoon at Inverness, the two bodies being interred in one grave. Mr. R. E. Layfield attended the funeral.

Treating Wrong Disease.

Many times women call on their family physicians, suffering, as they imagine, one from dyspepsia, another from heart disease, another from liver or kidney disease, another from nervous exhaustion or prostration, another with pain here and there, and in this way they all present alike to themselves and their easy-going and indifferent, or over-busy doctor, separate and distinct diseases, for which he, assuming them to be such, prescribes his pills and potions. In reality, they are all only symptoms caused by some uterine disease. The physician, ignorant of the cause of suffering, encourages this practice until large bills are made. The suffering patient gets no better, but probably worse, by reason of the delay, wrong treatment and consequent complications. A proper medicine like Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, directed to the cause, would have entirely removed the disease, thereby dispelling all those distressing symptoms, and instituting comfort instead of prolonged misery. It has been well said, that "a disease known is half cured."

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a scientific medicine, carefully devised by an experienced and skilful physician, and adapted to woman's delicate system. It is made of native medicinal roots and is perfectly harmless in its effects in any condition of the system.

As a powerful invigorating tonic "Favorite Prescription" imparts strength to the whole system and to the organs distinctly feminine in particular. For overworked, "worn-out," "run-down," debilitated teachers, milliners, dressmakers, seamstresses, "shop girls," house-keepers, nursing mothers, and feeble women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the greatest earthly boon, being unequaled as an appetizing cordial and restorative tonic.

As a soothing and strengthening nervine "Favorite Prescription" is unequaled and is invaluable in allaying and subduing nervous excitability, irritability, nervous exhaustion, nervous prostration, neuralgia, hysteria, spasms, chorea, St. Vitus's dance, and other distressing, nervous symptoms commonly attendant upon functional and organic disease of the uterus. It induces refreshing sleep and relieves mental anxiety and despondency.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets invigorate the stomach, liver and bowels. One to three a dose. Easy to take as candy.

Mrs. Kelly Says Dog Must Be Shot

Information Laid Because Boy Is Bitten By Dog.

Yesterday morning just after the Sons of Rest had departed from their usual intellectual feast in the police court, a Mrs. Kelly, called, and asked the magistrate to issue an information against McCallum Bros. She complained that a dog belonging to them had bitten her boy in the wrist. The boy explained that he was picking up a ball when the dog a spotted coach dog, without provocation, seized his hand in his jaws. The lady said her husband, who, on account of detention by his daily work, could not be present, demanded emphatically that the dog be shot. The magistrate asked her what good he killing of the dog would do the boy, especially as, by its death, she would not be able to learn whether the animal had hydrophobia or not. Mrs. Kelly simply replied, "Well, he says the dog must be shot, and the owners going the doctor's bill for the child's injuries. A police court case will be the result.

Ordered Out The Bureaucrats

President Mouromtzeff of Russian Assembly Put the Czar's Minions Off the Floor.

St. Petersburg, May 11.—The Czar's speech to the Duma, read at yesterday's inauguration, was as follows:

"The supreme Providence which gave me the care of our Fatherland moved me to call to my assistance in legislative work elected representatives of the people. In the expectation of a brilliant future for Russia, I greet in your persons the best men from the empire, whom I ordered my beloved subjects to choose from among themselves.

"A difficult work lies before you. I trust that love for your Fatherland and your earnest desire to serve it will inspire and unite you.

"I shall keep inviolate the institutions which I have egranted, with the firm assurance that you will devote all your strength to the service of your country, and especially to the needs of the peasantry, which are so close to my heart, and to the education of the people and their economical welfare, remembering that to the dignity and prosperity of the State, not only freedom, but order founded upon justice, are necessary.

"I desire from my heart to see my people happy, and hand down to my son an empire secure, well organized and enlightened.

"May God bless the work that lies before me in unity with the Council of the Empire and the Imperial Douma. May this day be the day of the moral revival of Russia, and the day for the renewal of its highest forces.

"Approach with solemnity the labors for which I call you, and be worthy of the responsibilities put upon you by the Emperor and people. May God assist us."

The reading lasted but three minutes. No reply was made to the Emperor's address. When he had concluded the assemblage dispersed, the members of the Douma making no sign of approval or disapproval of what they had listened to.

The scene around the Tauride Palace, whither the members of the Douma proceeded in the afternoon to open their first session, was in striking contrast to that at the imperial reception. There was no barricade, no guard of honor, and even the police were few. There were only mounted patrols enough to prevent the blocking of traffic, but hundreds of volunteers from the Young Liberal party worked their hardest to ensure everything passing off worthily. They cleared the way for traffic towards the Douma entrance, and kept under control bands of their comrades, who were shouting passionately for amnesty.

WAS PERFECT ORDER.

The proceedings within the chamber were most creditable to the assembly of 400 men, a vast majority of whom were entirely strangers to each other ten days ago. They listened patiently while the aged Baron Frisch welcomed them on behalf of the Emperor. Then they proceeded in perfect order to take the oath and sign the roll of membership, after which they were asked to elect a president from among themselves. Each dropped the name of his chosen candidate into a voting urn. As anticipated, Prof. Mouromtzeff, the senior member for Moscow, was elected. The result was received with hearty cheers.

The Assembly promptly heeded the presidential bell when it called the House to order. Two incidents at the close of the sitting were indicative of the temper prevailing. One was an ovation to the veteran, Ivan Petrunkevitch, when he demanded amnesty for those who had struggled to secure this National Assembly. It will be remembered that M. Petrunkevitch was the first man who declared to the Czar's face for a constitution. At the beginning of the present reign he, on behalf of the Tvir Zemstvo, asserted in an address of loyalty that Russia was ready for a constitution. In the Imperial reply, he was told that the desires expressed in his address were senseless dreams. Today has been given him the triumph of making his first speech in a Russian Douma.

The other sign of the Douma's independence was the prompt direction by President Mouromtzeff to Government officials to withdraw from the floor o fthe House. Some of them demurred, but M Mouromtzeff vigorously ordered that the floor be cleared of non-members. At this the galleries and the entire House cheered with delight, enjoying the unique spectacle of an independent elected man ordering bureaucrats outside a public building.

Another Report of Earthquake

Mr. W. H. Cluxton Hears From Relative Who Was in San Francisco Disaster.

Mr. W. H. Cluxton a day or two ago had a letter from a relation who passed through the recent terrible disaster that practically wiped out the beautiful city of the Golden Gate.

His relative says in part, after thanking Mr. Cluxton for kind offers of assistance, which however, they did not require, that the recent earthquake was the greatest ever known in California. "The earthquake," he went on to say, "providently took place at 5.13 a.m., before the city awoke to business. Had such not been the case, God alone knows what the loss of life would have been. It certainly would have been fearful as the tons of brick, stone, etc., that fell into the streets, would have crushed the life out of thousands who were sleeping.

The first quake was a "peach," fully matured and highly developed. It was followed at intervals of some 15 little tremblings during the day. I was up on the 6th storey of a large private hotel, and while I cannot describe my sensations, if you could fancy yourself awakened out of a sound sleep to find your bed dancing round the room, the plaster and pictures, glass globes, etc., showering down on your head, the building rocking like a drunken man, and expecting, every minute, that the next second you would be swallowed up, you may imagine how I felt.

The fire and destruction of the next three days beggars description. Viewed from the hills the sight was something awful. Fully two-thirds of our beautiful city is in ashes and ruins, and that the richest part of it. The writer then goes on in optimistic spirit to note how the citizens are pluckily sticking to the city, determined to rebuild it better than ever.

Mr. Cluxton's correspondent went on to say that he escaped to Oakland with nothing but the clothes on his back, and until the banks and insurance companies pay up, $3.90. From his description the people of 'Frisco have every faith in building up a new San Francisco as good as the old one.

Maccabees Hold Regular Meeting

Many New Candidates Were Initiated.

Peterboro Tent, No. 69, Knights of Maccabees, held their regular meeting Thursday night in the S.O.E. Hall, Hunter street. A number of new candidates were initiated, and after the meeting the members adjourned to McCallum's, and had an impromptu banquet. A committee was appointed, including O. S. Wuthbett and John Titterson, to make arrangements for the annual picnic this summer.

Former Blunder Now Corrected

Detective Wells Makes Important Discovery in Barton Murder Case.

Our readers will remember that during the spring assizes, here recently, a Times' representative interviewed Detective Wells of Toronto, who was here on the Dummer shooting case, and that our representative was shown some of the leading exhibits in connection with the Barton murder case. It now turns out that the shoe dinings and other articles shown The Times' man, have become important factors in establishing the identity of the murdered woman.

Yesterday important and new developments came to light in this case.

Through representations made by Detective Wells, the body of the woman, which was buried only last week, was exhumed yesterday morning, and it was definitely shown that the disfigurement of the woman's left breast, as set forth in the notice, issued by the police and provincial detective force, and given in these columns some time ago, was untrue. The description declared that the left nipple was missing; yesterday morning's examination showed that it was not. This may now lead to the woman's identification. Detective Wells after diligent inquiry, which revealed the makers of the woman's shoes, finally found a clue, which brought him into communication with a woman in the Western States, who, if his surmises are correct, is a sister of the dead woman. In all respects the descriptions tallied, except in the matter of the reported disfigurement.

PARK STREET CHURCH

Finance Committee Authorized to Canvas the Congregation.

The Park street Baptist church is one of the most hustling institutions of its kind in the city, and from the pastor, Rev. A. H. Brace, to the humblest member of the congregation, all belonging to it are animated by a spirit of progressiveness and "get there."

As noted in former issues, the congregation determined, some time ago, to erect a church compatible with the rapidly growing congregation. At the annual meeting held Thursday night, the finance committee was appointed to canvass the congregation and ascertain to what extent each member and attendant of the church can contribute. The building committee has now nearly $400 in the treasury, which is an encouraging beginning.

Rev. Mr Brace pointed out that by extending the period of paying the amount subscribed over four years, a large sum could be raised without being seriously felt by the congregation.

There are now over sixty families connected with the church, and donations could be expected from several outside sources. The congregation is free from debt, and has as above noted, $400 to their credit.

Rev. A. H. Brace, under whose pastorate, the church has made such great progress, occupied the chair.

The clerk's report showed that 29 members had been added to the roll during the past year. Owing to the removals and deaths, this number was reduced somewhat, leaving an actual increase in membership of eighteen.

Mr. T. G. Gillespie, chairman of the finance committee, presented a report in part as follows;

Total receipts for last quarter, ending April 10th ... ... ... ....$276.20
Total expenditures for last quarter ... ... ... ... ... ... ... ....274.09

Bal. to next quarter ... ...$ 2.11

The statement of the finance committee for the year ending April 30, 1906, showed receipts totalling $1,076.31 and expenditures amounting to $1,068.23, leaving a balance of $2.11.

The secretary of the building fund, Mr. Wm. Kemp, presented a report which showed a balance of nearly $400 as follows;

Total receipts ... ... ... ....$421.76
Total expenditures... ... ... ....48.20

Cash in hand ... ... ... ....$373.56

The following officers were elected for the coming year;

Church clerk—Mr. Geo. Sloan.

Treasurer—W. C. Harrie

Building fund treasurer—W. Kemp

Finance committee — Messrs. Gillespie, David Holt, W. Kemp, Harrie, R. F. Buntin.

Trustees — Messrs. T. G. Gillespie, F. G. Hunt, W. Kemp, David Holt, A. Inkpen, R. F. Buntin.

A Great Chance To Make Money

A Good Opportunity For Paying Investment.

In our issue of last Saturday we displayed a number of large and very clear views which demonstrated, beyond doubt, the almost marvellous possibilities of a recent invention: This was the Flemming Aerial Ladder.

This triumph of human ingenuity consists of a number of steel fixtures to quote a homely comparison, work somewhat on the principle of a well known toy which, by a scissors movement, extends from the hand of the holder a doll or other object some two feet towards the onlooker.

To speak seriously, the Flemming Aerial Ladder, although not requiring any inordinate expense in its manufacture, is of practical and, it is not too much to say, almost necessary adoption by those whose work requires to be done at great heights. For instance, firemen called on to combat flames in a lofty building simply step on a platform and, with their nose, are quickly elevated to any height, up to, say, a ten-storey building's top flat, and are thus enabled to work as though fighting fire on the ground level. For painters, bricklayers, masons, or any class of artisans requiring their presence at great heights, together with their tools and material, the new ladder will in future be indispensable. The company now formed to manufacture these ladders on a large scale, adaptable to commercial and industrial requirements, have one of the most promising products of the present age. The demand for the Flemming Aerial Ladder will be something unprecedented.

Those who have studied the wonderful raise in price of such stocks as those of the Bell Telephone Co. and and the concerns handling articles of general demand and utility, can easily foresee a similar opportunity for profit in the company making the Flemming Aerial Ladder.

Those seeking a channel for investment of funds, who want both security and almost assured large dividends, should at once secure stock in the Flemming Aerial Ladder Co., 32 Yonge Street Arcade, or apply to Kelly Hall, Fiscal Agent, Peterboro. Mr. Hall reports great interest being taken in this stock.

A Norwood Man Has Close Call

W. Martin's Clothing Caught by Shaft But He Escapes.

The Norwood Register says: Mr. Wm. Martin, who has lately been employed at Mr. W. C. Harrison's mill, went to oil a shaft the other day, when the head of a bolt which fastens the collar to the shaft to keep it from moving, caught his shirt sleeve and in less time than it takes to write it, Mr. Martin was compelled to part company with the garment. He was very glad, however, to get rid of it without injury to himself, and this may be credited to his presence of mind. Although he had very little time to think, he appeared to instantly realize the danger of being thrown around the shaft and used his efforts to prevent this, which fortunately, he was able to do.

Mr. Hamilton Sues For His Dog's Death

Dr. Gray Will Be Defendant for Alleged Slaying of the Dog.

Dr. J. W. Gray, the well known local coroner, will soon appear in the Division Court as defendant in an action taken by Mr. Milne Hamilton, for $60 damages, for the death of a bull terrier, which it is alleged Dr. Gray shot. It was noted in The Times a couple of weeks ago, that Dr. Gray shot Mr Hamilton's dog, the reason being that the dog was killing his hens. The dog was a valuable one and Mr. Hamilton has as a result, entered a suit for damages. The case will come up at the sitting of the Division Court on May 25th.

POLICE NEWS

Daily Happenings in Court Room and Station.

Yesterday there was certainly something doing, many cases being before his Worship.

Messrs. McCollum Bros., the Water street liverymen were charged with having a dog that had bitten a small boy. The boy said as he was going by the barns, his ball rolled near the dog and when he went to get it the animal, a spotted coach dog, bit him on the hand. The magistrate ordered the defendants to destroy or get rid of the animal.

Two young men, named respectively, Le Bar and Crowder, were charged with having been disorderly, to wit, having had a scrap a few days ago on Aylmer street. It seems that Le Bar was waging war on three Englishmen, or vice versa. Crowder came along and seeing the odds against Le Bar, took a hand in the encounter, with the result that they were both haled before the Cadi and fined $1 each. The English army made their escape, and although scouts were sent hot-foot on their trail, not even the rear vanguard has been yet discovered.

J. Huffman was charged with moving a house on the east side without getting the permit required by law He was allowed to go.

A foreman working in a local mill, who was before the court the preceding day for striking a young man named W. Graham, and who was then fined $1, was yesterday charged with striking the younger brother of Thursday's complaintant. It seems that the younger boy had been working at the mill, and had been discharged for refusing to do certain work he was ordered to do. The two brothers went to demand the pay of the younger lad, and, as alleged by the foreman, became impudent. The foreman gave each of them a slap or two, hence the two charges against him. Yesterday's evidence showed that the two boys had been unnecessarily abusive, so the case was discharged.

The court was then cleared of all spectators, when Mr. Denniston and Agent Cochrane of the Children's Aid Society, brought up the matter of the three small children, taken a day or two ago from a Mrs. Connors, whose name is familiar in the police court.

Mr. Cochrane in evidence said it is about a year since he first heard of Mrs. Connors neglecting her children. He had visited her several times, at various places the family resided, to remonstrate with her. There are eight children home and one married. The Connors' present home is a great vacant house without proper furniture. He went to a former residence of hers, and everything was packed up, ready to move before the bailiff entered. The society had given the family assistance at various times. One of the girls works occasionally. From all reports the mother is a bad character. Has made enquiries in the neighborhood of the Connors' residence. Further evidence not adapted for purposes of publication, was brought to show her inability to bring her children up decently, morally or healthfully. The children were filthy, and had no change of clothes.

Mr. Denniston explained to Mrs. Connors that it was not altogether on account of her poverty that the three children were taken. The society had warned Mrs. Connors, had often given her money and clothes, but that things were going from bad to worse and it was better for the children to be brought up decently.

The three children named Ernest, Ethel and Cecil, aged respectively 3, 5 and 8 years, were formally handed over to the care of the society.

Program of 57th at Brantford

Local Officers Home From Making Arrangements for Trip.

As noted in these columns, a day or two ago, Col. Miller, Capt. Eastwood and Capt. Bennett, have been in Brantford, arranging for the trip of our local regiment to that city on July 1st. They have now returned, and report that the program, not yet fully completed, will practically be as follows:

The regiment will leave Peterboro on Saturday night, June 30, arriving in Brantford early Sunday morning. Sunday forenoon a conjoint church parade of the Rangers and the Brantford regiment will be held. On Monday there will be a grand march out through the city by both regiments. The 57th regiment will afterwards "troop the colors." The Peterboro regiment will leave Brantford for home about ten o'clock Monday night.

Promoters Must Have Money in Sight

Government Will Exercise Great Caution in Granting Charters---Extension Allowed New Toronto Institution.

Ottawa, May 12.—The House of Commons Committee on Banking and Commerce, held its first business meeting yesterday, and disposed of a number of important bills. When the bill changing the name of the Pacific Bank of Canada to the United Empire Bank, of Canada, and extending the charter, came up, Hon. Mr. Fielding said that the committee should be strict in regard to new banks. Before a charter is granted or extended, the promoters, should have the money in sight, and be ready to organize without delay.

Mr. Harker, of Hamilton, explained that in this case, the money was all ready. The promoters could pay their deposit to the Government tomorrow, if necessary. An extension of one month would be sufficient. The committee decided to make it three months.

The clause providing for an increase in the capital stock to five million dollars was adopted. The head office of the bank will be in Toronto.

Ex-Mayor Urquhart, of Toronto, peared before the committee on behalf of the Farmers' Bank of Canada. He explained that the priode allowed the bank for organizing, expires on July 18. It was probable that the promoters might not be quite ready by that time. The capital stock is one million dollars, of which $250,000 has been subscribed, and subscriptions are coming in at the rate of $30,000 a week. In view of this statement the time for organization was extended for six months.

There was some discussion on Mr. Zimmerman's bill providing that the provisions of the Act in respect to loan companies, passed in 1899, should apply to companies organized before that date, but it was reported without amendment.

Mr. D. W. Bole's bill to incorporate the Inter-Oceanic Fire Insurance Company, of Winnipeg, with a capital stock of one million dollars, was objected to by Hon. Mr. Fielding, on the more that it was proposed to allow the company to secure its license, when only $65,0000 capital stock had been paid in. He proposed to make it $100,000.

Mr. Leighton McCarthy's bill to wind up the affairs of the British-Canadian Loan and Investment Company, of Toronto, was reported in a slightly amended form.

Local Lawyer Has Gone West

Col. E. B. Edwards will Reside in Edmonton.

One of the most prominent and enthusiastic officers of our local regiment, the 57th Peterboro Rangers, in the person of Col. E. B. Edwards, left yesterday morning for Edmonton, Alberta, As foretold in a former issue of The Times, Colonel Edwards has been planning to go west and recently, completed arrangements whereby Mr. R. E. Wood, County Crown Attorney has taken over his legal practice, and will occupy the offices vacated by the former.

For a time however, Mr. Wood, for the convenience of his clients, will keep open his office on the second floor of the Bank of Commerce building Hunter street.

Mr. Edwards will practice his profession in Edmonton, although he will return to Peterboro about the middle of June to look after some business for his clients.

SHERRING DAY, MAY 21ST.

Hamilton, May 12.—It was announced yesterday that arrangements would be made to have Sherring, the hero of the Marathon race, return to Hamilton a week from Monday. He will be tendered the biggest reception in Hamilton's history.

Stony Lake Stone Sent to Toronto

Steamer Majestic Busy Carrying Paving Material.

Mr. James Brodie, of Stanstead, Que., who has the contract of supplying the stone now being quarried near Eel's Creek, Stony Lake, for the Barber Paving Co., of Toronto, is now at the quarry. A large gang of men is engaged on the island, getting out stone. The future of this industry promises well, as many are now becoming interested in it on account of the increased transportation facilities.

Durban, Natal, May 12.—Thousands of Zulus from Chief Kula's kraal are reported to be on their way to join the rebel chief Bambaata, and Colonial troops are being hurried forward to prevent their junction.

Chief Kula, who is suspected of disaffection, and was recently arrested was placed in jail at Pietermaritzburg yesterday. It is presumed that it was the arrest of this chief which led to the rising of his followers.

Natives captured by the colonial forces report that witch doctors are sacrificing children in order to render the rebels immune from British bullets. Before a battle they kill a girl and concoct "medicine" from her body, with which they annoint the warriors.

Reorganization of the Liberal Party

Members Dissatisfied With the Leadership--- Changes May Be Effected Before the Next Session.

Toronto, May 12.—"Mutiny, schisms and bolts are hard terms, and scarcely justifiable, to describe the position taken by a number of the Liberal members in the present Legislature in connection with the future of their party," observed one of the number discussing the situation with a member of the press yesterday.

"As a matter of fact, a number of us feel that before the party can regain its rightful place in the public life of the Province it must be reorganized and rejuvenated; strong, progressive and high ideals must be adopted throughout, and a definite purpose in public policy along lines of true Liberalism promulgated.

"No one recognizes more than the Liberal members the great services rendered to the public and the party by Mr. Ross and Mr. Harcourt, and any steps that might be taken would not signify ingratitude or dissatisfaction. But, in our view, the party interests—not to mention the public interests—call for an early re-organization with the establishment of a strong, sound platform."

WANT A CONVENTION.

This position seems to describe fairly accurately the general feeling which exists among the departing Liberal members. Undeniably the session has been unsatisfactory to them and the clamor for a provincial convention is becoming more pronounced. Though distinctly reticent in discussing it there is no doubt that the impression prevails that the retirement of Messrs. Ross and Harcourt would not be unacceptable to the rank and file of their following.

The split over the Beck power bill, the members declare, was not an organized break, nor the result of the decision of a caucus. The matter was merely talked over together, the members "privately dissenting" from the proposition of their leader to divide the House in opposition to the Government measure. Nor was Mr. Preston "formally asked" to lead any bolt. The members acted independently, "but all felt alike about the matter."

"The Beck power bill was not, in a sense, a party measure," declared a well known Liberal member. "It was the result of general public opinion, altogether apart from party, and it should have been dealt with that way in the House. The people overwhelmingly are with much of it, and we could not see it as right and proper to hang in with the private and corporate interests which have already wrought so much havoc in our party in the public mind, rightly or wrongly. We thought Mr. Ross was mistaken on this matter, that was all."

EARLY CHANGES EXPECTED.

"Will any definite steps be taken towards an early reorganization?" was asked.

"That is hard to say. A Provincial convention has been talked of. Probably the members may talk the matter over with their local organizations before the next session."

Seven of the Liberal members were seen. All were cautious in discussing the dissensions, but all frankly expressed their belief that some changes or reorganization might be expected in the early future. None would discuss the names of probable leaders, but the mention of any of the three front benchers, Messrs. MacKay, Graham or Preston, generally elicted the guarded comment that "he'd doubtless prove a good man." No one suggested the continuance of Mr. Ross or the advent of Mr. Harcourt as a result of any plan of re-organization.

Turkey Told She Must Back Down

Britain Won't Compromise at All in Her Demands--Drastic Action Threatened.

Constantinople, May 12. — Tewfik Pasha, the Foreign Minister, called at the British Embassy yesterday and made proposals in regard to the Taba question, which Ambassador O'Connor unhesitatingly rejected. The Pasha was informed that any compromise suggestions were quite inadmissible, and that nothing less than absolute compliance with the British demands would prevent drastic action.

The Ambassador also warned the Minister that time was running short, and counselled him to be under no misapprehension in regard to the determination of Great Britain to enforce the Turkish evacuation of Egyptian territory on the Sinai Peninsula and a joint delimitation of the frontier.

Tewfik Pasha returned to the palace, and an immediate meeting of the Council of Ministers was summoned.

HOPE FOR SETTLEMENT.

Cairo, Egypt, May 12.—The belief is strengthened in official circles here that a satisfactory settlement will be reached in the Taba boundary dispute between Egypt and Turkey.

MONDAY THE LAST DAY.

London, May 12.—The Times' correspondent cables from Constantinople as follows: In spite of the support afforded Great Britain by the French and other Embassies at Constantinople, in spite of the movements of the British fleet, in spite of the fact that the time limit is rapidly drawing to an end, the Sultan shows no sign of yielding. His advisers cling to the belief that the British Government is not really in earnest, and the coercive measures it is likely to take will be of the kinds which—they are accustomed, and would be able to contemplate without trepidation. This is a very dangerous illusion for them to harbor, for it is now practically certain that if Taba is not evacuated before Monday the action taken by Great Britain will be so decided and energetic that the Turks will bitterly regret their obstinacy.

Bush Fires Rage Around Nelson

Great Loss Will Follow Unless Rain Sets In--One of Dalton Gang Caught.

Nelson, B.C., May 12.—Bush fires are raging with unabated violence in every direction in this district, and the atmosphere is filled with dense smoke. Reports from the surrounding country—east, west, and south—all show extensive fires in progress. Unless a heavy rain follows quickly, the loss will be very great.

Thomas McGuigan, manager of the American Boy Mine, near Sandon, was killed yesterday by falling rock in the mine. He was a pioneer, coming here in 1891. He leaves a widow and family in Spokane.

Samuel Green, who has been under arrest here since April 26th, under the name of J. McGivern, was yesterday identified by Sheriff S. A. Elliott of Rogers, Mills County, Oklahome. Green was one of the notorious Dalton gang, and is wanted for the murder of Sheriff Bullard and Deputy Sheriff Cockburn on June 30th, 1902. In Oklahoma. The prisoner has waived extradition, and will start south on Saturday. He denies being Sam Green, the man wanted.

GOT CLEAR AWAY.

Kingston, May 12.—Charlebran, the escaped murdered, has not yet been run down. It is said that a larger staff of guards will result from the escape. In the insane ward, one man has been doing what, in other days three were engaged at. Warden Platt has been economizing, but it is thought, at the expense of efficiency, just as other wardens had "created an excess of helpers, at needless public expense." It is stated that Inspector Stewart, in view of his investigation, will recommend increases in the staff of guards and keepers.

STILL WAITING.

Ottawa, May 12.—There is not the least doubt but the $100,000 grant of the Canadian Parliament which has been voted for relief work in San Francisco will be applied to the purpose for which it has been so willing ly contributed. The Government still awaits however, some official confirmation from Washington of the news paper statements showing the extent to which the President has modified his orignal attitude on the subject.

TOWN IN DANGER.

Pittsburg, Pa., May 12.—Sutersville, a mining town on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, 20 miles east of Pittsburg, is threatened with destruction by fire, and help has been requested from the city, Connellsville, McKeesport, and Braddock. A number of buildings in the heart of the town have already been destroyed, and the fire is beyond the control of the local department.

Caught 63 Speckled Trout.

Yesterday a local fishing party returned from Garden Hill where they chased the elusive speckled trout for several hours on Thursday. The party had great luck bringing back 63 speckled trout, which averaged a pound each. They were perhaps the prettiest lot of the brook trout ever brought to Peterboro. The fishermen used worms for bait and reported that the trout bit ravenously.

CAN YOU RESIST DISEASE GERMS?

Yes, and becomes "Germ-proof" by Driving Out Blood Humors and Restoring the System.

Why are doctors and hospitals so busy in spring-time? Easily answered. People haven't made surplus vigor in the spring; it was all used up in fighting off colds through the winter.

With thin blood and low vitality, the germs of disease become active and cause fevers and debility.

Your one protection is to get the abundant vigor that Ferrozone so quickly supplies; it gives spring sickness that "tired feeling," restores nerve energy and instills vim and force into every ailing organ of the body.

No alter restorative is known than Ferrozone; its influence is not temporary but lasting, laying a sound foundation of health that lasts till old age.

Mr. Nazaire Begin, of Walton, P.O., Que., who received enormous benefit from Ferrozone, writes: "I cannot speak too highly in praise of Ferrozone. If any one had told me that any remedy could build up my nervous system so well, I wouldn't have believed it.

"Before using Ferrozone I was run down in nerve and vital energy, and in very weak health.

"I didn't get enough sleep at night and felt poorly in the day time.

"Ferrozone has filled me up with energy and vim, increased my weight and made a new man of me."

Your health through the summer depends on clearing away all traces of spring sickness; the remedy is Ferrozone. Sold by all dealers, 50c per box, or six boxes for $2.50. By mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., and Kingston, Ont.

THE HON. MR. AYLESWORTH

It is hard to train dogs not to bark at the moon. It is their nature to do so, and they do it without rhyme or reason. It is a somewhat similar reason that impels a number of the electors of this great Dominion of ours to cast mud at the Hon. Mr. Aylesworth, the gentleman recently appointed Postmaster-General.

To begin with, Mr. Aylesworth, at great personal and financial loss to himself, actuated by motives arising from a most meritorious and patriotic spirit, gave up a legal practice that, as is well known, brought him in annually far more money than his stipend as Postmaster-General. In the next place, Mr. Aylesworth's duties in his present Governmental position require far more and more enduring attention than did his legal practice. Before sacrificing one of the most lucrative practices in Canada, wherein Mr. Aylesworth could pick and choose as to when, for whom, and how, he should apply his vast experience and knowledge of law, he had the thought of his country's welfare at heart, and, when asked by Premier Laurier to assist the Government, quickly responded to the call of duty and patriotism.

Hon. Mr. Aylesworth's recent answer in Parliament to the criticisms aimed at him was characterized by an overwhelming and unanswerable reply. Regarding the Lennox arraignment, Mr. Aylesworth's masterly, profound and convincing arguments were, or should have been, sufficient to silence any one but a hide-bound and politically mad partisan. Mr. Aylesworth's arguments as to the futility of Mr. Lennox's calumny concerning the alleged wrong done by a Minister engaged in legal practice were comprehensive and exclusive. Mr. Aylesworth's answer, in which he said "I am willing to adhere to the principle that the Crown has the first claim upon a Minister, but if he gave to his public duties the full time they demanded, he has a right to do as he pleases with the remainder."

The Hon. Mr. Aylesworth has, whilst practically sacrificing his large legal practice for the good, and by the call of the Premier, of his country, risen superior to the too prevailing domination of the dollar and shown that Canada have true patriots, willing to do their duty.

ELECTRIC POWER BILL

The electric power bill, which Hon. Adam Beck has introduced in the Ontario Legislature as the outcome of the report of the power commission, does not confine its attention to Niagara. As the Government is Provincial in its scope, this is entirely proper; and will minimize any jealousy which a purely Niagara scheme would be certain to produce in the eastern section of the Province. The bill proposes to establish a large commission, which will undertake to supply power at cost from any water power in the Province to any municipality. It does not intend to generate its own power necessarily, but will make an arrangement with the development companies—say, at Niagara Falls—to obtain power from them at cost and then sell it to the applying municipalities at the same price, plus the cost of transmission.

This is not as drastic a measure as was anticipated after the report of the enquiring commission was made public; but it is apparently as far as the Provincial Government is prepared to go. There has evidently been a refusal to look upon the matter as a purely Niagara question; and it is only in connection with Niagara that there can be any need as yet for the establishment of a Government generating plant. However, if the Government commission has power to establish such a plant, or to expropriate any plants that exist, or to compel the delivery to it of power at cost, it will probably have no difficulty in coming to an arrangement with the companies now in possession for a supply of power at a fair figure. The measure has been levelled down to the conditions which prevail throughout the Province instead of being levelled up to the special conditions existing at Niagara; but it is doubtful whether general support cannot be obtained for it on any other ground.

Mr. Whitney has shown a disposition to go as far as is feasible in government control of public utilities and even in government ownership of mining lands; and the best thing that those who desire to get cheap power can do now is to join in and make of this experiment a success.

GOOD MUSIC.

It Is Often a Tonic and Always a Character Builder.

Good music is a powerful tonic to many people, especially those suffering from melancholia. It lifts them out of their solemn moods, dispels gloom and despondency, kills discouraged feelings and gives new hope, new life and new vigor. It seems to put a great many people into proper tune. It gives them the keynote of truth and beauty, strikes the chords of harmony, dispels discord from the life, scatters clouds and brings sunshine.

All good music is a character builder because its constant suggestion of harmony, order and beauty puts the mind into a normal attitude. Music clears the cobwebs out of many minds, so that they can think better, act better and live better. Some writers are dependent upon music for their inspiration and their moods. Somehow it brings the muse to them. It adds brilliancy to the brain and facility to the pen, which they cannot seem to get in any other way.

Good music seems to give us a touch of the divine and to put us in contact with divinity. It drives out evil thoughts, making us ashamed of them. It lifts us above petty annoyances and little worries of life and gives us a glimpse of the ideal which the actual is constantly obscuring.—Success.

A Convalescent's Bedtime.

A convalescent patient should never be permitted to sit up late at night. After the evening meal it is well for all visitors to be excluded from the room, and the patient's mind should be kept as free from excitement as possible. The hour for retiring should be early and such means employed for aiding sleep as may be directed by the physician. A glass of hot milk at bedtime is often a good device for promoting sleep.

London.

London was a place of importance even under the Romans and was famed for its great commerce as early as the first century of the Christian era. From the Romans it received municipal institutions which have endured in their main features to the present day. In Saxon times it was, in reality, a small independent state.

Avoiding a Shock.

First Doctor—You're treating Jenks for insomnia, aren't you? Second Doctor—Yes. First Doctor—Have you rendered him your bill yet? Second Doctor—No, of course not. I want the man to be able to sleep.

"To die," said Dr. Samuel Johnson, "is the fate of man, but to die with lingering anguish is generally his folly."

Betsy Was a Terror.

Raleigh, N. C., May 11.—Betsy Syme, a pretty young woman, 23 years old, almost a giantess in size and with more daring than many men, was sentenced by the Supreme Court for moonshining in Polk County this week. She has been a moonshiner for six years, and she got four months. As soon as the girl had been committed to gaol, she fired the building and allowed one man prisoner to escape. The girl badly cut the gaoler with a big knife before he succeeded in overpowering her.

The New 'Prince.

New York, May 11.—Negotiations are on foot looking to the creation of a corporation said to have a capitalization of $100,000,000 for the purpose of building a "New San Francisco." This is not a charitable scheme, nor an act of relief, but a well-considered and thoroughly business-like plan, conceived by California and Wall Street financiers, with a view to offering a gilt-edge and high dividend paying investment to people of the east. Frank A Vanderlip, vice-president of the National City Bank, is taking a prominent part in the movement.

Chicago Fire Rates Go Up.

Chicago, May 10.—Fire insurance rates in Chicago, on all less desirable risks, will be advanced 25 per cent. or more, to reimburse companies that have suffered loss in the San Francisco fire. This action practically was decided yesterday at a meeting of western managers. At the same time there will be a large reduction in brokers' commission.

STAGECOACHING DAYS.

An Old World Era With a Decided Flavor of Romance.

The old coaching days, as far as convenience for travel was concerned, were the dawn of the great days of our present rapid means of communication. The seventy years or so in which mail coaches waxed and flourished and finally died out before the incursion of railways and steam engines have a decided flavor of romance attached to them, and no doubt the coming and going of stagecoaches lent a certain amount of color and interest and life to the country places and towns through which ran the great main coaching roads. The Bath road, the Dover road, the York road were highways of communication along which rolled the heavy private coaches and chariots of the country magnates, and the stagecoaches with their steaming horses passed the various stopping places with the regularity of clockwork.

These stagecoaches, with their complement of coachmen and guards, afforded endless subjects of interest and illustration to the artist and the literary men of the day. Imagine Charles Dickens without stagecoaches and denuded of all his vivid descriptions of the scenes such as those in the yard of the White Hart inn, High street, Borough, in "Pickwick," or of the mail coach on the Dover road in "A Tale of Two Cities." It is difficult for the present generation to realize the fatigue and the wintry cold of such long journeys, when frozen feet were enveloped in a little straw, and a "shawl" folded round the neck was thought to be a fit protection against the keen night air.—London Standard.

THE PRIVATE WON.

Rebuked His Superior Officer and Escaped Court Martial.

Charles Bradlaugh when in the British army was orderly room clerk, and a newly arrived officer once entered the room where he was sitting at work and addressed to him some discourteous order. Private Bradlaugh took no notice. The order was repeated with an oath. Still no movement. Then it came again, with some foul words added. The young soldier rose, drew himself to his full height and, walking up to the officer, bade him leave the room or he would throw him out. He went accordingly, but in a few moments the grounding of muskets was heard outside, the door opened and the colonel walked in, accompanied by the officer.

It was clear that the private soldier had committed an act for which he might be court martialed, and as he said once, "I felt myself in a tight place." The officer made his accusation, and Private Bradlaugh was bidden to explain. He asked that the officer should state the exact words in which he had addressed him, and the other, who had, after all, a touch of honor in him, gave the offensive sentence word for word. Then Private Bradlaugh said, addressing the colonel, that the officer's memory must surely be at fault in the whole matter, as he could not have used language so unbecoming to an officer and a gentleman. The colonel turned to the officer with the dry remark: "I think Private Bradlaugh is right. There must be some mistake." And he left the room.

A Scotch Test.

Auchtermuchty is the happy town which every Scot, proud of his unpronounceable tongue, uses as a shibboleth to test the linguistic skill of the southron. If you cannot say "Auchtermuchty" you are still an uneducated barbarian. The meaning of the word happens to be as monstrous as its sound. "The high ground of the wild sow" is not a name one would choose for a garden city. People, however, are found to flock to it as a summer resort, and as it has a lover's pool, the town has probably attractions more real than its name. In the early part of last century Auchtermuchty went bankrupt and was deprived of all its property except the jail and one or two other assets of an equally necessary character. It is now rich, peaceful and radical.

Really a Human Being.

The story is told in China that years ago a missionary made his appearance upon a platform there and that the native orator who introduced him closed with these words: "When I have finished a gentleman from the west is going to address you. He is not a foreign demon. His appearance and his clothing may seem strange to you, but look carefully at him. He has two arms and two legs, two ears and two eyes, a nose (though a long one!) and a mouth; and I assure you his teeth are made of bone, just like yours. He is really a human being, and I hope you will regard him as such."

A Rank Fraud.

Mrs. Nuwed—Here's the bread I started to make today. Isn't it too annoying? Mr. Nuwed—Why, it isn't baked at all. Mrs. Nuwed—I knew it isn't; that's just it. I put plenty of baking powder in it, but it doesn't seem to have worked.

A Question of Cats.

"There is no short cut to fame," remarked the wise guy.

"How about the upper cut?" suggested the simple mug, looking up from the sporting page.

Haste.

"Oh, dear, how the hours do drag! I wish I knew how to hurry them on."

"Why don't you apply the spur of the moment?"

Sir Thomas Has Accepted.

Quebec, May 10.—Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, President of the C. P. R., having cabled to the Quebec Board of Trade that he would be at liberty to attend a banquet in this city on the 18th instant, it was decided by the board to appoint a sub-committee composed of Messrs. G. Tanguay, E. B. Rattray and G. A. Vandry, to make arrangements for the function, which will take place at the Chateau Frontenac.

SEVERE CANADIAN WINTERS DEPRIVED OF THEIR DANGER.

Colds and Their After-Effects Conquered By the Use of Pe-ru-na.

"I Had Catarrh of the Lungs and Peruna Promptly Cured me."
--Alfred Rochon.

Hon. Alfred Rochon, President Canadian Foresters, 76 Fleurie street, Quebec, Canada, writes:

"I am pleased to add my testimonial to the many I see to the efficacy of Peruna. I suffered for some time with chronic catarrh of the lungs and really thought that I was not to get any relief, as I had used so many remedies and my condition remained about the same.

"Finally I decided on Peruna and that was a lucky day for me, for it proves to be the remedy which cured me. My lungs are perfectly sound now and I have not had the slightest trouble with them since, and at the slightest indication of a cold now I take a few doses and it will always ward off any bad effects."
--Alfred Rochon.

Catarrh of the lungs is, ordinarily, known as consumption. In these cases the catarrh has usually found its way into the lungs by the gradual extension of the disease from the throat through the bronchial tubes. Consumption is the natural termination of all cases of neglected chronic catarrh. Every one who is afflicted with chronic catarrh is liable to be attacked with consumption at any time. In the first stages of the disease Peruna is a sure cure.

NEGLECTED COLDS PROVE DISASTROUS.

A slight cough, which, without a vestige of doubt, would soon disappear with the use of Peruna, becomes chronic bronchitis, which requires a persistent use of Peruna for some time. There are a great many cases of consumption every year due directly to a cold.

A COUGH IS NATURE'S WARNING.

Peruna is for sale by all first class drug stores at $1 per bottle.

A Russian Officer of High Rank Assassinated

General Ignatieff, Former Governor of Kieff, was Killed—Intrigued Against Count Witte.

Kieff, Russia, May 9.—General Count Alexis Pavolich Ignatieff, formerly governor of Kieff, was assassinated here yesterday.

Count Ignatieff was with General Trepoff, the dictator of the reign of terror which followed Emperor Nicholas's withdrawal from Moscow, and he returned to the old path of absolutism. He was one of two sons of the famous Count Ignatieff, and was chiefly distinguished for his unquestioning devotion to the old autocratic ideals of Russia.

HELD HIGH OFFICE.

Count Alexis was born in 1842. In 1863 he was gazetted commander of the regiment of chevalier guards, the most exclusive corps in the Russian army. He entered the administrative service in 1880, as Governor-General of Irkutsk. In 1883 he was appointed Governor-General of Kieff, which position he held until 1897. He was a member of the Council of the Empire, chamberlain to Emperor and held many other high dignities and honors.

HAD URGED REFORMS.

During the wave of disorder which swept over Russia after "Red Sunday," Ignatieff was sent by the Emperor to investigate the condition in South Russia, and on his return his report to the czar of necessity for granting immediate reforms averted a catastrophe was one of the chief reasons which induced the Emperor to proclaim the first Russian Parliament.

In the debates preceding the adoption of the Parliamentary law of August 6, 1905, Ignatieff's voice was on the side granting a large measure of power to the members of the assembly.

BECAME REACTIONARY AGAIN.

The success of the repression following the suppression of the Moscow revolt, however, curbed his fears, and he became the active conjurer of Gen. Trepoff in supplanting the representative measures of Minister of the Interior Durnovo, and in the intrigues to bring about the downfall of Count Witte. Thereupon Ignatieff and Trepoff, it has been maintained by Russians, was more to the throne of Russia and the autocratic power than to the leaders of the Imperial Crown, and on several occasions of late years he went abroad on a secret errand.

BRITISH BRIEFS.

England's first representative parliament assembled in 1295.

Caesar conquered Britain in the year 55 B. C. The Roman occupation continued nearly 500 years, or until 410 A. D.

In 1679 was passed the habeas corpus act, which, along with the right of trial by jury, is the great bulwark of Anglo-Saxon liberty.

The great plague was introduced into London in 1664 by bales of cotton imported from Holland; 100,000 persons succumbed to the disease in one year.

Cromwell's long parliament assembled in 1640; Charles I. was beheaded Jan. 30, 1648, and Cromwell became lord protector in 1653. In 1660 the Stuarts were restored to the throne.

Westminster abbey, where the kings and queens of Great Britain are crowned, was originally a Benedictine monastery. It was founded by Sebert, king of the East Saxons, about 616.

This moving tower, when completed, will be the highest structure in the world. For some years the Eiffel Tower in Paris, has had the distinction of being the highest, but this gigantic tower reaching up to the marvellous height of 1150 feet, surpasses it by 35 feet. You do not climb steps to attain this height, nor are you carried up by separate elevator, but you will be comfortably seated in the observatory at the top, when the whole structure is gradually raised from the surface to 1150 feet in mid air, and again the whole structure gradually folded down, and you have been carried the distance of one-half mile, a quarter of a mile going up, and a quarter of a mile coming down. Nothing will be more popular than a ride up in this tower, search lights will be used at night from the observatory at the top, and were brilliantly illuminated by electricity, forms an enchanting spectacle. Talk will not be the eighth wonder of the world, but the first eclipsing the seven, that have borne that distinction for so many centuries. Here is one of the greatest money makers that can be found. The profits derived from this source alone should be immense, and by investing in the Fleming Aerial Ladder you will participate in all these great enterprises. A machine is now on exhibit at our offices, 52 Yonge Street Arcade, Toronto, Canada, and we would be pleased to have you call and inspect it.

Mystery of the Present Exodus

One of the mysteries of the day is, why so many of its well-to-do, city-pent are leaving Ontario. A contemporary notices that farewell parties, addresses and presentations to young men and women leaving for the west are very numerous. These tokens bespeak a worthy class of people, not drones, incapables or never-do-wells. They are among the best the country produces.

The London Free Press asks why do they leave a portion of the Dominion so well favored as Ontario? They cannot expect to make haste more quickly in the North-West except at the sacrifice of good prospects and many personal comforts enjoyed in this Province. If they advance in wealth in the new land, it may be at the price of privation to which their class in the older settled Provinces are strangers. All the same they yield to the "going fever," and the spirit of unrest, which is not an affair of class, but adheres to the young in every sphere of life. Some achieve their desires, others after a season of turmoil and unsatisfied ambition, are well pleased to return to where they started from.

The experience, however, is good for them, although they fail to reach the goal that appeared so luminous and full of promise. Their mental horizon is enlarged, and their conceptions of life broadened in beneficial ways. Moreover these outgoers from Ontario are not lost to Canada. Their allegiance is not transferred to another flag. If the North-West had not been found out and opened up they might have drifted southward in search of the grand elixir, and to swell a population which, man for man, is no better off, if as well.

But it is curious to reflect that a land as rich in every element of potential wealth, as Ontario is, where the soil is fertile and its products are near to the most profitable markets, where mines are opening up the promise of enormous wealth, should be forsaken by the flower of its population for what may prove only the pot of gold at the foot of the rainbow. The mystery is that the hardy, industrious and enterprising do not appreciate to a greater extent than is seen, the opportunities which lie inviting right here in older Ontario, where as Prof. Barr lately remarked at an agricultural meeting, dairy farming is better than gold mining, but where dairy farming is only a part of the business yielding good profit to the habit of thrift.

Thought He Lost His Head.

A gentleman while taking a ride with his groom had the misfortune to have himself and companion thrown violently to the ground by his horse taking fright and running away. The gentleman was not seriously injured, his principal loss being that of his wig, which had been shaken off, but he found Pat in a much worse condition, with the blood trickling from his head and holding his master's wig, which he was surveying with the utmost alarm and horror. "Well, Pat," said his master, "are you much hurt?"

"Hurt is it? Oh, master, do you see the top of my head in my hand?"

Pat in his terror and confusion had mistaken his master's wig for his own natural scalp and evidently thought his last hour had arrived.—London Telegraph.

Byles on Bills.

Among the humorous memories connected with English judges is one of Justice Byles and his horse. This eminent jurist was well known in his profession for his work on "Bills," and as this gave a fine opportunity for alliteration his associates were accustomed to bestow the name on the horse, which was but a sorry steed. "There goes Byles on Bills," they took pleasure in saying, and as the judge rode out every afternoon they indulged daily in their little joke. But the truth was that the horse had another name known only to the master and his man, and when a too curious client inquired as to the judge's whereabouts he was told by the servant, with a clear conscience, that "master was out on business."

The Bengali.

The Bengali has the best brains of all the peoples in India and the readiest tongue. His manners is prodigious and his fertility in talk inexhaustible. He is something of an Irishman, something of an Italian, something of a Jew—if one can conceive an Irishman who would run away from a fight instead of running into it, an Italian without a sense of beauty and a Jew who would not risk £5 on the chance of making £50. He is very clever, but his cleverness does not lead him far on the road to achievement, for when it comes to doing, rather than talking, he is easily passed by people of far inferior ability.—London Standard.

Resources of Genius.

The editor looked over the manuscript submitted by the village poet and frowned.

"Here is one line," he said, "in which you speak of 'the music of the cider press.' How would you undertake to imitate the 'music' of the cider press?"

"I should think it might be done with a juice harp," answered the poet.

The Soft Answer.

"If nature has made me an ostrich," said old Grouch, "I suppose I could eat your cooking."

"Wouldn't that be nice?" answered his imperturbable spouse. "Then I could get some plumes for my hat."

The Second in Command.

Stranger (sarcastically)—Are you the boss here? Office Boy—No; there's another office boy above me.—New York Press.

Home After Thirty-Five Years' Absence

Milwaukee, N.J., May 9.—There was joy in the village of Vernon, near Passaic, last week, when Anna Mabee, of whom no word had been heard for thirty-five years, returned to the home of her girlhood, Miss Hester Mabee Ives.

When Anna was six years old a hand organ grinder with his monkey paid the village a visit. The little girl followed the music away. The child and the organ grinder disappeared, and Anna's parents gave her up as dead.

Miss Mabee lives in Texas. She is unable to remember any thing of her strange departure from the little home. A few months ago she read in the Y. M. C. A. Chautauqua Association campaign, Lake Waywayanda, in Sussex county. The Indian name brought back memories of her childhood, and she began inquiries which led to her return.

Admiral Douglas.

Admiral Sir Archibald L. Douglas was born in Quebec in 1842. By virtue of his position as commander-in-chief at Portsmouth he received the King on the occasion of his visit there some weeks ago. The admiral is the son of the late Dr. G. Mellis Douglas, inspecting physician of the port of Quebec. At the age of fourteen he became a midshipman on H. M. S. Boscawan, then the flagship of the North American and West Indies' squadron. In 1861 he was made lieutenant on the Arrogant, and on this vessel he saw service in connection with the Congo and Gambia River expeditions. During the Fenian invasion of 1866 he commanded a gunboat on the great lakes and four years later he was promoted to the rank of commander. In 1873 he was appointed to take charge of the commission that was sent to instruct the Japanese in naval warfare and acted as director of the Japanese Imperial Naval College for two years. How well he taught, and how apt were his pupils recent history tells. His name is couple with nearly every important operation in which the navy has participated since 1880. In 1904 he succeeded Sir John Fisher as commander-in-chief at Portsmouth.

TRAINING DOGS.

Poodles the Easiest to Teach, Dachshunds the Most Difficult.

A poodle is the easiest of all to train, and the dachshund is the most difficult, the latter not because he is too stupid, but because he is too smart. A dachshund readily understands what you want him to do, and he can do it, but he thinks he knows a better way, and he invariably tries his way first. As a result, he is never trained in anything that is really difficult. A dachshund seems to be always poking fun at one and getting no little amusement out of it for himself. Collies are easily trained, but they are more or less unreliable, and they are such flatterers. They make you think things are all right and then they run away at the very first opportunity. In preference to other dogs, collies are trained almost exclusively in the militia of Vienna for carrying, in time of war, messages and medicine to and from the camp and the sick soldiers, but they are chosen more for their speed than their faithfulness. Fox terriers are natural acrobats. Within a few weeks one can be trained to turn a somersault. A few weeks more and he will do a double turn. To teach him to do this the trainer calls the animal to him, and as he comes jumping playfully against the trainer he is caught and turned quickly in the air, much to his surprise. He thinks it is play, and he comes jumping up again. After each turn he is given a small piece of meat. In a few weeks he will run up and try independently to do the turn over in the air for the meat, and if he is encouraged it will not be long before he is an accomplished acrobat.

The Art of Flattery.

There are those who have an instinct which prompts them to offer verbal caresses to all with whom they come in contact, and there is no doubt that, if such people are gifted at the same time with good hearts, they greatly sweeten life. They do not know how to say, much less write, a disagreeable sentence. They see with their mind's eye the exact spot where a flattering word would produce pleasure or salve a smart, and the temptation to say it is very great. The pleasure they produce delights them, and they study to produce it again. No doubt they practice an art, but not a very black art, and it is difficult not to love them, especially if they are women. Real flattery—the really false article—can hardly exist with a warm heart. Plenty of folly and too much desire to be popular may go with that, but nothing else.

THE WAY TO DO IT.

Exercise three times a day.
Feed yourself on simple fare
Mostly made of bran and hay.
Revel in the open air.
Never give way to your fears,
Sleep just like a baby.
Then you'll live a hundred years—
Maybe.

Wear no wraps about your throat.
Do not eat late lunches.
Do, oh, do not rock the boat!
Shy away from punches.
Do not drink too many beers,
Let not debts distress.
Then you'll live a hundred years—
More or less.

Don't dispute with men who wear
Larger fists than you.
Do not give way to despair
Though the end is due.
Do not waste one's strength in tears.
As for trouble, scout it.
Then you'll live a hundred years—
Doubt it?

Do not umpire baseball games,
Do not call a fellow names
If he has a cow,
Unto wisdom lend your ears,
Shun the feathered schooner.
Then you'll live a hundred years—
If you don't die sooner.

Church Built of Bulrushes.

The first place of worship in Western Australia was unique in two respects—the materials of which it was built and also the several purposes to which it was devoted. This remarkable building was made at Perth by soldiers shortly after their first arrival in 1829 and was composed almost entirely of bulrushes. In addition to its use on Sundays for divine worship, it occasionally served as an amateur theater during the week and during the whole time as a barracks.

The Pawnbroker's Sign.

The pawnbroker's sign came from the sign used by the Lombard bankers, who took it from the sign used by the Medici family of Florence. The founder of the house had been a medicus, or physician. His descendants became bankers and brokers, and their sign was their ancestor's golden pills. When they became nobles they assumed as arms six golden pills or balls on a blue field.

Sunny People.

The world delights in sunny people. The old are hungering for love more than for bread. The air of joy is very cheap, and if you can help the poor on with a garment of praise it will be better for them than blankets.—Henry Drummond.

Another Account of the Earthquake

Many of our older Peterboro citizens will remember the lad who we used to call "Little Eddie Wicher," who at one time worked in Mr. John Kirkpatrick's dry goods store on Hunter street.

To-day, Saturday Night, of last week, contains an illustrated account, "My Story of the Earthquake," by Rev. Professor Edward A. Wicher, late of Hamilton, Ont., now of Berkeley, California, with a portrait of the author. The disaster was from the pen of one who was known as a smart, bright boy, fully up to the average boy, ready for any fun, and always ready to lend a helping hand to those in distress, both young and old. The story is as follows:

Rev. Mr. Wicher says, concerning the recent California earthquake:

When the earthquake struck us I was lying asleep on the house-top of the Physics building in Berkeley, the last building in the University of California. It was 5:13 on Wednesday morning, April 18th. Suddenly I was awakened by the words I sang as the first which I was shown how to put into the middle of the storm and so sold it the power back again. At the same moment I saw the tall water-tank that stood by the road thrown sideways to the floor, then shook to and fro and violently thrown back to its place where it belonged. The air was filled with pieces of flying chandeliers, porcelain ornaments, cooks and toilet utensils. But Berkeley suffered less than all the cities in the Bay region and I afterwards learned that what had saved Berkeley was the counter-shock which came almost instantaneously upon the primary shock and practically destroyed it. In most other places the two shocks were separated from one another by some seconds, so that each in turn had the power to destroy either of the other.

At first the lateral motion there followed a perpendicular motion. The house seemed to be lifted high in the air and then to fall, and this motion was repeated several times. I stood up in the gallery and was able to reach the ceiling with my hands. Remembering my experiences of earthquakes in Japan, and the danger of falling plaster, I thought I would brace myself thus and at the same time hold up the plaster. My excellent movement threw me headlong to the floor. I thought that the house was falling, and decided, who has wisely or unwisely, to make a dash for the street. I was thrown from side to side and down the stairs. A heavy glass globe struck me in falling and dazed me, but nothing more happened, and I was in the open. The noise was terrific and indescribable. It was like the boom of a million of cannon muffled by distance, and yet close. There were also the sounds of falling buildings, but they were the sounds of the earth itself, and yet in the lulls the effects of the earthquake were presented at first; some porches were knocked away, some windows broken, and all the chimneys toppled over—this was all in a few minutes quiet ensued—a deep, tremendous quiet—and I escaped the house. It was not until breakfast time that we learned the awful horror which had been going on that had been plunged.

The next week the went on to describe how he rushed out of the city back in the blooms, and finding a link, digging of scissors, caps and pillage.

Prof. Wicher has been in Chicago and Japan, and has visited all has travelled the whole globe over.

Workman Cut to Pieces.

Pittsburg, May 11.—Charles Hackett, 27 years old, was killed in Pittsburg by revolving shears at the Mckeesport tube plant yesterday. Hackett was in charge of the machine, and in some manner his hand became caught in the machinery. Before the machinery could be shut off Dickson had been dragged into contact with the sharp blades.

McLean Charged With Murder.

Edmonton, Alta., May 11.—A charge of murder has been preferred against Geo. W. McLean, companion of Mary Fortier, the young woman who was found dead near Rat Creek on Friday.

McLean, who has been held by the police till his release from the hospital, had his preliminary hearing before Magistrate Wade yesterday afternoon.

Sarah in a Dance Hall.

Seattle, Wash., May 11.—Sarah Bernhardt played to 1500 persons in a beer and concert dance hall in Luna Park, located three miles out of the city, last night. The first ten rows of seats were chairs, and the remainder camp stools.

Attorney-General Foy May Shortly Retire

Toronto, May 12.—There is a report afloat here that Hon. J. J. Foy, the Attorney-General, may shortly retire from the Government.

The Attorney-General is reported to be in poor health, and to be anxious to relinquish his arduous public duties at the earliest opportunity. It is generally understood that he will remain only long enough to complete the new system of reformatories and then end his connection.

Hon. Mr. Foy is generally supposed to be financially rich through his connection with public life, but he is regarded both by his colleagues and the public generally as one of the most valuable members of the present Government. It is rumored that Mr. McGarry, South Renfrew; or Mr. Carscallen, Hamilton, is a probable successor.

Corner Stone Laid.

New York, May 11.—Andrew Carnegie and Mrs. Carnegie assisted yesterday in the laying of the corner stone of the Hostory building in West 39th street, which is to be one joint home of three national engineering associations, the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, the American Institute of Electrical Engineers and the American Institute of Mining Engineers. Mr. Carnegie gave $1,000,000 for the erection of the building.

FIRST CARRIAGE IN MAINE.

How a Minister Came to Buy It and Why He Sold It.

The Rev. Francis Winter was a native of Boston and a graduate of Harvard college. He went to Bath early in 1767 and, after preaching on probation for the orthodox church, was invited to settle, which invitation he accepted. He was ordained in the autumn of the same year. He went to Bath on horseback in company with Lemuel Blanchard. Mr. Winter came from Boston, where he had associated with such eminent men as Adams, Otis and Warren, himself becoming an ardent patriot, taking the lead in the Revolutionary measures adopted in Bath during that memorable period.

Mr. Winter married Miss Abigail Alden in 1768, and it is through her that the Winters of today trace their ancestry back to the "Puritan Maiden of Plymouth."

Three years after the marriage of the Rev. Francis Winter and Abigail Alden they started to visit a sister of Mrs. Winter living in Connecticut and intended to ride all the way on horseback, but Mrs. Winter became so fatigued that Mr. Winter sold one of the horses for a carriage and harness. It was the first carriage that ever came into Maine and was called a chaise. Traveling was so difficult that two negroes were employed to accompany them with shovels and axes to clear the road. Several times the chaise had to be taken apart and lifted over fallen trees. The minister's parishioners thought that it was putting on too much style for their pastor to ride in a carriage, and in consequence Mr. Winter sold it. This was in 1775. It was a two wheeled chaise, the body resting on leather braces, which were attached to wooden springs.

A DAZZLING EFFECT.

Old Time Illumination With Lanterns and Candles.

In these days of electric lights, with all their capabilities for brilliant illumination, it is amusing to read what the subjects of George II. considered a dazzling effect. A Frenchman visiting in London at the time of the coronation of that monarch in 1727 writes enthusiastically in praise of the lighting of the city as well as of a banquet display.

"Most of the streets," writes M. Saussure, "are wonderfully well lighted. In front of each house hangs a lantern, or large globe of glass, inside of which is placed a lamp which burns all night. Large houses have two of these suspended outside the doors by iron supports. Some even have four."

How one are light would have dazzled the good people of that day!

"When the coronation procession entered Westminster hall," the writer continues, "the light of day was beginning to fade. Forty chandeliers, in shape like a crown, hung from the ceiling, each having thirty-six wax candles.

"On the king's appearance all suddenly lighted, and every one in the room was filled with astonishment at the wonderful and unexpected illumination. Little cords of cotton wool, imperceptible to the eye, saturated with sulphur of saltpeter, spirits of wine and other ingredients, had been prepared and arranged so as to carry the flame rapidly from one candle to another. The arrangement had been so skillfully prepared that scarcely a candle failed to take fire."

For Dosing Dogwell.

A physician recommends rochelle salts for amateur doctoring. He says that it is an excellent thing, several times a day, to take as much of the salts as may lie put on a cent in a little water. That will sweeten the stomach and act as a very desirable spring medicine. He also speaks highly of soda, having no patience with those stupid people who have an idea that it is a dangerous drug, doing some vague harm to the coating of the intestines.

"Why, everything we eat, almost, has soda in it," he cried in disdain. "It is an admirable thing to take half rochelle salts and half bicarbonate of soda, as directed, several times a day. I know of few gentler and still more beneficent general medicines."

A Poisonous Frog.

People in general look upon all species of the frog as being perfectly harmless. Should you be traveling in New Granada (United States of Colombia), however, you would do well to let a certain little tree croaker severely alone. He secretes a poison equally as deadly as that of the rattlesnake. It exudes from his skin in the shape of a milky liquid and is used by the natives as a poison for their arrows.

Write as You Feel.

If you would write to any purpose you must be perfectly free from within. Give yourself the natural reins; think on no pattern, no patron, no paper, no press, no public; think on nothing, but follow your impulses. Give yourself as you are—what you are and how you see it. Every man sees with his own eyes or does not see at all.—Emerson.

Wouldn't Trust Him.

"Of course," said the sarcastic man, "you always do your wife's bidding."

"Gracious! No!" replied Mr. Heepeck. "She wouldn't let me. When she goes to an auction sale she never takes me with her."

Contradictory.

"Has your son arrived at years of discretion?"

"Oh, yes. He's about to be married."

"How you contradict yourself!"

All pain must be to teach some good to the end.—Browning.

Fish Seined at London Ont.

Inspector Weldon of the Fisheries Department, London, Ont., has seized a hundred pounds of fish at that place, consigned to a New York retailer. The consignment was found to contain 250 pounds of pickerel, and in consequence the whole shipment was taken, the balance consisting of carp and mullet.

THE BLUEFISH BRIGADE.

What Happens When the Blues Make a Charge Upon Menhaden.

"When menhaden or herring are driven upon the beach by bluefish, as they often are, so that they can be carried off by the cart load," said a fisherman, "there is very seldom found among them one of their pursuers, and if one is found it is likely to be a fish that is diseased or that has been hurt in some way. The bluefish follows to the very verge of the water, but there it stops, and it is so powerful and alert a swimmer that, close as it is, it still easily keeps clear of the land. The menhaden or herring are no mean swimmers. They could come as close and keep off the shore as easily as the bluefish do, but not when the bluefish are after them. Then they are like men pursued to the edge of a precipice. It is almost certain death to jump, but they must do that or turn and take the chances of breaking through the pursuing line.

"When the bluefish there may be 3,000 or 4,000 of them together—sight a school of menhaden, they go for it like a brigade of heavy cavalry, cutting and slashing, snapping and biting right and left. The menhaden are simply overborne by superior weight, and there is nothing for them to do but flee. If they are driven toward the shore, the land is to them what the precipice would be to the man. They must take it or they must turn and try to fight their way through. Many do turn and try to swim under or over or around the savage bluefish, and some escape in this way, and some are snapped up, and some are maimed and then cast ashore, and many of them, crowding together, are so closely pressed that they are practically forced ashore.

"Sometimes fish that are not cast up very far flop down into the water again. A high wave may set some free. A fish thus liberated may find its fins so damaged that it can't swim, and it is cast up again. Weakened by its rough experience, it may fall a prey to some of the bluefish yet lingering offshore. It may escape."

ANCIENT WATER VILLAGES.

Relic of Old Customs Prevailing in the "Spreewald."

One of the most interesting regions in the "old fatherland" is the so called "Spreewald," the forest of the Spree, situated not far from the German capital, in the province of Brandenburg. Each village is a little Venice, every house a little island, and these inlets are connected by bridges sufficiently raised to allow boats to pass under them. Most of the houses, with their barns and stables, rest on piles, and there is generally a strip of artificial terra firma either in front or at the rear of every building. By means of these land strips and of the bridges the slender land communication is kept throughout the district, but most of the business and amusement are carried on through the canals, which not only form the main highways, but penetrate and cross and recross the whole region. It is on these lagoons that all traffic is conducted in boats during the period from spring when the last vestiges of frost and ice are disappearing until the end of autumn. You see the letter carrier shoot up and down the canals, performing his duties in his frail craft; the police glide leisurely along the banks, watching everything going on; peasants bring the products of their toil to the nearest towns; children go to and from school; young mothers, dressed in their Sunday clothes, are rowed to church, carrying in their arms a small, queer looking bundle from which two large eyes in a tiny face stare at the stranger in wonderment—baby is going to be baptized, an important moment with this strongly religious people.

DREAM MYSTERY.

The Events That May Be Crowded Into a Few Seconds.

The duration of a dream is so seldom accurately measured that a story published in the St. Louis Medical Record is worth repeating.

The writer, a doctor, was seized with an uncontrollable drowsiness during a call and was struggling to keep awake when he was asked by his companion, "How long may you stay in B.?" His answer, which came promptly enough, was, "That depends on the Western Union," and, catching himself, he explained that he was expecting a telegram. In fact, however, his answer related to the facts of a dream which had been sandwiched between the two parts of the sentence.

After hearing the words "How long" the doctor had dozed off, dreamed that after long and tedious experiments he had invented a wonderful apparatus for holding telegraph poles in a vertical position, and negotiated with the postal company for its sale, but unsuccessfully, and had finally gone to the authorities of the other company. They, in the dream, told him they were considering a German invention for the same purpose, and the dreamer crossed the ocean to examine the rival device, returned, explained the differences to the intending purchaser and was writing a reply when he woke in time to hear the end of his companion's question,

The events of the dream had apparently consumed months, yet the actual time that elapsed was merely that required for uttering about four short words.

Precedent For "Governess."

Albert VII., archduke of Austria, married Isabella Clara Eugenie, infanta of Spain, who brought to him as dowry the sovereignty of the Low Countries, etc. When Philip IV. of Spain ascended the throne in 1621 he took from his aunt the sovereignty of the Low Countries, but left her the title of governess. Her husband died soon after, whereupon she took the veil, though still retaining the reins of government. She died at Brussels in 1633, aged sixty-six. Here there is precedent for the use of the word governess when a lady holds the post.—London Notes and Queries.

Paid For the Opinion.

Shortly after Chief Justice Purley of the court of appeals of New Hampshire had retired from the bench and resumed the practice of his profession a man called on him to get his opinion in a certain matter. After stating his case clearly he said, "Well, judge, what do you think of my case?" The judge promptly replied, "I think you are a scoundrel." "How much do I owe you for that opinion?" inquired the client. "Ten dollars," demanded the judge. The fee was promptly paid.

Prince Arthur Sails for Home

Montreal, May 11.—The Allan Line steamship Virginian sailed for Liverpool at 4.15 this morning with his Royal Highness Prince Arthur of Connaught on board. He arrived at the dock shortly before midnight last night, in company with Sir Montague and Lady Allan and a party of friends to say good bye. Mayor Akins and several aldermen were present. The Royal party occupy a special suite of rooms on the Virginian, which has been specially arranged and decorated for their use. Notwithstanding the late hour there were a couple of hundred people at the steamer side last night as the Prince mounted the special gangway. The harbor and vicinity was a blaze of electric light, and the parting was given hearty cheers by those present.

Chartrand Supposed to Have Emigrated

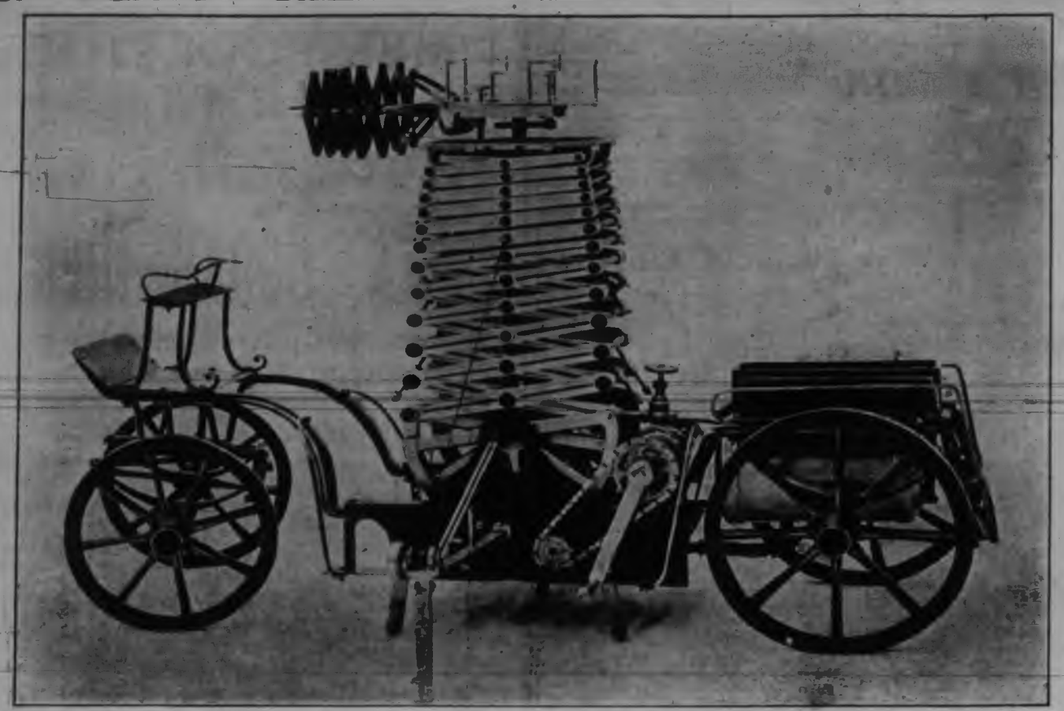
Brockville, May 11.—Chartrand, the convict who escaped from the Kingston penitentiary, was seen in Brockville on Saturday morning last by a number of people. He was driven to Mr. O'Toole's hotel, where he was seen by the proprietor. Mr. O'Toole is one of the councillors in the county town, and he was driving to his home at Elbe Park, a pleasure resort three miles west of the city, when he was hailed by a stranger who, on closer inspection, proved to be Chartrand. The latter went to Mr. O'Toole's hotel, and



This cut shows how the Fleming Aerial Ladder will look out of action, ready to be housed, and the construction of the same from a side view. It will be noticed that the arms are collapsible, and that they can be made any length to go any desired height. In the centre of the machine there are telescopic tubes which are supplied with compressed air from a tank in the rear of the machine. There are four worm-screws underneath that are turned by a crank to lock the machine and assist it in raising. This top will revolve in any direction, it will be 125 in size for men to stand on. It will have an extension bridge on both sides that can be thrown out 50 feet. The men mount on the top platform, and are carried up with hose, and all apparatus ready for action. To invest is a necessities in the Fleming Aerial Ladder is a necessity and it is almost impossible to find a more profitable investment.

THE FLEMING AERIAL LADDER

One of the greatest inventions ever conceived by man is the Fleming Aerial Ladder. It is a remarkable improvement on aerial ladders and lifts, and is the only one of its kind known in the world today that promises to accomplish as much and see of such universal benefit in fighting fires, rescuing life, carrying weights and generally of superior quality. It has been tested through the patent offices of different countries, that inventors have been working and experimenting since 1819, and millions of dollars have been spent trying to perfect what has now been accomplished. The machine is constructed with expansible standards, composed of sides, formed by a series of cross bars pivotally connected together at their point of intersection, connecting bars between the ends of the crossbars and means of adjusting the height of the standard. A platform at the top of the standard for carrying up any load required. The power for lifting is compressed air, or fluid of any kind, stored in the tank and forced into the telescopes, which force up the top platform and opens up the expansible arms. Four worm-screws work in conjunction with the compressed air at the bottom, and as it ascends upwards these worm-screws lock and hold the ladder where desired.

The platform at the top revolves and can be turned in any direction, with two expansible rolling platforms that can be extended out 40 feet on each side if desired, making a revolving bridge. When the machine stands in the middle of the street with the bridges extended communication can be had between the buildings on both sides of the street. The bottom is so constructed that the machine can be levelled in an instant upon arriving at place required.

Two of the strongest and cheapest known powers are used to elevate to right it will serve as an illuminating tower, lighted with thousands of electric lights of all colors from top to bottom, and strong search lights shooting out from the four sides will enable a view for a great distance.

The machine exhibited at the Toronto Exhibition, September 1905, was commanded by hundreds of firemen and thousands of people from all over the world. The novelty of this enterprise, giving an infinitely varied character of its uses, should be of unfailing interest to everybody.

If you are looking for a good investment, here is your opportunity. To invest in necessities is the sure way to get rich, and here is the article, the Fleming Aerial Ladder, that once shown to the world, they cannot do without; to be a safe and sane investor and get as much of this stock as your means will allow; it will pay you a life income in handsome dividends, giving you an income for life better than a salary. Rather reap the dividends from a successful enterprise than reap the regrets of a lost opportunity.

supported by guy-wires that, as the machine ascends, the guy-wires are released to go with it, never losing their hold at any time, and the machine secure when the ladder descends; the wires work in connection with the worm-screws and can only travel and do their work according to the raising and lowering of the ladder, so all laughing the ladder is perfectly firm and absolutely safe.

The illustrations show the ladder in use from 75 feet in height up to 150 feet. In the 150 feet tower we will have an observatory with palm room and cafe, which will have a seating capacity for a large number of people, each person will be supplied with strong magnifying glasses. The observatory will be revolving, enabling people to see in all directions; at night it will serve as an illuminating tower, lighted with thousands of electric lights of all colors from top to bottom, and strong search lights shooting out from the four sides will enable a view for a great distance.

WONDERFUL AERIAL LADDER.

One of the greatest inventions of the age is the large working model of the Fleming Aerial Ladder, on exhibition in the Implement Building. This device is far in advance of anything heretofore attempted, and the future for it is assured. Inventive genius has reached a remarkable state of perfection in this appliance, the ladder at once impressing one with its simplicity, completeness and perfection. This amazing device is mounted on a wagon, and owing to its marvelous construction is much more portable than most of the fire-fighting appliances of today. On arriving at fire the firemen mount a circular platform eight by ten feet in diameter placed above the ladder, which, when folded, only reaches a few feet from the ground. They can be raised to a height of 150 feet in five seconds owing to the use of compressed air and a worm-screw, two of the most powerful forces known. As the platform rises it provides its own foundation by means of telescoping tubes and a folding frame work. From the platform two steel bridges can be thrown out, forming a complete suspension bridge, reaching from one side of the street to the other. The platform revolves and forms an ideal location from which to fight the flames. When occasion arises the whole may be covered with a fireproof asbestos tent, with loop holes, through which the fire-fighters may carry on their work. As fast as people are rescued they are allowed to cross the bridge or descend to the ground by means of rope ladders. The whole is of inestimable value in fighting flames or saving lives. The stock is selling fast at $10 per share, and can be obtained at the office, 2 Yonge Street Arcade.—The World, Sept. 7th, 1905.

A WONDERFUL AERIAL.

"That's really a wonderful thing,"—remarked Mayor Urquhart yesterday afternoon, after critically examining the Fleming Aerial Ladder exhibited by Mr. R. Fleming, in the Implement building.

The News reporter arrived on the scene just as His Worship was inspecting the machine. The Mayor ascertained that the smaller size of this Aerial could be used to wash windows, pick fruit, paint the house or fix the eavetroughs. In its larger size it is the best thing ever invented for carrying hose and firemen and saving lives at a fire. The patented principle of the aerial in the ladder, which shoots up in the air by the application of a simple crank.—The News, Sept. 6th, 1905.

FLEMING AERIAL LADDER.

"Whose idea?" queried an aged Chicago fire-fighter pointing at the model of the Fleming Aerial Ladder in the Machinery Hall.

"A. W. Shaw," was the reply of Mr. Robert Fleming. "The idea came to him while watching Toronto's twelve million dollar fire."

"Well, if it cost Toronto twelve millions to produce that idea it will save thousands of lives and billions of dollars of property. Its the best thing I ever saw."

Like all valuable inventions, the Fleming Aerial Ladder is simple in idea and operation. It consists merely of a twin replica in steel of the old extension hat-rack idea. It is a folding tower of steel with a platform from which the firemen work. From its station in the centre of the street the men on the top of the tower may operate extension bridges both ways to open up avenues of rescue for imperilled human beings, or to facilitate the work of fighting the flames. This tower may be erected 150 feet in five seconds, while the best aerial tower time for half the distance is nearly three minutes. The tower may also be put to many purely commercial uses. Given a high tower one may be painted, chimneys built, observations taken, and wireless messages received.

The Canadian rights for the invention have been sold and a stock company formed for the manufacture of the aerial ladder in all its forms. Those who want to get in on the ground floor in this company should communicate with the Fleming Aerial Ladder Co. The model fire ladder, which has been critically examined during the Fair by hundreds of mechanical experts, was built by the Wells Pattern Co., of Richmond Street East. The practicability of the idea in any feature has never yet been successfully criticized.—Star, Sept. 6th, 1905.

This is a view showing how the Fleming Aerial Ladder will fight fire at fourteen stories, and also rescue people and lower them by wire ladders. There are always folded up underneath the platform, 14x of these wire ladders which can be dropped in an instant, also three collapsing chutes that can be dropped, and put in use at any time an emergency arises. If you are looking for a good investment, here is the article, the Fleming Aerial Ladder, that once shown to the world, they cannot do without. So be a safe and sane investor, and get as much of this stock as your means will allow. It will pay you a life income in handsome dividends. For further information call at head office, 52 Yonge Street Arcade, Toronto. W. Kelsey Hall, Agent, Peterboro.

A TRIUMPH OF INVENTION.

Of all the manifold products of inventive genius seen at the Fair, not one can have a brighter or more assured future than the Fleming Aerial Ladder, a large working model of which is to be seen in Implement Hall. This marvellous device consists of a wagon, bearing a huge extension ladder, the latter being surmounted by a circular platform. In fire-fighting the firemen mount this ladder, and by the use of two powerful forces, are hoisted 150 feet in five seconds. From the circular platform two steel bridges may be extended, making a complete bridge from one side of the street to the other, a contrivance of inestimable value in fighting flames or saving life. The ladder may be placed to many other uses, which will at once suggest themselves. The stock of the Fleming Aerial Ladder Co., Limited, is now on the market at $10.00 per share, and should be eagerly taken up as a safe and profitable investment.—Mail and Empire, 6th Sept., 1905.

HOISTED UP WITH SAFETY.

Nothing on the Fair grounds has attracted more attention than the aerial truck in the Agricultural Building. Builders, contractors, firemen and those who want to reach high places in safety should see the aerial truck.—Globe.

REAL FIRE-FIGHTING INVENTION.

"Why didn't you think of that before the big Toronto fire?" asked a visitor who inspected the Fleming Aerial Ladder in the Implement Building yesterday, and gave expression to wonder at such a remarkable invention. There is no limit to its utility. Shares in the Fleming Aerial Ladder Co. are having a ready sale at their offices, 52 Yonge Street Arcade. Buy now.—Globe, Sept. 6th.

A WONDERFUL AERIAL LADDER.

An invention which bids fair to revolutionize modern fire-fighting methods is the Fleming Aerial Ladder, a working model of which is shown in Implement Hall. Since the Fair opened the model has been inspected by Mayor Urquhart and a party of fire chiefs from the United States, and Canadian firemen and thousands of visitors, and it is a significant fact that not one of these has been able to point out a tangible objection or suggest an improvement. The ladder will not only be invaluable in fire-fighting and life-saving, but can be used as an observation tower, as a wireless telegraph station, or as a platform in painting high buildings and steeples. The Fleming Aerial Ladder Company's stock, just placed on the market, is being eagerly taken up by shrewd investors, who realize its opportunities for immense profits.—Mail, Sept. 7th, 1905.

See page six for Stock Coupon and further particulars.

This is the greatest life saver and fire fighter in the world today, and is a necessity in every civilized country. A splendid opportunity is afforded every one to make money—by purchasing stock in the Fleming Aerial Ladder—as it promises to be one of the greatest money makers on the market today. $10.00 per share, and they are going fast, so be one of the fortunate ones, and secure as much of this stock as your means will allow.

This shows how the Fleming Aerial Ladder, extended, will enable the painting and repairing of church spires, and also shows the old way. Opportunity knocks but once, do not miss this one, for by investing your money in the Fleming Aerial Ladder, you are sure to reap large profits, as it can be used for so many purposes.

DESPERATE HEROISM.

An Incident of the Indian Fighting Days in Illinois.

The desperate intrepidity and warlike heroism of the early settlers of Illinois are illustrated by an incident narrated in "Historic Illinois." The early days were a time of hardship, danger and death. Every forest covert, every tuft of prairie grass, might hide some skulking red enemy. Among the early frontiersmen was a Captain Whiteside, whose name became a terror among the Kickapoos.

A party of fourteen white men led by Whiteside made an attack upon an encampment of Indians of greatly superior force. Only one Indian escaped. During the heat of the skirmish Captain Whiteside was severely wounded, he thought mortally, having received a shot in the side.

As he fell he called to his sons to keep on fighting and not to yield an inch of ground or permit the savages to touch his body. Uel Whiteside, who had also been shot in the arm, so that he could no longer use his rifle, hastily examined his father's wound, discovering that the bullet had glanced along the ribs and lodged against the spine.

With that daring and disregard for pain so often characteristic of border men he immediately whipped out his knife, gashed the skin, extracted the ball and held it up, crying:

"You're not dead yet, father!"

The old man leaped to his feet, renewed the fight and bore his full part to the end. Many such instances of heroism distinguished the men who in those days of peril were called upon to defend the frontiers of Illinois.

EASILY SCARED.

An Adventure With a Rhinoceros in East Africa.

Of a curious encounter with a rhinoceros an African traveler writes in the Globe Trotter, published in Nairobi, British East Africa: "He was peacefully grazing on a choice patch of green stuff and apparently meant to do the well bred thing and allow us to pass by; so, with my heart in my mouth, nothing in my pockets and an empty magazine rifle in my hand, I attempted a slide for a more secure position. But I was immediately foiled of this object, by a suspicious movement on the part of the enemy. A swish of the tail, a suggestive uplifting of the snout and a sniff of the atmosphere, and the delicate and fairylike creature bore down ponderously upon my two native bearers and myself.

"My knees promptly refused to work. I could not move a muscle, and so with all the British pluck and courage of which we have read so much I calmly resigned myself. By this time the hideous beauty had advanced to within ten yards of its prey, when, to my surprise, the two boys accompanying me hastily dismantled themselves of all baggage, and, with all muscles stretched, ready for a sprint, they stood their ground and, without moving an inch, began to whistle for all they were worth.

"Quickly noting the satisfactory result of the maneuver, I blew my whistle hastily and with good will. The shrill notes struck strangely on the untutored ear of the rhino, for he promptly turned tail and fled."

A Short Cut.

"There goes a man," observed a steamship agent as he directed attention to a surly looking individual who had just engaged passage for Europe, "whose efforts are devoted to constructing short cuts in business methods and in eliminating all time consuming men and their propositions from his busy existence. He is a man of very few words. Some years ago this gentleman crossed the ocean and had a very unpleasant trip. One morning a sympathetic passenger offered him a lemon, expressing a sincere wish that it would give relief. The pale traveler seized the lemon, hurled it viciously into the ocean and growled:

"'This is a quicker way than the other.'"

An Odd Moorish Custom.

As a people the Moors are already well inclined to anything that gilds life. A correspondent says: "Nothing delights them more as a means of agreeably spending an hour or two than squatting on their heels in the streets or on some door stoop, gazing at the passersby, exchanging compliments with their acquaintances. Native 'swells' consequently promenade with a piece of felt under their arms, on which to sit when they wish."

His Statement.

Dr. Price-Price (diplomatically)—I don't know whether I sent you a statement of what—er—you owe me. Mr. Knok—Neither do I. Dr. Price-Price—Oh, you didn't get it then? I suppose I didn't send you a statement. Mr. Knok—Yes; you did. But it looked more like a statement of what you think I possess.

Knew Her Ways.

Mr. Gayboy—What did my wife say when you told her I wouldn't be able to come home tonight until a late hour? Messenger—She didn't say anything. Mr. Gayboy—Then you must have gone to the wrong house!

A Doubting Thomas.

She—Did you let father know you owned a lot of house property? He—I hinted at it. She—What did he say? He—He said, "Deeds speak louder than words."

One of the commonest of delusions and one of the fatalest is where a man thinks he's in a hurry.—Puck.

No man can enjoy life or feel that he is really living who has no work to do.—Empress Marguina.

A Secret Defined.

A secret is a thing which you communicate to one whom you can trust. He, in turn, tells it to somebody that he can trust, and that somebody reveals it to another somebody whom he can trust. And so it goes the rounds, but it is still a secret, although everybody knows it.

A GENEROUS CRITIC.

Story of John Oxenford, a Once Famous London Character.

John Oxenford was for years the leading theatrical critic of London. Mr. Oxenford was troubled with a serious bronchial affection, which occasionally disturbed the audience, for he refused to give up his beloved theater, although desperately ill. A certain rising young actor was very anxious to obtain Oxenford's valuable opinion on his work, and the tender hearted old gentleman literally left his bed and came down to the theater on a bitter cold night to do a good action to a clever youngster. In the middle of one of the actor's finest scenes on came the cough from the Oxenford box. It continued so long that it unnerved the actor, and he came to a dead stop. To the surprise of everybody he advanced to the front and said, "Ladies and gentlemen, I am sorry to say that unless the old gentleman with the irritating cough retires temporarily from the theater I really cannot go on. I forget everything. It is painful so to address you, but I am powerless in the matter and place myself in your hands."

The disturbance at once ceased, and the box was empty. When the curtain fell a friend rushed around and, breathless, said to the distressed actor: "Do you know what you have done? Do you know who it was that you turned out of the box?" "I neither know nor care," was the reply. "Why, it was John Oxenford!" The actor was paralyzed, but he got his good notice all the same. The veteran critic went home coughing to praise the young actor who had turned him out.

JUDGING DOGS.

The Rules by Which the Different Points Are Valued.

The average man is greatly puzzled to find one dog awarded a first prize and another, which to him appears to be quite as fine a specimen, awarded no prize at all. A man who knows the relative values of the different points in all breeds of dogs is a veritable walking encyclopedia.

Generally speaking, the best dog is one which comes nearest the standard of requirements for its own particular breed, about 25 per cent of the points being usually awarded for fine head proportions, an equal number for legs and feet, a similar number for body and color and the rest for symmetry.

In the Dalmatian, for instance, thirty points are given for color and markings, while head, eyes and ears have only fifteen; the bulldog, on the other hand, has forty-five for head and ears, while coat and color amount to but five points; the collie has twenty-five for coat, color being immaterial, and twenty-five for head and ears.

The St. Bernard has forty for head and ears and five each for coat and color. The Pomeranian has but fifteen for head and ears, forty-five points going for coat, color and tail, with fifteen for appearance. It may be set down as governing in all breeds of dogs that whatever is the typical feature of that breed is the feature upon which stress is laid in the allotment of points.

The Thibetan Treaty.

London, May 10.—The Chinese Government has given its ratification to the treaty concluded between India and Thibet, and the work accomplished by Colonel Younghusband's famous march to the sacred city of Lhasaa is thus completed. At one time it looked as if China, possessing no vestige of real power in Thibet, might have been safely ignored. But as she clung resolutely to her theoretical suzerain rights, obviously the wise policy on the part of the British Government was to refer the treaty for final approval to Peking. Without this, there would have been the risk of claims cropping up at any time, on the part of China or of any power such as Russia having special interests in Thibet, to have the treaty set aside as informal and incomplete.

Killed Wife at Her Request.

Newport News, Va., May 11.—Julien Pavlinic, an Austrian, 40 years old, working in a shipyard, appeared at police headquarters yesterday and announced he had killed, bathed and shrouded his wife, aged 28 years, at her request. The husband fired seven bullets into her body. The victim of the tragedy was for several years a patient of the Eastern State Hospital at Williamsburg, but was discharged February last. Recently she had shown evidences of a return of her mania and asked her husband to kill her.

The Harvest Mining Co.'s

BLACK HILLS of SOUTH DAKOTA

And is the pioneer mining company of Rapid Creek Mining District. Perhaps you are not aware of the magnitude of these words! Let us explain! Pioneer companies are always the ones that are branded with success, for the reason that they are the first in the promising districts and, consequently, take the best property to be obtained and, for this reason, it is invariably the case that the investors in these companies are the ones that reap the rich reward, and not the investors in the cheap "boom stocks" that come later and are selling on the merits of what their neighbors have.

We appeal to your reason and personal knowledge: The Homestake was the pioneer company of the Ida Gray Mining District; the Golden Reward was the pioneer of the Ruby Basin District; The Portland (Colorado) was the pioneer of the Cripple Creek District; The Anaconda (Copper) was the pioneer of the Silver Bow Mining District; the Calumet and Hecla were the pioneers of the Lake Region, and they are the companies that have made their stockholders rich, for the reason that they were first and had first choice of all the property to be had—"The property on which the ore bodies were located"—and this is what The Harvest Mining Company has done. We have come first and acquired 140 acres of the best property to be had in the whole Rapid Creek Mining District, a property that is most suitable for working in both manner of mining and milling. First—We are near railroad and have lots of timber for mining purposes. Second—Our ore is a smelting proposition and we will not have to go to the enormous expense of installing costly machinery.

Our ore carries an assay of 20 per cent. lead, 1 ounce silver and $1.50 in gold, and is classed as a wet ore by the smelting companies. Ore carrying lead is also a basis of monopoly at the smelters, as the lead is used as a collecting agent in separating and collecting the gold and silver.

A shaft has already been sunk to a depth of 40 feet on the main ledge and we have exposed a vein of about 20 feet in width. The vein is strong and well defined between two walls of granite and schist, dipping slightly east with a northerly strike, and it is for the purpose of sinking this working shaft to a greater depth that the company is offering a small amount of their treasury stock at 25c. per share (which is fully paid and non-assessable) to help do the dead or development work that is non-productive, preparatory to shipping ore to the smelter.

Although we have numerous ledges on our property, and the famous copper glance lead which also passes through it and is exceptionally rich in copper, the company has deemed it best to concentrate its work on the gold, silver and lead vein and put that to producing money before the development is begun on the others.

We wish to call your attention to some of the mines that are gold-silver-lead mines and have produced millions, among which are "Daly West," "Le Roi," "Bunker Hill," "Sullivan," and others, and The Harvest Mining Company is offering as lucrative investment as any of the above. We have the gold, silver and lead ore in sight, and are inviting you to become an equal owner to help do the primary development work. Our Treasury Stock Certificates have the condition "Treasury Stock" printed on the face, which assures the investors that their money goes for the development of the company.

Black Hills, an area less than 100 miles square, has produced $180,000,000.00 in the past 29 years. In the same period of time to come it will probably more than double the past production, and The Harvest Mining Company, being situated as it is in the richest section of the Black Hills, is extending to you the most exceptional advantage of an investment. We appeal to your reason: "Read the past and you will know the future." Our property is offering today the same as the big mines of the continent have offered in the past, and now is the time to become a stockholder.

100 PER CENT. ADVANCE JUNE 1

Present Price of Stock FIVE Cents per Share

If you want to get in on the ground floor before the price advances to 10 Cents per share, NOW IS YOUR CHANCE

When The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Company was organized the officers of the company foresaw the certainty of a big mining boom in Clear Creek County, Colorado, U.S.A., and they congratulated themselves on securing a property which showed 1,500 feet of development work, and could be classed with the MINES of the region.

The steady increase in the mineral production of the county, new strikes, the development of old mines at depth (proving the continuity of the ore bodies and the increased richness of the ores), the availability of mining supplies, the abundance of water the great amount of timber for mining and fuel, the adaptability of the topography for deep tunnel mining, and the large number of milling and smelting plants, means that the district possesses all the elements of successful and economical mining.

It was a foregone conclusion that investors would awake to a realization of the conditions, and inaugurate a new boom in 1906. It is but natural that they should desire to place their money in a locality that shows more PROVEN MINES than prospects, and where the chances for speedy returns are greater than the chances of loss. Because of economic conditions money will go farther in development work and bring RESULTS quicker. Many new companies have recently been organized, foremost among them being The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co. Stock in all Clear Creek County companies is finding a ready market among both Eastern and Western investors, and in consequence The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co forestalled the boom by securing one of the best mining propositions in the locality, consisting of 16 mining claims, situated on Standard Mountain, in the Ohio and Jackson Mining District, two and one-half miles south of Idaho Springs. The Gold Leaf properties are credited with a past production of $75,000, and the tunnel is being steadily driven toward the rich ore bodies from whence former shipments were made. The old workings are now drowned with water which the tunnel will drain and also give unlimited stoping ground for the ores. Surrounding mines have produced over $11,500,000. Now is the time to purchase stock. When we re-open our ore the opportunity will be lost to investors.

Don't overlook this exceptional opportunity! Think of the acreage; Think of the development work done; Think of the past ore production; Think of the future possibilities; Think of investing—THEN ACT AT ONCE!

Sufficient stock subscriptions have already been received to carry our Frontier Tunnel a distance of 600 feet, or to the Standard Vein, from which point ore shipments will be resumed. Future stock subscriptions will be applied on the purchase of a power plant or on contracts to facilitate the work of driving the tunnel.

Our General Manager estimates that the completion of the tunnel will place at our disposal OVER FOUR MILES OF ORE, aggregating 96,000,000 tons.

RHEUMATISM

Lives in the Blood

Consequently it requires an internal treatment, one that will restore the blood, and thereby relieve the cause of the pain.

After years of experiment Dr Hamilton succeeded in producing a remedy that quickly cures rheumatism, gout and all uric acid disorders

This marvellous cure has been given to the public as Dr. Hamilton's Mandrake and Butternut Pills. In every case they cure quickly.

By toning the kidneys and liver, Dr. Hamilton's Pills ensure a clean healthy body. The blood is restored to a normal healthy condition, renewed vigor is imparted to overworked organs, and thus the general health is built up, and no room left for rheumatism to creep in.

Discouraged sufferers, relief is at hand. Use Dr. Hamilton's Pills, and you will soon shake hands for good with your old enemy. Here is substantial proof:

A Cripple's Story of Cure

"This is a glad day for me," writes Jason E. Brownell, from Milford, Ont., "because I can speak of my permanent cure of rheumatism. I have been ill through the aching days and sleepless nights, have spent my money on worthless remedies, and consequently in recommending Dr. Hamilton's Pills I feel sure of their merit. No remedy gave such relief or did me so much good as Dr. Hamilton's Pills. My rheumatism they cured, and ever since my health has been perfect."

When Dr. Hamilton's Pills are to be had in any drug store, it's foolish to live on in misery and ill-health. You ought to get this medicine today and cure yourself. Price 25c. per box, or five boxes for $1 at all dealers, or by mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S.A., and Kingston, Ont.

Up to date the city clerk has issued 718 dog tags, and there are still several hundred to be sent out. Last year there were 675 tags issued at this date, and at the end of the year 853 were sold. It looks as though owners of canines believe the police mean business this spring.

Freak Canoe Trip Stopped.

Yesterday a freak trip was contemplated by two young men, who arrived here during the morning from Montreal. They paddled up the river to the locks, and telephoned the canal authorities, asking if they would allow them to take the canoe over the lift lock. The superintendent explained that navigation was not yet open and that there was no water in the upper reach of the canal. So the ambitious canoeists will have to wait until June 1st, or use a wheelbarrow with their boat.

Mother Goose Evening at St. John's.

Last night the Sunday school room of St. John's church was well filled by an appreciative audience. The occasion was the long heralded and admirably rendered junior "Mother Goose" entertainment given by children of the congregation. The little ones in specially prepared and prettily gotten up dresses, appropriate to the representations participated in, taken from the good old nursery rhymes made a tout ensemble very pretty to behold. Those taking part displayed great talent for their years and reflected credit upon those who had trained them.

Among the fairy tales illustrated, were the old familiar "Cock Robin," "Sing a Song of Sixpence," "Mother Tabby Cat," and the "May Queen."

Mr. D. Hughes-Charles very ably filled the chair. Miss Hazel Dean took the part of "Mother Goose," most acceptably. The Misses Gladys Seward and Grace Taft, gave a vocal duet which was much appreciated. Miss Maud Rountree as the "May Queen," looked most charming, and spoke her lines with good effect. Little Greta Rountree, in a violin solo, showed that Peterboro has a true daughter of Remenyi. Little Miss Palmer also displayed much talent in a violin solo given by her.

Police Force is Now Augmented

Police Commissioners Give G. A. Rutherford the Job.

As has been noted frequently in this journal, the local police force has been sadly handicapped, in proper performance of their duty, by an inadequate number of officers, whose scanty numbers were altogether inadequate to the requirements of a city of some 15000 people. Although the police force has done as well as could be expected from their numbers, the residential portions of the city, have, perforce, been practically at the mercy of wrong-doers, but now those living at a distance from the business portion, may rest easier by night.

The police commissioners, with Judge Weller in the chair, have now appointed Geo. A. Rutherford a police constable, with a salary fo $500 a year.

The commissioners, have for some time, realised the necessity of appointing another member to the force, and they were aware of the necessity of such action. They may well rest assured of the hearty approval of the ratepayers. A number of other applications were received, but the Board considered that Mr. Rutherford's claims to the position were superior to those of the other applicants.

Several matters now in the hands of the Board were discussed. The cart and cab bylaw was taken up, and a number of changes decided on. It is probable that this bylaw, as well as that relating to and regulating livery stables and second-hand and junk dealers, will be revised and amended.

These matters have been taken out of the hands of the council since Peterboro became a city, and the Board of Commissioners now have control of them.

A Good Head With Blank Mind.

Yesterday, near the post office, two gentlemen, somewhat after the style of the ladies, at a sewing circle meeting, were discussing a certain business man of the city. One of them who has a good Irish brogue, with a twinkle in his eye, remarked, "Well, he has got a good head on his shoulders, but when it comes to reasoning out anything, his mind is a perfect blank.

Peterboro-Lakefield Personals.

The Lakefield News says: Miss G. Hall of Peterboro, spent a few days in the village this week, the guest of Miss Bloomfield—Mr. Ed. Cox, of Peterboro, was in the village on Tuesday.—Miss Maud Bogue, of Peterboro, was visiting friends in the village this week—Mr. Charles Bloomfield left on Tuesday for Petreboro, where he has secured a position in the Cordage Works.

A Heavy Load to Carry.

Along with dyspepsia comes nervousness and general ill-health. Why? Because a disordered stomach does not permit the food to be properly digested, and its products assimilated by the system. The blood is charged with poisons which come from this disordered digestion, and in turn the nerves are not fed on good, red blood, and we see symptoms of nervousness, sleeplessness and general breakdown. It is not head work, nor over physical exertion that does it, but poor stomach work. With poor, thin blood the body is not protected against the attack of germs of grip, bronchitis and consumption. Fortify the body at once with Dr Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery—a rare combination of native medicine roots without a particle of alcohol or dangerous habit-forming drugs.

A little book of extracts, from prominent medical authorities extolling every ingredient contained in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will be mailed free to any address on request by postal card or letter. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce Buffalo, N. Y.

Many years of active practice convinced Dr. Pierce of the value of many native roots as medicinal agents and he went to great expense, both in time and in money to perfect his own peculiar processes for rendering them both efficient and safe for tonic, alterative and rebuilding agents.

The enormous popularity of "Golden Medical Discovery" is due both to its scientific compounding and to the actual medicinal value of its ingredients. The publication of the names of the ingredients on the wrapper of every bottle solid gives full assurance of its non-alcoholic character and removes all objection to the use of an unknown or secret remedy. It is not a patent medicine nor a secret one either. This fact puts it in a class all by itself, bearing as it does upon every bottle wrapper The Badge of Honesty, in the full list of its ingredients.

The "Golden Medical Discovery" cures, weak stomach, indigestion, or dyspepsia, torpid liver and biliousness, ulceration of stomach and bowles and all catarrhal affections no matter what parts or organs may be affected with it. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are the original little liver pills, first put up 40 years ago. They regulate and invigorate stomach, liver and bowels. Much imitated but never equaled. Sugar-coated and easy to take as candy. One to three a dose.

Brothers Expire On The Same Day

Messrs Samuel D. and P. W. Reynolds Both Aged Die the Same Day.

The Norwood Register says:

"Mr. Samuel D. Reynolds, brother of the late Mr. P. W. Reynolds, of this village, died on Tuesday, May 1st, at his home in McLouth, Kansas. He was nearly 83 years of age and had been sick for a good while.

"A remarkable thing about his death is that it occurred on the same days that his brother, the late P. W. Reynolds, was buried here, which coincides with a circumstance which happened in 1895 when his brother, the late Williams Reynolds of Chicago, died the day of the funeral of another brother, the late Hiram Reynolds, of this town."

Those who have taken other laxatives without satisfaction—and those who have taken such quantities of other laxatives that they have lost their effect—will find a pleasant surprise in LAX-ETS. There is usually no pain, griping, nausea or discomfort even in severe cases. This candy bowel laxative—LAX-ETS—is only 5c. and is sold by J. D. Tully.

Sultan's Hands Up Agrees to Vacate

Yields to Great Britain's Insistent Demands and Makes an Unconditional Surrender--Suggests Appointment of a Mixed Commission.

Cairo, Egypt, May 14.—The Turkish Government has agreed to evacuate Tabah and all other places in out a promise, presented to the Egyptian territory occupied by the board a memorial from a large Sultan's troops. number of citizens, asking that Mr.

OBSTINATE TO THE LAST.

Constantinople, May 13.—The Turkish government has accepted the demands of Great Britain conditionally.

It is anticipated that this is only a preliminary to the complete acceptance of the British demands in regard to the Tabah boundary question.

The change in the Sultan's attitude must have taken place very late last night or early today, for the grand vizier's visit to the British ambassador, Sir Nicholas R. O'Connor, at 11 o'clock, last night had no immediate suit except to emphasize the fact that the attempts of Turkey to arrange a compromise were useless.

The grand vizier's proposals were as unacceptable as were those of Tewfik Pasha, the foreign minister, on the previous day Sir Nicholas again pointed out the futility of suggesting modifications of the British demands, which constituted the absolute minimum.

NOTHING CONDITIONAL.

London, May 12.—The foreign office has not yet received advices that the Porte has definitely acceded to the British demands, but the latest official despatches from Constantinople intimated that the Sultan was preparing to submit.

It is said at the foreign office that there can be nothing "conditional" in the acceptance as the demands of Great Britain are the irreducible minimum.

A despatch to a news agency received in London this afternoon, in confirming the statement that the Sultan has decided to comply with the British demands, adds:

"It is hoped, however, that Great Britain will agree to the appointment of a mixed commission to examine the frontier question."

Possibly this is a tentative suggestion for a mixed or international commission, instead of the joint commission, demanded by Great Britain, and explains the word "conditionally" in the earlier Constantinople message announcing the Sultan's capitulation.

KING WAS CORDIAL.

London, May 12.—Frederick W. Whitbridge, of New York, appointed by President Roosevelt, to represent the United States at the wedding of King Alfonso, was presented to King Edward at Buckingham Palace yesterday by Ambassador Reid.

His Majesty's reception of Mr. Reid and Mr. Whitbridge was of the usual cordial character.

Mr. F. A. Hilton May Be Appointed

Former Peterboro Man Recommended for Commissioner of Industries.

The Toronto Globe, in referring to an old Peterboro boy, raised and educated in this city, and who has many warm friends here says:

"Controller Jones intimated to the Board of Control this morning that he intended to recommend the appointment of Mr. F. A. Hilton as Commissioner of Industries, at a salary of $4,000. He will take the matter up in time for the Council meeting two weeks hence."

In this connection it might be noted that Mr. Hilton will have a fight for the place as

"Mr. W. B. Hamilton, financial agent, has applied for the position and Controller Hubbard, to carry the board a memorial from a large number of citizens, asking that Mr. S. Ironsides Thompson receive the appointment."

The Globe's report is accompanied by an excellent portrait of Mr. Hilton's familiar features.

Mr. Hilton until three years ago was a barrister in Toronto, but has recently been in the insurance business in Buffalo.

Ratepayer Asks Re S. S. Material

Correspondent Enquires About the Murray Street School.

(To the Editor of The Times)

Dear Sir,—In passing the Murray street school last Saturday, I stopped for a few minutes to watch the process of tearing down this building now in progress. This building was at one time, I believe, supposed to be handed over to our local school board, but owing to the Militia Department Ottawa, demanding the ground on which it stood, has passed into the ownership of the government. At the same time, I am informed that the militia, for purposes of their own, perhaps, not altogether divorced from the thoughts of future aid, promised to give the material of the building, when dismantled and torn down to the local board of health.

Now Sir, during the very short time I watched the wrecking work going on, I came to the conclusion that "wrecking" a word commonly used to describe tearing down a building, is most applicable to this job. The work is being done in such a manner that destruction and not salvage is the order of the day. Parts of the building that could at least be saved and sold for a considerable sum, appeared to be handled as though no use were to be made of them, if not almost wantonly destroyed.

If our Board of Education is to have the parts of the torn down school, it would pay to have a man appointed to see that such destruction is prevented. There are hundreds of dollars of doors, sash, etc., that might, with a little extra expenditure be saved and used to advantage.

I am, yours,
RATEPAYER.

To Stop Immigrant Bonusing.

London, May 12.—Mr. Hazleton, North Galway, will, on Tuesday, ask the Prime Minister whether he is aware that the Canadian Government pay the sum of one pound to shipping agents in Ireland on every ticket for an emigrant to Canada and, in view of the fact that such encouragement of Irish emigration evil is injurious to the welfare of Ireland, he will make representations to the Canadian Government to have the practice discontinued without delay.

Will Visit Cree Indians.

Ottawa, May 12.—The Governor-General, who has taken great interest in the Cree Indians ever since his memorable visit to the North-West, a year ago, is most anxious that the annals, lore and traditions of this race should be preserved, and in order to do this has made arrangements with the Government to send out a special emissary to obtain the requisite information. The person chosen for this special mission is Mrs. F. H. Paget, who spent several months in captivity among the Indians and will be accompanied by Miss Mabel Ferguson, of the Post Office Department.

Mill Owner Drowned.

Quebec, May 12.—Joseph Vaillancourt, mill owner at Riviere Des Plante, Beauce, was accidentally drowned Saturday while superintending the floating his logs.

Snake Crawls Into Sleepy Man's Mouth

Alexander, Va., May 14.—A foreigner named Diopacicir, at the Pennsylvania Railway camp below here, met a terrible and most peculiar death last night.

Diopacicir was sleeping with his mouth open and a black snake fully two feet in length entered his mouth and before he could get a tight hold on the reptile it had entirely disappeared.

The frantic man, in great pain, and strangling, and with eyeballs nearly popping out, ran amongst his fellow workmen, unable to explain the trouble. Some thought him mad and fled; others beat him on the back;

After hours of terrible agony, he finally strangled to death. The Fairfax coroner investigated the cause of death, and found the snake's head wedged in the dead man's throat.

Another Trunk Murder In New York

New York, May 14.—The details of a mysterious and revolting tragedy, for which Wilhelm Meyer and a woman named Christiani will be arrested on the arrival of the steamer Graf Waldersee at New York today, were revealed this afternoon.

Meyer went to Frankfort on the Main, Germany, April 24, and left a trunk and other baggage with an express company, saying that the trunk contained clothing and that he wanted it kept for three months, as he was going abroad. The trunk was finally opened by the police and found to contain the half decayed body of an aged woman, covered with chloride of lime.

The body turned out to be that of a Mrs. Vogel, of Wildungen, in the principality of Waldeck, who had been missing since the disappearance of Meyer from that place. She came from San Francisco to Wildungen with Meyer two years ago. The latter is a furniture dealer, thirty-one years of age, and born in Germany.

Mrs. Vogel was reputed to have been very rich. Latterly she quarreled with Meyer and asked for police protection. The murder was committed by strangulation. Meyer spent several days in Frankfort, and wrote to the Christiani woman, who comes of a good Wildungen family, to meet him here, and they disappeared together.

Enquiries made by the police established the fact that the couple had sailed for New York.

The Earth Changing.

Cody, Wyoming, May 12.—Volcanic activity has worked great changes in Yellowstone Park since the eruption of Mount Vesuvius and the earthquakes at San Francisco. The whole region is in constant state of disturbance now, and a new map of its features must be made. Tourists say the park and contiguous territory are constantly trembling. New springs are breaking out on all sides. Geysers that had been supposed to be extinct for hundreds of years are throwing streams of hot water. Old geysers are also more active.

Eat What You Like

Don't Starve or Diet, but use Mi-o-na and Cure Your Stomach Troubles.

The average treatment of stomach troubles consists of a rigid diet list, which often half starves the patient. Of course it would be foolish for anyone who knows that some foods are positively harmful and poisonous to continue eating them, even while following the Mi-o-na treatment, but in ordinary cases of stomach troubles it is not necessary to starve or diet if Mi-o-na is faithfully used, a tablet before each meal.

This scientific remedy for the cure of stomach troubles, acts upon the whole digestive system, and strengthens the organs so that they are able to digest any food that is eaten without fear of distress. If you suffer from loss of appetite, belching of gases, sour taste in the mouth, furred tongue, severe pains in the region of the stomach, depression of spirits, bad dreams, lack of energy, headaches, backaches, loss of strength and weight, you can be assured that these troubles are all due to imperfect digestion.

Strengthen the stomach by taking a Mi-o-na tablet before each meal, and soon you will gain in weight, strength will return, and your food will give nourishment so that the rich red blood will carry good health to every part of your system.

Mi-o-na costs but 50 cents a box. If you cannot obtain Mi-o-na of your druggist, it will be sent by mail, post-paid, on receipt of price. Write us for advice on your case from a leading stomach specialist, which will be sent free. The R. T. Booth Company, Ithaca, N. Y.

Kawartha Lakes Highly Praised

Canadian Sporting Paper Has Notes of Local Interest.

An article appears in this month's issue of Rod and Gun in Canada, in it the following reference is made to local fishing grounds.—

Between Sharbot Lake and Toronto are many good fishing waters, such as the river Trent and its adjacent waters. The Canadian Pacific Railway has built a new branch line direct to connect with the Kawartha Lakes. These consist of ten beautiful sheets of water, known as Katchewanooka, Clear, Stony, Buckhorn, Chemong, Pigeon, Bald, Sturgeon, Cameron and Balsam Lakes. They are situated 600 feet higher than Lake Ontario. To those who suffer from hay fever the pure air of these lakes affords relief, and a brief stay invariably effects a cure. Bobcaygeon in the center of these lakes, and from which all other lakes can be reached, is the terminus of the Lindsay branch of the Canadian Pacific Railway, which is the short line spoken of. Bobcaygeon is noted for its bass and maskinonge. There is two new hotels here, and an excellent camping ground.

There is a long chain of lakes north of Trent, via Kaladar Station, which brings us to a most charming resort called Bon Echo Inn on Lake Mussanoga. Very pleasant are the thoughts of the writer connected with a pleasant stay of unfortunately a days only a Bon Echo.

From Havelock Station a very large number of lakes are reached. All of these are in Ontario, be it remembered.

Alberta Seeding Over.

Calgary, May 12.—General Superintendent Jamieson, of the C. P. R., issued his second Alberta seeding report. The fall and spring wheat, oats barley and flax are reported to be doing well. This is especially the case in the vicinity of Calgary and other districts in southern Alberta.

Seeding is practically completed, and farmers are busy breaking more ground for more fall wheat. Rains during the week did much good near Macleod. The weather is said to be favorable throughout the province.

Another Revolution In San Domingo

Washington, May 14.—Reports have reached the state department of the organization of another revolutionary movement directed against the government of President Caceres of Santo Domingo.

It is understood that Porto Rico is the base of operations, and it is supposed that ex-Presidents Morales and Jiminez are the leaders of the movement.

Instructions have been sent to the insular governor of Porto Rico to take steps to carry out the neutrality laws which would prevent the organization and departure of any hostile expedition, and the American warships surrounding the island of San Domingo will also be instructed to prevent any landing of hostile forces.

Trickery With Oil Lamps to Kill Rivals

Revelations of Mean, Petty Methods Adopted By Standard Oil to Create False Comparisons With Products of Other Companies.

Chicago, May 13.—Despite objections of counsel for the Standard Oil Company, F. S. Hibbs, of Peoria, for 12 years an employe of that company, was permitted at yesterday's hearing by the interstate commerce commission to illustrate a number of tricks, which, the witness said, were used by salesmen and agents of the Standard Oil Company.

"In testing the oil of a rival company," said Mr. Hibbs, "we used a new chimney and the magnesia in the glass made the chimney look cloudy. For our own use we had an old chimney, with the wick perfectly dried out and not too long. We used to rub a moistened finger across the wick of the competitor, and if it burned a short time the damp would be reached, the light would grow dim, and there would be a spluttering. All this time our light would be burning brightly.

"Our wicks were trimmed so as to make a thin flame, and those of our competitors were trimmed so as to make a thick flame. The thinner the flame, the whiter the light.

"Then we would often bend down the lower part of the burner and let air in under the chimney which would cause the lamp to smoke. Sometimes we would fill up some of the ventilating holes around the burner with chewing. I resorted to these tricks only when a competitor was selling oil in a town and I wanted to get rid of him."

The witness named five towns in Illinois where he had convinced customers that the oil of the Standard Oil Company was superior, when, as a matter of fact, it was inferior.

He said the fire tests showed the product of the Standard Oil Company to be of forty-four per cent. gravity, while that of competing companies was 42 per cent.

"Do the agents of the Standard Oil Company still practice the tactics you have mentioned, in meeting competition?" asked Attorney Mennett.

"Yes. They are doing it to-day," replied the witness.

"They pay rebates, bribe people, cut the price and substitute an inferior quality of oil, and in fact do anything necessary to get the business, and to put the competitor out of the way."

ADMITS BRIBERY.

E. M. Wilhoit, of Topeka, Kan. now an independent oil operator, but ten years ago an agent of the Standard Oil Company, testified that while in the employ of the Standard Oil Company he had, in following out the instructions of his superior officers, bribed clerks in the offices of railroads and employes of independent oil concerns in order to obtain information of the business done by rivals of the Standard Oil Company.

He declared that agents of the Standard Oil Company are held responsible personally for all oil sold in their territory by independent companies, and that drivers of tank wagons are expected to keep up their stock by selling 205 to 208 gallons from a wagon load of 200 gallons.

He said that the actual tests of the products of the Standard Oil Company to determine the quality are carefully guarded, and that when it was found necessary to cut the price to meet the figure of a competitor a cheaper quality of oil was substituted and guaranteed to be of a higher grade than it really was.

Mr. Wilhoit said that frequently three grades of oil were sold from the same tank by agents of the Standard Oil Company.

He said that he had bribed clerks in the office of the Rock Island, Santa Fe and Missouri Pacific to give him lists of shipments to the customers of independent companies. He told also of bribing teamsters in order to obtain information.

NOT CALLED BY THAT NAME.

"Cylinder oil is the most profitable sold," said the witness, "and the Standard Oil Company dislikes to have any independent sell any of this grade. Our instructions were if we found a competitor selling this oil in our territory to cut the price, so as to get the orders, and then substitute an inferior grade of oil and guarantee it to be of superior quality."

"Did you ever give short measure to your customers?" asked Commissioner Prouty.

"Well, we did not call it that," replied the witness.

Demonstration in Behalf of Amnesty

St. Petersburg, May 13.—The feature of the second session of the lower house of parliament yesterday was a frantic demonstration in favor of amnesty. When among a mass of congratulatory messages from all parts of the empire were read several from political prisoners in jail or in exile in Siberia, the members except a little group on the extreme right, rose, cheering in a body, the galleries joining in the applause. A motion was presented to send replies to the messages, but this was declared to be out of order.

Neither Premier Goremykin nor any other member of the cabinet was seated on the ministerial benches, which instead, were occupied by their assistants.

There was considerable confusion about the procedure, emphasizing the necessity for a code of parliamentary rules, which is being drawn up.

The balloting for vice-presidents today resulted by 428 against 261 votes in the choice of the combination ticket determined upon last night, namely, Prince Peter Dolgoroukoff and Prof. Grodeskul, of Kharkoff. The drawing up of the drafts of the reply of the house to the speech from the throne at the opening of parliament has not yet been completed for submission to the house. The Constitutional Democrats invited two representatives of the peasants, one Pole and one Jew, to participate in drawing up the draft in order to secure solidarity. The main difference of opinion is in the wording of the intimation to the emperor that the council of the empire, as constituted, is an anachronism. The reply will declare for a constitutional monarchy, with full parliamentary rights; a responsible ministry chosen from the majority, full amnesty for political prisoners, universal suffrage, equality before the law and the abolition of the death penalty.

NIGHT WATCHMAN SUSPECTED.

New York, May 14.—A powerfully built man early yesterday entered the home of August Hupfer, 76 years old, choked him into insensibility and assaulted Mrs. Hupfer, 50 years old, causing her death. The police arrested on suspicion James Slattery, a night watchman.

A COLD SNAP IN SOUTH.

Latchford, Va., May 14.—The morning was the coldest on record for this season of the year, the government thermometer dropping to 34. Much trucking has been killed and fears are entertained for the fruit.

An Odd Celebration In Finland

Helsingfors, Finland, May 13.—The one hundred anniversary of the birth of Jacob Snellman, who devoted his life to advancing the cause of the Finnish language, was the occasion of a unique celebration yesterday.

Of 3,000,000 inhabitants in Finland, 2,700,000 speak Finnish and 300,000 speak Swedish, yet the latter are descendants of the Swedish conquerors, who occupied the country a century previous to Russian rule, and form the aristocratic, educated class, keeping the native Finns and their language in a secondary place.

Snellman started a crusade for the use of Finnish in the universities and schools, which resulted in a revival of Finnish literature. The Finnish national spirit was further stimulated by the new political conditions, and today Snellman's memory is feted throughout the "Land of Lakes."

Thirty-five thousand persons are honoring the occasion by dropping names of Swedish origin and assuming purely Finnish patronymics.

BIG SHIPS IN COLLISION.

New York, May 14.—A slight collision between the North German Lloyd liner Rhein and the British steamer Eveline occurred yesterday in the harbor during a heavy fog.

The Rhein was coming into port from Bremen, and her side bumped and grazed along the side of the Eveline, which lay at anchor.

Several dents were made in the iron plates on the sides of both vessels, but no serious damage was apparent.

Over 2000 immigrants on the Rhein became wild with fear when the scraping noises began, and their screams were heard for a long distance through the fog.

A small steam cutter lying alongside the Eveline hastily darted away from her in time to escape being crushed by the two big hulls.

ROOSEVELT A "CLAY MAN."

Washington, May 13.—In the senate yesterday Senator Bailey, in concluding an attack on President Roosevelt, for his alleged surrender on the railroad rate and tariff questions, said;

"Let us have no more here or throughout the country of this talk of an iron man.

"He is clay and very common clay at that."

PURE MILK AND INFANT MORTALITY.

The proper handling of milk and model dairy requirements were subjects of an address delivered by V. E Fuller, former corresponding secretary of the American Jersey Cattle Association, and one of the Farmers' Institute lecturers for the State, before a number of prominent milk dealers in New York recently, in the course of which Mr. Fuller dealt with the relation mortality to pure milk. "Wherever the milk supply is not carefully looked after," said Mr. Fuller, "the mortality among infants is high; but wherever it is strictly supervised, as in New York City, the death rate is lowered considerably. The only way to have the proper kind of milk for infants is to see that the source of supply—the cows, the milkers, the stables, the animals, and everything connected with the dairy—is kept scrupulously clean, and that the milk is kept at a low temperature, 40 or 45 degrees until delivered." He said that much of the milk which comes into New York City arrives in good condition, but that the way it is handled in small grocery stores and delicatessen shops makes it unfit for consumption by children; that "dipped" milk should be sold only by dairy stores, and handled by persons who have been trained to look after it properly; that the day would come when milk would be sold by two standards, viz.: food value and cleanliness; and that today it was being, in the case of certified milk, paid for in proportion to its cleanliness; for certified milk was merely clean milk, which had been kept at a properly low temperature. "There are," said Mr. Fuller, "four sources of the contamination of milk—the fore-milk, unclean cows and milkers, unclean utensils, and unsanitary stables." He maintained that the only right milk was clean raw milk. "Pasteurization," he stated, is not a success."

RUSSIA STILL AGRESSIVE

Facts have come to light in St. Petersburg which tend to confirm the suspicion held for a long time that Russia is engaged in a secret attempt to annex a big slice of China. Naturally, many shrewd and sharp eyes are watching for developments and the fact that suspicion has been aroused may spoil the plans of the Czar's crafty ministers.

Russia is credited with the intention of obtaining possession of the two eastern provinces of Mongolia, covering the route of the proposed railroad from Lake Baikal to Peking, which has been given over to the Russo-Chinese bank.

In a few days, a party headed by Colonel Novitsky, one of the youngest members of the general staff of the Russian army, will leave St. Petersburg to survey the unexplored region between the Manchurian frontier and Urga. It is called a "geographic-ethnographic expedition for scientific purposes," and is ostensibly under the auspices of the Imperial Geographical Society. But it is made up almost entirely of soldiers and is officered and probably financed by the general staff. The region the expedition is going into is the indefinite "Mongolian desert," about which little is known.

Another item of significance in this connection is the fact that the demobilization of the Russian army in Manchuria has been suspended and a reorganization of the Russian military establishments in Siberia and the far East is going forward.

But if Russia is a big, stealthy bear, Japan is a weasel that sleeps with one eye open. Japanese agents are known to be busily investigating the defences of Vladivostok. Russian soldiers returning home from Japanese prisons declare that Japan is preparing for another war with Russia.

So all is not as serene in the far East as appears on the surface. Russia apparently is seeking to get more territory by furtive advances and Japan is alert, and determined.

GOT CLEAR AWAY.

Kingston, May 12.—Charlebrau, the escaped murdered, has not yet been run down. It is said that a larger staff of guards will result from the escape. In the insane ward, one man has been doing what, in other days three were engaged at. Warden Platt has been economizing, but it is thought, at the expense of efficiency, just as other wardens had "created an excess of helpers, at needless public expense." It is stated that Inspector Stewart, in view of his investigation, will recommend increases in the staff of guards and keepers.

STILL WAITING.

Ottawa, May 12.—There is not the least doubt but the $100,000 grant of the Canadian Parliament which has been voted for relief work in San Francisco will be applied to the purpose for which it has been so willingly contributed. The Government still awaits, however, some official confirmation from Washington of the newspaper statements showing the extent to which the President has modified his orignal attitude on the subject.

TOWN IN DANGER.

Pittsburg, Pa., May 12.—Sutersville, a mining town on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, 20 miles east of Pittsburg, is threatened with destruction by fire, and help has been requested from the city, Connellsville, McKeesport, and Braddock. A number of buildings in the heart of the town have already been destroyed, and the fire is beyond the control of the local department.

Mottled Skin.

When one's complexion gets that mottled red and white look all the face powder in the world is useless to cover it. Under these circumstances it is better to prepare and use a liquid powder, being careful to apply it with a soft bit of linen or a fine sponge and wipe it off at once before it dries. The powder is made of water previously boiled and strained. The formula is as follows: One quart water, thirty drops alcohol, one ounce oxide of zinc, eight grains bichloride of mercury, twenty drops glycerin. Take four ounces of water and heat to a boiling point. Dissolve the bichloride of mercury in this hot water, add the alcohol. Mix the zinc and glycerin together in a bowl, pour in the larger part of the quart of water, stir, then add the diluted bichloride of mercury and alcohol. Bottle and shake well before using. Don't forget to wipe the liquid off before it dries, or it will appear streaky.

Baby's Feet.

The sole of a baby's bare foot is more or less wedge shaped, broadest at the toes and narrowing toward the heel. A shoe made on nature's plan should conform in a general way at least to the shape of the foot, being neither too loose nor too tight. The toes of a little child instead of being cramped together should have room to spread out, and mothers should see that the baby's shoes are made on this plan. The shoe should also be a trifle longer than the foot, allowing room for growth and motion. Of late years the idea of putting moccasins on the baby's feet has grown in favor, and there is much to commend it, and really soft leather will suffice, though chamois is the most popular. If made to lace well up above the ankle the moccasins will stay on the active little feet much better.

CHAPTER I.

IN the year of grace 1774 a climbing sun glowed above his majesty's colony of Virginia. It drank the opal mists of the marshes, fleshed the fields into shadow haunted cloth of gold and so unrolled over the old "middle plantation," where a round century before Bacon and his men had taken the oath against England, a drowsing, yellow mid-May afternoon.

Two quickened rivers, like silver girdles unclasped, wound through the lowland, from where phantom-far lay the shadows of pines against the color washed line of sky, sharp edged and black, in gigantic pointed fronds. The rivers rolled broadly to the sea, holding between them a green valley sweet with the warm perfumes of leaf and flower, and this valley folded to its heart Williamsburg, the gay little capital.

The teal and mallard that winged over from York to James looked down thereon and saw a single broad thoroughfare, shaded by poplars and mulberries, with William and Mary college at one end and the new capitol at the other. Straggling streets of wide perched houses bordered with gardens debouched upon this, and spreading away in all directions, like gathered ribbons, by league long plantation and through broken forest, went tawny, twisting roads.

Along one of these roads, by clumps of rustling laurel, came a great coach with green body and brown cloth, bearing the arms of the Tillotsons of Gladden Hall. A black body servant rode behind it a-horseback.

The coach, which rolled thumping and swinging ponderously where the way was rugged, pleasantly and lightly where the road was smooth, held a matron and a slender girl. The latter was of that age when nature paints with her richest brush. Her hair was a wave of russet lights, with shadows of warmer brown. Her face, rose stained, was the texture of a rose. Her mouth, below serious eyes of blended blue, gave a touch of willfulness. If there was intentness on the brow, so was there languor in the lips, red, half ripe, the upper short and curved to smile. She was all raptures—all sapphire and rose gold against the dark cushion.

Both as they rode were silent, looking out through either wide window upon the warm, scent steeped glimpses of the way. All along were waving reaches of wheat, where the poppy flung its wrinkled splash of red, or acres of young growing tobacco wherein sweating slaves toiled listlessly, their songs woven with the undertone of the sluggish stream, slashed by reviling oaths and whip crackings of a bearish overseer. At the dusty edges of the road thistle and wild honeysuckle scrambled for their breath, and cowslips went spinning yellow ribbons. It was a slumberous land swathed in a tremulous haze of heat and a wash of sun.

"Anne," said the matron at length, withdrawing her gaze from the window.

"Yes, Aunt Mildred."

"Do you intend to treat that boy badly?"

The girl was silent, gazing across the fields, watching the birds' slender flashings in the olive hollows.

"You haven't answered my question."

"What question?"

"Do you intend to treat that boy badly?"

"What boy?" inquired Anne, with a sweetness that boded other things.

"Francis Byrd."

"I intend to treat him as I always have—no better, nor worse."

"The world has changed since my time," reflected Mrs. Tillotson. "Maids deemed themselves lucky to have one gallant and wasted small time in wedding. Last winter I thought it had been Captain Jarrat. Now he is left for Molly Byrd to make eyes at. The way that woman acts! So I suppose it will be with Francis."

"Let them cease arranging things for me, then!" cried Anne. "I will not be put up and bargained for. I will be the subject of no family councils. I will wed when and whom I please."

Her aunt looked a bit startled at the outburst.

"Of course, of course," she assented mildly. "But you don't please. You're eighteen—two years older than I was when I married your uncle. Francis Byrd of Westover is the pick of them all."

"He is a mere boy." Anne's tone held a growing impatience.

"He is not too young," went on Mrs. Tillotson, "to take stock of all you say. But remember, dear, that he is to wear the royal colors now. 'Tis all well enough for you and me to be open Whigs. We don't have to do any oath taking, and they don't hang us. But king's men cannot be so free of tongue."

Anne turned upon her.

"I know the rest of it!" she cried. "Francis is spending time at Alberti's rooms—my fault. Francis is making a friend of Patrick Henry—my fault! Francis has a mind of his own, hasn't he? If he chooses so, well and good. Aunt Mildred, there will be a day when any Virginian will be proud to be a friend of Patrick Henry!"

The lady shook her head not unkindly. "Your mother over again, Anne," she said. "Loyal and true. Ah, me!"

She was silent, but Anne knew of what she was thinking. After a time she put her hand over and touched the girl's. "Keep your friendships, child, if you like them," she said. "I have naught against Mr. Henry. I like him, and the colonel values him most highly. Only—Byrd is a good lad; too good to be hurt."

"Here is the shop," Anne said presently as the coach stopped before the sign of a mercer. "I shall drive awhile and return for you in an hour. Won't you take John the Baptist with you and buy that turban for Mammy Evaline? What color did she want, John the Baptist?" she called to her body servant.

The lank, loose jointed, strapping figure of solemn countenance who sat a sorrel behind the coach, spurring alongside the window, broke out in wide smiles.

"Mammy want er mas'reen blue, Mis' Anne. Dat whut I hearn her say."

"Now, don't go over the hour," Mrs. Tillotson reminded as her niece bowled away, and she sighed as she looked after her.

The coach had entered Williamsburg from the north and now turned into Duke of Gloucester street, where stood an embowered mansion, the town house of the Byrds of Westover. Here at the gate fluttered two girls, who waved hands and called eagerly to the solitary occupant.

"Anne, Anne!" they cried as the coachman drew up at the horse block. "Come and tell us what you are to wear to the ball tomorrow."

"I don't know, Betsy," replied Anne, jumping down.

"Pshaw!" rallied Mistress Byrd. "Just as if we believed that, when you know you will be looked at more than the new arrived Lady Dunmore!"

Anne kissed the younger one—Paulina Cabell, slight, olive eyed, a pretty, pouting slip of a girl, wriggling to be grown up. "Your eyes are red, sweetheart," said she.

"I have been reading 'Lady Julia Mandeville,'" Paulina complained. "I never cried so in my life reading a novel. The tale is beautiful, but the ending is horrid!"

"You'll stay to supper, of course?" asked Betsy, linking an arm in Anne's. "Brother Frank will fetch you home."

"Not today."

"Mother will want to tell you about Frank's royal commission," pursued Betsy. "Come in for a moment. Do!"

But the mistress of Westover was otherwise occupied. In fact, the girls entered the wide, cool hall to find a storm lowering.

Mrs. Byrd was not only young, pretty, a second wife and the possessor of a husband who was one of the governor's council, but she was conscious of all these things.

Her husband did not remember as often as did she that the gay colonel, his father, had been bosom friend of the learned Charles Boyle in England and a fellow of the Royal society. She reminded him frequently of the fact that the old wit had been a scholar and had left to Westover, where he lay under a monument in the garden, the best private library in the colonies, not even excepting that of Mr. John Bordley of Maryland, and a garret full of writings. His portrait hung there, a face as clear and as beautiful as a woman's, framed in a curling peruke of the time of Queen Anne.

As for the present master of Westover, much to her irritation, he cared little more for sight of St. James than for the heaped up manuscripts in the garret. He contented himself with sitting in the council chamber at Williamsburg and riding after foxes at Westover, when his gout left him.

Now Mrs. Byrd, consciously impressive, leaned against the white paneling in a posture which showed her plump figure to advantage.

"'Tis high time," she was saying, settling the yellow point de venise at her throat, "that Francis be spoken to about it. (Come in, Anne.)"

The colonel, bowing as gallantly to Anne as his gouty leg propped on a chair would permit, shifted his powdered wig in some discomfort.

"Frank will get no harm from Patrick Henry," he said. He is too sensible."

BLACK HILLS of SOUTH DAKOTA

And is the pioneer mining company of Rapid Creek Mining District. Perhaps you are not aware of the magnitude of these words! Let us explain! Pioneer companies are always the ones that are branded with success, for the reason that they are the first in the promising districts and, consequently, take the best property to be obtained and, for this reason, it is invariably the case that the investors in these companies are the ones that reap the rich reward, and not the investors in the cheap "boom stocks" that come later and are selling on the merits of what their neighbors have.

We appeal to your reason and personal knowledge: The Homestake was the pioneer company of the Ida Gray Mining District; the Golden Reward was the Pioneer of the Ruby Basin District; the Portland (Colorado) was the pioneer of the Cripple Creek District; The Anaconda (copper) was the pioneer of the Silver Bow Mining District; the Calumet and Hecla were the pioneers of the Lake Region, and they are the companies that have made their stockholders rich, for the reason that they were first and had first choice of all the property to be had—"The property on which the ore bodies were located"—and this is what The Harvest Mining Company has done. We have come first and acquired 160 acres of the best property to be had in the whole Rapid Creek Mining District, a property that is most suitable for working in both manner of mining and milling. First—We are near railroad and have lots of timber for mining purposes. Second—Our ore is a smelting proposition and we will not have to go to the enormous expense of installing costly machinery.

Our ore carries an assay of 20 per cent. lead, 7 ounce silver and $3.50 in gold, and is classed as a wet ore by the smelting companies. Ore carrying lead is also a basis of monopoly at the smelters, as the lead is used as a collecting agent in separating and collecting the gold and silver.

A shaft has already been sunk to a depth of 40 feet on the main ledge and we have exposed a vein of about 20 feet in width. The vein is strong and well defined between two walls of granite and schist, dipping slightly east with a northerly strike, and it is for the purpose of sinking this working shaft to a greater depth that the company is offering a small amount of their treasury stock at 25c. per share (which is fully paid and non-assessable) to help do the dead or development work that is non-productive, preparatory to shipping ore to the smelter.

Although we have numerous ledges on our property, and the famous copper glance lead which also passes through it and is exceptionally rich in copper, the company has deemed it best to concentrate its work on the gold, silver and lead vein and put that to producing money before the development is begun on the others.

We wish to call your attention to some of the mines that are gold-silver-lead mines and have produced millions, among which are: "Daly West," "Le Roi," "Bunker Hill," "Sullivan," and others, and The Harvest Mining Company is offering as lucrative investment as any of the above. We have the gold, silver and lead ore in sight, and are inviting you to become an equal owner to help do the primary development work. Our Treasury Stock Certificates have the condition "Treasury Stock" printed on the face, which assures the investors that their money goes for the development of the company.

Black Hills, an area less than 100 miles square, has produced $150,000,000.00 in the past 29 years. In the same period of time to come it will probably more than double the past production, and The Harvest Mining Company, being situated as it is in the richest section of the Black Hills, is extending to you the most exceptional advantage of an investment. We appeal to your reason in "Read the past and you will know the future." Our property is offering today the same as the big mines of the continent have offered in the past, and now is the time to become a stockholder.

100 PER CENT. ADVANCE JUNE 1

Present Price of Stock FIVE Cents per Share

If you want to get in on the ground floor before the price advances to 10 Cents per share, NOW IS YOUR CHANCE

When The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Company was organized the officers of the company foresaw the certainty, of a big mining boom in Clear Creek County, Colorado, U.S.A., and they congratulated themselves on securing a property which showed 1,500 feet of development work, and could be classed with the MINES of the region.

The steady increase in the mineral production of the county, new strikes, the development of old mines at depth (proving the continuity of the ore bodies and the increased richness of the ores), the availability of mining supplies, the abundance of water the great amount of timber for mining and fuel, the adaptability of the topography for deep tunnel mining, and the large number of milling and smelting plants, means that the district possesses all the elements of successful and economical mining.

It was a foregone conclusion that investors would awake to a realization of the conditions, and inaugurate a new boom in 1906. It is but natural that they should desire to place their money in a locality that shows more PROVEN MINES than prospects, and where the chances for speedy returns are greater than the chances of loss. Because of economic conditions money will go farther in development work and bring RESULTS quicker. Many new companies have recently been organized, foremost among them being The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co. Stock in all Clear Creek County companies is finding a ready market among both Eastern and Western investors, and in consequence The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co forestalled the boom by securing one of the best mining propositions in the locality, consisting of 16 mining claims, situated on Standard Mountain, in the Ohio and Jackson Mining District, two and one-half miles south of Idaho Springs. The Gold Leaf properties are credited with a past production of $75,000, and the tunnel is being steadily driven toward the rich ore bodies from whence former shipments were made. The old workings are now drowned with water which the tunnel will drain and also give unlimited stoping ground for the ores. Surrounding mines have produced over $11,500,000 Now is the time to purchase stock. When we re-open our ore the opportunity will be lost to investors.

Don't overlook this exceptional opportunity! Think of the acreage; Think of the development work done; Think of the past ore production; Think of the future possibilities; Think of investing—THEN ACT AT ONCE!

Sufficient stock subscriptions have already been received to carry our Frontier Tunnel a distance of 600 feet, or to the Standard Vein, from which point ore shipments will be resumed. Future stock subscriptions will be applied on the purchase of a power plant or on contracts to facilitate the work of driving the tunnel.

Our General Manager estimates that the completion of the tunnel will place at our disposal OVER FOUR MILES OF ORE, aggregating 96,000,000 tons.

POLICE NEWS

Daily Happenings in Court Room and Station.

Saturday morning's session of the police court was characterized by serious and somewhat sensational endings to cases tried some days before, and which cases had been enlarged.

A young man who pleaded guilty to having stolen a quantity of brass from a Peterboro company was sentenced to four months' imprisonment in the county jail.

A local junk dealer who pleaded guilty to receiving the stolen property was given five months in the same place of detention. The magistrate said he regarded the action of the junk dealer as worse than that of the young man, remarking that he had come to court that morning intending to sentence the dealer to six months in the Central Prison, Toronto.

This case will probably have a general and beneficial result as regards junk dealers' reception of stolen property, and have the effect of stopping much petty pilfering at private houses.

Three non-payment of dog tax cases were were also disposed of. One man owning two canines, one of each sex, another owning three dogs of the male persuasion, and a third one having one Prinny (gentleman) had costs amounting to $1.85 to pay, in addition to the regular tariff.

Services at Park Street Church.

The services at the Park street Baptist church, yesterday, were very interesting. During the evening service the subject taken up by Rev. A. H. Brace, the pastor, was "Intellectual or Heart Power, Which is the Most Effective." By request the quartette sang "The King's Business." The ordinance of Baptism was observed at the close of the service.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Presentation Made to Mr. P. O'Keefe.

Mr. P. O'Keefe, 49 Patterson street, was on Friday evening, the recipient of a handsome wocker, presented to him by the employes of the Porcelain Department, of the C.G.E. Co., the address was read by Mr. Fred Pipe, and the presentation made by Mr. Tom Turcotte. Mr. O'Keefe briefly expressed his gratitude to the subscribers, and his deep regret through ill health he has to sever his connection with the company. A very pleasant evening enlivened with music and refreshments was enjoyed by all present.

Work Begun On Warehouse

Messrs Rutherford Bros. Have Started on Kinnear & Co's New Premises.

As noted in a previous issue of The Times, Messrs. T. Kinnear & Co., the wholesale grocers of Toronto and Peterboro, some months ago, completed arrangements whereby they will erect a fine warehouse, three stories in height, of brick, at the south-east corner of George and Dalhousie streets. Excavation was started on Saturday, and the contractors, Messrs. Rutherford Bros., will push matters to as speedy a conclusion as compatible with efficient work. This fine new warehouse, which will be an ornament to the city, and add to the attractiveness of the city in hte eyes of those leaving the C.P.R. station, is to be erected upon the old homestead of the late Mr. Richard Cook, a former taxedermist and builder, well known in this city.

It is the intention to select as directors of the new association members and officers of the Toronto Association, and also of each branch association formed in the Province. Mr. Bennett has been asked to send to the secretary nominees of the local association for the office of director of the new incorporated body, and this will be taken up at a meeting of the association in the near future.

New C.P.R. Steamer Is Fast and Steady

Empress of Britain Passed From Land to Land in 3 Days and 16 Hours---Will Build Three New Ones.

Quebec, May 15.—The new C.P.R. steamer, the Empress of Britain, arrived at 1030 Saturday night, with 1,439 passengers on board, mainly English emigrants, bound for the West.

Among the passengers in the first cabin was A. F. Duly, the immigration agent at Liverpool, who stated that Preston had a "gold mine." Their relations en ruote to Canada were quite strained, and both started at once for Ottawa.

Vice-President and General Manager McNicoll, at a luncheon tendered the Parliamentary press gallery on board the Empress, stated that 6,000 immigrants had been passed through the port of Quebec yesterday.

All the passengers had something complimentary to say about the smoothness with which the engines ran, the counterbalanced engines seeming to work without vibration. She is undoubtedly one of the smoothest runners of all the sea flyers.

MARKS AN EPOCH.

The arrival of the Empress of Britain is a distinct step in the almost unconscious realisation of a great Atlantic service, which has been the hope and aim of successive Governments for a generation, and for the accomplishment of which many negotiations have been undertaken, but all of which, for one reason or another, failed of being carried out. The sudden entrance into this field by the Canadian Pacific, unaided, gives promise of the success that has always marked the undertakings of this great company. The Empress of Britain is the largest vessel that has ever come up as far as Quebec. Her points of interest might be given, as follows: Length, 570 feet; beam, 65 feet 6 inches; height from foundations of engines to masthead, 160 feet; register 14,500 tons; displacement, 20,000 tons; indicated horse power, 18,000; possible speed, more than 20 knots; average speed (not definitely tested), 18 1-2 knots, but likely greater; accommodation, 380 first cabin, 250 second cabin, 1,600 third-class; crew, 375; coal consumption, 300 tons a day. Her first voyage was made in six days, sixteen and a half hours from Liverpool to Quebec city. She left Liverpool at 5.29 last Sunday morning, passed Moville fifteen hours later, reached Cape Race at 2 p.m. on Thursday, and Quebec at 10 p.m. on Saturday. From land to land was therefore only three days and eighteen hours.

The voyage was a complete success, and, according to her officers and many passengers was made without a mishap, except that just as she was about to move out at Liverpool some fool, as Chief Engineer Amon expressed it, opened a tap that helps to control the new system of steering by means of a hydraulic apparatus, and it took fifteen minutes to discover what was wrong.

SIR THOMAS TALKS.

There had been some talk aboard the Empress that the two new Empresses would be eventually transferred to the Pacific service, and replaced with larger vessels of the same type, with the addition of two more, making four in all, thereby securing a fast weekly service by one company between Great Britain and Canada. Sir Thomas Shaughnessy's announcement in an interview, that at least two, and perhaps four, new, large ves sels will be built, tends to support this speculation.

The president of the C.P.R. was asked what the company had in view as regards an inland lake grain-carrying fleet, to keep up with the supply of grain that would result from the completion of the double track between Winnipeg and Fort William and the building of the contemplated new branch from Victoria Harbor, on the Georgian Bay, to Peterboro, on the main line between Toronto and Montreal. He replied that both these improvements would be carried out as quickly as possible, and when completed the company would undertake to provide new vessels for the lakes, and he hoped that they would be built by a Canadian shipbuilding company. Victoria Harbor would also of necessity be equipped with sufficient elevator capacity and dockage facilities to handle the grain from the western wheat fields. The line across to Peterboro would have a grade of but four-tenths of one per cent., and in order to make the transportation of grain as direct and as convenient as possible to the head of ocean navigation at Montreal, the line east from Peterboro would be greatly improved.

Winnipeg are prominent in the grain exchange and other branches of business.

"In 1896 about fifty homesteads were allotted to Americans, while last year 50,000 crossed the border, and it is a conservative estimate to say that 80,000 will come into the country this year.

"This influx is a good thing for Canada, as it means the advent into the country of a splendid farming population, and the bringing into Canada in the near future of millions of dollars' worth of American money. American syndicates have bought quite a lot of land in the West, and in order to sell it they are doing all in their power to induce the people over the line to come to Canada; this will have the effect of bringing over thousands and thousands of their brethren, who will grow up with the country.

"The people coming from the Old Country for the past year or two are also an excellent class, and, as a rule, very industrious; in fact, the immigration coming into the country for the past two years is all that could be desired in the way of thrift, industry and energy, and are just the kind wanted to develop a vast and new country like the West."

Local Man Leaves For Aberdeen

Mr. R. Burns, of Knox Church Takes a Long Trip Home.

Yesterday morning Mr. Robert Burns, who has been a resident of this city for a considerable time, left by their eight o'clock C.P.R. train for New York, where he will spend a few weeks, previous to sailing for Aberdeen, Scotland.

Mr. Burns was associated with Knox Presbyterian church, and for some time acted as instructor in the club swinging drill. He was also a prominent member of the choir of church, and the lack of his efficient services will be sorely felt.

Today Will Tell Re Dredging

Board of Works Gets Word Engineer Sing Here Today.

Yesterday afternoon the Board of Works committee received a telegram from Ottawa, stating that Mr. Sing, chief engineer of the Public Works Department, will be in this city this morning, in connection with the disposal of the dredgings from the Otonabee river. As Mr. Sing is the chief engineer, the board of works has every reason to expect that he will definitely settle the question of the dredgings, whether on the city's property, or in the Little Lake.

As those qualified to know concerning such matters yesterday informed a Times' representative, that it will be practically as cheap for the Government to comply with the city's request as not, it is up to our Board of Works, to put in their prettiest hand of iron in a glove of velvet, and to put it hard. By compliance with the city's request, Peterboro will make, perhaps $15,000 worth of made land, and the Government will be at little more expense.

Live Seventy Years Together.

London, May 14.—The seventieth anniversary of their wedding was celebrated May day by Christopher Lawrence and wife, who were married at Epperstone church, Notts, on May 1, 1836. The old couple are now living in a cottage at Hucknall Torkard, Notts. Dr. Harrison Coates, medical officer of the district, believes they are the oldest married couple in England. The old man is getting blind, but his wife is wonderfully well preserved. Both recovered from a bad attack of bronchitis during the winter.

Work on C. P. R. Being Pushed

Local Yard Improvements are Now in Progress—Other C. P. R. Notes.

In connection with the extensive improvements in their local yards, now being made by the C.P.R., it might be noted that a gang of Italians, who sleep and board in freight cars suitably arranged, and side tracked whilst here, are engaged in laying steel rails east and west of the city. The track will be improved at a number of points.

Mr. A. A. Elliott, who has been employed in the freight office for some time, has entered the G.G.E. offices.

Anyone being bitten at the C.P.R. station train time, could not but remark on the numerous immigration trains passing through the city. Since Saturday including yesterday morning, three train loads passed through.

ORDER ONE DAY STRIKE.

St. Petersburg, May 14.—The social Democrats and other proletariat organizations have ordered a demonstrative one day's strike on the Russian May Day, May 14. It will, however, be of a peaceful character, and no effort will be made to compel the workmen who do not desire to participate to leave their work.

SHOT DEAD BY BURGLAR.

New York, May 14. — Frederick Schneider, a manufacturer, was shot dead early yesterday, when he rushed into a dark hallway in a Brooklyn flat house, which he owned, and where Italians were making an uproar. The police arrested Vencenzo Morelia, a tenant, who said that he was awakened by a burglar in his room.

Drunk; Won't Be Hanged.

Denver, May 14.—Patrick Brennan, of Leadville, escaped the hangman's noose when the State Supreme Court decided that a drunken man should not be held responsible for the degree of his crime. The decision, which reverses the lower court and orders a new trial, enunciated a principle new in judicial practice in this state, that "the degree of the crime depends upon whether the killing was premeditated and the question of drunkenness becomes material in determining whether the person was capable of premeditation."

Brennan killed Sarah Lowney, whom he was to have married, because an old suitor reappeared. The lower court refused to make allowance for his intoxication.

Local Ball Tosser Referred To

Brantford Expositor Notes Arrival of Dan McCabe.

As noted in a former issue of The Times, Mr. Dan McCabe, left Peterboro last week to accept a good position with The Machine Telephone Co. in Brantford. The Expositor has the following about him;

"Dan McCabe, of Peterboro, is in the city in the interests of the Automatic 'Phone Company and incidentally will do some baseball playing. The rumor that he has signed with the Dufferins has not been verified and the other teams declare that he has not. Mr. McCabe himself has not said anything about it as yet.

"According to all reports, McCabe holds the distinction of being about the only one-armed man playing the game. He has only one arm, the right, and in that one arm has centered all the strength that formerly was shared between the two. He pitches a "greased-lightning" ball and has great control. On top of that the one-armed wonder is also a hitter. He has a small bat made to order and claims that he hasn't struck out in several years. He does it with his little but every time.

"The presence of this well-known player in town, has caused all the managers to lose sleep, and there is a great scramble on.

Local Steam Yachts Sold

Steam Yachts "Myrtle," "Flash" and "Pearl" Change Hands.

Yesterday, Mr. R. W. Errett, local steamboat government representative in matters appertaining to steamboats, had his hands full. He drew up articles and deeds of sale for several registered steamboats that have changed ownership. Among some of those that have recently changed hands in this district and city are the steam yacht Myrtle, purchased by Messrs. Clarry and Quinn, the latter gentleman in the local dredge service. The "Flash," purchased by Mr. Amos Shearer of Roseneath, and the "Pearl," bought by the proprietor of the Buckhorn steam saw mill. All of these fine local yachts are in good shape and will doubtless do good service this coming season.

Interlaken, May 14.—After a sensational trial at Delemont for the murder and robbery of a man named Merger last December, a crime in which a dog was proved to have participated, a man named Scherres and his son have been sentenced to the maximum penalty, imprisonment for life. The most curious feature of the trial was that the complicity of the dog received special attention from the court, which specifically ordered that it should undergo the death penalty.

A communication was received from Mr. Hodson, inspector of the Cadet Corps asking that the packs recently destroyed by fire, be replaced.—Property Com.

In regard to the Separate school business, wherein the building is being torn down, Mr. Ferguson read a telegram from Ottawa, notifying those doing it, to discontinue the work. He had asked Col. Miller and Mr. Eastwood to attend the meeting to hear what they had to say.

Mr. Eastwood, in response to an invitation said, on behalf of the regiment, that the property had been handed over, in toto, to the regiment, and they considered they had a right to do as they liked. He referred to a previous meeting in which Mr. Hartley asked the Minister whether the material could be used in the new institute. Hon. Mr. Hyman refused to put this in writing however. The regiment were going along as though the property was theirs. He took up the matter of the material with Mr. Hall, M.P., and was told by him, that, as the Board of Education was not using it, the regiment might as well go ahead. A majority of the Board, he thought, were glad to see the building taken away at once. The statements made in the local papers are inaccurate. He had only had one offer, viz., $300 from Mr. Sheehy. He then thought that the regiment would go ahead and use the proceeds for regimental purposes. He thought the Board would not interfere with the regiment making a little money as they badly want it. Their right to the goods is perfect and sound. He thought there had been jangling among the members of the Board over this matter.

Chairman Ferguson asked whether he had any authority to go ahead.

Mr. Eastwood said "No," but fully as much as the Board had. He went yesterday afternoon to Mr. Dumble's office, and was sorry to say he had lost his temper and perhaps said too much.

Col. Miller said the Battalion were citizens as much as members of the school board. The matter had been arranged between Mr. Eastwood and the member of this riding. He and Mr. Hall had talked the matter over. At the beginning of the subject he had asked the Board which side of the lots they wanted. The answer of the Board, at that time, is well known. The building of the armory has dragged all winter owing to this discussion. Mr. Hall says to go on; no brick builder will put up old brick as cheaply as new. He had no idea that any thing would come out of the old material. There is no graft in this matter, it is only a little for the local militia. The whole amount will go into the regiment fund.

Mr. Dumble, rising to his feet, began by saying there is an admission of guilt and an appeal for clemency.

Col. Miller asked, "Are we here to be insulted?"

Mr. Dumble resumed by saying that those tearing down the school had done an illegal, and unjustifiable act, and had done so to force the Government's hand. Mr. Miller, "he said, very rightly placed the guilt where it belonged. It is not denied the Board made the choice, when there were military men on it. Afterwards they found their mistake and tried to correct it.

The Board was perhaps, too supine in the past. The Government consulted the regiment, who did not put up one cent, in preference to the Board who had put up $10,000. The regiment had treated the Board with contempt, when asked to attend a conjoint meeting one went to a wedding, another to something else, and so on. Mr. McWilliams, a member of the City Council, was present to represent the local militia. The regiment would take no action although they could have seen the Minister, and asked for an exchange of property. The sites are about equal. In the meantime the knot was cut by tearing down the building, which action, he characterized as an illegal, improper and shameful act, simply sacrificing a $14,000 building to force the Government to act. "It is a wanton, illegal and improper act, punishable as a crime," said the speaker. The Government does not allow itself to be ruled by such acts, and he very much doubted whether Mr. Hall acted as claimed. Mr. Eastwood simply did this because he knew the School Board wanted to occupy the building; he has thus committed an act against society and against the law.

Col. Miller remarked that Mr. Dumble evidently thought he was in the police court, and could "bully rag" people here.

The colonel then went on to explain why the members of the regiment individually were not present at that meeting. He whom Mr. Dumble had aimed at in referring to one "going to a wedding," had to attend a farewell to a sergeant who was leaving town. He meant no discourtesy to the Board in the action taken in tearing down the building. If the Government says that action was wrong they will willingly give the material to the Board.

Mr. Eastwood thought they did not come here to be villified. His reputation was perhaps as good as that of Mr. Dumble. Most people would have taken summary action if insulted as he had been by Mr. Dumble that afternoon in Mr. Dumble's office.

Mr. Hill asked Col. Miller whether the officers had called any meeting to discuss this matter before they came here.

Col. Miller replied, "No," and explained why. Col. Miller suggested that the discussion be ended, saying "I am an Irishman, and if insulted am likely to fly off in a hurry."

Dr. Morrison said, he had communicated with Mr. Eastwood, the moving spirit seemingly, in this matter, and with Mr. Hall, and although he regretted to see trouble between local institutions, he wanted an explanation from the Minister of Public Works, who had promised the building to the Board. Personally, apart from the separate school building, he favored the north lots. The building is now half torn down, and it is now up to the Board to ascertain who will own the material. He thought the Board was entitled to the material and wanted it as much as the regiment. He had a letter from the Minister of Education, saying he was considering whether the Department would combine with the Board in erecting a conjoint building. He had been told by members of the Board and contractors that the material was worth $1,000.

Here Mr. Dumble asked Mr. Morrison whether he had ever written the Minister of Militia in regard to this matter. Mr. Morrison showed how it was the chairman of another committee should have written.

Mr. Hill then went on to describe the deputations that had gone to Ottawa in connection with this matter. Mr. Hall, M.P., had told him emphatically that, whilst the building had to come down, the Board owned the material. The Board is morally entitled to this material, in the mind of any fair-minded man. The least the officers could have done under the circumstances, was to have asked the Board for it. The Board has not been treated with proper courtesy. Chairman Ferguson had taken the proper steps in writing to the Minister of Public Works to get a decision.

Mr. Fair regretted the friction, but he has always understood that the material belonged to the Board.

Mr. Hill had been told by a leading contractor on Saturday, that the material is worth $1500.

Mr. Eastwood then made a speech, asking the Board to repay them back what they had paid in work, and they would hand over the stuff. They are simply doing this work for the regiment.

"Bosh," remarked Mr. Dumble, with more uncomplimentary remarks to Mr. Eastwood.

Mr. Eastwood took exception to being insulted and undertook to move all the material to the school grounds if he were paid what it costs to move it there. He then gave a detailed estimate of the material, showing it to be worth about $250, according to his figures, produced. He had asked several contractors to give tenders for the material, and $250 was the highest offer he had had.

Mr. Dumble said, "A great crime has been committed, and don't you compromise this matter with Mr. Eastwood." He continued, "If he has smashed my watch, and offers me the fragments shall I accept them?"

However, until Chairman Ferguson receives a reply from the Minister of Public Works in response to his communication, nothing can be done.

L. Kempt's House Has Close Call

Horse on Dummer Road Struck By Lightning and Some Damage Done.

Yesterday a well known farmer in the city on business from the township of Dummer, informed The Times that, on Saturday night, lightning struck the residence of Mr. L. Kempt, a farmer living on the Dummer road, a few miles out.

Both chimneys of the house were shattered. There was a fire in the kitchen stove. The lightning came down through the kitchen chimney, and out of the stove setting the woodwork and window sills on fire.

Fortunately the house was unoccupied, the inhabitants being in the city.

When Mr. Kempt got home about ten o'clock, a fire was smouldering, but it was easily extinguished. A cream separator which was in the kitchen at the time was destroyed. The lightning split a large tree in front of the house.

Discord in Venezuela.

Willemstad, Curacao, May 15.—There is much discord in Venezuela between friends of Gen. Castro and Acting President Gen. Gomez. The dispute that has arisen between them is due to the plan of the press of Caracas to announce simultaneously that it is necessary for Castro to resume the office of president.

Newspapers there have been prohibited by the governor of Caracas, who is an appointee of Gomez, from carrying out their plan of publishing an appeal.

Petty Thieves Steal a Number of Valuable Bulbs.

On Sunday night some contemptible and small minded thieves stole a large number of valuable bulbs, mainly tulips from the flower bed, in front of Dr. Morrison's residence, corner of Park and Hunter streets. There were about sixty flowers on the lawn and the despoilers, left but few; the bed is practically ruined. Such acts of vandalism, if the perpetrators can be detected should be most severely punished, as not only the one disrobed loses, but pleasure is taken from hundreds of passers by, glad to view scenes of beauty such as flower beds.

Russian Admiral Stabbed to Death

Commander of the Port of St. Petersburg Assassinated by Workman Infuriated Because of His Harsh Discipline.

St. Petersburg, May 15.—Vice-Admiral Kuzmich, Commander of the Port, who was very unpopular with the workmen, was assassinated here yesterday by workmen whose May Day demonstration he had attempted to stop.

HOW IT WAS DONE.

The admiral was killed at the new admiralty works, a government institution, where most of the 2,000 men employed there reported for duty at five o'clock this morning. They wanted to march out at once in a body, and celebrate the Russian May Day, but finally agreed to work till two o'clock. The admiral, however, made a speech to the men, saying that he could not agree to their leaving work at two o'clock, and the matter was left open.

At about 9.30 a.m., according to an officer who was at the gate of the works, the admiral was emerging from a small shop in the works, when a workman, who had been concealed around the corner of the building, leaped on Kuzmich from behind, and drove a long dagger into his back. The admiral fell forward on his face and expired immediately.

THE ASSASSIN ESCAPED.

The assassin fled into a large forge where he was lost among the men employed there. The works were promptly surrounded by troops and police, but the search for the murderer was unavailing, his comrades professing ignorance of his identity.

The police say it is evident that the assassination of the Admiral had been planned in advance. The dagger which was found was concealed in a round stick like a sword cane.

Kuzmich had the reputation among the workmen of being harsh and despotic.

THE MAY DAY DEMONSTRATION.

The workmen of St. Petersburg yesterday made an imposing showing in their May Day celebration. Practically every factory, mill and shop in the city were idle, over 200,000 men joining in the demonstartion.

Early reports from the interior showed that work generally was suspended in the provincial cities of Russia proper. While the leaders here professed their intention to avoid collisions, the radical element, which is boycotting parliament, determined to celebrate the day with manifestations and the men out of work decided to parade in the industrial sections early in the day, with flags bearing inscriptions reading, "Liberty and Work for Those Out of Work."

The gravest fears were entertained that the day would not pass off without bloodshed. The Chief of Police posted notices that no manifestations would be permitted, large reserves of police armed with rifles were massed in the industrial quarters, and detachments of infantry and cavalry, though they were kept out of sight, were posted at strategic points.

Shortly before noon came the news that Vice-Admiral Kuzmich, the commander of the port had been assassinated at the new admiralty works as a result of his attempting to force the employes to work all day instead of celebrating.

Damp Spring Weather Ruinous to Health

Causes Weakness, Headaches and Feeling of Unrest; the Cure is Simple.

That peculiar weakness so common in the spring, is demoralizing to body and mind alike.

Stupid, absent-minded and dull,—You feel the need of a stimulating tonic.

To impart quickness and great vitality to the entire system nothing acts like Ferrozone.

In a short time it makes you feel fit and fine, creates a feeling of youth and strength that's surprising.

Ferrozone revives and braces the sickly because it nourishes and builds up the organs that are weak. As a spring tonic, appetizer and blood-strengthener it is unequaled.

A well known resident of Utopia, Ont., Mr. H. [illegible] Poole, writes: "From long experience I am convinced that everyone requires medicine in the spring. As a rule the blood is thin and impure and the whole system is congested with poisons that should be carried off. I use Ferrozone because it clears up the system, gives you an appetite and makes you sleep well. One winter I had serious palpitation of the heart, nervous headaches, and an extreme tired feeling. Sleep was not restful and by spring I was in bad shape. I took six boxes of Ferrozone and was made the picture of health."

Ferrozone makes permanent cures. Absolutely safe because it is purely vegetable and contains no alcohol. Concentrated cure in tablet form, — that's Ferrozone, 50c. per box or six boxes for $2.50 at all dealers or by mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., and Kingston, Ont.

TREE PLANTING AND OUR CONSUMERS.

The paper on "The Wood Supply of the Canadian Manufacturer," read before the Canadian Forestry Association by Mr. James Kerr Osborne, Assistnat General Manager of the Massey-Harris Company, the position of the manufacturer and the resources of the country are well defined in meaty paragraphs, two of which read as follows:—

"In earlier years hickory, white ash, rock elm and oak were produced largely in Canada. These are the woods most highly prized by the manufacturer, on account of their great strength and adaptability for such a variety of purposes. The supply of these woods is practically exhausted in Canada, and so far as my knowledge extends, no attempt has ever been made to replant or to replenish the supplies of these valuable timbers.

"Failing these more desirable varieties, the manufacturer has been obliged to have recourse to other kinds, so that of late years, hard and soft maple, black ash, soft elm, birch and basswood have come into larger commercial use. For many purposes oak is still the most desirable kind of wood, but the supplies of this variety come almost exclusively from the Southern and South-Western States. Every bending factory in Canada is practically dependent upon the Southern States for supplies of oak and hickory. The South-Eastern States are the chief sources of supply, and the freight rates to points in Ontario vary in cost from $10.00 to $15.00 per thousand feet, b. m."

Mr. Osborne had several valuable suggestions to make in his contribution to the subject, one of the most important now before our public men. He said:—

1. Encourage the planting of the more valuable varieties of timber which are gradually becoming extinct in Canada.

2. Foster the protection of standing timber that is still growing and increasing in value.

3. As far as possible, draw our timber supplies from lands where settlement is crowding clearing.

4. Where our own timber is growing and increasing in value, use the other fellow's, i. e., draw on outside supplies, and conserve your own.

The question of encouragement to tree planters in order to reproduce that which has been obliterated in the march of civilization in the older parts of the country will assume larger importance with the passing of the years. All the varieties of woods mentioned by Mr. Osborne as growing in Canada—hickory, white ash, black ash, rock and soft elm, white and red oaks, hard and soft maples, birch, hemlock, fir, spruce, pine and basswood, in addition to cedar, beach and walnut—have been and are produced within a radius of twenty-five miles of Peterboro.

THERE ARE 30,000 QUAKES YEARLY.

Scientists now point out that it may be possible by continued research to gather some knowledge of the probable occurrence of earthquakes so as to provide a certain protection for life and property. Observation has not yet carried us far in that direction, but systematic study of the phenomena is only a quarter of a century old, and shock records on a wide scale do not go back beyond 1892. Still, much has been learned that is of interest and value. The public are aroused only when stunned by a catastrophe like that in San Francisco. But we are told that there are about thirty thousand earth shocks each year, and that about sixty of them are "world-shaking." Delicate instruments have been placed in observatories in every accessible quarter of the globe, and these produce records which are unerring and indicate even the precise locality from which they are influenced. There was really nothing exceptional in the San Francisco visitation, and it stands out simply because of the large concentrated population in the district. Prof. Milne, the greatest authority on seismology, divides the globe into thirteen earthquake regions. Seven of these are important, and they are the Alaskan coast, the Californian coast, the West Indies, the Chilean coast, the south of New Zealand, Krakatoa; and Japan. The centre of this portentous group is the Tahitian Islands. The other group has a centre in the Sahara, with a radius of fifty degrees which takes in the regions between India and Madagascar, the Azores and Tashkend.

GOLDEN LOCKS.

If You Must Use Peroxide, This Is the Way to Do It.

Here is the method for using peroxide, which is the only way to attain golden locks. Think well before you apply it. It is easier to hesitate beforehand than to remove the consequences: Get a bottle of chemically pure peroxide of hydrogen. Before making the application the hair should be thoroughly washed and dried. Pour a little of the peroxide into a saucer, apply to the roots of the hair with a clean toothbrush. You must regulate the color by your own observation. One application will produce a most noticeable change. Never use ammonia in connection with peroxide of hydrogen. Hairdressers have a fashion of "preparing" the hair, as they term it, by bleaching, and in order to hasten the bleaching process they use ammonia. Peroxide of hydrogen will not injure the hair if carefully used, but in conjunction with ammonia it will in the course of time destroy the constitution of the hair.—New York World.

NURSERY NOTES.

A little olive oil rubbed on a child's scalp at night will loosen the dandruff so that it may be brushed away the next morning.

If a child should swallow any dangerous substance immediately slip down its throat the white of an egg, which will form a curd around it and thus prevent serious effects.

Rub the shoe laces of children's shoes with beeswax, and they will not come untied easily. A bit of the wax applied to the end when the metal tip is lost will facilitate the lacing.

Never shut out fresh air and sunshine from baby's living and sleeping rooms. Sleep is more refreshing at night for the flood of sunshine and air let into the room during the day.

A child suffering from a cold in the head should never be allowed to lie on its back in bed, but always on the side. The application of a little vaseline to the nasal passages will be found a relief. A little warm camphorated oil well rubbed on the back and chest is a capital remedy.

The Earth Changing.

Cody, Wyoming, May 12.—Volcanic activity has worked great changes in Yellowstone Park since the eruption of Mount Vesuvius and the earthquakes at San Francisco. The whole region is in constant state of disturbance now, and a new map of its features must be made. Tourists say the park and contiguous territory are constantly trembling. New springs are breaking out on all sides. Geysers that had been supposed to be extinct for hundreds of years are throwing streams of hot water. Old geysers are also more active.

Hearts Courageous

By... HALLIE ERMINIE RIVES

Copyright, 1902, by THE BOWEN-MERRILL COMPANY

"Mayhap you call it no harm, sir," persisted Mrs. Byrd, "to see your son—you, a member of the council—hobbing with that shiftless wag. Sooth, then, I do!" The malt bugs of the tavern are his betters. (No, don't go, Anne.) Francis is daft about him, sir. And the boy's royal commission just come. Oh, 'tis too bad!"

Colonel Byrd straightened his ruffles carefully.

"You go to the ball, of course, Anne?" he asked.

But his wife was not to be shut off.

"Small preferment," the lady went on, "will Francis get from Lord Dunmore if he continues. The governor keeps himself informed. Every one knows that Patrick Henry is the very front of all these rebel doings. (Yes, you need give me no look, Anne. 'Tis the word I meant to use. Rebel doings! Rebel doings!) And for my son—a Willing—to"— "Zounds! Your son is a Byrd, ma'am!" This from the colonel.

"For my son to associate with a low country demagogue, half the time dressed in buckskins like that shabby burgess from Louisa county you brought to dinner last week, and to go to his crazy meetings at the Raleigh. I thought his stay abroad would have weaned Frank of that. That and the commission. But, no! He comes home talking the gibberish of that mealy mouthed Charles Fox that he learned in his dreadful London club. I look yet to see him put off his king's uniform and disgrace us all."

"Pshaw!" said Colonel Byrd, nevertheless uneasily. "Frank's all right. The young blade will take to the army like a duck to water. Zooks! There is no harm in the Apollo room. Jefferson is steady enough, and he is ever there."

"Tom Jefferson!" ejaculated the lady. "Think you he is much better? A free-thinker! He and Henry are pitch and toss. Ha! A squeak of a fiddle, and both of them will dance. Jefferson used to be gay enough with it at Governor Fauquier's musicknings. Everybody knows he spends half his time when he is in Williamsburg at the rooms of that papist actor Alberti, and so does Henry. I marvel if Francis does not know him too."

The colonel sighed. If the truth must be told, the same uneasiness was in his soul. But, being masculine, he did not admit it to his wife.

"I'll lay a crown you'll dance with Master Henry tomorrow night, Anne," volunteered Betsy wickedly.

Anne was looking through the large window, sashed with crystal glass, and there were little blue sparks snapping in her eyes. She made no reply, but under her skirt edge her red slipper, like a burnished tongue, went tapping the polished floor.

"I should think, Anne," remarked Mrs. Byrd, with acidity, toying with a rose jar from which the Duke of Cumberland had once plucked a bud, "that you would have more regard for your bringing up. I never had to be reminded of mine."

Mrs. Byrd never looked younger or more handsome than when remembering this. In her soul the soothing and ever present consciousness of being born a Willing of Philadelphia was embalmed like a fly in amber. If she could have had her way she would have had the master of Westover dining at 4, like the Cadwaladers and Shippens and the rest of the Church of England set there.

"A Tilloteon," she continued raptly, "dancing at the burgesses' ball with the husband of a tavern girl!"

Anne turned, her eyes glowing the color of burning brandy.

"And why not?" she cried. "Why not? Mr. Henry is a burgess of Virginia!"

"Aye, a burgess—from the woods! A lick dish for the country votes!"

"Molly!" Her husband's tone was gathering remonstrance.

"He is a gentleman!" Anne flared, with wrath dark eyes. "A courteous, honorable gentleman! And he has more in his head than any four of them together."

"Highty tighty!" exclaimed Mrs. Byrd. "More rebellion, you mean! I should think so!"

Looking, Betsy felt a strange wonder. She did not always understand the other. "Why like you Master Henry as you do, Anne?" she asked curiously.

"Because," cried Anne hotly, "he is a man—a man—not a gallant! He has something more to do than the wits of the Raleigh tavern or the Jemmy Jessamys of the assemblies. He knows no fine speeches. He spends no hours twirling a lovelock nor feather biting over dolorous sonnets, nor petting his ruffles, nor dicing in the Apollo room. Oh, I grow sick of the macaronis and their silken compliments and dress swords, all as nice as nanny bens. And the verses they write in the Gazette! 'Tis mawkish! What do they do? What do they know? The breed of a bird. The latest fashion of pinchbeck shoe buckles from Annapolis."

Mrs. Byrd sniffed.

"A pity he married the tavern keeper's daughter!" she said. "You might have had him and his buckskin breeches!"

Betsy laughed at this. "Bless me!" she sighed. "What a blow that had been for Captain Jarrat!" Then, repenting, she ran after Anne as she swept grandly out and threw an arm around her neck.

"Don't be angry, dear," she said. "An you are, I shall feel all to blame!"

Paulina was still at the gate. "Haste!" she called under her breath. "Here comes Mr. Jefferson."

"Lack!" said Betsy. "Speak of the dev—I mean—there is Mr. Henry with him."

"I marvel Mr. Jefferson likes him!" quoth Anne, a gentle sarcasm ruffling her anger.

Mistress Byrd did not note the tone. "Aye," she responded, "so do I. He has a tongue, though. Father says it has made more trouble for the colony than all the exclusion acts put together. He looks a very uncouth creature," she added. "See that moth eaten hunting cap and those horrid leather clothes!" This was in a low tone, for the approaching men were come within earshot and were even then doffing headgear to them.

The two were vastly dissimilar. One, the younger, was clad in dark velvet, wore lace and a sword. His fine face was pale with the look of the scholar. The other, walking by his side, with saddlebags over his arm thrust through the bridle of a lean roan nag, wore hunting dress, with a small cap. He looked to be turned thirty-five. His face was keen and sallow, with Roman profile, and his eyes were deep set under overhanging brows. For the rest he moved his spare body awkwardly, stoutly, with a rawboned stoop of shoulders, as one at happier ease in the woods than the street. Both bowed gravely as they came up, the face of the horseman searching the group and brightening suddenly with a flash of smile at sight of Anne.

He passed on, but the younger turned back, nothing loath for a moment of chat.

"Gossiping of the ball tomorrow, I'll swear!" he laughed. "Are the furbelows all close?"

"Tell us, Mr. Jefferson," cried Betsy

100 PER CENT. ADVANCE JUNE 1

Present Price of Stock FIVE Cents per Share

If you want to get in on the ground floor before the price advances to 10 Cents per share, NOW IS YOUR CHANCE

When The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Company was organized the officers of the company foresaw the certainty, of a big mining boom in Clear Creek County, Colorado, U.S.A., and they congratulated themselves on securing a property which showed 1,500 feet of development work, and could be classed with the MINES of the region.

The steady increase in the mineral production of the county, new strikes, the development of old mines at depth (proving the continuity of the ore bodies and the increased richness of the ores), the availability of mining supplies, the abundance of water the great amount of timber for mining and fuel, the adaptability of the topography for deep tunnel mining, and the large number of milling and smelting plants, means that the district possesses all the elements of successful and economical mining.

It was a foregone conclusion that investors would awake to a realization of the conditions, and inaugurate a new boom in 1906. It is but natural that they should desire to place their money in a locality that shows more PROVEN MINES than prospects, and where the chances for speedy returns are greater than the chances of loss. Because of economic conditions money will go farther in development work and bring RESULTS quicker. Many new companies have recently been organized, foremost among them being The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co. Stock in all Clear Creek County companies is finding a ready market among both Eastern and Western investors, and in consequence The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co forestalled the boom by securing one of the best mining propositions in the locality, consisting of 16 mining claims, situated on Standard Mountain, in the Ohio and Jackson Mining District, two and one-half miles south of Idaho Springs. The Gold Leaf properties are credited with a past production of $75,000, and the tunnel is being steadily driven toward the rich ore bodies from whence former shipments were made. The old workings are now drowned with water which the tunnel will drain and also give unlimited stoping ground for the ores. Surrounding mines have produced over $11,500,000 Now is the time to purchase stock. When we re-open our ore the opportunity will be lost to investors.

Don't overlook this exceptional opportunity! Think of the acreage; Think of the development work done; Think of the past ore production; Think of the future possibilities; Think of investing—THEN ACT AT ONCE!

Sufficient stock subscriptions have already been received to carry our Frontier Tunnel a distance of 600 feet, or to the Standard Vein, from which point ore shipments will be resumed. Future stock subscriptions will be applied on the purchase of a power plant or on contracts to facilitate the work of driving the tunnel.

Our General Manager estimates that the completion of the tunnel will place at our disposal OVER FOUR MILES OF ORE, aggregating 96,000,000 tons.

Speaking of lacrosse matters, which always interest Peterboro citizens. It might be noted that whilst the meeting called for on Saturday by W. J. ### Tulip Thieves Busy Sunday Night.

He is offering a reward of $5 for the apprehension of the perpetrator.

POLICE NEWS

Daily Happenings in Court Room and Station.

Yesterday a small boy, aged 12 years, was arrested by P. C. Stewart, on a serious charge, and being under legal age for detention in a cell, was, by a special session of the police court, held late in the afternoon, allowed to go on his own recognizances to appear this morning for trial, his father being a responsible citizen.

It seems that the little fellow pleaded guilty, when under detention in the police station, to the officer, of having burglarized the residence of a school inspector living on Smith street. The boy admits having stolen some $15, which he "blew in" in a day or two.

A YOUTHFUL THIEF

Police Looking for Charles Ives of Millbrook.

Port Hope Guide says; Chief Bond has been requested by the chief constable of Millbrook to look out for Charles Ives, about 16 or 17 years of age, who is wanted for alleged theft of money. He is five feet high, weighs 110 lbs., dark complexion, black hair, dark brown eyes; has a mark of an anchor on one arm, not very distinct; dressed in dark tweed coat and vest, striped pants, small dark cap, and English made laced boots, nailed soles.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

County Council Will Open Tenders

Issuance of Debentures Will Also Be Considered on Thursday.

A special meeting of the County Council will be held on Thursday next at 10 a.m., when the house of refuge building committee will open tenders. As yet very few tenders have been received, and especially from city contractors. This is probably due to the large number of residences, and also including the fire hall, public school, Canadian General Electric Company's extension, the carpet factory and the armories, contracts for which will be let this year.

The County Council will also consider the issuing of debentures and general business.

House Moving on Rubidge Street.

A housemoving was in progress yesterday, when Mr. Allin McCarty was hauling the old double frame house, formerly Nos. 223 and 225 Rubidge street from their old location to where they will ultimately rest on Bethune street. The houses are the property of the Chamberlain estate. Those in charge of the job experienced some difficulty, owing to the haul across the pavement on the west side of Rubidge street, being cut at an agle. It might be noted that No. 225 was occupied and household work going on during the journey.

Are You Fit

To be Trusted with a Good Set of BRAINS?

GRAPE-NUTS

Keep them in Order.

A BRAIN FOOD AND REPAIRER.

Every minister, lawyer, journalist, physician, author or business man is forced under the pressure of modern conditions to the active and sometimes over-active use of the brain.

Analysis of the excreta thrown out by the pores shows that brain work breaks down the phosphate of potash, separating it from its heavier companion, albumen, and plain common sense teaches that this elemental principle must be introduced into the body anew each day, if we would replace the loss and rebuild the brain tissue.

We know that the phosphate of potash, as presented in certain field grains, has an affinity for albumen and that is the only way gray matter in the brain can be built. It will not answer to take the crude phosphate of potash of the drug shop, for nature rejects it. The elemental mineral must be presented through food directly from Nature's laboratory.

These facts have been made use of in the manufacture of Grape-Nuts, and any brain worker can prove the value of the proper selection of food by making free use of Grape-Nuts for ten days or two weeks. Sold by grocers everywhere (and in immense quantities). Manufactured by the Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

NO MAN IS STRONGER THAN HIS STOMACH.

Let the greatest athlete have dyspepsia and his muscles would soon fail. Physical strength is derived from food. If a man has insufficient food he loses strength. If he has no food he dies. Food is converted into nutrition through the stomach and bowels. It depends on the strength of the stomach to what extent food eaten is digested and assimilated. People can die of starvation who have abundant food to eat, when the stomach and its associate organs of digestion and nutrition do not perform their duty. Thus the stomach is really the vital organ of the body. If the stomach is "weak" the body will be weak also, because it is upon the stomach the body relies for its strength. And as the body, considered as a whole, is made up of its several members and organs, so the weakness of the body as a consequence of "weak" stomach will be distributed among the organs which compose the body. If the body is weak because it is ill-nourished that physical weakness will be found in all the organs—heart, liver, kidneys, etc. The liver will be torpid and inactive, giving rise to biliousness, loss of appetite, weak nerves, feeble or irregular action of heart, palpitation, dizziness, headache, backache and kindred disturbances and weaknesses.

Mr. Louis Pare, of Quebec, writes: "For years after my health began to fail, my head grew dizzy, eyes pained me, and my stomach was sore all the time, while everything I would eat would seem to lie heavy like lead on my stomach. The doctors claimed that it was sympathetic trouble due to dyspepsia, and prescribed for me, and although I took their powders regularly yet I felt no better. My wife advised me to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery—and stop taking the doctor's medicine. She bought me a bottle and we soon found that I began to improve, so I kept up the treatment. I took on flesh, my stomach became normal, the digestive organs worked perfectly and I soon began to look like a different person. I can never cease to be grateful for what your medicine has done for me and I certainly give it highest praise."

Don't be wheedled by a penny-grabbing dealer into taking inferior substitutes for Dr. Pierce's medicines, recommended to be "just as good."

To gain knowledge of your own body—in sickness and health—send for the People's Common Sense Medical Adviser. A book of 1008 pages. Send 21 one-cent stamps for paper-covered, or 50 stamps for cloth-bound copy. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

Good Chance to Improve George St.

Council Should Grant Bell Company's Request for Underground Wiring.

It now seems as though the forest of poles that are certainly no ornament to George street will, at least have a roadway blazed through them thanks to enterprise of the Bell Telephone Co. The huge poles to the west side, sold by the defunct Ontario Telephone Co., which should never have been allowed to be built, it seems have passed into possession of the G.N.W. Telegraph Co. Should the Bell Company's request for permission to do underground work be granted by the council, it will practically mean the elimination of this line of non-beautiful poles from our main thoroughfare, and consequent chance to save property in case of fire. The council should make great concessions to the Bell Company, if thereby this danger and disfiguration to George street may be cut out.

VOL XXXIV, NO. 119 PETERBORO, ONTARIO, WEDNESDAY, MAY 16, 1906. PRICE TWO CENTS

Sir Wilfrid Has Asked King Edward

Urged His Majesty to Come, Saying French Would Be Pleased---Duke of Connaught Coming.

London, May 16.—The Duke of Connaught when inspecting the Canadian team at Bisley in 1905, expressed the hope that he would soon visit Canada, so as to have the opportunity to inspect a British Columbia regiment of which he is honorary colonel. The Canadian Associated Press understands that the Duke of Connaught will leave England for Canada during the latter part of September.

The Canadian Associated Press has heard that Sir Wilfrid Laurier personally supplemented the appeal to the King that he should visit the Dominion, Sir Wilfrid emphasizing how great would be the appreciation of the French population.

A Melbourne despatch says Premier Deakin has received a formal invitation from the Imperial Government to the Imperial conference. Mr. Deakin and any colleagues accompanying Deakin and any colleagues accompanying him will be the guests of the State.

NEED COMPULSORY TRAINING.

In a discussion in the House of Lords yesterday on the compulsory service in the militia for home defense, Lord Dundonald said a school of thought had arisen which realized that the Empire was but a paper Empire, unless it were defended by an armed and organized manhood; a school of thought which would insist on the Government organizing the direction of militarism, but in the direction of common sense and efficiency. While it was not necessary to institute compulsory adult service, he considered it wise to institute the compulsory training of youth to military discipline and knowledge of the rifle. He hoped the Government would put forward a scheme for the defence of the Empire with its armed manhood.

The Earl of Wemyss and Mureh—Conservative—calling attention to the question of home defence, asserted that the country was practically without an army, and that there were not 60 up-to-date guns in the country. The question, he said, would be solved if the Government had the courage to adopt the system of compulsory service at home and voluntary service abroad.

The Earl of Portsmouth, Parliamentary Secretary of the War Office, replying, said the Government had a mobilization scheme under which it was hoped it could mobilise its forces for defence as quickly as any Continental Power. Further schemes had been prepared for the defence of British ports, which would be placed in a position to resist any sudden attack.

Army pensioners are emigrating to Canada in large number, and advances of from six to nine months' pension are granted to all, and arrangements made in order to assist even in purchasing applicants' passages.

PRAISE OUR SPIRIT.

The Standard publishes an article from its Ottawa correspondent on the working of Canada's reciprocal preference with New Zealand and South Africa, and also showing that the West Indies, British Guiana, British India, Ceylon, and the Straits Settlements come under British preference. Editorially commenting thereon, the Standard praises the Imperial spirit of Canada, and says it is a magnificent lead in the direction of commercial union of the Empire. "Canadians have earned the gratitude of every lover of the Empire in that they have acted while others have talked," concludes the Standard.

"Dear pet, if you think of jumping o'er the moon, don't forget to come Canada-way." Such was the message of Jepson Young, immigrant, sent from his new Canadian home to the girl he left behind. Yesterday a jury returned a verdict for £10 damages against him for breach of promise of marriage.

TO AID CANADA.

To enable Canadian merchants to compete with the United States for British trade in beef, butter and cheese, the new Surrey dock is now nearly completed, and is now the largest and best equipped in the kingdom having a cubic capacity of a million square feet, with engines for compressing air among the most powerful now in use.

The building is the outcome of an agreement among the Canadian Government, the Allan Line, and the Surrey Dock Company.

Secretary Churchill states that his attention has been drawn to press reports as to the sale of Indian girls in British Columbia. He is confident that the Dominion Government will take any steps that are necessary in the matter.

A Local Concern Kept Very Busy

Messrs J. J. Turner & Sons Receive a Peculiar Order from Windsor, Ont.

To illustrate the advance that Peterboro manufacturing concerns are making, a little incident might be noted. Yesterday, Messrs. J. J. Turner & Sons., received an order, by telegram from Windsor, Ont., for a shield and stand of British colors, to be used in the great celebration in that city on May 24th. This shield is to be 4 by 3 feet, made of sheet steel, with the initials "E.R." painted in appropriate colors. Seven flags, 10 by 5 feet, with poles, 15 feet long, with brass spear heads, accompany, and are to be inserted in the shield.

A Times representative yesterday, by invitation of Mr. Turner, took a walk through their hive of industry, and was somewhat surprised, not only at the large number of men and women busily engaged in manufacturing tents, signs, canoes, and a hundred of the various articles this firm produces, but by the widely extended scope of country this firm gets orders from, embracing the whole Dominion of Canada, and the British Isles.

Shot by Blank Cartridge.

St. Catharines, May 15.—While the Collegiate Institute Cadet Corps were having a sham battle in the woods near here one of the young soldiers named Griffs, was shot through both cheeks by the wad from a blank cartridge. His injury is a severe one.

Haultain's Office Burned.

Regina, Sask., May 15.—Damage estimated at $25,000 was done yesterday when the premises of the Western Hardware Company, with the offices of Haultain & Crowe, Clark & Sebalt, and J. H. Boyle & Co., above were almost entirely destroyed by fire.

Worked Montreal Firms.

Toronto, May 16.—Samuel Stein, proprietor of a tobacco jobbing business on East Front street, has disappeared, leaving liabilities of from $5,000 to $6,000 and apparent assets about $250. Stein came to Toronto from Chicago in January last. Montrealers were let in to the amount of $1,000.

Who Will Present the Petition?

Ottawa, May 16. — Sir John Carling says he has not even heard the rumor that Lord Strathcona, Hon. Mr. Scott and he would present the petition from the Canadian Parliament to His Majesty; and says it is extremely unlikely he would be selected for such a mission.

Big Farm Went Cheap.

Toronto, May 16.—The government has sold the Dryden pioneer farm established in the Wabigoon section of the Rainy River district, by Mr. John Dryden, former Minister of Agriculture about 12 years ago, for $2,000. The farm is 320 acres in extent. The government is said to be now considering the establishment of a pioneer farm in the Abitibi district.

Cement Crossings to Be Built.

This morning Street Commissioner Evans will begin work and have a gang of men busy on new crossings throughout the most congested parts of the city. Mr. Evans will begin operations on George street, and the first crossings to be done will be across George at Hunter. It is likely that all the crossings in the business parts of the city will be put into good shape. This will include several blocks on George street, north and south of Hunter street; several blocks on Water, Charlotte, Aylmer, Simcoe, Hunter, Brock Murray and possibly McDonel street.

EUROPEAN FUNDS SEEK INVESTMENT

Senator Forget and Mr. E. S. Clouston Discuss Enlisting Them in Canada's Service

CANADA LAND OF PROMISE

Mr. Clouston States That This Country is Now So Regarded in England.

Montreal, May 16.—On board the new C. P. R. liner Empress of Britain on her first voyage were two well-known Montreal financiers, Hon. Senator Forget, and Mr. E. S. Clouston, vice-president and general manager of the Bank of Montreal.

Senator Forget with his family have spent the entire winter in England and on the Continent, while Mr. Clouston's trip across was of shorter duration and upon business.

Senator Forget, who spent a good deal of time in France, states that there is an ever growing tendence in that Republic to branch out into Canadian investments. At the present time money deposited in the French banks is only drawing 1-2 of 1 per cent., while upon municipal and government bonds the investor does not receive more than 2 3-4 per cent. There is any quantity of money in France, the thing to do was to impress upon people that good investment could be found in Canada.

The social and political conditions of France, leave, in Senator Forget's opinion, a great deal to be desired. It is the general belief in well informed circles in France that a crisis is approaching and that there will be serious internal disorders before matters are adjusted.

Mr. E. S. Clouston's trip to England had most to do with the opening of their new London offices. Englishmen are looking upon Canada as a land of promise, but Mr. Clouston wished to warn the people of Great Britain against investing their funds in questionable undertakings, which were always abroad in boom times. It would be well for all English investors to investigate thoroughly before risking their money.

The financial situation in Europe generally indicates nothing abnormal at the present time. The German bankers, by their progressive methods, appeared to be making inroads into the business which has heretofore been confined to English houses.

In Mr. Clouston's opinion there was no doubt that Russia is able to meet her financial engagements provided the government of the country is properly administered.

Mr. William Darke Is Given a Pin

Popular Drug Clerk, Leaving City, is Remembered by Friends.

The Pill Pounders' hockey team is now deploring the loss of one of their most popular and efficient hockey players, in the person of Mr. Wm. Darke, who for several years has been employed in Messrs. Ormond & Walsh's drug store.

Mr. Darke yesterday morning left for Weyburn, Sask., where he has accepted a good position in a drug store. Mr Darke was, previous to his departure, presented with a handsome pearl stick pin by his fellow drug clerks in the city. There were about a dozen of them in the party and Mr Darke was taken completely by surprise. Mr. Darke made a suitable reply, thanking his friends for their kind remembrance.

Indian Maharajah in New York.

New York, May 16.—His Highness, Gaekwar, Maharajah of Baroda, with his wife and son, has arrived in New York. The party crossed from Liverpool via the Celtic. His Highness ranks second in importance of the holders of princely titles in India. His subjects in the kingdom of Baroda numbers some 2,000,000 of souls. The Maharajah's brother acts as secretary in chief.

Says Churches Are Near a War

English Clergymen Make Violent Protest Against the Marriage of Ena.

London, May 16.—What is calculated to create a bitter feeling between Roman Catholics and Protestants in England is the violence of the language used in the protest the other evening at the approaching marriage of Princess Ena to the King of Spain on the part of a large assembly of the clergy of the Church of England. The clergymen had come from all parts of England to attend the annual assembly of the Protestant Reform Society.

ALLIANCE IS DENOUNCED.

A resolution condemning the alliance as a slight and an insult to the Church of England and a danger to the British nation was carried with vehement cheers by the audience which crowded Exeter hall.

Here are some of the remarks of the speakers:

"This unholy alliance was not worked up in England, but was engineered in Rome. The black hand was behind it all. The peace of England, which came through the Bible, is endangered. Our ancestors have already suffered from a member of the royal family having married a papist."

"The pope has won an English princess to his side who will be a valuable agent in bringing other converts to the Church of Rome."

"By the vows she has taken she has declared her uncle, King Edward, worthy of eternal damnation."

CALAMITY IS PREDICTED.

But one of the most violent speeches of the indignant clergy was that in which amid hisses and cries of shame an excited white-haired old man said: "Princess Ena is to be pitied for receiving the blessing of the pope and having the Order of the Golden Rose bestowed upon her. No one who ever got that blessing prospered, and it is notorious that the bestowal of the Golden Rose is always followed by a calamity to the receiver."

It was because I knew this protest was to be made that I called in at this hall, but I did not expect to hear such violent language or to see a gathering of such excited clergymen and indignant women.

Crisis Over Amnesty.

St. Petersburg, May 15. — A crisis over the question of granting amnesty already confronts the Emperor, who will be compelled to yield or accept the gage of battle. Almost every family in Russia contains a member or relative who has suffered or is now suffering for his political opinions and their demand for the release of all political offenders has aroused the imagination of the country.

Higher Rate for Coal Miners.

Tamaqua, Pa., May 16.—Commissioner Neil, who was appointed by the anthracite strike commission to compute the rate of wages for anthracite miners, has notified the coal operators that the miners will be paid eight per cent. on the $4.50 basis for the month of May, the average price of coal at tidewater last month. This is the highest rate at which the miners have been paid since the commission made its award.

Priest Convicted.

Greensburg, Penn., May 14.—Rev. Father W. Anselm Myarczyk, of New Kensington, was today sentenced to pay a fine of $500 and to spend two years in the Western Penitentiary upon conviction of assault upon one of his parishioners. An application for a new trial was refused. He will take an appeal.

Two Nice Clergymen.

Victoria, B. C., May 15.—The British Columbia Methodist Conference meeting in this city, has under consideration two serious cases. The first is that of Rev. J. J. Baer, charged with habitual drunkenness. The case has been waiting investigation for some time. The other case is that of Rev. Jone Stone, of New Westminster, who is charged with debauchery by his own daughter.

LACROSSE.

Word has been received that the Young Toronto, will be here to play the locals on Victoria Day, with their best team.

London, May 16.—The engagement is announced of J. Austen Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exechequer in the late Balfour Cabinet, and Miss Ivy Muriel, daughter of H. L. Dundas, of Datchet, Buckinghamshire, now Chief Staff Officer at Gibraltar.

Fire, Water and Light Committee in Session

Bell Telephone Co. Want to Lay Their Wires Under Ground Without Delay---Building Bylaw May Not Be Amended.

The Fire, Water and Light Committee of the City Council met in the committee room last night, when there were present, Chairman Frank Adams in the chair, and Aldermen Elliott, Duncan, Graham, and his Worship Mayor Henry Best.

FIRE PROTECTION FOR AUBURN

The question of furnishing fire protection for Auburn was gone into. To do this a pipe would have to be laid across the river, or as Ald. Adams suggested, the main might be extended along Concession street, east Peterboro, but this latter suggestion would mean laying a six-inch pipe for the distance of a mile, which would mean considerable expense for the service required.

The water commissioners will be asked to report on the best method of furnishing Auburn residents and the woolen mills with fire protection, and the cost of same.

PETITIONS DEALT WITH.

The committee will not recommend at present that a hydrant be placed on the new main on Charlotte street, at the corner of St. Thomas street, as petitioned for.

A petition for a light at corner of Dublin and Downie streets, will be dealt with after investigation by the committee.

Petitioners asked for a hydrant at the corner of James and Mark streets. This was granted, providing enough water consumers can be secured to assure sufficient revenue to warrant the committee in extending their mains.

The committee will make a round of the city Friday night and investigate the localities where additional lights are petitioned for.

UNDERGROUND WIRES.

Mr. Doane was present with a view to arriving at an understanding, by which the Bell Telephone Co., could immediately go ahead with laying their wires underground. Mr. Doane, the company's local manager here, pointed out that he had no authority to enter into any agreement, empowering the city to take over their conduits at the end of ten years, should they feel so disposed, or forcing the Bell Company to permit of some other company's wires running through the Bell's conduits if deemed advantageous to the city. Other cities are only too anxious to get the wires underground, without imposing such terms as proposed by Peterboro. Mr. Doane asked that immediate definite action be taken in this matter by the corporation, as he has to have cable laid at once one way or the other, in order to supply many subscribers now waiting for telephone service.

The city solicitor will draw up an agreement today, and the council will meet in Committee of the Whole tonight, when the agreement under which the Bell Company will be permitted to lay their wires underground will be submitted to the company's representatives for their approval or rejection.

BUILDING BYLAW AMENDMENT.

The request of J. J. Turner, Jr., and John Finnie, for permission to erect 9-inch wall dwellings withing the present fire limit are in which only 13-inch wall buildings may be constructed, was gone into. These gentlemen asked that the building bylaw be amended to allow of the construction of 9-inch wall 2-storey residental houses being erected within the present fire limits.

With the exception of Ald. Elliott, the committee were of opinion that the present building bylaw, which has been law for so many years, should not be interfered with in any way. It has proved a measure in the best interests of the ratepayers in general heretofore, and the granting of the concession asked for by Messrs Turner and Finnie would prove an injustice to other citizens who have complied with the provisions of this bylaw in erecting their dwellings.

Incidentally it was pointed out that the property in question had been disposed of by previous owners in consequence of the building bylaw.

His Worship moved, seconded by Ald. Duncan,—That the city engineer be asked to give his opinion as to whether a 9-inch wall is sufficient safeguard against spread of fire for a 2-storey dwelling house within the fire limits—Carried.

FIRE TEAMS WANTED.

The committee will advertise for a fire team.

The committee then adjourned.

Lady Puts Gun Powder in Stove

The Old Story of the Cook Using Kerosene Discounted.

Bob. Independent; Last Tuesday Mr. Thos. A. Fairbairn, while burning a lot of papers in the stove there happened to be among them a package of gun powder. She was alone and just as she was about to put on the tea pot the lid flew up and the flames burst out over her. Her hair and dress caught fire, but fortunately there was a barrel of water standing nearby and she at once put her head into the barrel, and thus saved her life. Mrs. Fairbairn is recovering nicely and her frends hope no serious effects will result from her narrow escape.

Water Commis'rs To Inspect Taps

Householders May Expect an Inspector of Water Taps to Arrive Soon.

It is now up to local householders to see that their water taps are in good order, and not used for other purposes than supposed by the water commissioners of the city, as these magnates are about to have all water services inspected that have not been inspected hertofore. It is about two years since the last inspection was made, and since that time several hundred new services have been put in.

Hon. Dr. Reaume Underwent Operation

Detroit, May 16.—Hon. Dr. Reaume, Provincial Minister of Public Works, underwent a serious operation in the Detroit hospital yesterday. It is hoped that the operation may have proved successful, although the condition of the patient is critical.

It is understood that the removal of a cancerous growth was the object of the surgeons. For some months the doctor has loyally suffered and must in silence, only breaking the news to his wife at the end of last week, when an operation had become immediately imperative.

He was examined by the physicians in Toronto towards the close of the session, the verdict given being that the disease was "not malignant—as yet." The plucky Minister fully realised the serious character of the verdict, but insisted upon silence being maintained till his public duties were concluded, and the worry of the knowledge being spared from Mrs. Reaume.

Will Jim Reynolds Lose This Wager?

Port Hope, May 16.—The redoubtable consorial artist and all round sport, James Reynolds, the popular sporting backer of the "Ontarios," last winter's Junior O.H.A. champions, has again become famous, by accepting a challenge to walk from Port Hope to Toronto, a distance of about sixty-three miles, within 24 hours. A straight bet of $100 has been deposited by Reynolds, and numerous side bets have been made by local sports.

Reynolds, who is well known by the travelling public throughout the Province, is fifty-five years of age, stands five feet four and one-half inches in height, and weighs 155 lbs. Some years ago he went ten miles in a sack in two hours, and he has gained notoriety since at various times on waters, but in this, his greatest undertaking, he is handicapped by his advanced age and lack of training. The start will be made from Port Hope at seven a.m. on Monday, June 4th, and to win Reynolds must walk to the King Edward Hotel, Toronto, before seven the following morning.

A number of persons intend to accompany Reynolds by carriage from here.

Mine Explosion Entombed Men

Shenandoah, Penn. May 16.—An explosion of gas occurred at the Shenandoah city colliery of the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron Company yesterday. A number of men were at the mine at the time of the explosion. It is not known how many of them were killed. Fire boss Samuel Powell was the first person to be taken from the mine. He is so terribly burned that he will probably die. Several ambulances are at the mouth of the shaft waiting for the miners to be brought to the surface. The mine is surrounded by several hundred men, women and children.

It is believed that between thirty and forty men are imprisoned on the first lift. The black damp following the explosion prevents prompt rescue. Two men are dead at the bottom of the slope. Superintendents Boyd and Tenker and Mine Inspector Lamb are directing the work of rescue.

Why He Was Caught.

Kingston, May 16.—Chalbran says that in seeking his freedom he desired to teach the Bible to his people. He had read the Bible in prison, and had been helped. He believed God aided him in escaping, and his denial of His mercy caused his undoing. He said on Saturday he wet his feet in a creek and an oath sprang to Mellps. This was the offence that led to his recapture. Warden Platt told the returned convict that his escape would not be charged against him, but he could go on living as he had begun the past.

Can You

Cut Out

the "Yellow" Streak?

All got one, you know. Some small, some large. The more "yellow" in your make-up, the less yellow gold in your character and pocket-book.

Is your yellow streak the coffee habit? Does it reduce your working force, kill your energy, push you into the big crowd of mongrels, deaden what thoroughbred blood you may have, and neutralize all your efforts to make money and fame?

It does that very thing for thousands who don't suspect it. Languid, half sick with stomach and bowel troubles, heart weak and hardly half alive, you cannot succeed under such fearful handicaps nowadays, when the world only yields the crown for the best efforts of keen people.

Try leaving off coffee for 10 days. Build back to a clear-cut mind and healthy body by Postum Coffee. That's the true route to health, and with bounding exuberant health you acquire "Energy plus."

Then to "do things" is easy.

"There's a Reason."

Have a try at Postum

NOTE—Postum is only good to the taste when well boiled. Then it is prime and toothsome.

NO PLACE.
The Lazy Ones Must Stand Aside.

The dull heavy feeling from coffee may not amount to much in itself but it's a great obstacle in the way of fame and fortune for it kills ambition and makes one lazy and finally sick.

The successful men or women must first conquer themselves. The way to conquer that dull, stupid feeling 9 times out of 10 is to pay a little attention to proper food; coffee in particular will dull the senses and make one feel lazy and stupid after the first effects of the cup have worn off an hour or so after drinking it.

"I was a lover of coffee," says a New York man, "it seemed to me breakfast was nothing without it but I noticed an hour or so after breakfast a dull, stupid feeling came over me accompanied frequently by nausea.

"Thinking perhaps it was caused by coffee I wanted to make sure of it so I gave up the use of coffee and drank Postum in its place. My old trouble disappeared and I learned to look forward to my Postum with as much eagerness as I used to look to coffee and instead of being bad in its effect, Postum is very healthy and I feel "fit as a lord" right along. Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

There's a reason why Postum helps toward fame and fortune when used in place of coffee, the drug drink.

Look in each package for the famous little book, "The Road to Wellville."

HON. CLIFFORD SIFTON.

Judging from an impartial and independent standpoint, it seems to us that some malicious and altogether unfounded charges have, of late, been hurled at Hon. Clifford Sifton.

Every man occupying so prominent a position in public affairs as has Mr. Sifton has to pay the penalty for public popularity and consequent successful promotion to the head of affairs.

In the matter of the North Atlantic Trading Company's contract the charges brought against Hon. Mr. Sifton are now clearly demonstrated to have been grossly exaggerated, if not foundationless.

The action of the ex-Minister in telegraphing the Premier, from New York, to postpone the debate until he (Mr. Sifton) could be present, is a sufficient guarantee of his having clean hands. Mr. Sifton's speech in the House, in which he made so clear and unqualified a denial of the charges brought against him, will always stand as a monumental contradiction of political venom inspiring opponents to use any means to injure one undeservedly attacked.

Mr. Sifton's challenge to Mr. Foster, or any other political opponent, to cast undeserved slurs upon him, was characterized by clear, uncontroverted argument, patent to any thinking man.

Whilst not judging Hon. Mr. Sifton, through the politically ground glasses of partisanship, we must say that the attack made, in connection with the North Atlantic Trading Company's contract, fell flat, and that this respected statesman passed through the ordeal with credit to himself, after reflecting the rays of discredited light upon his would be haters.

CAN EUROPE DISARM?

A disarmament resolution in the British Parliament has stirred up interest in the subject again. It is said that France would join in an agreement to lessen the burdens of "militarism," and that Russia might follow if a previous understanding were come to with the British Government over certain questions in dispute, but that Germany would remain obdurate. All this is very probable and decisively fatal to any general scheme. France has already given over the high-speed space which Germany has not; and Russia is in no condition to enter the competition at all just now. As for Britain, it would probably be quite willing to cut down its army establishment—or rather to keep it down—provided it were allowed to maintain its naval supremacy. But so long as Germany holds out, there can be no talk of a general reduction.

To the German mind, military supremacy is probably as important as naval supremacy is to the British mind. It is not very far back to 1870; and yet that is the date when the German peoples first felt the security of union and strength. The new France which has grown up under the Republic would not be a menace to any neighbor; but the old France was, and the Germans have not forgotten. More than that, German ambition has been awakened. The German people now want a Colonial Empire; and they would probably be willing to pledge themselves to rest satisfied when they have secured as large a one as that which now flies the British flag. All this, however, will prevent the Kaiser from thinking of stacking his arms.

While Germany is in this mood it is idle to talk of lessening the strain elsewhere. France has just had a "scare" in the Moorish incident which will keep her nerves tense for many a day. Britain sees a German navy being built as rapidly as the resources of a rich empire will permit. Russia must be ready to afford assistance to its ally if it is to reap the financial and other advantage of the alliance. Even Italy must keep in the procession if it is to be either of value to the Triple Alliance or to its new friends of the Latin Union. One aggressive nation can always keep a world in arms; and this fact would not be changed if that aggressive nation should become the Chinese which we of the Western world have long been doing our best to irritate and exasperate into military activity.

NECK CULTURE.

Exercise by Which to Acquire a Well Poised Head.

There is nothing that so surely places the stamp of individuality upon a woman as the way in which she carries her head and chest. The proportion of the neck should be in harmony with the head and shoulders. This may be regulated by exercise. The fat neck may be reduced, and the lean, flabby neck may be rounded out. Even the too short neck may be made longer by carrying the head well poised, and the long neck may be made to appear shorter by carrying the chest well elevated.

If you want to look strong you must first feel strong; if you want to look good you must first feel good, and if you want a good presence you must first feel that you possess and can express to the world a character of magnificent proportions. With this feeling cultivate a light yet confident step, a firm knee, a prominent chest, a positive neck and a well poised head. Whenever you wish to encourage this feeling practice the following exercise: Stand erect and firm, place a book on the head, the tips of the fingers on the shoulders, with the elbows straight out at the sides; fill and raise the chest to its utmost limits as you walk forward five steps, exale, but do not lower the chest, as you walk backward five steps. Do not look down. Keep the eyes fixed slightly upward or straight in front.

To acquire that much coveted luxury, a neck "rising from the shoulders like a column," requires strength—strength of purpose as well as physical strength. That the graceful poise of the neck and head is dependent on the strength of the lower limbs, and particularly on the knees, would seem at first to be farfetched, but it is quite true. Your position, or, rather, your attitude when standing, is what determines your good presence, and you cannot possibly stand well poised with a weak or bent knee. The chest necessarily sinks and the head inclines forward. The neck is also dependent to a great extent upon the strength of the spine. In fact, much of the grace of the entire body depends on the strength and erectness of the spine. For neck culture it should be specially strong and flexible at the point where the neck emerges into the shoulders. It is here that the neck craues forward when the chest sinks. This is the point that has to be kept in mind in performing all neck exercises.—Bensinger's Magazine.

Pedro the Cruel.

Pedro of Castile was designated the Cruel on account of his barbarity to prisoners taken in battle, who were fortunate if they were put to death at once without torture.

Right as a Trivet.

"As right as a trivet" is a piece of household slang. The trivet was a rod placed across the fireplace for the purpose of suspending from it a pot over the fire. It was necessary that the trivet should be exactly horizontal or disaster to the pot and its contents would result.

The Three Cent Piece.

The silver three cent piece was authorized by act of congress March 3, 1851, and its coinage was begun the same year. Its coinage was discontinued Feb. 12, 1873.

Luther's Bible.

A museum in Berlin has Luther's Bible which he used in his study. Its margins are covered with notes in the reformer's handwriting. It was printed in Basel in 1509 and is in an excellent state of preservation.

A Kicking Horse.

A kicking horse may be cured by tying one of his fore legs with a rope to the hind leg on the other side. Then, as soon as he commences to kick, he jerks his front leg off the ground and goes down in a heap. Two or three doses of that kind will cure the worst case possible.

Spiders.

Spiders always come out of their holes shortly before a rain, being advised by their instinct that insects then fly low and are most easily taken.

Vesuvius Again Active.

Naples, May 14.—Vesuvius is again showing considerable activity. A dense column of smoke is rising from the crater, accompanied by loud detonations and electrical discharges. The main crater is throwing out sand and cinders.

An English engineer named Monet today ascended Mount Vesuvius, going within eighty yards of the opening of the crater, which now is four hundred feet lower toward Resina than it was before the recent eruption.

BIG GAIN IN JAPANESE NAVY

Third Period of Expansion Will Add Two 18,000 Ton Battleships.

Victoria, B. C., May 15.—Advices from Japan state that the third period of Japanese naval expansion now commenced will result in increasing the Japanese navy by 90,000 tons before the end of this year.

The third program of expansion started with the building of the 18,000 ton battleships Katori and Kashima, just completed in England, and the armored cruisers Tsukuba and Ibuma of 14,000 tons, just launched in Japan. The other armored cruisers will be built in Japan. The Kurama will be ready in August, the Ikubi is soon to be laid down, and the 19,000 ton battleship Aki shortly will be ordered.

Marquis Oyama has been retired from the post of field marshal and chief of the Japanese headquarters staff, being succeeded by Viscount Kodama, recently promoted from vice admiral and lieutenant general. Admiral Togo shortly will be made a count because of his services during the war. Viscount Kodama will be further promoted and be made a count. Count Nodzu will become a marquis and Generals Kuroki, Oku, and Kamamura, who were recently appointed to command the Tokio district, will be created viscounts.

WOMEN'S CLOTHES.

Does Poor Dressing Help to Keep Divorce Courts Busy?

Mrs. Levy Foote Morrell of Des Moines advocates putting a dressmaking course into every high school in Iowa on the ground that "dress is the principal cause of divorce in America." This does not seem to mean that women dress too extravagantly, the fault most often brought against them, but that they dress too poorly. Mrs. Morrell is credited with the following remarks along this line:

"Some men are attracted to women because they are well dressed. They see a woman at her best and promptly propose. Then comes marriage and sometimes disillusionment. Some way the woman isn't the same afterward. She has abandoned all her fine dresses and the wiles used to catch a husband and appears before him detached from the glamour of their lovemaking.

"I want to tell you that men admire a well dressed woman. Your husband cares as much about how you dress ten or twenty years after your marriage as he did during the courtship. A man sees women outside his home well gowned and pretty, and then he returns to an untidy woman at home. He cannot help making comparisons, and as a rule they are not favorable to the woman at home. And then the divorce follows as a matter of course.

"Every woman should have at least a fundamental knowledge of dressmaking. Without this her education is not complete. The day is not far distant when every educational institution will have dressmaking on its regular curriculum. I hold that such training is necessary to fit a woman for life."

To Stop Immigrant Bonusing.

London, May 12.—Mr. Hazleton, North Galway, will, on Tuesday, ask the Prime Minister whether he is aware that the Canadian Government pay the sum of one pound to shipping agents in Ireland on every ticket for an emigrant to Canada and, in view of the fact that such encouragement of Irish emigration evil is injurious to the welfare of Ireland, he will make representations to the Canadian Government to have the practice discontinued without delay.

Byrd. "Have you seen the new come beauties? They say Lady Dunmore is lovelier than her daughters."

"I have been away for a fortnight," he answered, "and cannot say. I would I could say 'Aye,'" he added humorously; "'twould relieve much anxiety."

"'Tis the dreadful uncertainness of you masculine lovers," Anne countered archly, "that keeps us poor maids in terror."

"'Tis said," put in Paulina, "that his excellency will publish a new code for the palace etiquette. Think of it! Just like a real court! There is to be a chamberlain, and all gentlemen are to unbonnet before the portraits of the king and queen!"

The young man looked dark. "Would he kept to his court etiquette!" he exclaimed. "See you the green yonder?"

All turned their gaze toward the lower end of the street where sat the new two storied capitol, with its tall cupola and clock. Generally there were to be seen burgesses, singly or in couples, passing in or out. Now the space before it was covered with knots of men, talking, gesticulating, walking from group to group. One could almost imagine an accompanying hum, like the sound of a distant bee swarm. As they gazed the knots separated and moved slowly toward one of the side doors.

"They enter the left," said Anne. "'Tis not the usual sitting of the house, then. Has the governor summoned them to the council chamber? And for what?"

"For what?" repeated Jefferson wrathfully. "For the resolves, printed today in the Gazette, appointing a day of prayer and fasting because of the shutting of the port of Boston. His excellency—I had like to have said 'his majesty'—is in a fine rage. The Virginians are in no mood to bear more flouting. One can scarce say what will befall if he dissolve them!"

There was well nigh a wail at this. "Oh," moaned Mistress Byrd, "then there will be no ball?"

Jefferson smiled, but a spot of tempestuous red burned Anne's cheek as she flung up her head. "If the governor clapped all save ten of Virginia's burgesses into the prison yonder," she said slowly, "the ten would give his lady the ball of welcome. They are Virginians."

"See!" said Jefferson. "He is coming."

At the end of the broad reach which spitted Duke of Gloucester street midway, nearly opposite them, stood the palace, brick red, greened with creepers, lifting its tall lantern above gardens laid in the Italian fashion in shapes of stars and horseshoes. Now its front sprang suddenly into action. A great chariot, very splendid, with vice regal trappings of gilt and leather, whirled up at the steps, and two figures entered it. The vermilion liveried outriders broke into gallop, and the team of six milk white horses wound through the many acred grounds sown with silver grass and studded with mulberry and catalpa trunks, like gnarled, one legged dancers, and swept at a smart trot into Duke of Gloucester street.

His excellency Lord Dunmore, red and thick necked, with Captain Foy, his cold featured aid, beside him, rode to the capitol.

The splendid chariot, brought from London to awe the Virginians, went at speed along a way suddenly grown a-bustle. The unwonted summons to the council chamber had gone abroad, and Williamsburg, full to the brim with rich planters from the valleys of the Potomac, the Rappahannock and the James, now at their town houses with their families for court season, were come forth to wait and to speculate upon the royal governor's wrath. The road was filling with coaches and fours bearing the nabobs and their dames and with sparkish young gentlemen passing on dancing nags. The pave of old Bruton church, wherein of a Sunday sat his excellency in his pew under the canopy, was bright with maids in satin and lace, with beaus showing silken calves and powdered wigs and with students in collegiate gabardines of a sobriety by no means ever hitting their habits.

Stout old Governor Botetourt had got many a cheer in the old days as he rode by in his fine chariot. He was popular, and departed this life in the odor of liking, to receive a statue on William and Mary common. But for the new governor, John Murray, earl of Dunmore, there had come to be many a wry look. He had learned Toryism under Lord Bute, as had the king, and nature had made him a Scotch barbarian to begin with. Diplomacy to him meant the heavy hand, and charity was as far off as religion.

He rode along this afternoon scowling, abrupt and imperious, as usual, and now with an extra set to his heavy lantern jaw that boded no good.

Booming adoration was in the low courtesy that Mistress Byrd swept him as he was whirled past with unseeing eyes, and at the sight Anne's mouth took on little lines of impatience.

"I shall drive to the queen," she said, springing into the seat. "The capitol, Rawleigh!" she cried to the coachman, and waved goodby to the group.

"Anne grows a worse Wilfy every day!" pouted Mistress Byrd in a pet. "La, I think the governor is monstrous fine. I am going to wear my celestial blue satin tomorrow night and a white satin petticoat!"

Many a gallant bowed low from the pave as the beauty of Williamsburg went by.

"'Slife!" protested young Brooke to Francis Byrd as he petted his lace 'neath the leaden bust of Sir Walter at the Raleigh's entrance. "She would dazzle St. James. Even the Du Barry was a stick to her! By the Lord, they should send her to London!" He prided himself upon his foreign travel.

Byrd flushed angrily. It was not to his pleasure to hear her name coupled with such. Nor did it sit well upon the tongue of this dissipated fop. He choked the word that rose to his lips, however, and turned away, looking longingly after the girl that rode by.

The chariot bearing Anne wheeled near the debtors' prison, abreast of the new capitol, whose wide wings spread out like a great letter H. Scarcely had it pulled up when the west door opened harshly and poured forth again the lowering burgesses.

They came out under the sparse trees, through which gleamed the sky steely blue as sword blades, quietly and in orderly groups, but with brows knit, fingers clinched and smoldering anger in their faces.

"Gossiping of the ball tomorrow, I'll swear!"

In the groups one might have seen many conditions. There was a sprinkling of homespun and buckskin, men from the shadow of the Blue Ridge and from the great district of West Augusta stretching far to the Mississippi, and with these rich planters from the tidewater and bay counties and the big rivers, clad in foreign fabrics, with ample wigs, swords and cocked hats or the conical head covering then coming to vogue in England. But save a few on whose faces sat a smirk of Tory smugness all wore the same deadly look of anger and concern.

Anne leaned forward and watched the crowd with tiny cores of fire in her

Present Price of Stock FIVE Cents per Share

If you want to get in on the ground floor before the price advances to 10 Cents per share, NOW IS YOUR CHANCE

When The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Company was organized the officers of the company foresaw the certainty, of a big mining boom in Clear Creek County, Colorado, U.S.A., and they congratulated themselves on securing a property which showed 1,500 feet of development work, and could be classed with the MINES of the region.

The steady increase in the mineral production of the county, new strikes, the development of old mines at depth (proving the continuity of the ore bodies and the increased richness of the ores), the availability of mining supplies, the abundance of water the great amount of timber for mining and fuel, the adaptability of the topography for deep tunnel mining, and the large number of milling and smelting plants, means that the district possesses all the elements of successful and economical mining.

It was a foregone conclusion that investors would awake to a realization of the conditions, and inaugurate a new boom in 1906. It is but natural that they should desire to place their money in a locality that shows more PROVEN MINES than prospects, and where the chances for speedy returns are greater than the chances of loss. Because of economic conditions money will go farther in development work and bring RESULTS quicker. Many new companies have recently been organized, foremost among them being The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co. Stock in all Clear Creek County companies is finding a ready market among both Eastern and Western investors, and in consequence The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co forestalled the boom by securing one of the best mining propositions in the locality, consisting of 16 mining claims, situated on Standard Mountain, in the Ohio and Jackson Mining District, two and one-half miles south of Idaho Springs. The Gold Leaf properties are credited with a past production of $75,000, and the tunnel is being steadily driven toward the rich ore bodies from whence former shipments were made. The old workings are now drowned with water which the tunnel will drain and also give unlimited stoping ground for the ores. Surrounding mines have produced over $11,500,000 Now is the time to purchase stock. When we re-open our ore the opportunity will be lost to investors.

Don't overlook this exceptional opportunity! Think of the acreage; Think of the development work done; Think of the past ore production; Think of the future possibilities; Think of investing—THEN ACT AT ONCE!

Sufficient stock subscriptions have already been received to carry our Frontier Tunnel a distance of 600 feet, or to the Standard Vein, from which point ore shipments will be resumed. Future stock subscriptions will be applied on the purchase of a power plant or on contracts to facilitate the work of driving the tunnel.

Our General Manager estimates that the completion of the tunnel will place at our disposal OVER FOUR MILES OF ORE, aggregating 96,000,000 tons.

$5.00 DOWN
AND
$5.00 PER MONTH
FOR FOUR MONTHS WILL BUY
500 Shares
OF STOCK WHICH MAY SOON BE WORTH
$500.00

This opportunity to buy stock will not last always. Price will promptly advance May 1st, and shortly thereafter be withdrawn from the market.

Lakefield No Oasis for Transients.

Local option in Lakefield, judged by reports of the villagers seen by The Times is not only causing extreme drought among the thirsty, but considerable inconvenience among the transient public. The Midland House, formerly run by Mr. W. Leahy, as far as business is concerned, is less lively than a corpse laid to rest in the early part of the century. The Midland House is supplying neither food, drink nor bed to any one. The stables have gone into innocuous desuetude, and travelling men will have to seek other sample display accommodation The Craig House is open to a certain extent, but naturally gets nothing like the trade its original cost would require to pay interest.

Engineer Sing With the City

The Dumpings From the Dredge Will Likely Be Given to Local Use.

As foretold in a recent issue of The Times, Mr. J. C. Sing, who registered at the Oriental Hotel as from Toronto, chief engineer for the department of public works at Ottawa, arrived in the city yesterday morning, and was met by Mayor Best, Ald. Hicks and Ald. Elliott.

The city fathers wasted no time in getting down to business and took Mr. Sing to where the dredge is busy creating Peterboro a future port, with access to the great lakes.

As noted before, the object of Mr. Sing's visit was to determine whether the gravel taken from the river bottom shall be, at possibly greater expense, conveyed in scows and dumped into the Little Lake, or dumped close beside it, and thus make valuable artificial land for the city.

Mr. Sing, judging by his somewhat careful utterances, although rather non-committal, expressed himself in favor of dumping the material across the C.P.R. tracks onto the city property.

Mayor Best seems to be well pleased with what Mr. Sing had said, and thought in a very few days, the matter would be settled.

POLICE NEWS

Daily Happenings in Court Room and Station.

The balmy sunshine and warm brick walls for the "Sunflah Club" to lean upon kept the members from yesterday's police court.

Thomas Welsh was charged with being idle and having no means of support. Thomas, however, produced a note from his former employer, Mr. F. Bell, to show he had been working for him, and that he had been promised a job in the country.

"You get out to the country at once," remarked his Worship, "and if you ever come before me again I'll give you six months in the Central Prison." "I guess you are about right," said Thomas, as he took the hint to skiddo, and hat in hand, broadly smiling at his narrow escape, he fled to the balmy sunshine of freedom.

Ross McCall, a twelve-year-old boy, was charged with having stolen $15 from Richard Lees. It seems that during the absence of the Lees family, the Lees boy took him into their house and, as he went out, McCaul noticing where the door key was hung, went back to the house and stole the money he had seen whilst there. He had spent the $15 in five days. His father testified to the boy having stolen 10 cents from his mother. He said the boy does not smoke cigarettes or tobacco in any form. The father produced a paper by which he agreed to repay the $15 to Mr. Lees.

The Magistrate said the boy would have to go to the Shelter for one week, during which time they would decide what to do with him.

After Mr. Cochrane, agent of the Children's Aid Society, had taken the boy to the Shelter, his Worship called the boy's father and explained that the lad would be kept at the Shelter for a week, but could call at his home for dinner as he went to the North Ward school; he would, however, have, after school was over, to go direct to the Shelter. The Magistrate advocated that McCall, Sr., should, if the boy is returned, to him next week, procure a nice pliable rod, and use it with both discretion and frequency should the boy not obey his orders henceforth.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Underground Bell Telephone Work.

As noted in a former issue of The Times, the Bell Telephone Co., recently obtained permission to proceed with their commendable work of placing their now, in the sense of city interests, obsolete overhead wires underground, through the more thickly populated mercantile portion of the city. Mr. Hunt, foreman of the underground construction gang, and two or three assistants, have arrived in the city, and are now ready to start work on the underground service in this city, as soon as certain arrangements with the G.N.W. Telegraph Co., have been completed.

Mr. Roger's Case In Parliament

Col. Sam Hughes Strongly Deplores Dismissal of T.V.C. Engineers.

Yesterday's Toronto papers contain a good account of the plucky fight put up by Col. Sam Hughes in defence of the discharged engineers of the Trent Valley Canal.

Col. Hughes presented a motion for papers in connection with certain defects in the lift-locks at Peterboro and Kirkfield. He said he did this because he thought a great injustice had been done to some very capable officials, Messrs. Rogers, Davy and Spence, who were engineers on the Trent Canal. At the Kirkfield lock the whole trouble was with the inspector, one Bethune. If he had done his duty, and seen that the cement was put in properly there would have been no leak.

It was for the inspector to watch every foot of the concrete filling. It was well known in the vicinity of Kirkfield that Bethune was intoxicated from day to day. Mr. Davy would telephone him when he was going to visit the work, and then the ring in Kirkfield get busy, and hurried Bethune out of the hotel.

With reference to the trouble at Peterboro, it was not any defect in the structure of the lock, but it was caused by a break in the canal bank above, due to an old drain put in by the contractor, Mr. Rogers had repeatedly tried to get rid of Bethune, but the politicians of Peterboro County, stood in the way. All the evidence tending to show that Bethune was primarily responsible for what had occurred was refused. Col. Sam Hughes appealed to Mr. Emmerson's sense of justice to consider the matter and restore Mr. Rogers and his assistants to their former positions.

Mr. Emmerson said all the papers would be produced and it would then be found that Col. Hughes had not done a good service to the gentlemen effected.

Whose Say-so is Best?

With nearly all medicines put up for sale through druggists, one has to take the maker's say-so alone as to their curative value. Of course, such testimony is not that of a disinterested party and accordingly is not to be given the same credit as if written from disinterested motives. Dr. Pierce's medicines, however, form a single and therefore striking exception to this rule. Their claims to the confidence of invalids does not rest solely upon their makers' say-so or praise. Their ingredients are matters of public knowledge, being printed on each separate bottle wrapper. Thus invalid sufferers are taken into Dr. Pierce's full confidence. Scores of leading medical men have written enough to fill volumes in praise of the curative value of the several ingredients entering into these well-known medicines.

Amongst these writers we find such medical lights as Prof. Finley Ellingwood, M. D., Rennes Medical College, Chicago; Prof. Hale, of the same city; Prof. John M. Scudder, M. D., late of Cincinnati, Ohio; Prof. John King, M. D., late of Cincinnati, Ohio; Dr. George Cox, of New York; Dr. Bartholow, of Jefferson Medical College, of Pa., and scores of others equally eminent.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription cures the worst cases of female weakness, prolapsus, anteversion and retroversion and corrects displacements, cures painful periods, dries up disagreeable and weakening drains, sometimes known as pelvic catarrh and a multitude of other diseases peculiar to women. Bear in mind, it is not a patent boy even a secret medicine but the "Favorite Prescription" of a regularly educated physician, of large experience in the cure of women's peculiar ailments, who frankly and confidingly takes his patients into his full confidence by telling them just what his "Prescription" is composed of. Of no other medicine put up for woman's special maladies and sold through druggists, can it be said that the maker is not afraid to deal thus frankly, openly and honorably, by letting every patient using the same know exactly what she is taking.

Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free. All correspondence is guarded as sacredly secret and womanly confidences are protected by professional privacy. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

How to preserve health and beauty is told in Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. It is free. For a paper-covered copy send Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., 21 one-cent stamps to cover mailing only; in cloth binding 50 stamps. Dr. Pierce's Pellets cure constipation.

Mr. R. R. Hall Wires That S. S. Building Belongs to the Board.

Dove of Peace Roosts at Rest

Board of Education in Possession and Will Advertise for Tenders for Separate School Material.

The Board of Education met last night to discuss the disposal of the Murray street school building material. There were present, Messrs. Chairman Ferguson, Hill, Hayes, Pringle, Dumble, Ackerman and Dr. Morrison.

The first subject taken up was the material of the old separate school.

The chairman read a letter from Capt. Eastwood, quartermaster of the 57th Regiment, saying that he had received a letter from a local contractor, saying he, the contractor, would take down the building for $215, of which he, Mr. Eastwood, had paid $40 on account.

It was suggested that possibly the best thing to do would be to advertise for tenders. The matter of the outbuildings was taken up, but it was considered that the Government would use the whole space, so such buildings would have to come down.

Mr. Hill moved, seconded by Mr. Hayes,—That tenders be advertised for, for taking down, removing and purchase of all material, said tenders to be in by Monday, 21st May, at 12 o'clock.—Carried.

The lights for the windows, it was shown have been saved, and taken up to the old school. The tenders to be advertised for, include removal and preservation, for the Board, of all material except the fences.

Mr. Pringle brought up the subject of the material already taken away. It was explained that this will be accounted for later on.

The tenders advertised for, will also include removal of all debris from the grounds, and all such, including all material, must be removed by June 15th forms will be in cash.

Mr. Hill brought up the subject of the material already moved again. Dr. Morrison considered that the Board should not exact the last pound of flesh over this matter.

Mr. Dumble remarked, "Now you don't surely want to be participants in this crime after the act, do you?" Mr. Dumble further remarked to Mr. Morrison, "You backed up those people now do you want to keep this thing up?"

Mr. Pringle advocated Dr. Morrison's position, regarding the material already gone.

Mr. Dumble said, "These are stolen goods and those who got them ought to pay for them."

Mr. Hill said that many stories were going about town, possibly "Old Women's tales."

"Oh, no," said Mr. Dumble. "they are only too true."

Mr. Pringle introduced the subject of opening up the streets leading to the new south ward school, saying Aylmer street may not be extended. An arbitrator has been appointed and is now busy on George street extension. The Mayor told him yesterday, it would be better for the Board to wait a few days till the valuator puts in his estimates. By making the school face to the west instead of the east, work could be proceeded with at once. It would only make a difference of 100 feet.

Mr. Dumble said it would make 500 feet difference.

Mr. Hill then introduced the subject of sewers, saying this was a most important point. Could the Board force people to pay for sewers when no houses were on the property?

It was decided to call a meeting of the whole Board for Monday, evening next, the meeting then adjourned.

New Tank for Brick Co.

Yesterday afternoon a two horse cart loaded with a huge wooden tank attracted some attention during its progress down George street. The tank, which measures perhaps 15 feet in diameter at the bottom and about 12 at the top, was on its way to the Sandstone Brick Company's new premises, and will be used to store water for fire extinction purposes.

Better Class Shows Wanted

The Times Will Post Their Readers as to Coming Shows.

The New York Clipper says: A convention of the managers of the various Canadian theatres will be held at Ottawa, Monday, May 28th, and continues for three days. It is the intention to form an association with the object of promoting theatre interests in Canada, reforming abuses and promoting more friendly relations among managers. Each morning business sessions will be held in the Russell Theatre, and in the afternoons and evenings there will be joyous occasions in the way of entertainment. During the convention a deputation will wait on the Government and urge a reduction of the customs tariff on show printing.

It looms to any thinking man that the great theatrical combine which robbed the United States has invaded Canada, and that our theatres will be under domination of an oligarchy who can bamboozle the theatre goers out of their hard earned dollars for cheaply produced and highly charged for inferior plays.

The class of shows that have been produced at our local opera house, since its completion, certainly substantiates the above supposition. Not only the past shows that Peterboro audiences have had forced on them at high prices, but some of those coming to the opera house here, are enough to make any one acquainted with a decent and high class production wish for death. We understand that a minstrel show, once fairly good, but which has been playing at 15 cent prices in Toronto, may soon be worked off on Peterboro audiences at high prices. It is true our local theatre patrons rebel against high prices for low class shows. As long as Peterboro audiences submit to be victimized, the local theatre will reap rich harvests and consider our citizens as "Hay seeds."

Our readers may be assured that henceforward, in view of the dissatisfaction expressed by many over some of the recent shows here, The Times will keep them posted before hand as to the quality and class of companies coming to this city.

Council's Error.

The gang of men employed by the Bell Telephone Co., with their tools and complete apparatus, that were brought here to begin operations on the underground work, which would thus replace the unsightly and dangerous mass of wires now rendering our streets unsightly, left yesterday for Niagara Falls, Ont., owing to the action of our City Fathers refusing Saturday night to accede with the very reasonable proposition submitted by that Company. No matter what change of mind may have come over the spirit of the Council's dream in getting the best of that Company, there is no doubt but what a great delay, if not actual loss, has been sustained by this City in having a crying evil removed at no expense to, but at a great gain to the city. The Times tomorrow will have more on this subject.

ALL MUST VOTE

Proposed to Compel Electors to Use Franchise.

Ottawa, May 17. — The Dominion election laws committee this morning dropped the Manitoba election cases and discussed the proposed alteration of the laws. The committee decided to recommend the following section:

"1. Any person who does not vote at an election in which he is qualified to vote, shall be disqualified from voting at any similar election for a term of six years.

"2. No person shall, however, be so disqualified if he has been prevented from voting by illness or by any other good and sufficient reason, and any such person may obtain from a judge of any court of record upon satisfying such judge upon oath or affirmation that he had a good and sufficient reason for not voting, a certificate of franchisement, annulling the disqualification, which certificate may be in the form KK.

"3. Any person, who, while disqualified under the provisions of this section votes, or attempts to vote, in any election shall be liable to a fine of not less than $50 and costs, and not more than $100 and costs, or in default of payment of such fine and costs to imprisonment for any term not exceeding three months and not less than one month with or without hard labor."

The law relating to hiring of vehicles was amended so as to make, not merely the person paying for the vehicle, but also every person demanding or receiving payment from the candidate, his agent or other person in his behalf, liable to a fine of $100.

Local Aldermen Buying Horses

Well Qualified Judges of Horses in Businesses.

Yesterday Aldermen Adams, chairman of the fire, water and light committee, and Ald. Elliott were in Enniskillen looking at a team of horses for the fire department.

It is altogether probable the animals the aldermen went out to see, will be brought into the city for trial. When such experts in horseflesh as Ald. Adams and his co-laborer in the city's interests, go out to buy horses, it is absolutely certain that the city will secure a bargain.

Their visit to procure horses in consequence upon the death of the late lamented "Fred," the veteran gee-gee of the fire brigade.

The team now on the hose wagon are too light for such heavy work. The committee think it advisable to sell that team and purchase a new one, and in addition another single horse.

The team on the hook and ladder truck are good and answer the purpose alright. An offer has been made for the team on the hose wagon by a horse buyer, who wants to ship them to Winnipeg. Both horses are just in their prime and should bring a good figure.

Mr. A. Letellier Passes Away

Death of Well Known Former Local Baker.

A very sad death occurred yesterday morning about eleven o'clock at 70 Lock street, when Mr. Archibald Letellier passed away.

The late Mr. Letellier had been ill for some time with stomach trouble He is survived by his wife and one son, Dr. A. Letellier of Seneca Falls, N.Y., and also by four brothers and two sisters.

Mr. Letellier was born in St. Micheals, Que., about 61 years ago, and had lived here for 35 years, when he carried on an extensive bakery business until some years ago. ### Peace Reigned at School Board.

It was a work of supererogation on the part of those who attended last night's meeting of the Board of Education, who had donned chain armor and carried gatling guns in their hip pockets. The anticipated sanguinary encounter proved to be a love feast with very little friction on the surface.

Mr. H. Hamilton will Remain Here.

Yesterday Mr. Max Hamilton, who, as his many friends in the city are aware, recently returned after some 18 years spent in the Hudson Bay Company's service, as Accountant, on the the Peace River, received a flattering offer to resume a better position with his old company on the Mackenzie River. However, as the post to which Mr. Hamilton is asked to go is situated at an inaccessible point within the Arctic Circle, necessitating a long journey to and from the Post, Mr. Hamilton has about decided to remain at home with Mrs. (Hon.) Hamilton, "Auburn, his mother, who is not at present in robust health. The offer made to Mr. Hamilton was a very good one, testifying to the value of his past services with the company.

STORM IN EUROPE

London, May 17.—Belgium was visited by disastrous storms yesterday causing loss of life at various points and great destruction of property. A water-spout wrecked everything in its course. Eleven lives were lost in the village of Leruen, near Brussels, and several were killed by lightning in Campina. Railway communication with Germany has been cut off, four miles of the main track being washed out.

The wall of the prison at Louvain collapsed and the soldiers had to prevent the prisoners from escaping.

THREE VESSELS SUNK.

Three German sailing vessels have also foundered in a hurricane that swept the North Sea, and their entire crews are lost, numbering about 70.

SPRING CATARRH

Disease Prevalent Now, But Can be Quickly Cured with Hyomei

A great many people suffer more with catarrh during the spring than at any other season of the year, the changes in weather seeming to have a bad effect upon the disease.

Some of the cures made by Hyomei seem marvelous when one remembers that the patients had suffered from catarrh since childhood, and that for years they had been unable to get a good night's sleep, on account of the disagreeable tickling and dropping at the back of the throat caused by this offensive disease. A few day's treatment with Hyomei brought quick relief, and its continued use made a complete and lasting cure.

By breathing Hyomei through the pocket inhaler that comes with every outfit, all the air passages of the lungs and throat are filled with air laden with Nature's remedies for the cure of catarrh. All disease germs are killed, and the irritated mucous membrane is healed.

The complete outfit costs but $1.00, extra bottles 50 cents. Compare this small expense with the fees charged by specialists.

If you cannot obtain Hyomei of your dealer, it will be forwarded by mail, postage paid, on receipt of price. Write today for consultation blank that will entitle you to services of our medical department without charge. The R. T. Booth Company, Hyomei Building, Ithaca, N. Y.

Exception Taken to School Fees

Correspondent Objects to School Text Book Fees.

(To the Editor of The Times.)

Dear Sir,—That the present system of charging heads of families for text books in the public schools, is very generally, and in fact, by a majority of our ratepayers, condemned, goes without saying. Many people think-less that, especially in the case of large families, books that could be handed down from one child to another, and by the present system rendered useless for such purpose. Whilst this may add to the pockets of those manufacturing the text books, it makes poor people, with many children, pay dearly for their children's books.

Premier Whitney in speaking on school matters gave out the information that at a very early date a commission would be issued to one, or, perhaps more gentlemen to look into the question. This he said would be done under the provision of the Education Department, which authorizes the Government to appoint a body of persons to enquire into matters relating to education, among which is enumerated the prices chargeable for text-books.

Let us hope this extortion may be ended.

THE NEW SAN FRANCISCO

One Hundred Millions to be Invested —How Insurance Companies Will Pay.

New York, May 17.—It was determined yesterday that $100,000,000 shall be the capitalization of the new mortgage loan corporation which is to be organized here to advance money for the rebuilding of San Francisco. The promoters of the enterprise at first argued that $10,000,000 capitalisation would provide an ample vehicle for handling hundreds of millions of investments, but it was found that San Francisco favored a much larger capitalization than the $10,000,000 at first proposed, thus giving opportunity for investment by the Pacific Coast. Plans for the perfecting of the huge corporation will be adopted today, and it is now expected that all of the preliminaries will be completed this week, and the work of advancing $100,000,000 or more for the reconstruction of the destroyed city will begin within 30 days.

FIRE INSURANCE OBLIGATIONS.

San Francisco, May 17.—The insurance companies will settle their losses in their own way, each company acting for itself, according to the contracts embodied in its policies, and the Fire Underwriters' Adjusting Bureau will make no attempt to dictate a general policy to be observed in the settlement of claims, according to a statement made by Attorney T. C. Coogan, who is legal adviser to the Adjusting Bureau. Mr. Coogan added: "There is no truth in the report that it is contemplated to cut losses all down the line, and settle upon a percentage basis. The companies will pay what they legally owe."

HOTEL RISKS ADVANCED.

Chicago, May 17.—Hotel buildings of the period immediately following the Chicago fire are to be added to the list of hazardous risks by Chicago insurance men. The advance in their rate will be from 25 to 40per cent. Theaters also are to be "penalized" as undesirable risks. This was decided, among other things, at a meeting of western managers of fire insurance companies, following a dinner last night at the Union League Club.

Mr. Preston Was to Be Examined

Brought a Trunk of Papers, But Another Witness is Heard First.

Ottawa, May 17.—W. T. R. Preston, the Canadian Immigration Commissioner in England, who was summoned by the Public Accounts Committee of Parliament for examination regarding the North Atlantic Trading Company's contract, was on hand yesterday. Earlier in the morning an expressman had delivered two trunks and a valise in the committee room, containing papers and books which may be required in the examination of Mr. Preston.

"Have you got your papers with you?" asked Mr. Barker.

Mr. Preston said he would produce them as soon as he opened his trunks.

Mr. Fielding then reminded the committee that Mr. Geo. T. Merwin, who had made sales to the Marine Department, was on hand to complete his evidence.

Mr. Preston then retired to open his trunk, and Mr. Merwin began.

An interesting dispute arose at once. Mr. Northrup asked Mr. Merwin to tell what he had paid for the goods supplied to the Government. Mr. Fielding objected to the question, stating that it was against the principle formerly approved by the committee to compel a witness to disclose his profits.

Chairman Geoffrion ruled that the witness was not obliged to answer. He could not depart from the principle already approved by the committee.

Mr. Northrup appealed from the ruling, and the chair was sustained.

GUARANTEE TO BANK.

Mr. Northrup sought to prove the allegation that the Government financed Mr Merwin in his transactions by supplying him with the money to purchase buoys wholesale and then sell them at a profit to the department. Mr. Merwin answered that the department owed him money, and that he was getting advances from his bank At his request the Minister of Marine and Fisheries guaranteed him in the bank.

Hon. Mr. Brodeur suggested that the committee hear officers of his department on this branch of the case. He had previously heard nothing about the matter.

In the course of further evidence Mr. Merwin stated that J. J. Riley Bros. who had the Canadian agency for the same buoys he (Mr. Merwin) was now handling, sold one to the Government in 1897 at $608, while Merwin was now supplying an improved type to the department at $300.

Turkish Assassins Must Die

Tripoli, North Africa, May 17.—All Shamyl Pasha, former Military Governor of Santari, and two boys were condemned to death yesterday, for the murder of Redvan Pasha, Prefect of Police of Constantinople, who was assassinated there March 24. Three others accused of participation in the crime were condemned to life imprisonment and others to various sentences of from ten to fifteen years' imprisonment.

While Shamyl Pasha, who is a Kurdish Chieftain, was undergoing an examination at Tripoli recently, in connection with the murder of Redvan Pasha, he suddenly rushed upon the Procurator-General, Nedjim Eddin Bey, fixed his teeth in his throat and held on until his victim was throttled to death.

British Authorities Refuse to Change

Montreal, May 17.—Canada's butter and cheese exporters are in a desperate way over the fact that the British postal authorities have so far refused to allow the sailing days of the Canadian-British mail steamers to be changed from Thursday to Saturday and at noon today a special meeting of the trade was held to take action in the matter.

Almost without exceptions the steamships carrying Canadian butter and cheese to the English market load on Thursday and Friday, and sail on Saturday. The documents which go forward, and which must reach England at the earliest possible moment cannot be made out until the cheese and butter is on board. Naturally, if the mail closes here on Thursday documents for that week's shipments cannot go forward without delay, and business will be very seriously crippled.

The plan of the Allan and C.P.R. mail steamers was to leave both sides on Saturday, the improved service not making it necessary to have a mid-week sailing from one of the two ports.

So far the British authorities have flatly refused to consent to the necessary change.

BANKS TO REOPEN.

San Francisco, May 17.—All the savings banks of this city will reopen for business on May 28. Officials of the various institutions declared their banks to be in excellent condition financially.

Fixed Assessment for Canadian General

At $200,000; or $150,000 Should School Taxes on Full Value of Property Be Demanded By Legislature, Authorized By Bylaw Last Night.

The city fathers met in special session last night, when there were present, Mayor Henry Best, and Aldermen Tovey, Hicks, Graham, Hall-Duncan, Wilson, McWilliams, McIntyre, Elliott, and Mason.

The minutes of the preceding meeting were confirmed.

F. W. Doane was present in the interests of the Bell Telephone Co., who are seeking permission from the city today their wires underground.

COMMUNICATIONS.

Petitions were received from residents for granolithic sidewalks on the east side of Reid street, from Charlotte to King street; on the south side of Sherbrooke, from Park street, to the boundary; on the west side of Stewart, from Dublin to Townsend street.—Board of Works.

Petitions were received against the proposed walk on the east side of Aylmer street, from Edinburg to Antrim—Board of Works.

D. A. Harper, secretary of the 57th Regiment Band, wrote asking the council to make a grant of $600 to the band for this year, on the same conditions as last year's grant. The extra $100 the latter states is absolutely necessary, if the present high status of efficiency of the band is to be maintained.—Finance Com.

BYLAWS.

A bylaw to authorize the construction of a sewer on Stewart street as a local improvement, and to authorize the payment for the same, passed its several readings.

FIXED ASSESSMENT FOR C.G.E.

A bylaw to fix the assessment of the Canadian General Electric Company, Limited, passed its first, second and third readings. The bylaw fixes the assessment of this company, who are about to extend their buildings and plant, at a cost of at least $200,000, at $150,000 for ten years. But should the legislature insist upon a full payment of school taxes on the value of the property, in question, then the fixed assessment to be $100,000 for twenty years.

NEW SIDING.

The Peterboro Light & Power Co., asked permission to construct a siding from the C.P.R. spur line up Simcoe street, alongside of the gas works the plant of which is to be extended. This was referred to the Board of Works.

TO DISTRIBUTE CHARITY.

A bylaw to appoint a committee to distribute the funds of the estate of the late Mrs. Foley, left for charitable purposes, passed its several readings. Sheriff Hall and Ald. Mason were appointed to act as a committee for this purpose, jointly with five members named by the county council.

MAINS AND EXTENSIONS.

Ald. Hicks moved, seconded by Ald. Elliott,—That the Peterboro Light and Power Co., be requested to fill a plan of all gas mains now laid in the city, and also a plan of all proposed extensions—Carried.

SEWER CONNECTIONS.

Moved by Ald. Hicks, seconded by Ald. Wilson,—That the city solicitor be instructed to prepare a bylaw to give the Board of Works power to make all sewer connections, as far as they think advisable, at the same time sewer mains are being laid; the cost thereof to be defrayed in the same manner as other sewer work.—Carried.

The object of this measure is to avoid the continual cutting up of our streets to make sewer connections from time to time as property owners select.

SMITH STREET BRIDGE.

In reply to Ald. Mason, Ald. Hicks, chairman of the Board of Works, explained that as it would cost $600 to temporarily repair the Smith St. bridge, he has instructed the engineer to prepare an estimate for an entirely new bridge. He is waiting the engineer's estimate to guide the Board of Works in dealing with this question in the most economic and satisfactory manner.

AYLMER STREET EXTENSION.

The matter of extending Aylmer St. from Lake street to Lansdowne Street was gone into. Ald. Hicks pointed out that it was for the Council to decide whether this work should be accomplished this year or not. Of course the Board would need to overdraw their appropriation to do this, but in Ald. Hick's opinion it would be better to exceed their appropriation this year, $5,000 or $6,000 than to pay an additional expenditure perhaps of some $15,000 or $20,000 next year for the same work. The council were a unit in agreeing that both George and Aylmer streets should be extended without delay, and they decided that Aylmer street extension shall be proceeded with at once.

UNDERGROUND WIRES.

Mr. Doane expected an agreement to be ready for his company's acceptance or rejection.

Mr. Doane explained that his company are not prepared to accept any such agreement as accepted by the Machine Co., which gives the city the right to take over their poles, wires and conduits at the end of ten years. They are prepared, however, to assume all liability for damages consequent upon laying their wires under ground. Mr. Doane insisted that his company have vested rights in the streets, under act of the Dominion Parliament, and he believed they could force the city's hands in this matter; but they did not wish to take so arbitrary a course.

He could not see why this city should endeavor to block the Bell Company in this matter any more than other cities, the authorities of which are only too eager to get as many wires under ground as possible.

His Worship expressed his opinion that at some future date the city might build a large brick conduit and ask all companies to run their wires through the same. This is the object of the council in demanding an agreement empowering the city to adopt such a course at the end of ten years if deemed advisable.

Mr. Doane did not think the city would care to go to such an unnecessary expense.

Moved by Ald. Hicks, seconded by Ald. Elliott,—That the matter be left with the Manufacturers' Committee to draft an agreement between the Bell Company, and the city, and report to the council.

Ald. Hicks said he is very anxious to get a set of poles from George street.

A WARNING.

Moved by Ald. Ball, seconded by Ald. Duncan,—That the police commissioners instruct the police to see that the different companies do not damage shade trees in erecting their poles and wires, or dropping old wires and broken glass on the roads and sidewalks; and to prosecute all guilty of such acts—Carried.

The council then adjourned.

FIRE INSURANCE

The heavy losses that the catastrophe at San Francisco will entail on British and American fire insurance companies has called general attention to the question of the proper relation of the premiums charged by the companies to the risks against which they guarantee to protect the assured. The disaster at San Francisco is interesting in this respect from the fact that the city was considered a good risk from the insurance companies' point of view. For forty years there has been no great conflagration in San Francisco; the water works' system was considered an excellent one, while the fire department was admitted to be efficient and well equipped. But the earthquake impaired the water works so that no water was available and the fire department rendered practically helpless to stay the progress of the flames. The result will be claims on the insurance companies that will in many cases trench largely on their funds.

This incident at San Francisco is an illustration of the fluctuating character of fire insurance business, and of the great difference there is between it and that of life insurance, the probable death claims being possible of calculation with almost absolute accuracy within a narrow margin. The returns made to the Department of Finance at Ottawa by the fire insurance companies doing business in Canada, afford proof of the extraordinary fluctuations that occur in the conduct of this line of business. According to these returns in 1904 the amount of risks was $1,216,619,967; in 1905 it was $1,360,687,161. The net cash received as premiums in 1904 was $13,160,853; in 1905, $14,296,750. In 1904 the losses paid were $14,689,534; in 1905 they were $14,689,534; in 1905 they were only $4,-993,657. While there was an increase of $1,135,897 in the receipts for premiums in 1905 over 1904, there was a decrease in the amount paid for losses in the year 1905 of no less than $9,-691,877. Of course to the amounts paid for losses, must be added the very considerable sums disbursed in the expenses of carrying on the business. But the experience of these two years shows in a remarkable manner the peculiar character of fire insurance business. In 1904 the shareholders in these companies had not only to find $980,851 to provide the deficiency in the premiums to meet the losses (the latter being 7 per cent. more than the former) but also the whole of the expenses. In 1905, on the other hand, the losses only amounted to about 43 per cent. of the premiums.

There is, nevertheless, a feeling very prevalent that on the whole the rate of premiums is higher than the legitimate requirements of the companies make necessary. We believe that the average rate over the whole of Canada is about $1.60 per cent. If this can be reduced it would be, of course, a relief to the whole community. It is the poor risks that cause the average high rate. If the more undesirable risks could be charged a higher rate, the premium on the better class could be proportionately reduced.

THE SITUATION IN RUSSIA

The people of the whole of the British Empire can scarcely fail to follow with interest and sympathy the movement in Russia to secure the commencement of constitutional government. With a constitution of our own that has been the result of centuries of development and growth, sometimes seemingly slow, at times apparently almost arrested, the situation in Russia is very different. The maintenance of a despotic monarchy until now, and the entire absence of any knowledge on the part of the populace of constitutional methods, or of local government, add enormously to the difficulty of the task now before the ruler and the people of Russia. On the one hand there is a bureaucracy entrenched in the power which long possession has given it. On the other hand is the mass of the populace entirely ignorant of the first principles of self-government. Between the two is a class that demands such sweeping changes as would, if granted, only produce chaos and a confusion that would, perhaps, be even worse than the present condition of things. Almost as dangerous, in some respects even more so, to a change to constitutional methods, are the wild demands made by the Socialist leaders who use assassination and violence as their weapons to bring about a change. With the Tsar hesitating as to what course he shall pursue, it will be almost surprising if these extremists do not imperil the success of the first step to reform that has been taken in the calling of the national assembly. The resignation of Premier Witte and the appointment of a reactionary successor add further menace to the situation.

It is however, a hopeful sign that the Constitutional Democrats have succeeded in electing a majority of members of the Duma. Not only in the rural districts but in the cities of St. Petersburg and Moscow they have a majority and when the Duma meets they will have a large solid body of representatives. What they will be able to do, remains to be seen. Already ominous hints have been thrown out by the court and reactionary party that they must remember that they are only "guests," permitted to meet by the please of the Tsar, but not to expect to be allowed to do any practical work. It does not, however, seem credible that the Tsar will attempt to draw back, or to strangle the body which he has called into existence. If, unhappily, he should once again allow himself to be influenced by those who are opposed to any change, it is almost impossible that the country should escape the horrors of a bloody revolution in which the House of Romanoff itself would disappear.

Gapon's Body Is Identified

St. Petersburg, May 16.—At the inquest on the body of Father Gapon, which was found May 13 in the upper chamber of a lonely villa in the summer suburb of Oserki, Finland, M. Margolin, the former priest's lawyer, positively identified the body. The autopsy showed that he received a blow on the head, and the theory is that revolutionists were listening in an adjoining room, and heard Gapon betray his connection with the Government, and that Rutenberg, the terrorist leader, who is said to have lured Gapon to his death, rushed in, felled him to the floor, and afterwards hanged him.

Father Gapon is represented as having entered into relations with a troop of the "Fighting Organization" of the terrorists, and in order to test his loyalty, one of the leaders, an engineer named Rutenberg, offered to betray the secrets of the organization to the Government. Gapon took the bait and offered to conduct the negotiations. Some haggling about the price to be paid followed. Rutenberg demanding $50,-000. Finally, however, on his agreeing to accept $12,000. Gapon went to Oserki to meet Rutenberg for a consummation of the agreement. His death followed.

Widow Had Revenge.

Ottawa, May 16.—Mrs. O'Leary, aged about 35 years, a buxom widow hailing from Toronto, was fined $20 and costs in the police court here yesterday, for entering the room of J. Grant, an Ottawa young man boarding on Slater street, and mutilating his clothing. This was done for revenge, the allegation being that Grant was an armorous boarder with Mrs. O'Leary in Toronto, that he promised to take her to San Francisco to start a restaurant together, and that on the strength of this she sold her furniture and gave up her Toronto home. Repeated letters from Grant delaying matters, caused her to form suspicions, and, coming to Ottawa, she got into his boarding house, took possession of his room, and cut up his clothing. She paid the fine, but in view of the treatment accorded her, the magistrate did not assess her for damages to the clothes, saying Grant could collect in some other court if he wanted to.

Soldier Tells a Remarkable Story

Found Car on Fire When He Became Conscious, and Murder Evidently Done.

Portland, Ore., May 16.—A despatch to the Oregonian from Pendleton given an account of the mysterous burning yesterday of a freight car near Foster, Oregon, and the death of two persons, one of whom is thought to have been murdered, and the body consumed in the flames. The other was shot by a member of a sheriff's posse, under the belief that he was the murderer.

The car was one of an Oregon Railroad and Navigation Railroad's westbound freight train, and contained the household goods and two horses of Col. S. W. Taylor, commandant at Fort Worden, Wash. It was in charge of Private Wm. Wilson, 25th battery, Coast Artillery, and was en route from Fort Riley, Kansas, to Port Townsend, Wash. According to Wilson's statement, while he was currying one of the horse, early yesterday morning, the animal kicked him in the breast, causing insensibility. When Wilson came to he says that he found the car on fire. He turned the horses out of the moving car, and they were killed in falling to the ground. Wilson says he then made his way over the caboose, where he notified the trainmen, who cut the car out at Foster siding.

After the car had been cut out, a body, which it is stated may have been either that of a woman or a man, fell out of the end of the car. A physician says this body shows indications of foul play.

While the train was still standing at Foster a man who had been on the train declared that there were two tramps riding in it, and that both had been burned to death. A sheriff's posse followed him and ran a man down near Pine City, who was thought to be the fugitive.

eyes. Broken bits of conversation were wafted to her.

"I had looked to see better things of Dunmore, but 'tis all of a piece. We, burgesses of Virginia! Wagged at like so many school children, i' faith, and sent home with a flea in the ear! 'Tis unbearable."

"Better things of Dunmore!' A plague on him! Cry 'God save the king!' and give Satan the colony!"

Such sullen growlings betokening storm and then smug ones passing, with snuff taking and derisive shrugs of shoulders:

"Henry is mad. You heard what he said at Colonel Samuel Overton's the other day. 'Independence!' 'Our Declaration!' 'Aid from Louis the Sixteenth!' He is as mad as a March hare! Treason forsooth? 'Tis a matter for a leech! As if we had discipline, ships of war or money. I tell you, he will embroil us all with such clatter. The governor would be perfectly justified in"— So they passed on.

A smile, quizzical, disapproving, but wondrous kind, wreathed the corners of the watcher's mouth as a tall, splendid old man with aquiline nose and sharp, gray eyes came down the street leaning on the arm of a negro body servant. Threescore years and ten he had passed—one saw that by the lines in his face—and his frame was big and wide. He was gaunt, rawboned and sour faced, and plainly though richly dressed, wearing a large jewel.

The girl's eyes rested smilingly on the cocked hat, the grizzled wig, the antique coat, with its square cut lapels and shoulders rounded after a fashion of twenty years before, and then softly and lovingly on the rugged, masterful face, every whit patrician.

All her life she had loved this man—the old baron of Greenway Court. He had carried her at her christening. As she saw him now, coming slowly, but erect, bowing to salutations by the way, she thought again on what he must have looked in his youth before the French war, when he had strayed from a London world of fashion, with a heart sore by reason of a jilting, they said, to bury himself in the shadows of the Blue Ridge. He had dreamed of building himself a great manor house with 10,000 acres, calling it Greenway Court, and there living solitary. But a rough hunting lodge on a spur of the mountain near Winchester was all that ever came of it.

The girl watched him as he approached, stopping now and again for a word. Each pause made him look more hot and angry, and, seeing, she shook her head as if she child some naughty child.

As he neared her, speaking with one of the more richly dressed burgesses, his bottled wrath burst out in a flood. He raised his thorn stick and shook it at the building, choking with rage.

"Meet at the Raleigh, gadzooks!" he shouted. "Whose pelting is this? Patrick Henry's, sigh? I thought as much! A deer stalker!" he cried, tattooing with his cane. "A good for naught barteuder! Why, he used to bring me my ale when I passed Hanover Court House. A coarse, dancing, fiddling, wench chucking vagabond, I tell you! His father, the justice, is a good, sober country gentleman, but little the son takes after him. Come day, go day, God send Sunday! He must marry the tavern keeper's daughter!"

"My lord!" Anne's voice rose sweet and clear.

"And now because he mouths treason as bold as brass and because he wins a dirty damage case against some tuppenny parsons he sits in the burgesses and rides with gentlemen!"

"Lord Fairfax!" She was standing upright in the coach.

"Virginia is in a pretty case to take up any leather breeched Tom, Dick or Harry, wagging his jaw."

"Lord Fairfax!"

"About the king's business!"

"I wait for you to ride with me."

The old man half turned, choked, shook his cane again in the air; then, seeing the girl, made her as slow and courtly a bow as if he were in an assembly. Then he climbed into the chariot and sat down.

"Go and wait at the tavern, Joe," Anne said to his servant.

The baron took Anne's slender, cool hand in his huge, bony, trembling one, and they rode silently.

After awhile the fury had burned itself out in that worn frame. "'Tis naught I care for the rest of them, my dear," he said, "but my boy Washington is with their infernal treasons, and the Whigs will ruin him!"

CHAPTER II.

LEAGUES and leagues away from where the summer was come golden sandaled over Virginia, throbbing now with all the pent up intolerance of years of repression and smothered resentment, a ship which had been strained and pummeled by two months packed with tempest unfolded new canvas under the crumbling splendors of a clearing sky. The day drew breezily serene. The sea had tired itself out, and the sun burned pleasantly in the blue.

On of the few passengers whom the softening weather had drawn into the air—a young Frenchman, fair, slight, well knit and soberly garbed in gray—leaned upon the forward rail, with shoulders squared to the sunshine, and looked below him.

No mart of the old world could have shown a more strangely assorted company than did the lower deck of the brigantine Two Sisters out of London, bound for Yorktown, Va. Swarming to the bulwarks was a motley herd of redemptioners—a few young women of fair color, English country girls from the farm lands, looking forward to new things and a rosy marriage in this new land which beckoned to every eager eyed and anxious mariner; swarthier faces, toil shar[illegible]ted men who had worked their trade soberly to yield at last to the spur of ambition and barter six years of plantation labor for a passage to opportunity. Indeed, so greedy were the plantation factors of hands that more than one colony was made to hold open arms to the old world's vagrants, its felons and its dregs.

Now the creatures who had wallowed in sullen waiting or cried shrilly to their saints were still or babbling of other things. From the rigging a tarred mariner bawled his lay of "Bold Jack In the Ways," and the few passengers, who had weathered the storm grumbling or dicing below deck, were sunning themselves upon the poop.

The young Frenchman shifted his slow gaze from the redemptioners and let it run far out over the water, watching the little spots of foam that marbled the great waste. He was undeniably good looking, of an elusive, beardless charm, with a forehead graver than his mouth. His hair was rich brown, long and curling, for he wore no wig, and his finely cut lips were set over a chin of bold delicacy. His eyes were full and hazel, his expression one of zest and eagerness.

On this day as he leaned against the rail a man was watching him intently from where he stood further back. The ### Crisis Over Amnesty.

St. Petersburg, May 15. — A crisis over the question of granting amnesty already confronts the Emperor, who will be compelled to yield or accept the gage of battle. Almost every family in Russia contains a member or relative who has suffered or is now suffering for his political opinions and their demand for the release of all political offenders has aroused the imagination of the country.

Higher Rate for Coal Miners.

Tamaqua, Pa., May 16.—Commissioner Neil, who was appointed by the anthracite strike commission to compute the rate of wages for anthracite miners, has notified the coal operators that the miners will be paid eight per cent. on the $4.56 basis for the month of May, the average price of coal at tidewater last month. This is the highest rate at which the miners have been paid since the commission made its award.

If you want to get in on the ground floor before the price advances to 10 Cents per share, NOW IS YOUR CHANCE

When The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Company was organized the officers of the company foresaw the certainty of a big mining boom in Clear Creek County, Colorado, U.S.A., and they congratulated themselves on securing a property which showed 1,500 feet of development work, and could be classed with the MINES of the region.

The steady increase in the mineral production of the county, new strikes, the development of old mines at depth (proving the continuity of the ore bodies and the increased richness of the ores), the availability of mining supplies, the abundance of water the great amount of timber for mining and fuel, the adaptability of the topography for deep tunnel mining, and the large number of milling and smelting plants, means that the district possesses all the elements of successful and economical mining.

It was a foregone conclusion that investors would awake to a realization of the conditions, and inaugurate a new boom in 1906. It is but natural that they should desire to place their money in a locality that shows more PROVEN MINES than prospects, and where the chances for speedy returns are greater than the chances of loss. Because of economic conditions money will go farther in development work and bring RESULTS quicker. Many new companies have recently been organized, foremost among them being The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co. Stock in all Clear Creek County companies is finding a ready market among both Eastern and Western investors, and in consequence The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co forestalled the boom by securing one of the best mining propositions in the locality, consisting of 16 mining claims, situated on Standard Mountain, in the Ohio and Jackson Mining District, two and one-half miles south of Idaho Springs. The Gold Leaf properties are credited with a past production of $75,000, and the tunnel is being steadily driven toward the rich ore bodies from whence former shipments were made. The old workings are now drowned with water which the tunnel will drain and also give unlimited stoping ground for the ores. Surrounding mines have produced over $11,500,000 Now is the time to purchase stock. When we re-open our ore the opportunity will be lost to investors.

Don't overlook this exceptional opportunity! Think of the acreage; Think of the development work done; Think of the past ore production; Think of the future possibilities; Think of investing—THEN ACT AT ONCE!

Sufficient stock subscriptions have already been received to carry our Frontier Tunnel a distance of 600 feet, or to the Standard Vein, from which point ore shipments will be resumed. Future stock subscriptions will be applied on the purchase of a power plant or on contracts to facilitate the work of driving the tunnel.

Our General Manager estimates that the completion of the tunnel will place at our disposal OVER FOUR MILES OF ORE, aggregating 96,000,000 tons.

Cereal Co. Will Erect New Office

Peterboro Cereal Co. Will Add to Their Present Buildings.

A new office for the Peterboro Cereal Company and the Otonabee Power Company will be erected on Simcoe street, just west of the company's premises, adjoining the old office, only an archway being between them. The structure will be of solid brick, two storeys high. The dimensions of the ground floor will be 20x16 feet, and the upper will be 32x20. The tenders will be awarded this week.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Joseph Hall Has Passed Away

Former Well Known Citizen Dies in the U. S.

Mrs. G. W. Hall received a telegram yesterday morning, stating that Joseph A. K. Hall had died in Republic, Washington. The remains were buried there yesterday afternoon. Mr. Hall was born and raised in Peterboro, where he and his brother, Mr. Geo. W. Hall carried on a large bread and bakery business on Simcoe street. He left here a number of years ago for Spokane, Wash. Deceased was a member of the Oddfellows.

The Delineator for June.

The June Delineator is a most attractive number, containing the usual array of the latest styles, with the interesting fashion chronicles of Helen Berkeley-Loyd and Edouard La Fontaine, and literary features of the greatest importance. Burton E. Stevenson contributes the first part of "The Rose of Sharon," a mystery tale that will tax the ingenuity of its readers to solve, and there are short stories by Kathryn Jarboe, and Wolf Von Schierbrand, the former a story of the new Japan, and the latter a Russian narrative. "The President of Quex" is continued. Under the title, "The Revival of an Old Assembly," Peter Fleming describes the ball at the Astor House, New York, which called forth national comment at the time it was held, in April. Gustav Kobbe interestingly tells the story of "Home, Sweet Home," and there is a variety of excellent verse. For children, there are "Stories and Pastimes," among them one of Alice Brown's Gradual Fairy Tales," and for the woman of the home, many articles of housewifely interest, including a chapter on "Dirt and Danger in the Markets," in "The Delineator's Campaign for Safe Foods."

POLICE NEWS

Daily Happenings in Court Room and Station.

Yesterday was statute labor day in the police court. A bunch of summonses issued to defaulters of payment of statute labor tax, as thick as the package of pasteboard included in a fisherman's outfit, was produced by the Chief, and many names were called: only one man of those wanted appearing. This man noted that as he paid rent he did not consider it fair that he pay statute labor tax. The Magistrate agreed with him and let him go. A large number of others were fined from 25 cents costs to $1, while some that were out of town were held over.

One man, charged with non-payment of his dog tax, was allowed to go on swearing he had no dog.

Mr. Brundrette Off For the West

Popular Local Man the Recipient of Tokens of Esteem.

The well-known popularity of Mr. W. A. Brundrett, who has for some years past so successfully filled the position of chief of production at the C.G.E. Works, and who has so acceptably performed his duties as an officer of the Young Conservative Club, has been fully demonstrated by the kindly and tangible recognition made on the eve of his departure for his new home in Alberta.

Mr. Brundrett, who will leave on Saturday for Didsbury, Alberta, where he may locate, will be accompanied west by Mr. Harry Smith, foreman of the brass department.

He has been secretary of the Y. C. Club, and by the members of that flourishing organization, was presented with an address testifying to his valuable services, and the regard in which he was held. In addition to this his fellow employes at the C.G.E. works presented him with an appropriately worded address, read by Mr. M. Mowry. Accompanying which were a beautiful gold watch and chain handed over by Mr. Robert Martin, and a splendid Gladstone bag and toilet set. The address presented by his fellow employes at the works was signed by Messrs. G. J. Tovey, M. Mowry, R. E. Harding, H. Jeffries, W. H. Clinton, S. Taylor, R. Martin, J. Cuncannon, J. Perry and A. W. Patterson, on behalf of the committee.

Tea May Be Cheaper.

Ottawa, May 17.—A report from Mr. Alexander McLean, Canadian trade agent in Japan, would indicate that there will be a drop in the price of tea in the next few weeks. He says the first shipments of the new crop have gone forward to Canada, and that the tea interests are cheered by the prospects of a good crop. Large quantities of the old teas have been stored in warehouses, and when the new crop reaches the market in large quantities, the price of the older and inferior article is certain to depreciate.

FACTS IN NATURE.

Not Only Do We Get Inspiration From Nature, But Health as Well.

For people who are run-down and nervous, who suffer from indigestion or dyspepsia, headache, biliousness, or torpid liver, coated tongue with bitter taste in the morning and poor appetite, it becomes necessary to turn to some tonic or strengthener which will assist Nature and help them to get on their feet and put the body into its proper condition. It is becoming more and more apparent that Nature's most valuable health-giving agents are to be found in forest plants and roots.

Nearly forty years ago, Dr. R.V. Pierce, now consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N.Y., discovered that by scientifically extracting and combining certain medicinal principles from native roots, taken from our American forests, he could produce a medicine which was marvelously effective in curing cases of blood disorder and lung and stomach trouble as well as many other ailments, or lingering ailments. This concentrated extract of Nature's vitality he named "Golden Medical Discovery." It purifies the blood by toning the stomach and liver into healthy condition, thereby helping the digestion and assimilation of food which feeds the blood. Thereby it cures weak stomach, indigestion, torpid liver, or biliousness, and kindred derangements.

If you have coated tongue, with bitter or bad taste in the morning, frequent headaches, feel weak, easily tired, aitaches or pain in side, back gives out easily and tires, pimples, or face, constipation, or irregular bowels, feel flashes of heat alternating with chilly sensations or kindred symptoms, they point to derangement of your stomach, liver and kidneys, which the "Golden Medical Discovery" will correct more speedily and permanently than any other known agent. Contains no alcohol or habit-forming drugs. All its ingredients printed in plain English on wrapper.

The sole motive for substitution is to permit the dealer to make a little more profit. He gains; you lose. Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery."

Constipation causes and aggravates many serious diseases. It is thoroughly cured by Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. One a laxative; two or three are cathartic.

Mr. Eastwood Tells His Side of Story

Another Light Thrown on the Separate School Muddle.

Very much comment was made yesterday over the report, contained in yesterday's issue of The Times, relative to the rights and wrongs of the action taken by Mr. Eastwood in, what is considered by many, his high-handed, and (in some instances called) unjustifiable action in proceeding to tear down the Murray street school, without any action from the actual owners of the property and building, viz., the Dominion Government.

It might be noted that Mr. Eastwood when interviewed yesterday, gave his side of the question, saying that he had spoken to Mr. Hall, M. P., about the matter. The presence of the separate school building interfered with immediate erection of the armories. Mr. Eastwood noted that he considered he had been treated very unjustly. He noted that Mr. Hall said he would turn the building over to the regiment, and Mr. Hayes gave him the keys.

He gave orders to go ahead with the dismantling of the building.

Preston Says His Letters Were Stolen

Commissioner of Emigration Launched Sensational Accusation Against Colleague--His Relations With Canadian Labor Bureau.

Ottawa, May 18.—The examination of Mr W. T. R. Preston, Commissioner of Emigration in London, which has been anxiously awaited, began at noon yesterday, the examination being conducted by Mr. S. Barker, M.P., of Hamilton. After some formal particulars as to the powers given him, etc., had been elicited, Mr. Barker questioned Mr. Preston as to his relations with Louis Leopold, the manager of the Canadian Labor Bureau. This man's real name, he said, was Leopold Lazarus; later he said that he and Leopold are intimate friends. He became acquainted with him in 1902, Leopold coming to him with letters from a prominent German banking firm, in which he had served as employe.

"Had he previously been in the employ of hte North Atlantic Trading Company?"

"I don't know. I don't think so."

HOW THE BUREAU GREW.

At the start Leopold had established an agency known as the Farmers' Auxiliary, designed to assist German emigrants to go to Canada. He first came to Mr. Preston to ask if an arrangement could be made whereby these people's fares could be advanced. No such assistance was given by the Canadian Government. Leopold's remuneration was his commission from the steamship companies. Later, he entered into the business of helping British emigrants, receving for these, in addition to his commission the seven shillings per head given by Canada for agriculturists.

NOT CONNECTED WITH FIRM.

Mr. Preston had helped him and had recommended him to several steamship companies. He denied that he had any connection with Leopold's firm.

Mr. Barker then asked as to Mr. Leopold's tenancy of an office in the same building at Charing Cross as the Canadian office, it developing that there was telephonic communication between the two.

Mr. Preston gave an explanation of the reasons which led to this, and said that when unfair inferences were drawn he stopped the arrangement. The inferences were that he was connected with the agency. He knew that Leopold sent mechanics and artisans to Canada, he did not know that he sent men out to break strikes.

A SENSATIONAL ACCUSATION.

A moment later Mr. Preston stated that his letter files were incomplete, and told a remarkable story. Some time ago he heard that private letters of his were in Mr. Griffith's hands, and he suspected a certain clerk, who was much in Mr. Griffith's society. On investigation he found that his files had been gone through and mutilated. A file of letters endorsed "Mr. Preston—Private," and two or three letter books had been taken.

LORD STRATHCONA OBJECTED.

On investigation he found that on the evening of March 2, 1905, a "gentleman in a dress suit" had been seen coming from his office. He wished to put the matter in the hands of Scotland Yard, but Lord Strathcona demurred on account of the scandal. Lord Strathcona, however, state I that some of the letters were in his office.

Among the letters taken was one from him to the general manager of the Allans at Liverpool, urging the firm to start a booking office near the new Canadian offices in Charing Cross, and if it did not, to give a license to someone to do so; and recommending Leopold as a suitable person.

A Sea Cock Had Been Left Open

City of Peterboro Once More Afloat and Cause of Her Sinking Learnt.

Yesterday the old reliable steamer City of Peterboro, which as noted in a former issue of The Times, sunk at the east ward wharf last fall, once more rode the wavelets like a thing of life. When the water had been pumped out of the hull, and the steamer raised, an enquiry was, of course, at once instituted to discover the cause of her sinking. While there has not yet been time to complete a thorough and practical examination of the cause of her doing the McGinty act, sufficient has been discovered, already, to show that boys in fun, or men in mischief, malice or stupidity, had, last fall, whilst prowling about, deliberately opened and left open one of the sea cocks. By opening this large valve, and leaving it open the water of course, poured in until the steamer sank. As far as can be ascertained the boat is perfectly sound in every respect, and nothing has been discovered to show that the city sank from any cause but the mischevious opening of the sea cock. The timbers planking machinery and every portion of the boat seem to be as good as new.

Another Lawyer For Town.

Mr. Goodfellow, of Toronto, a recent graduate of Osgoode Hall, was in city yesterday and will locate here and commence the practice of law. Mr. Goodfellow will possibly enter the office of one of the local legal firms.

Mr. H. McIlmoyle Leaves Town.

Mr. Harry McIlmoyle, a graduate of the Peterboro Business College, left yesterday for French River, where he has accepted a good position with the Ontario Lumber Company. Mr. McIlmoyle's many friends here wish him success in his new home.

Fell and Broke His Neck.

Kingston, May 18.—Joseph Morrison, a carpenter, of this city, while assisting to unload hay from a waggon, fell and broke his neck. Death was instantaneous.

To Investigate Freight Rates.

Toronto, May 18.—When the Railway Commission meets here at the end of this month, the Canadian Manufacturers' Association will ask it to start an enquiry into the whole system upon which the freight rates in Ontario are based.

Gifts From the King.

Montreal, May 18.—Mr. W. R. Baker, assistant to the president of the C. P. R., who had charge of Prince Arthur's party over the road, was yesterday the recipient of several gifts from King Edward in recognition of his and the railway's services. The gifts consists of a tortoise shell cigarette box with His Majesty's cypher in diamonds and green enamel and with a large diamond at each corner of the cover, and a breast pin with His Majesty's cypher in diamonds.

House of Refuge Contract Is Let

Messrs Baptie Bros. Lakefield Will Erect Building for $18,093.

As noted in a former issue of The Times, the County Council met yesterday morning, preceded by a meeting of the building committee, to open and consider tenders for the house of refuge for this county, about to be erected in Lakefield.

The contract was awarded to Messrs. Baptie Bros., of Lakefield, their tender amounting to $18,093.00, not including the heating and plumbing. Only two tenders were received, the other being from Mr. James McPherson, of this city, who was only $41 higher.

This will bring the total cost of the house of refuge, heating, land, etc., close to the estimated price published in The Times, a short while ago, viz., $30,000.

As above noted a meeting of the building committee was held first to open the tenders and award the contract for the building. This occupied most of the morning and the council merely opened and adjourned until 1.30 in the afternoon.

Those present were, Warden Johnston, in the chair; Councillors Andrews, Buck, Carey, Shaw, Menogue, Garbutt, Stinson and Webster.

DEBENTURES FOR $30,000.

When the council resumed at 2.15 the first business taken up was to provide for the issuing of debentures for the erection and establishment of a House of Refuge for the county. The following bylaw was moved by Councillor Buck, and passed, providing for raising the sum of $30,000 by debentures for twenty years to erect the house of refuge and to meet the total cost of farm, etc. The total amount to be raised by interest, and for sinking fund is $2,207.50 per annum. The first payment will fall due on June 30, 1907, and the last on June 30, 1926.—The bylaw passed, signed and sealed.

Mr. Garbutt, chairman of House of refuge committee met the engineer during the afternoon and arranged to have him and the committee drive to Lakefield to select the site for the house of refuge today and have the work proceeded with at once.

Mr. Moloney introduced a bylaw providing for issuing debentures for $14,000 for 20 years to pay for Keene bridge and Evan's bridge, now being built and for the boundary bridge erected last year. The debentures are at 4 per cent. and the yearly amount to be raised is $1,080. The bylaw was read a first and second time and will receive its third reading on August 31st.

Team of Oxen in This Modern City

Yesterday morning much amusement was caused on George street when a local coal firm's advertising outfit passed along our principle thoroughfare. A yoke of oxen drew a cart covered by illuminated signs testifying to the prices and excellence of the coal and wood sold by this enterprising local concern. One thing only lacked on the cart, and that was an explanation as to how it is Peterboro citizens are soaked about $1 per ton more than consumers of other towns to which freight rates are no higher. Possibly this explanation would have been too lengthy and doubtful for the poor cattle to have dragged.

Foul Play Suspected.

New York, May 18. — Discoveries made in the case of Charles L. Spier, Jr., who was first reported killed by a burglar in his Staten Island home, now make it appear Spier was actually murdered, and announcement is made that an arrest may be made at any time. Startling developments are expected. While District Attorney Kenny will not admit it, there are best reasons for stating he has under suspicion a man well-known in Staten Island, whose whereabouts are known to the police, and who can be directly connected with the shooting.

S. A. Immigrant Leaves Lindsay Disgusted.

Lindsay (Post says):

Last evening a first-class machinist was sent to Lindsay from the S.A. headquarters at Toronto to fill a situation in one of our town machine works. He arrived and was told that his wages would be $1.25 per day, and as a consequence he returned to the city this morning contending that he could make more than that in the old country.

Search for Buried Treasure.

Brantford, May 18.—Men, while excavating for a cellar in Reginald Gray's house at Burford, found a sealed bottle, which was found to contain a document giving the location of $2,000 in gold, which had been buried in that vicinity during the rebellion of 1837.

Carnegie Offers Million.

New York, May 18.—Carnegie has conditionally promised $1,000,000 toward the erection and endowment of a united fine arts building to house the dozen societies composing the Fine Arts Federation. The site of Lennox Library, which has heretofore been held at too high a figure, and has been considered too far uptown, may finally be chosen, if satisfactory terms can be made with the trustees.

Mainspring of Life

No One Can be Strong With a Weak Stomach.

The stomach is the mainspring of life. When it is strong and acts perfectly, then the whole system is right, assimilation is perfect, and body and brain are thoroughly nourished.

One may perhaps get temporary relief from stomach troubles by using pepsin, or some other digestant, but this treatment has no curative effect. It does not reach the seat of the trouble and remove the cause.

How much better to use Mi-o-na, which restores lost functions of the whole digestive system, revives flagging nutrition, and aids in the assimilation of food.

Mi-o-na is a pleasant remedy to use, and benefit is seen from almost the first day's treatment. It restores the torpid glands and stimulates the natural digestive secretions. It checks fermentation, stops germ growth, soothes inflammation and cures all troubles, such as headaches, backaches, rheumatic pains, furred tongue, sleeplessness, nervousness, and general debility, which are caused by imperfect digestion.

Mi-o-na costs but 50 cents a box.

If you cannot obtain Mi-o-na of your druggist, it will be sent by mail, post-paid, on receipt of price. Write us for advice on your case from a leading stomach specialist which will be sent free. The R. T. Booth Company, Ithaca, N. Y.

The School Board and Mr. Eastwood

Strong Letter From a Citizen on the Subject.

(To the Editor of The Times.)

Sir,—May I beg the use of your columns for a few remarks on the most remarkable example of impudence that I think the city has ever seen.

Whatever one may think of the judgment of the School Board in selecting the northern lots for the erection of the proposed Collegiate Institute, the fact is clearly established that the Minister of Public Works undoubtedly gave the old Separate School building to the Board. It is also very clear that Mr. Eastwood knew this as well as anyone could possibly do. And yet, notwithstanding this knowledge, he appears to have deliberately become a party to the demolition of the Board's property, and apparently intended to convey the proceeds of his act to the coffers of the Batallion.

Now, what I want to know is, what is the Board going to do? If I go and tear down, and convert to my own use and purpose, my neighbor's property, I should be greatly surprised if I did not end up in the Central. Surely there can be no comention that the old building belonged to Mr. Eastwood, nor can it be said it belonged to Col. Miller and the Batallion.

If it could by any possibility vest in any one, other than the School Board, it would be the Dominion Government as represented by the Minister of Public Works. Does anyone suggest that the Minister gave the property to Mr. Eastwood? If not, the position seems to be very clear; and strong and definite action should be taken to punish wrong doing of so flagrant and impudent a character.

I say nothing as to the possible motives that may account for the vandalism, connected with the fact that I understand the Board's lease of the George Street School shortly expires, and might not have been renewed if the Board could have arranged for the temporary use of the Murray street building, pending the decision of the Ontario Government in regard to the erection of a Training College here.

But whatever the motives behind may be, law is law for the rich as well as the poor, and I fail to see why such an act as this should go unpunished, unless I, too, am to go unwhipped of justice when I tear down my neighbor's fence to replenish my wood pile.

Yours very truly,
JUSTICE.

Peterborough, May 17, 1906.

Death Followed Death.

Quebec, May 18.—Two very tragic and sudden deaths occurred at Inverness, P. Q., last week. Miss Emma Layfield was found dead in her bed on Monday morning, and on the afternoon of the following day, her sister, Agnes Layfield, while conversing about the making of a new will, necessitated by her sister's death, suddenly dropped her head on her breast and expired. On the next day the two sisters were buried together in the same grave. One was a Methodist and the other a Presbyterian, and both pastors took part in the funeral service, which was conducted in the Presbyterian church.

Chinese to Build An Electric Railway

Victoria, B. C., May 18.—A wealthy Chinese merchant of this city has secured from the Peking Government the right to build an electric trolley railway in China from Canton to San Wu, a distance of sixty miles. In conformance with the avowed policy of the Chinese Government, the charter is exclusively for the Chinese themselves; no stock will be issued to foreigners. The line will be built entirely with Chinese labor, even using Chinese electricians as far as possible. The route of the proposed line is a populous one, Canton having a population of 2,000,000 and San Wu 500,000. The electric power will be obtained from waterfalls in the mountains thirty miles from the latter city. It is stated that the company also intends to seek from the city of Canton concession of light and power supply privileges. The streets are too narrow for trolley cars, but, once the spirit of civic improvements is awakened in China, these may come later on.

—Farmers in the vicinity are corn seeding at present.

The Georgian Bay Ship Canal

Sentiments Manifested in Commons Committee For Federal Control--A National Enterprise.

Ottawa, May 18.—The bill respecting the Montreal, Ottawa and Georgian Bay Canal Company, asking for an increase in the capital stock and an extension of time in which to complete the work, was taken up in the Railway Committee yesterday.

Mr. Ritchie, an Ottawa lawyer, explained that the object of the bill is to authorize a bond issue of one hundred million dollars and a stock issue of fifty million dollars.

THE GOVERNMENT'S POSITION.

Mr. Hyman made a statement on the subject. The charter was granted in 1894, and one condition was that all plans and specifications must be submitted to and approved by the Government before the company could take action. The Government had undertaken exceedingly full and complete surveys, and soon would have detailed plans for the whole work, on a basis for 22 feet depth. These surveys and plans, he said, in reply to a question, would cost about $450,000. The actual survey work was complete, with the exception of a few levels, and the engineers were at work on the plans.

The company was now applying for an extension of its charter. The Government was waiting to have its data complete before formulating a policy; the company was asking for only two years' extension; before it started work it must secure the consent of the Government to its plans, under the circumstances he thought it unfair to cut the promoters off.

"A NATIONAL ENTERPRISE."

Hon. Mr. Haggart quoted Mr. J. J. Hill's remarks in favor of this canal project. He believed there were great possibilities for the canal. All the Canadian canals should ultimately be increased to a depth of twenty-four feet.

Mr. Bergeron, member for Beauharnois, thought it would be better for the Government to do the work. There was no doubt as to the possibilities of the project, but it should be a national enterprise.

Mr. Pringle, of Cornwall, did not think the interests of the Government would be prejudicially affected by passing the bill, for by the terms of the bill the Government could take over the canal at any time. The increase in the capital stock from ten millions to fifty millions and the extension of time for construction were justified by the fact that a 22 or 24-foot canal would be constructed instead of a 14-foot canal, as originally proposed.

Mr. Bergeron did not agree with this view. If the capital stock was increasing the country would have to pay more.

KEEP THE ENTERPRISE ALIVE.

Hon. Mr. Fitzpatrick said there was no reason why the charter should not be renewed. In view of the fact that the company had done good work, the position of the Government would not be jeopardized by a renewal. As far as indemnity is concerned, the Government would be in a worse position if the charter was permitted to lapse. It would be better to keep the enterprise alive.

Hon. Mr. Emmerson, Minister of Railways, said three things were were clear. First the canal should be built; second, the Government should operate it; and third, he did not believe the company would build it. He suggested an amendment providing that in the event of the Government deciding to build a canal between any of the points mentioned in the charter the company could not make any extra claim because of the extension granted.

In view of the amendments proposed, Hon. Mr. Hyman moved that further consideration be postponed till Tuesday, May 29. The motion was carried.

Mounted Police Capture Western Bandits

Kamloops, B.C., May 18.—The three train robbers who recently held up the C.P.R. Imperial Limited, in the hope of making a big haul of San Francisco registered mails, and then escaping over the American border, were skilfully rounded up by a party of Mounted Police on Monday, near Douglas Lake, 60 miles south of Kamloops.

Provincial Constable Fernie followed them through the mountains, and about noon on Monday came in sight of three men ahead of him. Knowing their desperate character, he hastened back for the Mounted Police.

FIND THEIR MEN.

They were soon discovered, and two of the robbers were covered by the rifles of the police. The third bandit rushed into the bush, and at once began to fire on the police. About 15 shots were exchanged, and the robber surrendered, when it was found he had been shot in the leg.

BILL MINER IDENTIFIED.

One of the robbers is George Edwards, and has been positively identified as Bill Miner, a man who is wanted in nearly every Western State for train robberies, and for whose arrest $30,000 had been offered. Constable Fernie will get the rewards.

A RECKLESS CHARACTER.

The second bandit is William Dunn, and is the one who was shot. When the doctor was probing for the bullet, he laughed and said: "It should have been through my heart, then it would save trouble." Louis Calhoun, the third man, is a very quiet looking, refined fellow.

WERE ONLY PROSPECTING.

Bill Miner says the trio left Port Hole Lake two months ago, and had been prospecting south of Grand Prairie. They were on their way home when they were surrounded and arrested. They claim to have had no knowledge of the hold-up.

The prisoners were brought to Kamloops and yesterday afternoon were arraigned before a magistrate, but were remanded.

TRAIN CREW IDENTIFY BANDITS.

The members of the crew of the train which was held up positively identify the prisoners as the train robbers. Commissioner Perry, of the Northwest Mounted Police, says Edwards bears all the marks attributed to Bill Miner, who robbed the Oregon and two C.P.R. trains at Ducks and Mission Junction.

Additional Metallic Lines.

The construction of additional metallic lines by the Bell Telephone Company of Canada has just been completed between Toronto and Brockville and between Toronto and Ottawa. This will greatly facilitate telephone connections from Montreal and Ottawa to Toronto and points west. The rearrangement of circuits rendered necessary by the construction of these lines will also greatly improve the service between intermediate points.

Mr. J. Robson Completes Contract.

Mr. J. Robson, the well known local contractor, yesterday completed work on the Bolivar street sewer. This included some 2,000 feet of work. Mr. Robson, this morning, begins work, with a large gang of men, on the Hunter street east sewer, East ward. This will involve some 2,000 feet more of underground work. The contractor, yesterday, noted to a Times representative that he finds it very difficult to procure enough men for his work, and is busy scouring the city for men. One circumstance in connection with the Bolivar street sewer work was noted yesterday by a Times man, and that was the neat and business-like manner in which Mr. Robson left the street bed on completion of his work.

A Change

It is almost as hard for an old coffee toper to quit the use of coffee as it is for a whiskey or tobacco fiend to break off, except that the coffee user can quit coffee and take up Postum Food Coffee without any feeling of a loss of the morning beverage, for when Postum is well boiled and served with cream, it is really better in point of flavor than most of the coffee served nowadays, and to the taste of the connoisseur it is like the flavor of fine Java.

A great transformation takes place in the body within ten days or two weeks after the coffee is left off and Postum Food Coffee used, for the reason that the poison to the nerves has been discontinued and in its place is taken a liquid that contains the most powerful elements of nourishment.

It is easy to make this test and prove these statements by changing from coffee to Postum Food Coffee.

"There's a reason."

Mormons Change; Go Out of Business

The "Latter Day Saints" to Transfer all Commercial Enterprises to An International Syndicate.

Salt Lake, Utah, May 18.—The Mormon Church is going out of business. Its principal holding in Salt Lake, the Utah Light and Railway Company, is to be taken over by a $25,000,000 corporation, composed of English and American capitalists. The new company will also acquire the Ogden Street Railway, and build an electricline from Uuab County, Utah, to Oneda County, Idaho. It will be known as the Inter-Mountain Consolidated Railroad Company, and will be incorporated both in Utah and Idaho. The Board of Directors will include H. H. Vreeland, New York City; Baron D'Oissel, Paris; Sir Thos. Jackson, London; Wm. G. Rathbone, Manchester, Eng.; Alexander McKenzie, Ottawa, Canada; Henry Dupont, Paris; Beresford Hope, London and a number of Utah men, among them Governor John C. Cutler. The enterprise will be financed through the Inter-Mountain Trust Company, incorporated in Utah and Idah, a few days ago. Simultaneously, the announcement is made that the Salt Lake and Los Angeles Railroad, and other church property, have been sold to a local syndicate for $500,000. This road is thirteen miles in length, and runs from the city to the lake.

BEGAN BUSINESS TO HELP.

President Joseph F. Smith, of the Mormon Church, is quoted as saying that the divorce of religion from business is made on account of the fact that the Mormons whom the Church bought to protect years ago no longer need the protection of the the Church in ubsiness affairs. The Church entered business to assist converts and strangers belonging to the Church but as they are now on a firm footing the church withdrawns from business entirely.

OTHER LARGE HOLDINGS.

If this policy is completely carried out the sale of the traction interests will be followed by the sale of stocks in banks, sugar factories, the great Z.C.M.I. department store, and many smaller stores. It will work a commercial revolution which will profoundly affect the political and social life of the State.

A HARD TASK.

The man who envies any British ministry the task of trying to draw up and pass a satisfactory education bill must be fond of essaying next to impossible undertakings. What will please the Church of England adherents will displease the Nonconformists. What might suit one or the other of these might not suit the Roman Catholics. When all three are to be considered in the same bill it is absolutely certain that one or two of the three will not be satisfied, and it may be that none of them will fully in their hearts approve of the measure. The education bill introduced by Rt. Hon. Mr. Birrell is being fiercely assailed by both the Church people and the Catholic clergy. Both desire to teach religion in the schools and to teach the doctrines of their church, while the Nonconformists fiercely oppose the idea of being taxed to support schools which teach doctrines they do not hold. The Bishop of London, alluding to the clause of the bill which provides compensation when their schools are converted to general uses, says the Church of England has not spent £6,000,000 upon her schools to be paid rent for them, but the rejoinder is made to this that the nation has spent £30,000,000 upon these same schools, and therefore the injustice is not so glaring as it seems. The simple way out of the difficulty would be to have the schools educate the children in all secular matters, leaving the child's religious education to be supplied by the parents at home, the church, and the Sunday school. But childhood is the most plastic period of life; impressions are most strongly received then, and a large class of strong religious people urge that religion should be taught in the daily school, as being one of the most important things to be learned in life. The whole situation resolves itself into this: it is admittedly the duty of the state to see that that the children of its citizens are properly educated. Children must go to school. Then there must be state schools to which all can go without having their religious prejudices or convictions assailed, or denominational schools must be allowed, with their increased cost. The conscience of the Nonconformist will not let him send his children to schools which would teach them that which he cannot skeow. The conscience of the Churchman will not allow him to send his children to school where the teachings of his church are not implanted in the children. The Roman Catholic with different doctrine takes similar ground to the Churchman, and so the difficulty stands. Mr. Birrell has tried to frame a reasonable compromise measure. Whether he has succeeded or not will be seen later. At any rate he has had a most difficult task.

KEENE

The Sons of Rest had a large attendance at their meeting on the park Tuesday night, but at the opening hour it was ascertained that the President was again absent. Several of the brethren were curious to know the cause of his absence. Hosier Roach informed them that he could satisfy their curiosity, as he was an eye witness of the whole transaction. It happened on Sunday afternoon. I presume that you are aware that Cowboy George has a dozen young chicks imprisoned in a coop, which he highly prizes. Well, Minney Wale undertook to inspect the chicks. The old mother hen gave the alarm signal and in less time than I can tell you the old father rooster came to her rescue. The rooster seized Minney Wale by the hose and applied his spurs very freely, inflicting some very ugly wounds on his face and ears. I don't feel very sorry for him, it will teach him a lesson to keep his nose out of chicken coops. In the future, Wole Howarth now informed that Fatty Drummond take the chair, Dunk Elliot secunded the motion, and it was carried unanimously. Fatty then strutted to the front, inspected the strength of the chair, and took his seat. After he made sure that his hair was properly parted in the middle he rose and very reverently opened the meeting with prayer, after which he thanked the brethren for the honor of again filling the president's chair. Now, brethren, if you will kindly give me your attention for a short time I will endeavor to address you on the advantages derived from local option. In the first place, I am under the impression that no person possessed with common sense will argue against the evils of intemperance. What is more disgusting than a drunken man or woman. The money which they spend in drink robs themselves and family of the necessaries of life, as well as ruins their souls and creates bad health. I must confess that the citizens of Gronabeg proved their willingness and loyalty of stamping the accursed trade out of our village by turning out and casting their vote in favor of local option. Brethren, I could talk for a week on this subject, but time will not permit, so I will now stop and leave the meeting open for business. Bobtail Pug rose and laid a charge against Shiney Jim for practicising leap-frog on our sidewalk. Fatty fined Jim sixty dollars, to be paid in four hours or two years in prison. Sport McIntyre laid a charge against Shorty Lukes for eating six yards of taffy at a taffy-pull. Fatty fined Shorty ten cents, to be paid at once. Shorty lucgily found ten cents in his pocket and paid his fine. Fighting Archy laid a charge against Tom Decackey for sporting such a pet of a whisker. Fatty fined Decackey twenty cents, to be paid in one week or he will have the whisker shaved off. Dunk Elliott laid a charge against Floridale Dixon for speeding his horse on Sunday night. Fatty fined Floridale fifty dollars, to be paid in two weeks or he will take a mortgage on his gramotalkophone. Waxy McFarlane laid a charge against Howden Doris for planting potatoes before breakfast. Fatty fined Howden seventy dollars, to be cash down or one year in jail. He paid the fine. Toban Brown laid a charge against Harnessmakers Stillman for waxing his trowel. Fatty fined Harnessmaker six hundred dollars, to be paid in two days or three years imprisonment. Poney Moore rose and said that he had a charge to lay against a brother member who allowed a neighbor's gander to follow him home. Poney said that he would not give him panic this time, but if it ever occurred again he would make it public. Fatty rose and warned the brother, who ever he may be, never to make love to a gander again or he would make it hot for him. Teamerchant Kensley rose and said he intended to give an address on road building, but as it was now 12 o'clock he would postpone his address until some future time. Fatty then asked Buckaw Carter and Farmer was then closed until next Tuesday Scullie to sing the closing ode. They surpassed anything on record and received loud applause. The meeting night.

God Save The King.

They were banqueted on Monday night, Lord Avebury, presiding. Rich. Burdon Haldance, secretary of war, speaking in German, toasted the Emperor and Empress.

He said the outlook commercially between Great Britain and Germany was better than ever before. Germany was fortunate in having an Emperor who is possessed of the real spirit of modern times. It behooved Englishmen, Mr Haldance said, to do the Emperor full justice. He was a great man and had done much for commerce.

One of the visitors from Berlin responding, said Mr. Haldance's remarks would be greatly appreciated in Germany.

During the course of the banquet a telegram was received from King Edward, inviting the German visitors to Windsor Castle on Friday.

Hearts Courageous

By... MALLIE ERMINIE RIVES

Copyright, 1902, by THE BOWEN-MERRILL COMPANY

His name was Jarrat, and he wore the uniform of a captain in his majesty's horse.

To relate that Captain Jarrat had carried his handsome face and debonnaire bearing aboard the ship on the day of sailing, with a letter from Lord Stormont, British ambassador in Paris, hidden in his breast pocket, is to go back a bit. Jarrat was close mouthed. As far as the other passengers were concerned he was a British officer returning to the Virginias. To a nice eye he would have betrayed an overintimate curiosity as to a certain passenger.

The second day out he accosted the skipper, Master Jabez Elves, and wished him fair weather and a good day with an insinuating accent which betokened a bent for conversation. But Master Elves replied only with a nautical grunt.

Jarrat tried a direct inquiry.

"Where is the Marquis de la Trouerie?"

"Sick," replied the skipper. "In his cabin," and rolled away.

"Ah!" smirked Jarrat. "Our French gentleman is a poor sailor."

But as the days went by it became certain that the distinguished passenger was ill of a less passing malady than mal de mer.

On an evening the captain pushed open a narrow cabin door at the end of a passage, but before he could enter a young man sprang up and barred the way.

"You cannot see him."

"I would see the Marquis de la Trouerie," said Jarrat.

"You cannot see him, monsieur." The young man's tone was very firm.

"Who are you?"

"The marquis' secretary, monsieur."

Jarrat took a gold crown from his pocket and offered it to the other with the easy effrontery of one perfectly certain of his ground. Every underling, it was his belief, had his price, from lackeys to prime ministers. It is a theory which on the whole works not badly.

The man before him, however, was of another sort. He put the coin back. "You cannot see the marquis, monsieur," he repeated.

"Cannot, you whelp!" said Jarrat, with his tongue on his lip and in the soft tone which with him covered a white boil of rage. A copper lantern, pierced with holes, threw yellow beams down the passage, and in this glare the young man on the threshold saw his face, evilly beautiful and distorted. The coin rattled on the floor.

The young Frenchman stooped to pick up a gold piece. "Monsieur has dropped his crown," he said, holding it out.

Jarrat took it and thrust it into his pocket. "It was too small a douceur," he said easily, "eh, master secretary?"

Most of those on the ship did not know, so insular were the prejudices of the Anglo-Saxon, that the Marquis de la Trouerie was a personage in his own country. Even Caron de Beaumarchais, son of a watchmaker, that airy, naive, fantastic charlatan who at the age of twenty-four had washed his hands at his father's shop, changed his clothes and gone to court to give the four daughters of Louis XV. lessons on the harp—even he was less welcome at the Tuileries or less a favorite of the young Queen Marie Antoinette than this same nobleman now aboard the Two Sisters.

It is perhaps not to be wondered at that the passengers knew little of such things and doubtless for the most part cared less. Two Annapolis merchants, loyal since the nonimportation agreements had pinched their pockets; a brace of London factors looking for likely agencies; a Virginian fresh from study in the Middle Temple, bound for the woolsack at Lancaster; a British quartermaster journeying to Boston—what should such a company know of Gallic pedigrees or the chatter of the French court?

A diplomat might have found in the presence of the marquis something to ponder. For at that time strange things were stirring. Louis XVI., young, enthusiastic, unaccustomed, was learning for the first how exceeding difficult it is to be a king. M. Turgot, his grim old minister of finance, logical, pitiless, cold as a dog's nose, was pulling one way; Beaumarchais, brilliant as a chameleon, fascinating, egotist, intimate of a French queen, was pulling another.

And what was the bone of contention? Whether France should give her treasure to the secret aid of the American colonies. With such counsels in the air England slept, like a surly bulldog, with one eye open. She watched at home, and her astute ambassador, Lord Stormont, kept a hawk's eye upon the Tuileries.

So, in itself, there was an interest for those who knew, attaching to the sudden journeying to America of this man, so near to the French counsels, at once a noble, a courtier and a republican. And this interest was intensified for Jarrat, who, mindful of the letter he carried of confidential import, hugged the reflection that he knew the reason for it.

Jarrat, like many another schemer, made the error of undervaluing the intellectuality of an opponent. He had small idea that the marquis' young secretary was observant in his turn. It was nevertheless the fact. But M. Armand, who had scented him very early, kept his cabin, and no one aboard—the ship carried no leech—saw his master.

Four days after the episode of the gold crown Jarrat tried the skipper again.

Master Elves chewed a bitter cud and wore a habitual droop to his eye. Now the courtesy came as thickly as cold weather treacle.

"The Marquis de la Trouerie," he answered, "ain't on the ship."

Jarrat stepped back heavily. "Not on the ship, fiend plague me! He is on the ship."

Present Price of Stock FIVE Cents per Share

If you want to get in on the ground floor before the price advances to 10 Cents per share, NOW IS YOUR CHANCE

When The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Company was organized the officers of the company foresaw the certainty of a big mining boom in Clear Creek County, Colorado, U.S.A., and they congratulated themselves on securing a property which showed 1,500 feet of development work, and could be classed with the MINES of the region.

The steady increase in the mineral production of the county, new strikes, the development of old mines at depth (proving the continuity of the ore bodies and the increased richness of the ores), the availability of mining supplies, the abundance of water the great amount of timber for mining and fuel, the adaptability of the topography for deep tunnel mining, and the large number of milling and smelting plants, means that the district possesses all the elements of successful and economical mining.

It was a foregone conclusion that investors would awake to a realization of the conditions, and inaugurate a new boom in 1906. It is but natural that they should desire to place their money in a locality that shows more PROVEN MINES than prospects, and where the chances for speedy returns are greater than the chances of loss. Because of economic conditions money will go farther in development work and bring RESULTS quicker. Many new companies have recently been organized, foremost among them being The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co. Stock in all Clear Creek County companies is finding a ready market among both Eastern and Western investors, and in consequence The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co forestalled the boom by securing one of the best mining propositions in the locality, consisting of 16 mining claims, situated on Standard Mountain, in the Ohio and Jackson Mining District, two and one-half miles south of Idaho Springs. The Gold Leaf properties are credited with a past production of $75,000, and the tunnel is being steadily driven toward the rich ore bodies from whence former shipments were made. The old workings are now drowned with water which the tunnel will drain and also give unlimited stoping ground for the ores. Surrounding mines have produced over $11,500,000 Now is the time to purchase stock. When we re-open our ore the opportunity will be lost to investors.

Don't overlook this exceptional opportunity! Think of the acreage; Think of the development work done; Think of the past ore production; Think of the future possibilities; Think of investing—THEN ACT AT ONCE!

Sufficient stock subscriptions have already been received to carry our Frontier Tunnel a distance of 600 feet, or to the Standard Vein, from which point ore shipments will be resumed. Future stock subscriptions will be applied on the purchase of a power plant or on contracts to facilitate the work of driving the tunnel.

Our General Manager estimates that the completion of the tunnel will place at our disposal OVER FOUR MILES OF ORE, aggregating 96,000,000 tons.

Exhaustion All Gone!

To-day She is Buoyant With Health and Vital Energy Given by A Medicine Suited to the Female Sex.

There is no medicine for health and strength that accomplishes so much as Dr. Hamilton's Pills. For womanly troubles they have no equal.

Miss Katie E. Emerson, one of Brockton's popular young ladies, in the following letter voices the conviction of hosts of her friends:

"Two months ago I was completely used up. I was weak and miserable. My strength was gone, and I had no appetite or energy left. What I needed was a blood purifier and spermatic tonic which I found in Dr. Hamilton's Pills. To-day I am brimming over with spirits and virile good health that came from using Dr. Hamilton's Pills."

No one can over-estimate the true worth of Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Their enormous curative power makes one marvel. You soon have richer blood, better appetite, clearer complexion, freedom from weakness and ill-health. Dr. Hamilton's Pills are sold everywhere 25c. per box, or five boxes for $1. By mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S.A., and Kingston, Ont.

Keely Cure in Peterboro.

Yesterday the Snowden House made a change in staff, a new porter being engaged. This change caused one of the hotel patrons to get off a pun that whilst properly punishable by ten years at hard labor, was forgiven. As three or four gentlemen were sampling the ice cold foaming lager, one of them said, "Say, Harry, do you know you can get the Keeley cure right in the house now?" This interrogation was explained by the fact that the new porter in of the same name as the gentleman, now deceased, who reaped a golden crop of millions by the far-famed "Keeley Cure."

POLICE NEWS

Daily Happenings in Court Room and Station.

Yesterday the "Arrah be alay," club had a short but interesting relief from their daily avocation, that of supporting public buildings on the shady side, absorbing an intellectual feast at the police court.

Thomas Welsh, of English parentage, and a decided distate for work ing between meals, was charged with being a vagrant. It seems that that Thomas, a few days ago occupied the dock, on a similar charge and was allowed to get into the invigorating rays of the May sunshine, although warned not to revist the court under penalty of six months in the Central.

Thomas, however, fell from grace or reliable memory fail was picked up by P. C. Rutherford, the bran new constable, whilst sitting on the sign board fronting a window of the confectionery store on George and Charlotte streets.

Chief Roszel said that the prisoner walked into a residence on Aylmer street, Wednesday afternoon, saying that he was a plumber and had come to fix some pipes. He was drunk at the time and also when arrested. The prisoner tried to explain that he was not drunk and had employment. His story, however, did not succeed in melting the magistrate's heart, the latter signing papers, whereby Thomas is entitled to six months' board and lodging in the Central Prison, Toronto.

A poor unfortunate woman, who whilst respectably connected in this city, has fallen under the dominion of King Booze, pleaded not guilty to a charge of vagrancy, preferred against her. Chief Roszel testified to her having been found helplessly drunk on Sherbrooke street. She had also served two terms in the Mercer reformatory.

The woman was remanded until Saturday in order to get more evidence.

David Doig, a local junk dealer, was charged with stealing a quantity of brass from the Wm. Hamilton foundry.

Mr. Dennistoun appeared for the defendant and put in a plea of not guilty, and the case was enlarged until Tuesday. Doig was allowed out on $400 bail.

Another case of riding a bicycle on the sidewalks of the city, was investigated with the usual result, $2.00.

Yesterday afternoon, P. C. Stewart arrested "Bob" Black, a soldier, just returned from South Africa, for striking a man in front of the Little Windsor Hotel.

Last night a Times' man asked Black, how he got into the mix-up. Black said there had been trouble between him and the man he struck, adding, "I have not got my money's worth out of him yet."

This S.A. veteran, who claims to have spent eight years in Africa, and to have held a silver cup for good marksmanship, will explain matters to his worship this morning.

Havelock Man Sues For Slander

Michael McGlade Wants $2,000 for Being Accused of Being Drunk.

Havelock has a real live $2,000 suit for slander ahead of it. Michael McGlade, of that burg, an engineer in the employ of the C.P.R., has issued a writ in the High Court of Justice against Wm. Y. Fairman, also of Havelock, for $2,000 damages for alleged slanderous statements, to the effect that the former was intoxicated at the time an accident happened to his engine.

Fairman denies having made the statement.

Handsome Gifts For Mr. H. Smith

Foreman of C. G. E. Co. Presented With Gold Chain, Watch and Locket.

A pleasant function was that when Mr. W. Harry Smith, a foreman at the Canadian General Electric Works, who is leaving shortly to take up his residence in the Northwest, was waited on at his residence, and by employes of the brass foundry was presented with a gold chain and locket, and by the foreman of the works with a handsome gold watch. These splendid and tangible tokens of esteem, were in each case accompanied by kindly and appropriate worded addresses.

For the Stomach Heart and Kidneys

Dr. Shoop's Restorative is a Cause Cure — not a Symptom Cure.

It is a common mistake to take artificial digesters for stomach troubles—or heart stimulants for weak heart—or so-called kidney remedies for diseased kidneys. These organs do not act separately or of their own accord—they have no control over themselves—and not once in 100 times is the sickness the fault of the organs. It is the fault of the nerves which control the organs—and only through these nerves can stomach, kidney [illegible] be cured. Dr. Shoop of Racine, Wisconsin, learned early in his medical experience that those inside nerves [illegible] were the power nerves—that [illegible] through them only was it possible to secure [illegible] digestion, heart [illegible] bowels, bladder, heart weak[illegible] nerves, and all Bright's disease [illegible] and all other affections [illegible] of the kidneys. For all of [illegible] are not separable [illegible] stomach and are not to be treated [illegible] as much. They are merely symptoms of [illegible] inside nerve weakness, and when the [illegible] nerves are restored the symptoms and the [illegible] sickness disappears. The remedy which Dr. Shoop prescribed for these ailing nerves is known as Dr. Shoop's Restorative. It relieves the pain and distress of kidney, stomach and heart troubles quicker even than those medicines designed simply to give temporary relief. Dr. Shoop's Restorative can now be had of druggists everywhere. For sale and recommended by

Woman's Trials.

The bitter toll in a woman's life is to be childless. Who can tell how hard the struggle may have been ere she learnt to resign herself to her lonely lot? The absence of this link to bind marital life together, the absence of this one pledge to mutual affection is a common disappointment. Many unfortunate couples become estranged thereby. Even if they do not drift apart, one may read the whole extent of their disappointment in the eyes of such a childless couple when they rest on the children of others. To them the largest family does not seem too numerous. In the case of barrenness or childlessness the obstacle to child-bearing is easily removed by the cure of weakness on the part of the woman. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has been the means of restoring health and fruitfulness to many a home, paving the way, to the great joy of the household. In other, but rare cases, the interposition to the bearing of children has been found to be of a surgical character, but easily removable by painless operative measures at the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., over which Dr. Pierce of the "Favorite Prescription" fame presides. In all cases where children are desired and are absent, an effort should be made to find out the real cause, and to remove it by such means as will give proper treatment.

In all the various weaknesses, displacements, prolapsus, inflammation and debilitating, catarrhal drains and in all cases of nervousness and debility, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the most efficient remedy that can possibly be used. It has to its credit hundreds of thousands of cures—more in fact than any other remedy put up for sale through druggists, especially for woman's use. The ingredients of which the "Favorite Prescription" is composed have received the most positive endorsement from the leading medical writers on Materia Medica of all the several schools of practice. All the ingredients are printed on plain English on the wrapper enclosing the bottle, so that any woman making use of this famous medicine may know exactly what she is taking. Dr. Pierce takes his patients into his full confidence, which he can afford to do as the formula after which the "Favorite Prescription" is made will bear the most careful examination.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are the best and safest laxative for women.

To-day She is Buoyant With Health and Vital Energy Given by A Medicine Suited to the Female Sex.

There is no medicine for health and strength that accomplishes so much as Dr. Hamilton's Pills. For womanly troubles they have no equal.

Miss Katie E. Emerson, one of Brockton's popular young ladies, in the following letter voices the conviction of hosts of her friends:

What I needed was a blood purifier and spring tonic which I found in Dr. Hamilton's Pills. To-day I am brimming over with spirits and virile good health that came from using Dr. Hamilton's Pills."

No one can over-estimate the true worth of Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Their enormous curative power makes one marvel. Mr. Deunistoun appeared for the defendant and put in a plea of not guilty, and the case was enlarged until Tuesday. Doig was allowed out on $400 bail.

Another case of riding a bicycle on the sidewalks of the city, was investigated with the usual result, $2.00.

Yesterday afternoon, P. C. Stewart arrested "Bob" Black, a soldier, just returned from South Africa, for striking a man in front of the Little Windsor Hotel.

Last night a Times' man asked Black, how he got into the six-up. Black said there had been trouble between him and the man he struck, adding, "I have not got my money's worth out of him yet."

This S.A. veteran, who claims to have spent eight years in Africa, and to have held a silver cup for good marksmanship, will explain matters to his worship this morning.

Havelock Man Sues For Slander

Michael McGlade Wants $2,000 for Being Accused of Being Drunk.

Havelock has a real live $2,000 suit for slander ahead of it. Michael McGlade, of that burg, an engineer in the employ of the C.P.R., has issued a writ in the High Court of Justice against Wm. Y. Fairman, also of Havelock, for $2,000 damages for alleged slanderous statements, to the effect that the former was intoxicated at the time an accident happened to his engine.

Fairman denies having made the statement.

Handsome Gifts For Mr. H. Smith

Foreman of C. G. E. Co. Presented With Gold Chain, Watch and Locket.

A pleasant function was that when Mr. W. Harry Smith, a foreman at the Canadian General Electric Works, who is leaving shortly to take up his residence in the Northwest, was waited on at his residence, and by employes of the brass foundry, was presented with a gold chain and locket, and by the foremen of the works with a handsome gold watch. These splendid and tangible tokens of esteem, were in each case accompanied by kindly and appropriate worded addresses.

For the Stomach Heart and Kidneys

Dr. Shoop's Restorative is a Cause Cure—not a Symptom Cure.

It is a common mistake to take artificial digestors for stomach troubles—or heart stimulants for weak heart—or so-called kidney remedies for diseased kidneys. These organs do not act separately or of their own accord—they have no control over themselves—and not once in ten times is the sickness the fault of the organ. It is the fault of the nerves which control the organs, and only through these nerves can stomach, kidney [illegible] be cured. Dr. Shoop, of Racine, Wisconsin, learned early in his medical experience that these inside nerves were the power nerves—that through them only was it possible to reach indigestion, heart [illegible], backache, kidney [illegible], headache, heart weakness, nervousness, and Bright's disease. Some and all other affections of the kidneys. Per all of these ailments are not separate and are not to be treated as such. They are merely symptoms of nerve weakness, and when the nerves are restored the symptoms and the sickness disappear. The remedy which Dr. Shoop prescribed for these ailing nerves is known as Dr. Shoop's Restorative. It relieves the pain and distress at once, stomach and heart troubles quicken even then these medicines designed simply to give temporary relief. Dr. Shoop's Restorative can now be had of druggists everywhere. For sale and recommended by

Woman's Trials.

The bitter trail in a woman's life is to be childless. Who can tell how hard the struggle may be to bear cruelty and neglect from husband, for her only fault? The absence of the link to bind married life together, the absence of this one pledge of mutual affection is a common disappointment. Many unfortunate couples pursue estrangement thereby. Even if they do not drift apart, one may read the whole system of their disappointment in the eyes of such a childless couple when they rest on the children of others. To them the largest family does not seem too numerous.

In many cases of barrenness or childlessness, inability to child-bearing is easily removed by the cure of weakness on the part of the woman. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has been the means of restoring health and fruitfulness to many a barren woman, to the great joy of the household. In other, but rare cases, the obstruction to the bearing of children has been found to be of a surgical character, but easily removable by painless operative treatment at the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., over which Dr. Pierce of the "Favorite Prescription" fame presides. In all cases where children are desired and are absent, an effort should be made to find out the real cause, and the [illegible] proper treatment.

In all the various weaknesses, displacements, prolapsus, inflammation and debilitating, catarrhal drains and in all cases of nervousness and debility, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the most efficient remedy that can possibly be used. It has to its credit hundreds of thousands of cures—more in fact than any other remedy put up for sale through druggists, especially for woman's use. The ingredients of which the "Favorite Prescription" is composed have received the most positive endorsement from the leading medical writers on Materia Medica of all the several schools of practice. All the ingredients are printed in plain English on the wrapper enclosing the bottle, so that any woman making use of this famous medicine may know exactly what she is taking. Dr. Pierce takes his patients into his full confidence, which he can afford to do as the formula after which the "Favorite Prescription" is made will bear the most careful examination.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are the best and safest laxative for women.

Sewer to Be Built By Day Labor

Fourteen Cement Crossings to be Laid at a Cost of $700--Ald. Hicks Thinks $2,000 More Should Be Spent On This Work.

The Board of Works met last night, when there were present: Chairman Ald. Hicks, Elliott, McIntyre, Graham, Wilson, Adams and Tovey.

Four tenders were received for the Water street sewer, from Smith to Hilliard street, as follows:

From J. E. Hay—$1.28 per foot, or a lump sum of $2,686. Short connections, $10; long connections $25.

From Richard Sheehy—$1.33 per foot; $9 for short connections; $25 for long connections.

From John Robson—$1.23 1-4 a foot; 53c. per lineal foot for private connections.

From City Engineer—$1.20 per foot; short connections $7, and long connections $19.50, including 10 manholes. Work to be done by day labor.

Short connections are about 14 feet, and long connections about 45 feet.

Ald. Adams moved, that the city engineer be instructed to build the Water street sewer by day labor.

LIGHT & POWER CO. SIDING.

Mr. Larmonth, of the Peterboro Light & Power Co., asked the Board for permission to immediately commence work on a siding from the C.P.R. spur line up Simcoe street to the company's gas works, the plant of which they are enlarging. They are in a hurry, as they have ordered a big 150 tons steel and iron holder, which will arrive within three weeks. They are also having about 150 tons of pipe coming the next month. Putting the siding in now is a business proposition, as they get a rebate on every car, and they expect 30 or 40 cars at once.

The outside rail of this proposed siding will run just about on the sidewalk line. The siding would not interfere with any crossing on Simcoe street, which the city might wish to run across Simcoe street to the dock.

Mr. W. H. Meldrum, of the Peterboro Cereal Co., said they would oppose this measure on the ground that last year the Peterboro Light & Power Co., opposed his proposition to construct a similar siding to the Peterboro Cereal mills. At that time he would not have objected to a siding running up Simcoe street; but he strongly does so now that his company's buildings have been constructed in accordance with existing conditions. The proposed siding asked for by Mr. Larmonth, would obstruct the cereal company's farmers' street his business, and the taint from coal oil being wafted into the cereal company's buildings, would taint their cereals. No company, urged Mr. Meldrum, has a right to construct a siding to the injury of another company's business, and he expressed the utmost confidence in being able to successfully oppose such a siding being built.

Mr. Meldrum, from a citizen's standpoint, opposed this measure on the ground that the siding would be an obstruction to ready and safe access to the dock to be built along the water front at this point.

Mr. Larmonth,—"We can run a street railway line up the middle of the street, and shunt our cars in at night if we like, and nothing could stop us. We would only have shunted in three or four cars a month, one only of which would be coal oil.

Ald. Elliott moved, seconded by Ald. Graham,—That this matter be referred to the city engineer, he to report to the Board of Works.—Carried.

ELECTRICAL EXPERT.

Ald. McIntyre moved, seconded by Ald. Graham,—That the city clerk write Mr. A. L. Aitkins, Toronto, and ask him his terms for inspecting the electrical wiring in the city, and report as to any defects liable to endanger life and property. Also to suggest any regulations for wiring the city might advantageously make.—Carried.

TO GRADE SIDEWALK.

Mr. Middleton asked the Board to establish without delay the grade on Water street between Antrim and Edinburg, as the hollow at this point is to be built upon and the grade should be struck before cellars can be constructed.

The engineer was instructed to strike the grade on Water street, as asked for, and also to strike the grade on Stewart street, north of Hunter.

OUTSIDE OR INSIDE TREES.

Mr. Harry Morgan asked the Board on behalf of interested ratepayers to construct the new macadamized walk on Park street, outside the trees.

Ald. Hicks doubted the wisdom of building a sidewalk outside the trees on a main avenue like Park street. He did not believe in the policy of narrowing the roads of main arteries to beautify private property. It was decided to await a regularly signed petition from the ratepayers on this question. If sufficiently signed the sidewalk will go outside the trees.

A COMPLAINT.

Contractor J. Hogue wrote, complaining that the council has failed to carry out their agreement with him on the matter of payments on the outfall sewer in ward five. He claims that he has not been paid on the septic tank according to agreement.

Ald. McIntyre moved, seconded by Ald. Tovey,—That Mr. Chipman, of Toronto, the engineer of the outfall sewer in ward five, be asked to come here and arbitrate between the city and Mr. Hogue on all matters connected with the above work, providing Mr. Hogue agrees to abide by Mr. Chipman's decision—Carried.

MAKING NEW LAND.

Ald. Tovey moved, seconded by Ald. Elliott,—That the offer of Mr. Sing, the chief engineer of the Department of Public Works, to deliver the dredgings from the river across the C.P.R. tracks, for creating new land along the water front, be accepted.—Carried.

CONCRETE CROSSINGS.

The Board have an appropriation of $700 for concrete crossing. This will allow of 14 being constructed, and the Board ordered the following eleven to be proceeded with, three left for later decision; four at Aylmer and George; one at Smith and George, one at Aylmer and Charlotte; one at Hunter and George, one at McDonell and George, one at Brock and George, one at Ware and Murray, one at McDonnel and Aylmer, and one west side of Rubidge at Sherbrooke, two across Reid street at the new separate school. Ald. Hicks thought that as 90 per cent. of public travel is over crossings, $2,000 more should be spent in cement crossings.

TO FIX CHAMBERLAINE STREET

Ald. Tovey asked that Chamberlaine street be stoned and gravelled, as the traffic, consequent upon so much traffic having recently arisen by reason of building operations and the establishing of the sand brick concern.

This will be attended to.

TO REPAIR ROADS.

Reid street will be repaired with gravel and broken stone, from London street north; also George from London street north, and Water street, north from Smith.

MONEY MELTING AWAY.

Ald. Hicks pointed out that the Board's appropriation was $16,700. The fixed expenditure for sidewalks, labor and material was $11,675. The amount left for use by the Board is now $9,186. Of this Chairman Hicks thought $2,000 should be spent for concrete crossings.

The Board then adjourned.

Poles and Wires Off George Street

Mr. Duckworth of G. N. W. T. Co. Agrees to Remove Poles on Conditions.

As foretold in The Times, the result of the meeting on Thursday between Mr. Duckworth, superintendent of the G.N.W. Telegraph Co., for Ontario, and Ald. R. F. McWilliams, chairman of the Manufacturers' Committee, which now has charge of the Bell Telephone Co.'s underground proposition, has resulted, as strongly advocated by The Times, in an agreement made by the former gentleman to remove his company's poles and wires off George street.

Mr. Duckworth, after pointing out the self-evident fact that his company occupied very little of the space on the west side of George St., that they would, to take down their present wires, be at some expense for cables incumbent on the change. He simply asked that the city pay a fair percentage of this cost.

It seems to us that the city would be amply justified in paying a small sum to get our main thoroughfare cleared of the present dangerous and unsightly array of wire covered poles.

This great advantage to Peterboro, is directly an outcome of the progressive and enterprising action of the Bell Telephone Co., in offering to place their thousands of overhead wires underground, and that company should be helped all they can by the city in accomplishing this laudable purposes.

Czar Won't Dissolve the Government

St. Petersburg, May 18.—The critical moment which will decide whether there will be peace or war between the Crown and the people apparently arrived with the adoption by the lower House of Parliament last night, of its reply to the speech from the throne at the opening of Parliament. President Mouromtzeff has gone to Peterhof to present the reply to the Emperor, and his Majesty's response is awaited with great anxiety.

Popular opinion considers that the Government has no option between surrender or war. Nevertheless, while events during the past week followed each other with extreme rapidity, the issue now raised is not likely to be decided quickly. The Russians generally believe that the Emperor, the Court, and the Government have undoubtedly been dazed by the blunt, direct fashion with which Parliament has spoken out, and their policy naturally will be to gain time. The Emperor personally is in a beneficent frame of mind for the present, and will not listen to the counsels of those who advise him to dissolve Parliament and fight. Nevertheless his Majesty is resolved not to yield all that the Parliament demands. It can safely be predicted, therefore, that he will pursue a temporizing policy, with partial amnesty as the first sop thrown to the country.

The Constitutional Democratic leaders, whose program would be upset by the dissolution of Parliament, are quite as anxious as the Emperor to avoid the precipitation of a conflict. They would regard the failure of the Government to declare war as a big preliminary victory of which they would take advantage by forcing through their agrarian project, upon which they count to strengthen themselves in the country before the final battle opens.

EGGING ON A FIGHT.

That the court reactionists, headed by Gen. Trepoff, are seeking in every way possible to influence his Majesty to fight, is apparent by the discovery made by the Rech of a secret circular sent to the governors instructing them to have the "Black Hundred" organizations immediately despatch to the Emperor protests against amnesty and the abolition of the death penalty. These have been flowing into Peterhof from all directions, over fifty being printed in the Official Messenger this morning.

Despatches from the interior report demonstrations in front of the prisons in all parts of Russia in favor of the release of the political prisoners. At Simferopol troops surrounded the prisons and fired at them through the windows.

In St. Petersburg the political prisoners awaiting transportation put out red flags from the windows, and sang the "Marseillaise" throughout the night, while crowds outside joined in the revolutionary songs.

Conservatory is Well Sustained

Splendid Musical Treat in Y. M. C. A. Hall.

Yesterday evening an audience, that whilst of good size, was perhaps more characteristic of Peterboro's most talented and appreciative musical talent, thoroughly enjoyed the treat given in the Y.M.C.A. hall under auspices of the local Conservatory of Music.

Mr. R. Glidden of the local conservatory could not, last night but have been pleased by the appreciation in evidence concerning the numbers rendered.

Mr. H. M. Field, of the Conservatory, in his several renderings from Liszt and Wagner, displayed a rare teeniqne, touch and feeling that appealed to all those qualified to judge.

Miss Adelaide M. Heath's readings from Longfellows' immortal Evangeline, was given with an assured touch with this beloved American poet, and a close acquaintance with the finer points of elocution.

Taken as a whole, last night's entertainment, was one of the most classically correct and perfectly rendered musical treats that this city has had in many a day.

Herr Wilhelmj was unfortunately unable to be present, but will give a recital at an early date, at which all who held tickets for last night's entertainment will be admitted.

Mr. Letellier Laid to Rest.

The funeral of Mr. Achilles Letellier took place yesterday morning from his late residence to St. Peter's Cathedral and thence to the Roman Catholic cemetery. There was a large number of mourners in attendance, testifying to the widely extended popularity of the deceased.

C. P. R. Hotel Sold to Mr. H. Waters

Well Known Local Hotel Passes Into Hands of An Englishman.

It will be remembered by our readers that the local License Commissioners, gave Mr. Jas. Allen, proprietor of the Allen House (formerly C.P.R. Hotel), notice to sell out within three months.

Yesterday, Mr. Allen completed arrangements whereby he has sold his business to Mr. Harry Waters of Hastings, England. The advertisement, required by law, concerning the proposed change of license will be advertised within a day or two. Mr. Allen is about to enter the real estate business in the city, and from his wide acquaintance expects to do a large trade. A Times representative yesterday interviewed Mr. Geo. Cochrane, local license inspector, and was told by him that the deal regarding the hotel is practically consummated. Mr. Waters is a married man and has good recommendations as a respectable man well qualified to run a hotel in strict accordance with the license law.

Very Speedy Walkers!

Brockville, May 18.—George Cummings and John McDonald, two young men, who passed here in March, claiming that they were on a transcontinental pedestrian trip from Sydney, Cape Breton, to San Francisco, Cal., and return, passed through here today en route for home. They expect to reach Montreal by the end of the week, and from there will complete the distance to Sydney in six weeks. They are away ahead of schedule time.

Often times in the sudden illnesses of children if a reliable remedy is available fatal consequences can be avoided. For these emergencies parents are urged to have at hand ready for immediate use Dr. Shoop's Diphtheria Cure, Dr. Shoop's Croup Cure, Dr. Shoop's Worm Cure and Dr. Shoop's Pain Panacea. Children's ailments demand promptness above all else. There is nothing harsh or that can possibly harm in any of these excellent household medicines. Sold by J. D. Tully.

POLICE NEWS

Daily Happenings in Court Room and Station.

Yesterday only one case occupied the attention of his Worship in the police court, that of a South African veteran, by name "Bob" Black, who, having absorbed an undue quantity of the extract which loosens tongues, unbalances judgments and backs up arguments by a quick use of fists, got into a scrap on Brock street and caused his fist to come into collision with another man's features, and who was charged with being D. & D.

Bob was assessed $1, to be paid in ten days.

Peterboro Pays Far Too Much

Other Theater Goers Pay 10c. For What We Are Soaked Far More.

The Georgian Minstrels who have been playing to ten-cent houses in Toronto, will appear here in the Grand Opera House at 35c and 50c. We must congratulate those interested in playing the theater-goers of this city for suckers. The company used to be a good one, but why should Peterboro be victimized and soaked on excessive prices? Some of the shows that have been patronized here, at tip-top prices, could not get three men and a dog to attend in any other town, but what the theater management evidently consider to be filled with green-horns. It is now up to our local citizens to demand talent in accordance with prices charged.

Another point to consider is this; Why do certain minstrel companies split their shows and only send about half their real talent to the smaller towns and cities, but stiff charge the same prices as Toronto pays.

Local Power Sold in Toronto

Locks' Water Power to Be Sold in Toronto June 13th.

It is a well known fact that this city, for many years dormant as to her great opportunities given by nature for water power, has, during the past decade awakened and has taken advantage of her great gifts.

The various water powers along the Otonabee river, between Lakefield and Peterboro, are being bought up. There are only two left, viz., dam No. 4 and dam No. 2. Below the city, what is known as the locks dam, the water power is about to be put up by auction. This dam has a fall of 8-10 feet, and will develope, approximately, at high water mark, some 2,414 electrical horse power.

The sale will take place on Wednesday, June 13th, in Toronto.

C. P. R. Surveyors Busily at Work

The Victoria Harbor to Peterboro Line Being Prepared.

A Coldwater paper says: The C.P.R. surveyors on this branch struck town last week and have been working in the vicinity ever since. The line they have struck causes considerable consternation as it passes through the fair ground, on through R. J. Woon's residence, and across Main street, through the Craddock property taking the greater part of Manning's furniture room. It continues through the lockup, crosses Gray street and proceeds at an angle through the Gray and Caswell properties until it strikes the Toronto Sudbury branch. We understand this is the final location as it is the most feasible route yet surveyed. It will spoil this part of the village but we will have to put up with it. It will be very convenient to have the train pass in front of our door.

Those who have taken other laxatives without satisfaction—and those who have taken such quantities of other laxatives that they have lost their effect—will find a pleasant surprise in LAX-FIS. There is usually no pain, griping, nausea, or discomfort, even in severe cases. This candy bowel laxative—LAX-FIS—is only 5c. and is sold by J. D. Tully.

The People's Voice Raised in Anger

The People Opposed to Graft---An Impartial Investigation Demanded.

WHO HAS THE PROCEEDS?

(To the Editor of The Times.)

Sir,—Will The Times kindly inform the public who removed the fences from the Separate School grounds and under whose authority they were taken.

DISGUSTED RATEPAYER.

[The Times hopes to be able to answer the above at an early date.—Ed.]

AN INVESTIGATION DEMANDED.

(To the Editor of The Times.)

Sir,—Though only a working man, I take a deep interest in everything that makes for the interest of the people. In the disclosures which have recently been made regarding the Separate School building, I think a full and impartial investigation should be made forthwith. I would go back at least a year so as to cover the painting scandal of last summer.

I hope The Times will take this matter up and push it vigorously.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for your space, I am, etc.

JOHN M. LANG.

GRAFT AND THE SCHOOLS.

(To the Editor of The Times.)

Sir,—As an old ratepayers, though only a working man, I was tickled to see there was one man, at all events, who wanted to see the interests of the town protected. The letter from "Justice," in today's paper, just hit the nail on the head, and I was glad to see it. It looks to me as if there is a lot of underhand humbug going on in the School Board, and that some of the members seem to be "standing in" or afraid to do the square thing for the people. I am glad you are not afraid to let the light in.

But where is the "Examiner's" burning interest on behalf of the citizens all gone to? A few days ago they were spending columns of ink, and pretty nearly all their space, about building a school in the south end; but now that what Mr. Dumble describes as a "crime," has been committed against the people, we don't hear a word from those who were howling day after day about the new school which God knows we needed.

I believe if an open and independent examination of School Board affairs for the last two years is made, it will surprise some of our virtuous citizens.

Yours,
SOUTH WARD.

Peterboro, May 18, 1906.

WHERE IS THE FENCE?

A prominent citizen called on The Times yesterday and suggested that the proceeds from the sale of the fence which was removed from the Separate School be accounted for. If it ever was disposed of, who got the money? It is said the fence was "taken" in the interests of the 57th Regiment. Will Colonel Miller tell the public if the Regiment has or has not received quid pro quo? The public has a right to know what becomes of the property of the ratepayers.

Four Children For the Shelter

Mr. Cochrane After Due Consideration Takes Children From Parents.

Yesterday afternoon, about 4.30, an excited man, by name Myers, who resides at 36 Weir street, on George street, accosted, in excited manner and business-like omen, Mr. George Cochrane, agent of the local Children's Aid Society, saying, "What have you done with my children?"

Mr. Cochrane, in spite of the excited way in which Myers addressed him, kept perfectly calm, and said, "Now, we will not discuss this matter in public, it will all be settled in the police court tomorrow."

It seems that Mr. Cochrane yesterday, after due and extended enquiries among the neighbors living on Weir and other streets, near Myer's residence, having received complaints that Myer's children were being neglected, owing possibly to too frequent and deep potations, took four of his children to the Shelter on Charlotte street.

The whole matter will be threshed out this morning at the police court.

Rattray Leaves For Havelock

Local Baseball Team is Somewhat Weakened But Still Confident.

Yesterday, Rattray, the local catchstop, left for Havelock, where he will do the receiving for the Trent Valley team of that town this season.

This may seem sad for the local ball team, and also helps to support the rumor that Peterboro will have no ball team this season. It is also rumored that Dubber Shea will change his residence before long to Campbellford.

However, Mr. Martin Connors, the indefatigueable head of the local team seems to have a baseball card or two up his sleeve, that will be played when occasion demands. We advise our readers not to lose faith in Mr Connors' bunch, nor to pay their simeleons too freely on what ever the Peterboro team may go up against.

CAN YOU RESIST DISEASE GERMS?

Yes, and become "Germ-proof" by Driving Out Blood Humors and Restoring the System.

Why are doctors and hospitals so busy in spring-time? Easily answered. People haven't made surplus vigor in the spring; it was all used up in fighting off colds through the winter.

With thin blood and low vitality, the germs of disease become active and cause fevers and debility.

Your one protection is to get the abundant vigor that Ferrozone so quickly supplies; it gives spring sickness that "tired feeling," restores nerve energy and instills vim and force into every ailing organ of the body.

No abler restorative is known than Ferrozone; its influence is not temporary but lasting, laying a sound foundation of health that lasts till old age.

Mr. Nazaire Begin, of Watton, P.Q., Que., who received enormous benefit from Ferrozone, writes: "I cannot speak too highly in praise of Ferrozone. If any one had told me that any remedy could build up my nervous system so well, I wouldn't have believed it.

"Before using Ferrozone I was run down in nerve and vital energy, and in very weak health.

"I didn't get enough sleep at night and felt poorly in the day time.

"Ferrozone has filled me up with energy and vim, increased my weight and made a new man of me."

Your health through the summer depends on clearing away all traces of spring sickness; the remedy is Ferrozone. Sold by all dealers, 50c. per box, or six boxes for $2.50. By mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S.A., and Kingston, Ont.

NATIONAL DRINK BILLS.

Statesmen as well as social reformers devote considerable attention to the question of the amount spent annually by the people in the purchase of alcoholic liquors, since in nearly every country the government collects a large revenue, in one way or another, on these articles. In the United Kingdom, during the past few years, the Chancellor of the Exchequer has had to report a decrease in the consumption of alcoholic beverages, with a corresponding diminution in the revenue from that source. Whether this circumstance is due to the growth of temperance among the people, and is likely to be permanent remains to be seen. Opinions differ on that point. But according to the returns the working classes in Great Britain will expend a very considerable proportion of their earnings in intoxicants—much larger proportionately than other sections of the community.

"The American Grocer," a competent and unprejudiced authority, has recently examined the drink bill of the United States. Including alcoholic and non-alcoholic drinks—the latter being comparatively small in the aggregate—the amount spent in 1905 in this manner reached the large sum of $1,548,-768,000. The "Grocer" estimates that this vast sum amounts to one-eighth of the nation's total food bill. Another way of illustrating it is to say that it is equal to one-quarter of the value of the total estimated production of every known agricultural industry—corn, wheat, cotton, cattle, fruit, tobacco and any other. That is for every four dollars received for the agricultural products in the United States, one dollar is expended in drink. Contrary to the course of things in the United Kingdom, the drink bill of the United States has largely increased during recent years. The amount for 1905 was fifty million dollars more than in 1904, and seventy-five millions greater than it was five years ago. During that period the population has grown by over six per cent., but the drink bill has increased by over twenty-one per cent. It is estimated by the Bureau of Labor that the average family's income is $749 per annum. Of this it is estimated that no less than $66.15 is spent for liquor for every family of five persons—or about one-eight of the family income.

In view of such figures it is not surprising that many persons have turned their attention to the best method of lessening this enormous dissipation of the national income. So far it is apparent that no solution has been found, the expenditure on drink continuing to increase. We do not believe that legislation to restrict the consumption is of any real or permanent value. The inculcation of temperance principles and the improvement of the popular morals are shower but likely to be more effective methods to secure what is desired.

Peterborough people should be fairly familiar with the butter industry, owing to the big dairymen's convention held here last January. It will be satisfactory to learn, therefore, that the butter industry will likely grow in this country this year, the price for good butter being on the up-grade. ## A PRETTY CANADIAN GIRL

Regained Health and Beauty by Use of Pe-ru-na.

Miss Louise Moore, 35 McGill St., Toronto, Can., writes:

"I wish to express my gratitude to you for giving to suffering humanity your wonderful medicine, Peruna. I was an invalid from catarrh of the liver. I was despondent, my skin was sallow, I had a bad taste in my mouth in the morning, my tongue was coated a dark brown and my breath was very bad at times. I was subject to sick headaches and vomiting. My bowels were irregular and I was wretched. I doctored for some time without becoming much better and finally, at the suggestion of friends I tried Peruna. The result was magical and within four months I was completely cured."—Miss Louise Moore.

THOUSANDS of women suffer from systemic catarrh. This is sure to produce such symptoms as cold feet and hands, sick headache, palpitation of the heart and heavy feelings in the stomach.

Then begins a series of experiments with medicine. They take medicine for sick headache. They take medicine for nervous prostration, for palpitation of the heart, for dyspepsia. None of these medicines do any good, because they do not reach the cause of the complaint.

Peruna at once mitigates all these symptoms by removing the cause.

Systemic catarrh is the trouble. Systemic catarrh pervades the whole system, deranges every organ, weakens every function. No permanent cure can be expected until the systemic catarrh is removed.

This is exactly what Peruna will do. Good health is the basis of beauty. Clean skin, clean mucous membranes, these are the true source of beauty and symmetry.

Peruna cures catarrh wherever located. Female catarrh is the most beauty-destroying disease in existence. Peruna cures by removing the cause. Peruna strikes at the source of all these hateful disfigurements.

Never Looked So Well
As Since Taking Pe-ru-na.

Mrs. Mary A. Brown, 48 Wells Ave., Dorchester, Mass., writes:

"Every one that looks at me says, 'I never saw you look so well as you do now.' I then told them I have been taking your medicine. I thank you for the kind letters I have received from you. I will always praise Peruna and Manalin."—Mrs. Mary A. Brown.

Hearts Courageous

By... HALLIE ERMINIE RIVES

Copyright, 1902, by THE BOWEN-MERRILL COMPANY

"Mayhap ye know better nor I," answered Master Elves shortly.

Jarrat burst out laughing. He felt a sudden contempt for this clumsy subterfuge.

"A brave conclusion!" he cried. "And how long is it to last? Is the noble gentleman to lie shamming Abraham in his cabin till we sight the Virginia capes? Awhile ago he was sick, guarded from all our pining eyes by his argus eyed clerk. Now, behold, he is not even aboard! Oh, an accomplished nobleman!"

The skipper squinted out to sea, and a drawn pucker came to his lips.

"See here," said Jarrat, his tone taking edge. "I have business with this gentleman, and I'll not be put off. This is the eighth day out, and he hasn't shown his nose out of his cabin. 'Tis my opinion he's no more sick than I am."

"No more is he," said Master Elves. "What then?"

"Just this: I want to see the marquis, and I mean to see the marquis. D'ye hear that, you lumpfin? 'Twill be better for you, I can tell you, if you fetch me to him at once!"

The skipper's moment had arrived.

"Fetch ye to him!" he roared, with something between an oath and a chuckle. "The man ye're after died two days ago and was sent to the fishes last night! Fetch ye to him! Haw, haw!"

With this parting shot he went off spitting furiously.

"Dead!" exclaimed Jarrat, with sagging jaw, staring after him. "Dead!" he said again, and then stood, vacant eyed, his face the dead color of chagrin in which calculation has had no time to slip.

With the passengers the young secretary, M. Armand, had his way to make, and this he accomplished with abundant good nature. Him they first snubbed, then tolerated, then liked.

The young Virginian, Breckinridge Cary, sought him openly and more than once drew his arm through his own as he walked the deck. The Virginian was beyond question of the quality, and certain footing had made for him social squeamishness unnecessary. As for the secretary, he went his way with imperturbable good humor. Even storm could not dampen his spirits.

For reasons that have been stated the news of the demise of the marquis, whom the passengers had not known to regret, made little sensation on the Two Sisters. Next day a bark was sighted out from Norfolk, and there was a budget of new world news and a bunch of Virginia Gazettes to furnish matter for talk. A fortnight later the incident, however full of moment it may have been to Paris, was well nigh forgotten. They had not all of them Jarrat's reasons for remembering.

But as days wore on and calm succeeded storm Jarrat, who thought much, studied M. Armand with a lazy interest that in time, as shall be seen, gave birth to a plan. He gave the secretary no cause to remember their first meeting at the little cabin door and schooled his tone to an insinuating friendliness. He even condescended to game with him and to question him amiably touching politics in France, and more than one of these inquiries turned cunningly, as on a pivot, upon the young man's late master.

So a month passed, pleasantly for some, irksomely for most. Jarrat watched the secretary boldly. The secretary in his own way watched Jarrat. And so it stood on the serene day when M. Armand leaned upon the rail and looked out across the shadowless waste where the track of the blazing sun stretched in a molten dazzle like a quivering spear of God's.

Presently he felt a light touch on his arm and, turning, saw the Virginian.

"Dreaming?" asked Cary. "Of what?"

"Of your golden land, monsieur."

The other smiled, then sighed and leaned beside him. "A golden land, in sooth. I would it had no storms, but a sweet sun dawning ever for it. Troubled, indeed, it was when I left it—more trouble now as I return." He paused awhile.

"I love the land," he said. "I know not if even France can be so lovely. Is it so? And do you love it?"

The young Frenchman's face grew earnest.

"When I was born," he replied, "France was good, monsieur—I think it was the best land in the world, as today it is the most beautiful. But Louis XV. was young then. Since have come a Pompadour and a Du Barry. So it is that the good in France has been hidden underneath many other things. It is true that the ministers of the crown have sold titles of honor—places in the courts. Justice, the thing for which your colony is now crying to England—this has been impossible to the poor, the low. The rich buy it. Paris laughs and does not care! There the wits lampoon the dignitaries, the young bishops sneer at God and the abbes are become elegant to kiss the hands of painted countesses. But the poor, the oppressed, the people, monsieur, what of them?"

He let his gaze wander. A dreamy light was in his eyes.

"Ah, monsieur, they have watched. They have been waiting. They are ignorant. They were never taught. But all this time one man—the exiled, the glorious — he has been writing. He has taught that the unnoble are not field beasts, that they are men; that the noble and the peasant are all one; that the poor must not be trodden on."

"Voltaire," Cary said in a low voice.

"France," Armand went on, "has been reading this one. The smith and the plowman talk of what he has said in the cove and at the forge. It is not only the poor, the low, monsieur. Nobles who wear coroneted swords also think these things. They, loving liberty, would give their lives for their king. There is in Paris a club——"

He paused abruptly. When he began again it was in a voice tinged with sadness.

"Louis XV. is dead. Louis XVI. reigns."

Cary's glance flashed into his.

"Louis XVI. is young and ambitious. He hates England. An there were war here 'twould advantage him to aid the colonies."

"Monsieur," declared the other, "it might ruin him. Listen! His own people are worse foes to the king of France than England, monsieur. And aiding the colonies here is putting a two edged sword into their hands! Even now they have the wish to redeem France. But they know not how. They have never seen such a thing. Power is all around them, and it seems as if it must last forever. So it is, monsieur, that these nobles—these of better blood—who love first of all their France—I could tell names—a Mirabeau, a Lafayette—they would have their king aid America. They have joined hands with men of lower birth like Beaumarchais and made courtiers of them to the same end."

"But," reflected Cary, puzzled, "you say to help our colonies might ruin Louis. Why, then, would these nobles push the plan? Have they such hate of England?"

"No, no. Not because they hate England as Louis does, but because they love France better than Louis, and to save her they must even risk to ruin him. There is more than one French king at stake—there is a dynasty! These are not the middle ages, monsieur. In these days the peoples are awaking. France, if she lives, must open her eyes. These men I tell you of would jolt her wide awake. They would have her smiths and her plowmen stop their toil to listen across the seas—to hear the guns of a people who would not be oppressed, to see royal mercenaries driven into the sea just by people like them. Then their murmur would be a roar. They would say, 'So can we do also!' Then the corrupt court would stand terror stricken. And then at last there would be an end of the selling of titles, of the elegant bishops and the painted countesses. France would put on purity again, and her king and her nobles would rule justly, and poverty would not stalk everywhere. These nobles of which I speak are loyal, monsieur. They love first France and then their king."

100 PER CENT. ADVANCE JUNE 1

Present Price of Stock FIVE Cents per Share

If you want to get in on the ground floor before the price advances to 10 Cents per share, NOW IS YOUR CHANCE

When The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Company was organized the officers of the company foresaw the certainty, of a big mining boom in Clear Creek County, Colorado, U.S.A., and they congratulated themselves on securing a property which showed 1,500 feet of development work, and could be classed with the MINES of the region.

The steady increase in the mineral production of the county, new strikes, the development of old mines at depth (proving the continuity of the ore bodies and the increased richness of the ores), the availability of mining supplies, the abundance of water the great amount of timber for mining and fuel, the adaptability of the topography for deep tunnel mining, and the large number of milling and smelting plants, means that the district possesses all the elements of successful and economical mining.

It was a foregone conclusion that investors would awake to a realization of the conditions, and inaugurate a new boom in 1906. It is but natural that they should desire to place their money in a locality that shows more PROVEN MINES than prospects, and where the chances for speedy returns are greater than the chances of loss. Because of economic conditions money will go farther in development work and bring RESULTS quicker. Many new companies have recently been organized, foremost among them being The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co. Stock in all Clear Creek County companies is finding a ready market among both Eastern and Western investors, and in consequence The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co forestalled the boom by securing one of the best mining propositions in the locality, consisting of 16 mining claims, situated on Standard Mountain, in the Ohio and Jackson Mining District, two and one-half miles south of Idaho Springs. The Gold Leaf properties are credited with a past production of $75,000, and the tunnel is being steadily driven toward the rich ore bodies from whence former shipments were made. The old workings are now drowned with water which the tunnel will drain and also give unlimited stoping ground for the ores. Surrounding mines have produced over $11,500,000 Now is the time to purchase stock. When we re-open our ore the opportunity will be lost to investors.

Don't overlook this exceptional opportunity! Think of the acreage; Think of the development work done; Think of the past ore production; Think of the future possibilities; Think of investing—THEN ACT AT ONCE!

Sufficient stock subscriptions have already been received to carry our Frontier Tunnel a distance of 600 feet, or to the Standard Vein, from which point ore shipments will be resumed. Future stock subscriptions will be applied on the purchase of a power plant or on contracts to facilitate the work of driving the tunnel.

Our General Manager estimates that the completion of the tunnel will place at our disposal OVER FOUR MILES OF ORE, aggregating 96,000,000 tons.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Bad Stomach Makes Bad Blood.

You can not make sweet butter in a foul, unclean churn. The stomach serves as a churn in which to agitate, work up and disintegrate our food as it is being digested. If it be weak, sluggish and foul the result will be torpid, sluggish liver and bad, impure blood.

The ingredients of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery are just such as best serve to correct and cure all such derangements. It is made up without a drop of alcohol in its composition; chemically pure, triple-refined glycerine being used instead of the commonly employed alcohol. Now this glycerine is of itself a valuable medicine, instead of a deleterious agent like alcohol, especially in the cure of weak stomach, dyspepsia and the various forms of indigestion. Prof. Finley Ellingwood, M. D., of Bennett Medical College, Chicago, says of it:

"In dyspepsia it serves an excellent purpose. * * * It is one of the best manufactured products of the present time in its action upon enfeebled, disordered stomachs; especially if there is ulceration or catarrhal gastritis (catarrhal inflammation of stomach), it is a most efficient preparation. Glycerine will relieve many cases of pyrosis (heartburn) and cardialgia (pain in the stomach), so frequently met with in chronic intestinal dyspepsia, especially the flatulent variety, and in certain forms of chronic constipation, stimulating the secretory and excretory functions of the intestinal glands."

When combined, in just the right proportions, with Golden Seal root, Stone root, Black Cherry bark, Queen's root, Bloodroot and Mandrake root, or the extracts of these, as in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, there can be no doubt of its great efficacy in the cure of all stomach, liver and intestinal disorders and derangements. These several ingredients have the strongest endorsement in all such cases of such eminent medical leaders as Prof. R. Bartholow, M. D., of Jefferson Medical College, Chicago; Prof. Robert A. Kane, M. D., of Medical Department, University of Pa.; Prof. Laurence Johnson, M. D., Medical Department, University of New York; Prof. Edwin M. Hale, M. D., Eclectic Medical College, Chicago; Prof. John M. Scudder, M. D. and Prof. John King, M. D., Authors of the American Dispensatory, and scores of others among the leading medical men of our land.

Who can doubt the curative virtues of a medicine the ingredients of which have such a professional endorsement?

Constipation cured by Doctor Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. One or two a dose.

A SPLENDID PROPOSITION

Harvest Mining Company's Stock a Big Money Maker.

The Harvest Mining Co., in the Black Hills of South Dakota, is to become one of the producers in the near future. This company is the first to operate in this practically new district, which has just been opened up by the M. R. & N. W. Ry., and which is located in the very heart of the Black Hills, a section of less than 100 square miles, which has produced $150,000,000 in gold alone in the last 20 years, chiefly from the large veins of low grade ore, for which the Black Hills stands first. In 1905 the mineral output was $10,000,000, and all from this small section of 100 square miles.

It is freely spoken by men of the highest prominence that mining of the large veins in the Black Hills is yet in its primary state, in fact, the country has scarcely been touched toward developing the vast resources that lay untouched in the earth, and heretofore the mine section of the Black Hills (Central Post) has lacked the transportation facilities which have just been opened by the new railroad along Rapid Creek, and although it has been known that these ore deposits have existed for several years, the transportation problem being solved, it is a certainty that ore can be shipped at a profit.

The Harvest Mining Co has secured 140 acres, seven full claims, near Pactola, which is the most promising property in the entire Black Hills country. The property is well mineralized, showing various veins; the most promising and the one on which the company is now concentrating their work is a large and well defined vein of gold, silver and lead ore and it is from this vein the company will make the first ore shipments. A shaft has already been sunk 40 feet, and it is shown that the vein is large, having an almost inexhaustible supply of ore of workable value.

The facts of the permanency of the ore being established, it is only a matter of development, and for that purpose the company is now offering 100,000 shares of treasury stock at 25 cents per share to help sink the shaft to greater depth and block out the ore for shipment to the smelter. The stock is all fully paid and non-assessable and in buying this stock the investor is assured that the company owns the property free and unincumbered, and that the property has been thoroughly tested and we have ore in sight. We are not offering a prospective proposition, but simply a matter of development. We have unbounded resources in gold, silver and lead, and only require some capital to help develop it.

Perhaps you are not aware that some of the largest and best paying mines are gold-silver-lead mines, among which are the Daly West, Le Roi, Bunker Hill and Sullivan, and many others, of which the Harvest Mining Company is offering a parallel investment today. Ores carrying these metals are most sought after by smelting companies, being classed as a wet ore, because of the large percentage of lead which is used as a collecting agent in the furnaces for the gold and silver.

Our proposition presents the most alluring investment for quick returns, because we will not have to install costly machinery to reduce our ore, as it will be shipped immediately to the smelter at Rapid City, thus saving the outlay of money (thousands of dollars) to which other companies are subjected whose ore does not carry lead in addition to gold and silver.

The company has an abundance of timber on their property, enough for many years' mining operations, and the members of the Board of Directors are men of from 15 to 20 years experience in mining, and we are glad to boast of this being a company with experienced men behind the guns.

Investors looking for good stock that will pay them well, stocks that are equal to Camp Bird, Daly West, Le Roi, Homestake, United Verde, and many others, can easily do so; and while a rich assay or a carload of rich ore looks very alluring to an investor; stop and think, look back, and you will see:

1st. Every big mine that pays big dividends and is worth millions of dollars, is the mine with the large bodies of ore. We make no exception. A rich mine is soon worked out and the stock is worthless; while large bodies of ore last for generations.

2nd. In every case the companies that are first in the new districts are the ones that own the best ground, which is in itself evident.

We ask you to investigate these statements and see for yourself that they are true, and that the Harvest Mining Company is offering you the same investment. We have a large body of ore, a supply for many years to come, and being the first company in the district we own the best property.

The men that have shared the profits of the big producers are the men that helped open up the new districts.

The Harvest Mining Co. is now offering to you an investment that is as certain as anything in the future can be, and which is as safe as any industrial stock or city real estate.

Now is the time to become a stockholder in this company, and help to open up a new mine in a new district and enjoy the profits that will be made from the large vein of gold-silver-lead ore. For particulars regarding this investment, maps, references, assays, etc., see or write W. Kelsey Hall, Fiscal Agent, 99 Water street, Peterboro.

The Young Conservative Club representatives won out in the euchre contest against St. Peter's T.A.S. card experts, in the return game in the club rooms of the former, by a score of 629 to 610. In the former contest a few weeks ago the T.A.S. players were successful by 88 points. Fourteen tables were filled, and the playing was closely contested. Mr. J. G. M. Wilson captained the Conservatives and Mr. Arthur Sharpe the T. A.S. men. The "rubber" will be played off at an early date.

Nearly Upset at Locks.

Yesterday afternoon a young man and his young lady companion, had a close call from a wetting, if not from possible death, just below the "liftover" at the locks. The young man, who requested that his name, for obvious reasons, be omitted was paddling up to the lift over, when his paddle ran foul of one of the obstructions that still remain a monument to the building operations at the locks. The canoe at once keeled over and about half filled with water. The canoeist, who was very savage at his lady friend getting her dress spoilt, told a Times' representative that he fully expected, at the time, he would have to include a swim in his outing.

Chinese Empire Fears Revolution

A Danger of Outbreak Against Present Dynasty.

Minneapolis, May 21.—Bishop T. H. Dahl of the United Norwegian church, has sent cablegrams to the missionaries of the church in China, ordering them to leave the districts in which they are engaged, in case they consider their lives in danger.

Bishop Dahl has received three letters from missionaries of the United church in China, who forecast the trouble in the nature of a new revolution.

According to these letters the disturbance is centered around Runing Fu of the Honan district. Rev. J. S. Stokke who writes one of the letters dated in April says the Chinese are rising against their own government in this district, and he asserts that the officers and the government officials themselves do not believe that their own soldiers are to be depended upon, as they are receiving pay from the revolutionists.

HALF POUND GOLD NUGGET

Prospector Returns From James Bay Region With Glowing Report.

Montreal, May 21.—A prospector who has been out in the mining region lying between Lake Chibugamoo and James Bay in the interests of Messrs. J. A. Jacobs and Peter McKenzie, returned yesterday with nearly four thousand dollars in gold nuggets. On the Hudson Bay slope some place or other he obtained them, ranging in size from one as big as a pea to another that would weigh almost half a pound. He also reported finding some very extensive copper deposits lying between the Rupert and Nottaway rivers. In spite of the poor facilities for railway communication there are now over 200 settlers in the district.

Mr. A. P. Low, the Dominion Geologist, reports that the asbestos in this district alone would more than warrant the opening up of the country.

Electric Fluid Kills a Woman

Mrs. Lewis Staples of Bethany Struck Dead By Lightning.

A very sad occurrence which has thrown an air of gloom over the little village of Bethany, and its surrounding neighborhood, was caused by lightning during the electrical storm of Friday.

It seems that as Mrs. Lewis Staples, who lives about a mile south of the village, whilst alone in her residence was struck by a bolt of lightning, which entered via the chimney, and instantly killed. This chimney was entirely demolished.

The first intimation of the dreadful tragedy, was the discovery of the body, by a daughter of the deceased, on her return from school. The girl at once ran to her father, who was at work on the farm, but although he immediately called medical assistance it was too late.

The deceased was 30 years of age, her maiden name being Rebecca Minchen, of Stirling. She is survived by her husband and one daughter nine years old.

The funeral took place yesterday afternoon from the family residence to Bethany cemetery.

Hamilton Invites Earl Grey.

Hamilton, May 21.—The city will invite His Excellency Earl Grey and suit to visit Hamilton next Saturday, and to spend the following Sunday and Monday there.

May Send Warships to Race.

New York, May 21.—It is the intention of King Edward to have official cognizance taken of the race for the yachting trophy offered by him for American yachts to be sailed for off Newport on August 8th, and probably two British warships will make it the occasion of a visit to the course. Rumor is busy with the story that the King has conveyed to Sir Thomas Lipton his desire that the Shamrock III. should be a contestant for the first race, though no intimation of such intention on the part of the Baronet has been conveyed to the New York Yacht Club officially.

Work on House of Refuge Begun.

Ground has already been staked off by Architect Belcher and Contractor Baptie for the House of Refuge at Lakefield. The building will be about one hundred and fifty yards from the Young's Point road, and about the same distance from the barn which is erected on the property. The work is to be completed and the building ready for occupation by the first of November.

Presentation to Mr. E. Thomas

Employee of J. J. Turner & Sons Honored on Eve of Departure.

A very pleasing function was in evidence Saturday afternoon in Messrs. J. J. Turner & Sons' factory, when Mr Ernest Thomas was the recipient of tangible evidence of his popularity both among his fellow employes and of the high esteem in which he was held by the firm.

Mr. Thomas who for some years has held a responsible position in the factory, is about to leave for Chicago, where he will join a similar factory, for a year or so, preparatory to going to England to live.

The presentation made by the employes consisted in a valuable suit case. Mr A. E. Lucas acting for the others read the following address.

May 19th, '06.

Mr. Ernest Thomas, City.

Dear Ernest,—It is with much regret that we learn of your intended departure for new fields of labor, and we cannot let this opportunity pass without showing in some manner the esteem in which you are held. Our relations have been most pleasant, and we will miss your kindly face very much in days to come. You were always ready and willing to lend assistance when required, and the fact that it was given so cheerfully, made it much appreciated. As a remembrance of the associations, which to us have been so pleasant, we would ask you to accept this suit case.

It was with some hesitation that this article was decided upon, as some of the ladies were anxious to present you with a trunk, hoping they might have the privilege of packing their clothes with yours, thus making a honeymoon trip out of your departure. However, as it was not leap year, and not being anxious to lose any more it was decided to present you with this case. We trust that it will bring back pleasant memories, whenever it meets your eye Wishing you every success. We are sincerely yours,

NELLIE SMITH.
ALBERT E. LUCAS.

Mr. Achilles W. Turner, on behalf of the firm, presented Mr. Thomas with a very handsome silk umbrella.

Mr. J. J. Turner, sr., assured a Times representative that he sadly deplores the loss sustained in Mr. Thomas' departure, and offered him a substantial increase in salary to retain his services.

Railway to Own Telephone.

Montreal, May 21.—Further discussion is at present taking place among the chiefs of the Grand Trunk Railway in connection with the construction of a telephone service over the entire system.

It is admitted that the present system, particularly the long distance talking, is a good one, but it is thought that the time is nearly ripe for the company to own its own plant from Chicago to Portland.

At first it was thought that it would be wise to have the head office of the telephone system in Montreal, but there is now a feeling that Toronto would be a more central point. Just when the final decision will be made is not yet known.

Commission on Insurance.

Ottawa, May 21.—Six weeks more, Judge MacTavish thinks, will conclude the work of the insurance commission. The investigation, he thinks, will not take more than two weeks longer in Toronto, and the commission will then spend a few days in Montreal, returning to Ottawa, where another session will be held. The commission will then consider their report.

Four More in the Shelter

Mr. Cochrane Takes Children From R. F. Myers.

The little family of children now living happily, comfortably and surrounded by advantageous environments, at the Shelter on Charlotte street, has been augmented by four more little ones taken there by Inspector Geo. Cochrane.

These children belonging to one R. F. Myers, of 26 Weir street, and are not taken away on account of any specific charge against Myers, but on the general principle that they are not being looked after properly by their father, whom his daily work necessitates at a distance from his residence, the children's mother having died about a year ago.

In March last, the children not receiving proper care, the inspector took the two youngest and placed them in the Shelter.

It might be noted that during the father's impelled absence at work, the care of all those children developed on a little girl aged eleven, and Myers' neighbors complain that such conditions are altogether improper.

Mr. Myers, as a Times representative was talking to Mr. Cochrane on George street, happened along and bitterly resented his children being taken away. Mr. Cochrane told him what the neighbors reported, and assured him that good homes would be found for the little ones.

Whilst it seems hard that the man's children should be thus torn from him, existing circumstances of the case, at present seem to point towards Mr. Cochran's action, in the little ones' future, to be fully justified.

Brockville's Water Improved.

Brockville, May 21.—Some time ago Brockville's water supply was pronounced by the provincial analyist, Prof. J. A. Amyot, to be impure. Recent samples submitted to him are more encouraging and the same official states that none of them show either chemical pollution or infection with harmful bacteria.

C. P. R.'s Remarkable Gains.

Montreal, May 21.—Weekly increases of $50,000 or better are now the order of the day with the C. P. R., and for the fifth time in succession the road is out with a remarkable gain. Return of traffic earnings of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company from May 7th to May 14th:

1906..... $1,271,000
1905..... 921,000

Increase... $ 350,000

It is needless to say that these earnings are away beyond even the most sanguine expectations, and can only be put down to two things—the growth of the road and general prosperity from one end of the country to the other.

Succession Duties.

Toronto, May 21. — The succession duties for the first four months of 1906, ending April 30, amount to $167,645, being some $7,600 less than for the same period of 1905. Several large estates, however, which have not yet been valued and assessed, will probably bring the receipts fully up to last year's.

As the people whose estates are likely to be obliged to contribute to this fund have not yet developed any regular system of shuffling off this mortal coil, the receipts naturally fluctuate very much from month to month. The receipts for April this year were $74,000, while for the same month last year they were only $9,700. The total for 1905 was $494,178.36.

Day Labor Vs. Contract Work

Correspondent Suggests That Result of Experiment be Published.

(To the Editor of The Times.)

Dear Sir,—As the city fathers decided last week to try the experiment of building sewers by day labor, thus inaugurating an important precedent, I would respectfully suggest that on completion of the work, a detailed statement should be published in the local press of the financial result of this experiment. Whilst not, in any sense, interested in the local contractors, there has not been any serious fault found in either the prices of their tenders nor with the result of their work. Should the day labor plan prove satisfactory, both in ultimate cost and in work accomplished, well and good. If the work does not turn out on completition to be no better done, nor anything saved in total cost, it seems hard to freeze out local men who have done good work. The only way in which the taxpayers can judge of results is by publishing the same.

Should the result of this system of building sewers prove to have cost more than by contract, the main figures mixed up in the auditors' report on the city's finances, would, not be known but to a very limited few.

Yours truly,
RATEPAYER.

Hotelmen Cast Down.

Toronto hotelkeepers who went to Ottawa to ask for a change in the law, so that dead-beats can be summarily arrested, have returned somewhat disappointed at the treatment received from the Department of Justice, says The Star. It seems that through some misunderstanding the promises made two years ago to Mr. J. W. Curry, who was then Crown Attorney, that the law would be amended, had been overlooked. The hotelkeepers are still hopeful of securing the concession they have demanded.

Local Romance Ends in Wedding

Mr. M. Pappas Weds in Toronto With Peterboro Lady.

A quiet little romance originating in this city, but having its consummation in Toronto took place last week.

Mr. Michael Pappakeriazes, generally known as "Pappas," who operates stores at 201 Princess street, Kingston, Ont., 189 Notre Dame street, Montreal, in addition to his fine shoe shine parlor and cigar stores on George street in this city, is away on his wedding tour.

It seems that Mr. Pappas wooed and won Miss Maude Miller, a former employe at McCallum's restaurant.

Mr. Pappas being a member of the Greek Church, which has no congregation or priests here, desirous of having his marriage celebrated by a priest of, and in the church of his belief, a few days ago left for Toronto, where he was preceded by Miss Miller.

They were married last Thursday in the Greek church, Toronto, the ceremony being witnessed by a few personal friends.

The happy couple who registered, after the wedding ceremony had been performed, at the King Edward Hotel, and left Friday for Detroit and other points west. They will return to this city about the middle of the week.

Mr. Pappas who has shown much enterprise in his business here, has made many friends, who will extend congratulations to Mr. and Mr. Pappas on their return.

The Non-Union Miners Arrive

Dillonville, Ohio, May 20. —Under guard of 1000 detectives armed with Winchester rifles and revolvers, 50 non-union miners from West Virginia were landed at the Plum Run Mine late last night.

The Maxim gun in the company's office was trained on the hillsides, where were grouped 100 striking miners.

Supt. Cox said today that 150 more miners would be brought in tonight.

On Monday there will be a big mass meeting at Smithfield, when at least 2000 miners from the three districts will be present.

At the very hour of the meeting the United States Coal Co. will make its first attempt to run the mines.

"When that attempt is made there will be war in the valley," said Vice-President Griggs of the miners' union today.

Supt. Cox announces that there will be no bloodshed except in the last extremity. The whole country knows however, that both sides are prepared for a struggle to the death.

It is the avowed intention of the operators to break the union, and the union men say that the mines shall be prevented from running at all costs.

SEAGRAM'S STABLE WON

Slaughter Wins the King's Plate at the Woodbine.

The Canadian racing season of 1906 opened Saturday at the Woodbine. The King's Plate was the feature. Slaughter won at 5 to 2, and Charles Davis and Thomas Flynn won $16,000 on the winner. Court Martial was second and Haruko third.

It was a spirited contest, beautiful to behold. Until the winning horse crossed the wire three lengths in the lead, with Court Martial second and Haroko third, it was anybody's race.

The race was run in 2.11 3-4 on a fast track and beneath cloudless skies.

By all the roads leading from the city—in autos, carriages, tally-hoos and electric cars—the thousands hurried into the grounds, until long before the bugle called the horses to the post for the first race there were fully twenty thousand people on the field. In the succeeding hour five thousand more were brought down by the cars, so that when the King's Plate was reached on the program, the largest crowd in the history of the Woodbine was assembled to witness the race.

His Excellency, Early Gray and party, Captain Trotter, A.D.C., Col. Hanbury Williams, and Mrs. Williams nonchalantly watched the horses and conversed with friends who surrounded them all afternoon.

The Geo A. Cox party were in their box, and Mr. Ed. Cox had a party present on the lawn.

The horses finished in the following order;

1—Slaughter
2—Court Martial
3—Haroke.
4—Wicklight.
5—Stock Exchange.
6—First Robber.

Start good, Time 2.11 3-5. Winner K. Seagram's b.c., 3, Havoc—Bon Ino. Court Martial jumped into the lead at the start, set out a fast clip to the head of the stretch, when he began to tire. Slaughter went to the front, winning pulled up by six lengths. Haroko finished strong, outgamed Wicklight. The latter ran a bad race. The others were outclassed.

Better Without Colonies.

London May 21.—Spain has been advancing in material prosperity, and, indeed, in general moral standing ever since she lost the last of her foreign possessions in the war with the United States. Her Philippine possessions she sold at a good price and got a wholesome chastisement into the bargain. She has learned a lesson and is now giving intelligent and successful attention to her own country. Statements of her condition grow better from year to year. Spain is back within her natural environment and is getting along well. If she keeps on at her present pace she will be out of debt and have money to lend. It is a pious hope that she will never attempt conquests of other people's land again and that the other nations of the earth will not disturb her in her home rule.

KING TO BE MARRIED IN HISTORIC CHURCH

Alfonso and Ena Are to Exchange Vows in Shrine of An Ancient Image.

EDIFICE IS SACRED TO THE HOLY VIRGIN

The Great Event to All Spain is Awakening a Lively Interest Throughout the Country.

Madrid, May 21.—The marriage of the King of Spain and the Princess Ena of Battenberg will take place in the church of Atocha, where is enshrined a little image of the Mother of God, rudely carved in wood and black with age, called "Nuestra Senora de Atocha," and it is believed to have been carved by St. Luke. This image is believed to exercise unlimited power over the dynasty of the royal family of Spain, and whenever they are in Madrid, the king, the queen mother, her daughters, and other members of the household, never fail to go there at four o'clock every Saturday afternoon to offer prayers of thanksgiving for protection and blessings already received and to implore future protection and blessings. According to tradition this image was brought from Antioch to Spain in the early days of the church, and from that fact its name is supposed to be derived. Archaeologists, however, assert that "Atocha" is the name of a peculiar kind of grass that used to grow abundantly in Madrid, and that the image was undoubtedly called the "Virgin of the Grass" by the peasants in early times without regard to Antioch.

The fete day of the Virgin of Atocha is celebrated with great pomp in May every year, and it is carried about the streets, followed by a procession of officials, clergy and the civilian organizations in Madrid. The ministers of state and other representatives of the government, the mayor and municipal authorities of Madrid, the members of the cortes and all the famous generals and admirals who happen to be in the city, the members of the stock exchange, the bar association and numerous religious organizations follow in the train, and high mass is sung in the church by the archbishop of Toledo or some other distinguished prelate. The government offices are closed, all business is suspended and the entire city joins with the royal family in the act of devotion.

Ever since Madrid has been the capital of Spain, the kings and queens have been christened, married, crowned and buried from this church, and for nearly four centuries it has been the custom of the queens to present their wedding gowns to the Virgin of Atocha. The collection of these garments is, therefore, not only unique, but it is probably the largest of the kind in the world. Some of the gowns are nearly 400 years old. They include the bridal array of the wives of Philip II. and Charles V., and, indeed, of all the women who have occupied the throne of Spain since "Crazy Jane," daughter of Ferdinand and Isabella. This wardrobe, however, is never shown to strangers. It is packed away somewhere in massive, moth-proof chests, bound with bands of brass, and is never taken out except to be aired two or three times a year.

The marriage could not take place anywhere else. Alfonso XII. was twice married before this altar—on January 23, 1878, to Mercedes, daughter of the Duke of Montpensier, and on November 29, 1879, to Maria Christina, Grand Duchess of Austria. Here the funeral of Mercedes was held, June 26, a little more than five months after her wedding. Here Christina came before and after her three children were born, and the present king and his sisters were baptized at this altar. But there is a still more sacred reason. When the little king was only five years old he was seized with a serious sickness and the doctors said he was dying. By order of the archbishop the little image of the Holy Virgin was taken from the altary escorted to the palace by a squadron of cavalry and a long procession of priests and princes, and placed in the hands of the child, who prayed to it and immediately recovered. Again, when he was nine years old, he was restored to health in a similar manner from an illness equally critical, and he believed and all Spain believed that he was saved from death by the intercession of the Virgin.

The approaching marriage of King Alfonso and Princess Ena is exciting the liveliest interest throughout Spain, while in England a great majority of the people regard the match (as nothing short of a sale in which a young woman's ambition to become a queen is to be gratified.

Opens Tunnel After Eight-Years' Work

Domodossola, Italy, May 20. —The Simplon tunnel was inaugurated by King Victor Emmanuel yesterday, who left at 10.55 a.m., for Brique, on the Swiss side of the mountain. The royal train passed through the 12 miles of tunnell driven by a steam engine, the electric motors not being ready. On reaching the middle of the tunnel, at a height of 2200 feet above the sea level, the king was heard to exclaim. "It is a cyclopic work, the result of half a century of study, seven years of work and the expenditure of nearly $15,000,000."

At Brique his majesty, who was accompanied by Premier Sonnino, the minister of public works and a large number of other officials, was received by the president of the Swiss republic and the members of the federal council, the national council and the council of state and other officials to the number of about 500. In the speeches which followed the meeting of the king and the president much satisfaction was expressed at the opening of the tunnel, which was completed so far as piercing the mountain was concerned, in February, 1905.

The work of making a tunnel through the Simplon mountain began November 13, 1883, from both the Swiss and Italian sides and the two boring parties met, February, 24, 1905.

LEADING UP TO CRIME

New York, May 20.—In the trial of Josephine Terranova, the Italian girl, who shot and killed her uncle and aunt, because the former had ruined her, witnesses were called who testified that both her father and her paternal grandfather were drunkards. The court officers brought into the room the defendant's mother, Mrs. Pollaro, who to be a witness for the girl, left a sick bed and was half carried to the witness chair.

She said that both her own parents and those of her husband were addicted to drink, and that she was subject to epileptic fits.

She said that Reggio claimed he had adopted Josephine, and that he would not allow the witness to talk with her. He closed the door in her face when the mother called to see her daughter. She testified that Josephine had wanted to go home with her.

ZION WATCH TOWER TORN UP

Chicago, May 20.—Zion's watch-tower, the first structure erected by John Alexander Dowie in the city he founded, has been torn down. The lumber is being used to repair sidewalks.

The structure was 80 feet high and was 20 feet square at the base. It stood in the center of Shiloh Park, and when it was put up the site was dedicated to the wonderful temple which some day was to arise there. Dowie is living papart from the other members of his family in Shiloh House. He has given up all idea of holding more public meetings in Zion City.

A cross-bill filed by the Volvia attorneys at Waukegan declares that Dowie's administration cost the Zion industries $2,500,000. Affidavits describe the hallucinations and trances of the "prophet" in recent months.

Guests Help in Sacrifice of Wine

Wife of Former U. S. Senator Henderson Empties Contents of Cellar on Principle.

Washington, May 20.—Because she did not believe in serving it to her guests, nor selling it nor giving it to the hospitals, Mrs. J. B. Henderson, wife of former Senator Henderson, turned into the gutter in front of Henderson Castle, as her house is known here, several hundred quarts of wines and liquors, whose value cannot be easily estimated, but which are said from the standpoint of the connoisseur to run into thousands of dollars.

The occasion for the sacrifice was a meeting of the Independent Order of Rechabites at the brown stone mansion. After the assembling of the guests Mrs. Henderson made a statement in which she said she had been troubled for the last three years in regard to the stock of wines and liquors in the cellar of the "castle." She said that they had been placed in the house for the purpose of being served to guests at the taule, but she had found them to be a temptation to young men and oung women. In conclusion she said;

"Concerning those locked-up bottles in the cellar, should I give them away to those who have not yet arrived at my way of thinking? That is no better than to serve them ones self. Should I send them to the hospital? The new school of medical practice is more and more in the way of hygienic methods and less and less in the way of drugs. Should I sell them? What in all this wide world could be more abominable than to give a person the right to poison his neighbors for a money consideration?

"Now my fellow Rechabites, you have studied these questions longer than I, and you have done our family the honor of naming your tent after my husband. I shall leave it to you to do with that dram shop in our cellar."

Her Rechabite guests promptly voted to consign the contents of the cellar to the gutter, which descends steeply from the house, and in a few minutes the party was giving its attention to cracking the necks of bottles against the stone coping at the edge of the sidewalk. At the foot of the hill is a considerable settlement of negroes, and they speedily found that there was wine on tap, and some of them drank it from the gutter.

INFANT ON HER HANDS

Kingston, May 20.—Mrs. Alex. Boudoir was on board the ferry-boat yesterday, coming to the city from her home on Howe Island to see her husband, who is in the county jail, when she met a woman with a baby. A chummy acquaintance sprang up between them. On landing both went to an Ontario street hotel and dined. The woman with the baby left to do a little shopping, as she said, and left the baby in charge of Mrs. Boudoir till she returned. Return, however, she did not, The hotel people refused to keep the child, and there was nothing for Mrs. Boudoir to do but to take the infant withher. On arriving at her destination those with whom she had been living refused the lady admission. She then returned to the city and took it to the Infants' Home. But there she was told that she must either work six months in the institution or furnish cash for the infant's maintenance. Neither alternative, however, suited her. When last seen she was walking the streets, endeavoring to quiet the crying infant.

DIES ON SHIPYARD

New York, May 20.—The Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions learned yesterday of the death aboard the steamer Kaiserin Auguste Victoria on Monday last of the Rev. Dr. Benjamin La Waree. Dr. La Baree was one of the denomination's oldest missionaries and he had done a remarkable work among some of the half-civilized people of Persia. His death was caused by cancer. The message which told of his death was received by wireless at Halifax and came overland to New York. The ship is expected to arrive at her pier this morning.

Dr. La Baree was accompanied by his second son, Robert La Baree, who went out to Persia a year ago to take the place of his older brother Rev. Benjamin Woods La Baree, who while on an errand of mercy was murdered by Turkish brigands in a lonely mountain pass near Urumia, Persia, two years ago.

British Fleet at Cronstadt.

St. Petersburg, May 21.—The report that Great Britain is arranging to send the Channel fleet to Kronstadt this summer is confirmed.

While an attempt is made to explain that the visit has no political significance, but is simply a part of the annual cruise of the fleet, which will also visit Norwegian and Swedish ports, the exchange of civilities and festivities at Kronstadt is manifestly intended to foster the sentiment in both countries in favor of an Anglo-Russian understanding.

A rapprochement with Russia is now one of the chief aims of the British policy.

GREAT BRITAIN AND CANADA

Sir Thomas Shaughnessy at a meeting of the Canadian Club in London, some few days ago, treated his hearers to some plain talk. We are informed that the colonial secretary was present, but Sir Thomas did not hesitate to criticize severely the neglect of British ministers to visit Canada and inferentially other colonies, and become acquainted with the actual condition of the Empire they were called upon to govern. He referred in particular to the fact that the permanent head of the Canadian department of the colonial office, and expressed astonishment at the fact that, that official had never set foot in Canada. In the opinion of this speaker such an official should spend at least three months of each year in the Dominion. Sir Thomas Shaughnessy also referred to the statement made to him, that no British minister had ever visited this country, a condition of things requiring attention. He evidently struck a responsive key in the breasts of his audience, because the cable informs us that "general cheers" greeted his remarks.

One sentence in Sir Thomas Shaughnessy's speech is significant and it is worthy of reproduction:

"A few years ago when trade questions were discussed between Canada and the United States we were treated with something in the nature of contempt. Are we going to permit the Rockefellers, Carnegies, Hills and other men who influence the United States to force upon Canada trade relations that may lead to the most complicated results in the future? Are we to sit supinely by and let them determine what will be Canada's future? I do not know by what means we can prevent them carrying their objects into practice, but whether by free trade or fair trade or a combination of free trade and fair trade, we must attempt to do it."

Lord Strathcona, who followed, we are told, was equally frank; though the gist of his remarks is not given. It is time, undoubtedly, that such sentiments as these should have general attention paid to them, and the prominence given to them through their utterance by men of the standing of Sir Thomas Shaughnessy and Lord Strathcona cannot fail to have this effect.

We have emphasized the danger which exists of weakening the ties binding Canada to the Empire through insidious attempts to develop a sentiment of Canadian independence, while, on the other hand, an equally insidious campaign is going on in other directions to cultivate closer political and trade relations with the United States. Just the other day, last week, in fact, Andrew Carnegie, and a few of his literary and professional friends across the line, paid a visit to Ottawa to open one of the libraries presented to this country, and from there he journeyed to Toronto and spoke as a guest of the Canadian club. Mr. Carnegie, in the enjoyment of ease and great wealth, has a great many schemes for the benefitting of the human race. He is a promoter of universal peace, of political union of the Anglo-Saxon race, of libraries, of university education, of spelling reform, etc.

While at Toronto his particular theme was the union of the Anglo-Saxon race and he predicted as inevitable, the union of Canada and the United States sooner or later, but sooner than most people imagine. Of course, he spoke very diplomatically about "Canada absorbing the United States," whereas on the other side of the line it is always of the United States absorbing Canada, and he painted a very pretty picture of Canada with one hand extended to Uncle Sam and the other to John Bull, leading these two worthies to the fulfillment of a common and great destiny.

This is very beautiful to lure Canadians into the net of reciprocity and annexation, and Sir Thomas Shaughnessy's note of warning to the people of Great Britain comes none too soon. While the influences to which we have referred are at work in Canada, paving the way for the consolidation of interests on the North American continent, public opinion and particularly political opinion, is apathetic on the subject. Great Britains interests in the Dominion are being neglected, and so on this combination of circumstances will continue until Great Britain will find herself without self-governing colonies and in a position of alienship on a fringe of a consolidated Europe, as Carnegie himself predicts. The danger of the British people in Great Britain, is their confident insularity and cocksuredness. They have a tremendous faith in themselves, have immense satisfaction in things as they are and take much for granted. These are good qualities in themselves, but they are not the acme of statesmanship and are fraught with great danger.

Such men as Carnegie, depending for their influence upon tremendous wealth, are endeavoring to make history. Whether his program of achievements for the future are the result of sincere conviction or are merely hobbies, or are for the purpose of making an undying name for himself, matters little. He is welcome to his views of the future of this country, but they are not in accord with the sentiments of the people of Canada as a whole, and they are not in line with what is best in its interests.

THE LITTLE ONES.

Mothers Should Teach Them to Be Helpful in the Home.

Children may early be taught to be helpful in the home. Mothers often have the mistaken idea that they are infringing upon the child's right to a happy childhood by requiring of it the many little acts of helpfulness that mean so much to a tired, overburdened mother. I know a mother who has turned dishwashing into an amusement, eagerly looked forward to, by simply teaching her three little girls to regard it as a game in which the plates, cups and saucers, spoons, knives and forks, etc., are supposed to be enjoying surf bathing at the seashore. When the dishes are exceedingly dirty, which usually happens at dinner time, the soapy, foamy surf dashes over them from the dishwasher's expert hands, and the life saving crew in the shape of two active little dish wipers work heroically to rescue them and bring them safely to shore. One gives them a brisk wiping to prevent taking cold; the other polishes them and sets them in orderly rows in the closet life saving station.

The children daily add some interesting feature to the game. They have their favorite dishes, whose pretty bathing suits require the utmost care. These are usually the delicate china dishes. Occasionally they have visiting dishes. This occurs when mamma has an unexpected guest at lunch or dinner.—Mothers' Magazine.

CARRYING MONEY.

Keep Your Valuables in a Bag Attached to Your Person.

Don't carry your money in your hand in a purse which you are likely to drop or lay down at any moment. Keep your money, keys and other valuables in a bag attached to your person and see that the bag is securely fastened.

The safest way of all to carry money is to keep it in a small bag hung around the neck. This pocket can be made from a bit of ribbon, chamois, silk or linen and suspended by a narrow piece of ribbon securely fastened. Have the little bag buttoned or hooked together or use the patent fasteners, which are really most convenient of all. Wear this just inside your waist and you can get at it easily if you need to.

Of course when a waist fastens in the back this bag is not available, and the inside pocket must be relied upon. Drop loose change in small quantities into a coat pocket, but never a loose bill, as it will be blown or thrown out when you least expect it.

"Gentlemen," rose Jarrat's voice, "the hogpen is just below. Will you come aft where the lookout is more agreeable and join me in a game of loo?"

On a morning when land had long been promised and was eagerly looked for the young Frenchman, M. Armand, mounted to the deck. His face was weather burned, and the salt breath of the spume fell damp on his hair. The Virginian came and stood beside him, and both looked down upon the wretched legion of redemptioners crowding the lower deck, gazing dumbly up like cattle.

"A brave sight," submitted Cary, "to show the riches of the colonies."

His tone was not without bitterness, as the Frenchman perceived. "You would not have it so?"

"I? No. We have no need of some of the offscouring you see there. It will breed us the curse of crime. But what care the factors? 'Tis profit to them. And what cares the king? It means more tobacco, and tobacco stuffs his coffers."

"Yet some of these may be lifted by opportunity."

"Aye," answered Cary. "Bad as they are. Wooden hogs, fair sick for the lash, lumps from Cork or lack Latin sots shipped for schoolmasters. Their sons may be good citizens. New lands, new conditions. If this land be not saddled with another's ills, here these shall at least have hope. By their faces they leave not much to love behind them."

Before either spoke again a cry came up from where a knot of sloven redemptioners were gathered—a cry and a hoarse word in one. Down below, at one side, a woman leaned, hugging a shawl wrapped bundle to her breast.

She was a drab, but with a certain sullen beauty that is bred of Latin blood. Armand had seen her face more than once transfigured by that wondrous glory of mother love. He had that very day heard her crooning softly as she walked, noted the strange furtiveness with which she avoided the too curious gaze of her fellows, wondered what subtle grace nature had lent for mother eyes to those infant features.

Now one of the crew stood over her, plucking at the shawl. She was weeping passionately, loudly, without pretense of concealment.

"What a devil's that?" bawled the mate's voice from a rope ladder.

"The brat's dead," said the sailor. "Blow me tight, I've been watching her for two days. The lallop's been singing to it to pull the wool over our eyes."

"Dead, is it? Pitch it overboard, then." He kicked down a greasy rag of canvas.

As the man he commanded approached the woman she fell on her knees, shrinking in close against the bulwarks and speaking rapidly in some foreign tongue.

"What's that lobbily?" asked the mate.

"She says," translated one of the pitiful group around her, "that the land is so near and the water is cold. She wants to bury it in the ground."

"Split me," oathed the mate, "is that all? Over with it, Jerry!"

Again she spoke, volubly and with many groveling sobs.

"She says," said the redemptioner, "that if it could only be blessed. There is no priest aboard."

The mate, with his hands on the rail, laughed at this. "Do what I say, you down there!" he cried. "Will ye stand making mouths all day? Tie it in that canvas."

The man he had bidden approached the woman to take the cold little body from her, but she turned suddenly a fury and, holding it to her breast with one arm, fought him off, screaming.

He jumped back, with his hand clapped to his armpit. "The Jezebel's bit me!" he yelled.

There was a great laugh from the sailors, and the mate cursed luridly from above. "Are ye mollycoddles, then?" he shouted. As they hesitated he scrambled down hand over hand, damning them for landlubbers and clearly minded to do it himself.

The Frenchman's fingers, as he stood beside the Virginian, gripped the rail. "Swine!" he said under his breath. Then he leaned over and called clearly, "Keep your hand from that woman!"

The mate looked up, astonished, at the group, for the other passengers had gathered to witness what was going on.

"Where that?" he asked.

Armand repeated his words.

The mate's face turned a spongy purple, and he laughed in a way that was not good to hear. For answer he reached out a hand to the shawl and literally tore it away from the poor clay it covered.

At the instant he did so Armand vaulted the rail where he stood, caught a rope, swung to a stanchion and landed as lightly as a cat at the side of the burly ruffian. The act was so clean, so graceful and so quick that none of the passengers could have told exactly how it was done.

The mate turned and, seeing him at his elbow, struck with all his strength at the other's head.

The stroke was one to stun, but it never reached home. The young foreigner bent one side, not moving his feet, with a motion that would have spoken volumes to an athlete, and the mate's fist banged against the bulwark. While he staggered from this, Armand, seizing a rope's end as he circled, cut him across the face with such a slash that the blood ran from the gash.

Now ensued a strange combat. The mate, heavy and cumbrous, tried to reach the other with sledge hammer blows. The Frenchman, slight, wary, circling, retreating, slipped hither and thither. Three times in as many seconds that sibilant "swish" sang, and a red mark sprang out on the brutal face.

At each swing of the fist a sort of groan went up from the huddled redemptioners, and at each cut they sucked in their breath with delight. It was a new, strange entertainment for them—to have a brain sick passenger descend from his clean deck to champion the cause of a scum.

The Virginian, looking down, was quivering visibly. As the passenger evaded a blow that would have crushed his ribs he could not forbear a shout: "Well done, by the Lord! But 'ware the clinch! 'Ware the clinch, monsieur!"

For the mate, though maddened out of himself, had shown a sudden gleam of purpose. He was forcing the secretary back into a corner between bulwark and stanchion, not striking, but his burly arms now stretched out widely. Even as Cary shouted the arms gripped Armand like a vise, and the stinging rope's end, useless now, fell to the deck.

Present Price of Stock FIVE Cents per Share

If you want to get in on the ground floor before the price advances to 10 Cents per share, NOW IS YOUR CHANCE

When The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Company was organized the officers of the company foresaw the certainty, of a big mining boom in Clear Creek County, Colorado, U.S.A., and they congratulated themselves on securing a property which showed 1,500 feet of development work, and could be classed with the MINES of the region.

The steady increase in the mineral production of the county, new strikes, the development of old mines at depth (proving the continuity of the ore bodies and the increased richness of the ores), the availability of mining supplies, the abundance of water the great amount of timber for mining and fuel, the adaptability of the topography for deep tunnel mining, and the large number of milling and smelting plants, means that the district possesses all the elements of successful and economical mining.

It was a foregone conclusion that investors would awake to a realization of the conditions, and inaugurate a new boom in 1906. It is but natural that they should desire to place their money in a locality that shows more PROVEN MINES than prospects, and where the chances for speedy returns are greater than the chances of loss. Because of economic conditions money will go farther in development work and bring RESULTS quicker. Many new companies have recently been organized, foremost among them being The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co. Stock in all Clear Creek County companies is finding a ready market among both Eastern and Western investors, and in consequence The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co forestalled the boom by securing one of the best mining propositions in the locality, consisting of 16 mining claims, situated on Standard Mountain, in the Ohio and Jackson Mining District, two and one-half miles south of Idaho Springs. The Gold Leaf properties are credited with a past production of $75,000, and the tunnel is being steadily driven toward the rich ore bodies from whence former shipments were made. The old workings are now drowned with water which the tunnel will drain and also give unlimited stoping ground for the ores. Surrounding mines have produced over $11,500,000 Now is the time to purchase stock. When we re-open our ore the opportunity will be lost to investors.

Don't overlook this exceptional opportunity! Think of the acreage; Think of the development work done; Think of the past ore production; Think of the future possibilities; Think of investing—THEN ACT AT ONCE!

Sufficient stock subscriptions have already been received to carry our Frontier Tunnel a distance of 600 feet, or to the Standard Vein, from which point ore shipments will be resumed. Future stock subscriptions will be applied on the purchase of a power plant or on contracts to facilitate the work of driving the tunnel.

Our General Manager estimates that the completion of the tunnel will place at our disposal OVER FOUR MILES OF ORE, aggregating 96,000,000 tons.

Sleeplessness

Weak, Listless, Sleepless Men and Women Cured Every Day by Dr Hamilton's Pills.

The physical suffering and mental anguish that victims of sleeplessness endure is indeed a sad story. But in Dr. Hamilton's Pills there is swift relief from this awful condition. Thousands have proved the merit of this grand medicine, among them Mrs. D. T. Lyons, one of the best known residents of Geneva, who writes: "My health ran down and I was unable to sleep. I had headache and pains in different parts of my body. In the morning I was weary and exhausted—no rest or comfort came from the snatches of sleep I got.

"Dr. Hamilton's Pills braced me at once. After the first night I got refreshing sleep, that extreme weariness left me and I recovered very fast.

"No medicine I ever used gave such telling results as Dr. Hamilton's Mandrake and Butternut Pills."

Don't let sleeplessness drive you crazy, take Dr. Hamilton's Pills and get well. You will increase in flesh, your appetite will be vigorous, force and energy will be instilled into your nervous system.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Weekly Half Holiday Asked

A petition will, we understand shortly be circulated among the local merchants, requesting them to close their respective places of business every Thursday afternoon during the months of July and August.

Should this petition be taken round it is to be hoped our merchants will display a generous and public spirited recognition of the fairly based claims of their employees.

Considering the very late hours that clerks are detained in most of the stores every Saturday night, which in the case of grocers and butchers often means retention of clerks actually over the beginning of the Sabbath, it is only fair that employes of such establishments get this half holiday during the hot weather.

POLICE NEWS

Daily Happenings in Court Room and Station.

At Saturday's police court James Peters was charged with harboring five dogs of the male and one of the female persuasion. Peter's claimed he was going to get rid of the last named one, the others being puppies only a month old. He was fined $2 and ordered to procure a tag for the female at once. Peters claimed to have given away the puppies and furnished the chief with the addresses of the people who had taken them.

The next case called was that of an unfortunate woman, whom drink has completely placed beyond the pale of respectability, and whose name owing to her respectable family and connections we omit. The woman was charged with vagrancy.

P. C. Adams went into the box and swore that one night last week, at a late hour, the husband of the unfortunate woman, asked that an officer go after his wife, she having gone away with two Frenchmen. The woman who has served two terms in the Mercer Institute, was discovered by him, drunk and incapable during the night. His Worship remarked "This is an awful case of destruction by whiskey," and sentenced the woman to one year in the Mercer Institute.

The next case called was that of the small boy, charged a few days ago with stealing $15 from a local citizen's house, and to which he pleaded guilty, was before the court for sentence.

Mr. Cochrane, of the Children's Aid Society, noted that the boy's parents had now moved into the country, and suggested that the boy be allowed to go to them under surveillance of the society.

The magistrate allowed the boy to go on suspended sentence.

Mr. Fred Nicholls Extending Lines

Gentleman Well Known Here Operating in Niagara Peninsula.

Concerning the head of our greatest local industry, a St. Catharines despatch says;

Mr. Royce, solicitor for Mr. Frederic Nicholls, was here attending a special meeting of the City Council. He said that Mr. Nicholls and his associates planned building electric lines all through the Niagara district, to act as feeders for their main line from Toronto to Buffalo, which is soon to be established. One of their lines will run from Welland to Brantford, and another from St. Catharines to Hamilton and Toronto, the latter forming the main line. They will get to work on this line westward from here to Hamilton just as soon as the finances are secured. John Patterson, the Hamilton railway promoter wrote a letter to the council here saying that if the bill empowering him to build his Hamilton, Waterloo and Guelph Railway goes through Parliament, the work will be started as quickly as possible and his line will connect with the Hamilton, Grimsby and Beamsville line, which now taps the Niagara fruit district.

"There is a population of 200,000 people, which our road will reach, ready to be served with fruit from the Niagara peninsula, provided they can get it early enough," he said, in his letter.

Getting Ready for Grand Lodges

Various Committees Working Hard to Ensure Successful Meeting.

The Grand Lodge committees of the local Oddfellows are now busy preparing for the meeting of the Grand Lodge to be held here during the second week in August in the Court House. Fully five hundred delegates are expected. The Daughters of Rebekah will meet in the Oddfellows' hall. Arrangements are being made for the hotel accommodation of the visitors. The delegates will be taken for a trip over the lift lock, and otherwise have their visit made pleasant in Peterboro's proverbial enthusiastic manner.

Band Concerts Begin June 1st.

Victoria Park band concerts begin for this season on Friday evening, June 1st. This will cause many a fair one's eye to glitter with anticipated pleasure, thinking over the comin[illegible] walks with Him, through the beauties of this loveliest of Peterboro's breathing spots, listening to the dulcet strains rendered by our splendid 57th Regt. Band.

Twenty Minutes Time Enough?

To Cure the Worst Headache From Any Cause—New Reduction Method.

Most headaches and pains yield instantly to the new Reduction Method—Dr. Shoop's Famous Restorative Nervine Cure. The cause for these pains is congestion—a rushing of blood to the nerve centers—which distends the veins to nearly the bursting point. Swollen and congested nerves and capillaries exert an irritating pressure on the myriads of nerve branches and fibres. Then, there's pain, and finally, the throbbing, excruciating pain called headache. This new Restorative Method distributes the congestion, and gives it to the proper circulation. Does the nerve pressure and pains and headache disappear instantly? Not always—but the remedy is so prompt, so positive, so safe, so sure—that the nerves fairly sing with delight—but the remedy which brings prompt relief and permanent cures will be remembered because it reduces the congestion—it uses Reduction Method. Medicine has found a way to do this—not more, yet the only way to thoroughly overcome these attacks of headache and neuralgia. The effect of Dr. Shoop's Restorative Nervine Cure is prompt and lasting. Sold under guarantee by all druggists. Test it for your headache. Book on Nerves and Nerve Sick sent free. ### DO YOU KNOW

That Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the only medicine sold through druggists for women's weakness and peculiar ailments that does not contain large quantities of alcohol? It is also the only medicine, especially prepared for the cure of the delicate diseases peculiar to women, the maker of which is not afraid to take his patients into his full confidence, by printing upon each bottle wrapper all the ingredients entering into the medicine. Ask your druggist if this is not true.

"Favorite Prescription" too, is the only medicine for women, all the ingredients of which have the unqualified endorsement of the leading medical writers of the several schools of practice, recommending them for the cure of the diseases for which the "Favorite Prescription" is advised. Write to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., for a free booklet, and read the numerous extracts from standard medical authorities printed on the several ingredients of which Dr. Pierce's medicines are made, and don't forget that no other medicines can be had through druggists for domestic use can show any such professional endorsement. This, of itself, is of far more weight and importance than any amount of so-called "testimonials" so frequently planted before the public, in favor of proprietary nostrums.

The "Favorite Prescription" cures all woman's peculiar weaknesses and derangements, thus banishing the periodical headaches, backaches, bearing-down distress, nervousness and dragging-down sensations in lower abdomen, accompanied by weakening and disagreeable catarrhal, pelvic drains and kindred symptoms.

Dr. Pierce and his staff of skilled specialists may be consulted free by addressing on above. All correspondence is treated as sacredly confidential. By consulting in this way the disagreeable questionings and personal "examinations" are avoided.

The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, containing some very interesting and valuable chapters on the diseases peculiar to women, is sent free on receipt of stamps. It contains over one thousand pages. It is sent post paid, on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to pay expense of customs and mailing only, or 50 cents for a cloth-bound copy. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce as above.

Dr. Pierce's Pellets regulate and invigorate stomach, liver and bowels. One a laxative, two or three cathartic.

Has Peterboro Lost Stove Co.

Dominion Stove and Heater Co. Will Probable Locate in Morrisburg.

It now looks as though Peterboro has lost the much spoken of and confidently expected Dominion Stove and Heater Co., of Montreal, concerning which many sessions of council and committees were held.

Mayor East, who took so active a part in trying to get this concern to locate here, has heard from Mr. Howard, the promoter, to the effect that the company has located in Morrisburg.

When Mr. Howard found that to wait for Peterboro to settle upon a site would lose the fall trade, he decided to use a factory in Morrisburg until the new buildings could be erected here. Mayor East is doubtful, however, whether this arrangement will be carried out as Morrisburg has granted the company very favorable terms.

Mr. V. Eastwood Defended

The Member for West Peterboro Writes Letter to the Press.

The following letter was handed to The Times yesterday by Mr. Vincent Eastwood, who stated that Mr. R. H. Hall, M.P., had given it to him for publication. Mr. Hall says:

In September, 1904, a deputation consisting of representatives of the School Board, the City Council and the 57th Regiment waited on the Minister of Public Works respecting the purchase of the site known as the Separate School grounds, upon which to erect new armouries. It was then arranged that the Government would contribute $10,000.00 the City $10,000.00, and the School Board $10,000.00, for the purchase of the whole property, and that the Government were to have the south half of the property on which the buildings stood, and the School Board were to have the north half of the property.

It was then understood that the erection of the new Collegiate Institute would be proceeded with, and it was understood that, as far as possible to architectural design the construction of the two buildings would be made to harmonize as much as possible. One of the deputation representing the School Board said that, inasmuch as the material in the old building could not be used in the erection of the Armouries, he wanted to know if the Minister would consent to the Board of Education taking down the building at its own expense and using the material for its own benefit in connection with the Institute. The Minister assented to this. After the Separate School property was vacated, the representative of the Separate School Board asked me if the key was to be handed over to me. I stated that I was in no sense the custodian of the property of the Government, but I thought that inasmuch as the property was held by the Government for military purposes, that the key might be handed over to Major Hayes, who would see that it was handed to the proper officer of the Regiment who had charge of the other property and buildings belonging to the Militia Department.

In having the key handed over to the Regiment, it was not my intention to deprive the School Board of any right to the benefit of the material in the old building, but it now appears that Captain Eastwood, the Quartermaster of the Regiment, and other officers responsible, assumed that the Regiment were then entitled to the material in the building, inasmuch as the erection of the Collegiate Institute was not going to be proceeded with for some time and the material in the old building used by them, and as instructions had been given to Mr. John E. Belcher, C.E., to make a survey of the ground with the view of having the plans prepared for the Armouries.

It is to be regretted that certain officers of the Regiment have been subjected to much unjust criticism on account of their assuming that the building belonged to them, especially in view of the fact that they were not going to profit personally to the fraction of a cent, but the entire proceeds of the building were, as they have stated, to go to purchase equipment for the Regiment.

So far as I am concerned, I had no knowledge of the proposed removal of the material in the building, but under all circumstances I think Captain Eastwood has been subjected to most unjust criticism, as it certainly was never contemplated that the material in the building was to be used for speculative purposes by the Board of Education, but was to be used in the construction of a new Collegiate Institute as Captain Eastwood well knew, on account of his being present on the deputation when all arrangements were made.

I think had there been more mutual consultation between the Regiment and the Board as to which one of them was to have the material in the building, the Regiment would have readily waived any claim to it without the smoke of battle and the clash of arms."

THE BOHEMIAN FOR JUNE.

Ralph D. Paine, author of "The Praying Skipper," opens the June BOHEMIAN with another tale of the sea, "Voyage 113." The story tells of a woman who had two dogs which she insisted should be treated better than the rules of the ship would permit. The trouble that she has with the captain and the trouble the latter has in turn with all the lady passengers who rise up against him, are well brought out in this humorous tale. Of the many clever short stories which enrich this number of THE BOHEMIAN, "Voyage 113" is probably the best. William MacLeod Raine contributes an intensely dramatic narrative entitled "An Advertised Adventure." Eleanor M. Ingram has written "Two Windows." This is a pretty little tale of life in old Paris. "The Love of Naomi," by Maude R. Cole, is a story that will appeal to all women and most men. It is full of love and romance with a touch of pathos at the end. Another story of a quite different type is 'Smashing the Deadlock,' by W. Blanson Durham. This tells of the strife between two rival department stores. It is "a clever bit of fiction for clever people." One cannot help being interested in "A Singular Courtship," by Charles Myron Clark. "O'Brien and Kent, Contractors," by W. D. Wattles, is a very humorous story. Especially appropriate at this time of the year when house cleaning is just over is the contribution by Lulu Linton entitled "Like the Paper on the Wall." The number is well illustrated, especially the department of Stageland, which has many full-page portraits of talented actresses on Sugar and Spice in the Bric-a-Brac department is unusually rich in humor.

Telephone Line to Mt. Julian

Gang of 20 Men Will Begin Work on Friday Next.

Mr J Bremner will leave here on Friday morning by train and boat for Mount Julian, with a gang of 20 men, to run the newly decided upon telephonic connection from that summer resort to Burleigh Falls. As noted in a previous issue of The Times, the route for this line has recently been surveyed and blazed through. Mr. Bremner, who is an old hand at this work will doubtless complete a most satisfactory job, and expects to get the line in working order in about three weeks.

This line, like all work now done by the Bell Telephone Co., will be a "Metallic circuit," i.e., with two wires instead of the old fashioned "ground wire" system, thus ensuring clear and distinct hearing. There will be three instruments at Mount Julian to begin with, one in the post office, one in Mr. Graham's cottage, and one at Mr. J. S. Knapman's summer resort.

On completion of this line, Mr. Bremner will at once begin operations on the line from Buckhorn to Lakefield.

These new lines will be a great convenience both to summer visitors and farmers of the districts through which they pass.

Often-times in the sudden illnesses of children if a reliable remedy is available fatal consequences can be avoided. For these emergencies parents are urged to have at hand ready for immediate use Dr. Shoop's Diphtheria Cure, Dr. Shoop's Croup Cure, Dr. Shoop's Worm Cure and Dr. Shoop's Pain Panacea. Children's ailments demand promptness above all else. There is nothing harsh or that can possibly harm in any of these excellent household medicines. Sold by J. D. Tully.

C.P.R. Authorities After Trespassers

C. P. R. Detective Wright Rounding Up Offenders.

It now seems that the C.P.R. powers that be are determined, both in their own interests and those of the public, in view of possible accidents to prevent, not only stealing rides on their trains, but to stop the too prevalent practice of people, invading their private property.

C.P.R. Detective Wright who has been in the city for some time, in the interests of his company, has already caught a number of tramps tryins to steal rides on trains. They will probably appear in the police court shortly, along with some citizens detected in trespassing on the company's property.

Mr. Wright points out that the public must not under penalty, make common use of their private property as a public highway. He noted especially that too general use of the track way is made by employes of the Canadian General Electric Company's Works, and that, if this is persisted in, prosecutions will undoubtedly follow.

Milk Inspection Asked For

Correspondent Wants Milk Dealers Under Surveillance.

(To the Editor of The Times.)

Dear Sir,—I see by the papers of yesterday that all agitation is now in programme for a thorough and systematic test of our Peterboro milk. I hope most sincerely that such legislature will be inaugurated.

There are of course many of the local milk dealers who sell the pure "extract de cow," but on the other hand, too many of them are selling milk that shows an evident relationship with either well or city water.

To quote my own experience I had lately to change my milkman as the stuff he was bringing me, was no better than the skimmed milk sold by a creamery. In view of the poor of this city, whose children are just as dear to them as are the little ones of our well-off classes are to them, I would like to see your paper, which always advocates the claims of the workman, as well as the richman, come out strongly in favor of this proposed legislation.

It is a generally admitted fact that milk will carry disease germs as quick if not quicker than any other food product, and by having our local milk strictly inspected, a possible epidemic, not to mention isolated cases of infectious disease checked.

Yours Truly.
PURE MILK.

T. & L. C. Want Milk Tested.

The Trades and Labor Council are now advocating a milk testing station for this city. Judging by some of the milk sold here, this station should be absolutely separate from all connection with the water commissioners' office. Even the term commonly used for a system of credit, viz., "Chalk it down," should be debarred from use by local milk vendors, as "Familiarity breeds contempt."

Carnegie on Socialism.

New York, May 22.—In an interview, Mr. Carnegie says: "I am an individualist, and think the state is doing as much as it should. If I were a young man and alone in the world I would work for a dollar a day if necessary, and I don't think I'd ask any one to help me. Socialism of a sort seems to be growing in this country. I see evidences of it everywhere, but to me it is not the real solution."

Funny Incident at Dredge.

A funny incident occurred at the dredge yesterday. It seems that Mr. Frank Conroy bought a new team to work at the scene of the dredge's operations, and the horses, not being used to the escape of steam, took fright when it escaped. The horses made a violent effort to run away but the driver, Mr. Meade tried his utmos to control them. The horses, in their mad endeavor to escape, broke their breeching straps to pieces. As the horses plunged and endeavored to get away, Mr. J. May, an employe on the scow, was watching them. In his eager observance of the trouble, Mr. May reaching too far over the side fell into the river. Mr. P. Murphy, another employe of the dredge reached over and, by good fortune, succeeded in pulling him out to safety.

Two of the Train Robbers Canadians.

Vancouver, B.C., May 20.—The preliminary trial of the train robbers is being conducted at Kamloops. It develops that one of them, Calhoun, is from Clifford, Ont., where he taught school some years, and comes of a highly respected family. It is reported that he will turn king's evidence. Bill Miner is also a Canadian. The evidence taken so far reflects great credit on the Mounted Police and the Indians, who assisted in one of the finest pieces of tracking ever performed in the West.

The three accused men listened attentively to the evidence of Provincial Constable Fernie, who was the first to locate the fugitives. Incidentally it came out that the bloodhounds were of little use, three of them getting lost in the mountains

Daily Happenings in Court Room and Station.

Yesterday morning the Labor Exchange and Warm Wall Willie Clubs were disappointed when, congregating at their usual place of intellectual feasting, only one drunk occupying the time of the court and hence the doors leading to this abode of bliss were not opened.

Wm. Slater was charged with having been drunk in a public place on May 19th. Slater pleaded guilty and was fined $2. The chief asked that the fine be made payable forthwith as he had to get a cart to bring him to the station and had to feed him over Sunday. Slater who claims to have had $48 on his arrival in town after working at Lakefield, had not the necessary collateral, so will have, unless some one comes to his aid, to spend ten days in the stone house overlooking Victoria Park.

WILL BE SHOT.

St. Petersburg, May 22.—It is rumored that the military court which has been investigating the surrender of Port Arthur and the Battle of the Sea of Japan, has condemned to death Lieut.-General Stoessel, who commanded the Russian forces at Port Arthur, and Rear Admiral Nebogatoff, who commanded one of Admiral Rodjestvensky's squadrons, and who surrendered udring the naval battle to the Japanese.

Rome, May 20.—When Dr. Lapponi visited the Pope yesterday morning he found his patient's condition better than Friday, though he passed a somewhat restless night as the result of his attack of gout. Owing to a slight rise in his temperature, Dr. Lapponi ordered him to remain in bed for several days.

Brides Have to Walk Funerals Stoned

New York, May 22.—The East Side was aroused yesterday by three riots of striking drivers and sympathizers, who mobbed and stoned funerals. Weddings were interfered with, and brides and guests had to walk or ride on street cars. The worst disturbance of the day occurred at the funeral of Samuel Diamond from his late residence in Avenue C. The undertaker had been able to get only one open coach and a hearse, and he drove the hearse himself. His son drove the carriage, which was occupied by the Diamond family.

Three hundred friends of the Diamonds, finding no carriages, determined to walk. The procession started for the Williamsburg bridge, followed by a hooting crowd of strikers and their sympathizers.

At Norfolk and Delancy streets a shower of stones fell from the roof of one of the tenements upon the heads of the mourners. Several missiles struck the carriage occupied by the relatives. No one was hurt.

When the mourners recovered from their surprise they charged to the tenement roof in the hope of catching the culprits, but they were gone. The attack was so sudden that two policemen acting as escort were unable to make arrests. The police are searching for the stone-throwers.

Monster Lake Boat to be Built at Detroit

Detroit, Mich., May 22.—At a banquet at the Detroit Club last night, following the launching of the steamer Sir. Thomas Shaughnessy, J. C. Wallace, president of the American Shipbuilding Co., in responding to a toast, made the statement that within three or four months his company would contract to build a steamer for the great lakes from 640 to 645 feet in length over all. He did not say who would order the vessel.

This gigantic ship, said Mr. Wallace, will be 625 feet keel. It will carry 14,000 tons of iron ore on a draft of 19 feet.

Several steamers 600 feet in length are now building, and the first one, the J. Pierpont Morgan, will go into commission within a few weeks.

As at early return to the drill hall is required, seeing that considerable time will be needed for trooping of the colors and other exercises to be performed after the marchout, the route of the procession is necessarily curtailed.

Millions of Dollars Lost in Big Fire

Michigan Forest Fires Devastate 100 Square Miles---Some Lives Are Lost and Hundreds of People Left Homeless.

Milwaukee, May 22.—Millions of dollars worth of property lost, four men dead, and a score more missing, is the record of the awful forest fires that have swept Northern Michigan. Four towns have been wiped out, and a dozen more partly burned. The towns destroyed are: Talbot, Mich., with 300 inhabitants; Quinnesec, Mich., 400; Saunders, 1,000; Niagara, Wis., 300. The damaged towns are Northland, Cornell, Antoine, Spring Valley, Kingsley, Woodlawn, Foster City, Sala and Metropolitan.

DANGER OVER FOR PRESENT.

For the time the danger is over unless a new gale arises to fan the embers into flame. Four persons are known to have perished, many others are missing, and hundreds of families are homeless. Scores of homesteaders and woodsmen are missing, and it is feared may have perished in the flames.

The burned area extends from a point ten miles east of Escanaba to Talbot on the south, to Channing and Quinnesec on the west, to Sands on the north and back to near Escanaba. While this territory has not been swept clear, great tracts have been laid waste, especially towards the north. In this region a thousand small fires have been smouldering for weeks. Nothing was thought of these fires because they were not dangerous, but it only needed a wind, which came Friday, to fan them into a sheet of flame.

FORTY MILES AN HOUR.

On Saturday afternoon the fire was travelling at the rate of 40 miles and hour, and the small fires united into a large one extending over a 10-mile stretch and swept along with fury.

ALL EFFORTS VAIN.

There was little that human effort could do to check the flames. The heat was intense and the smoke stifling. The wind blew a heavy veil of smoke over Escanaba and the surrounding country. Gradually the wind died down during last night, this morning the flames began to lose their fury. The fires still smoulder, and while they are not spreading it will only need a fresh wind to start them again. As far as the eye can see there is smoke. Quinnesec is still isolated, but the trainmen say the town is burned.

THREE CHILDREN BURNED.

Three children at Quinnesec were burned to death, having become separated from their parents while the village was burning.

AN AWFUL SIGHT.

Menomennee, Mich., May 22 — A newspaper man, who happened to be at a lumber camp at the time, has reached here, and tells the following story:

"There were nearly 200 persons at the camp. The first we knew of the danger was a black cloud of smoke that suddenly came down on us. We were miles from a lake or stream, but there were men there who had been through similar fires, and under their guidance every man was set to work digging trenches in the soft soil.

"Valuables were buried, and when the danger appeared greatest the women and children were covered with earth. Then the tents and canvas sheets about the place were saturated with water and spread over them. The sixty-five horses were turned loose. Some of them broke away, but the greater number remained about the old stables, and this required great work on the part of the men to keep them from trampling or the women and children.

"The flames came. It seemed but a few minutes when the great forest beyond was a mass of fire. While behind us was nothing but blackness and smoke. The sod-covered cabins escaped, and all were safely accounted for.

"The property loss in this vicinity will be upward of $1,000,000. Not a bridge, railroad or wagon survived the fire. The children were burned to death at Quinnesec, and rescuers report finding the bodies of nine others here. A Northwestern relief train plunged through a burned bridge near Narata, and not a word has been heard from the crew since. They were probably killed or burned to death in the gulch.

The Georgian Bay Ship Canal

Arrangements Said to Have Been Completed For Financing the Scheme.

Winnipeg, May 21. — Financial arrangements are about completed for the building of the Georgian Bay Canal at an estimated cost of $65,000,000, and it is expected work will be begun on actual construction during the summer. The project is to connect the Great Lakes with the Atlantic by a giant waterway. It involves the building of forty miles of canal through solid earth and rock, four miles of locks, and the deepening of several hundred miles of natural waterways.

With the huge grain yield of the North-West, which is increasing every year, the opening of this canal is expected to mean millions of dollars annually to shippers of all kinds of produce. When the grain is shipped to Europe from ports on the Great Lakes the shippers of meats and live-stock will also make use of this route on account of the great reduction in rates, and the volume of traffic through the canal will be enormous. It will also probably mean a great loss of business to New York, while it will do away entirely with Buffalo's great industry—the handling of grain.

The company formed to construct the canal is known as the Canadian Canal Corporation, and has been promoted by Henry C. Spaulding, New York; T. W. Hugo, Duluth; Tedford Burnham, Chicago; John I. Davidson, Andrew T. Drummond and Richard C. Steele, Toronto. The charter of the company provides that in no place shall the canal be less than twenty feet deep on the sills or less than 125 feet wide, consequently it will carry all but the largest of steamers. Surveys are being completed over an alternative route at the height of land at Lake Simcoe. By the survey the distance is 250 miles shorter from Duluth to New York than by way of Buffalo, and the great advantage of the shorter route is the fact that the entire distance will be covered by waterways instead of being partly by rail.

With the completion of the financial arrangements for the building of this canal comes the announcement that the Manitoba Government will bond a railroad company to construct a line due north from Winnipeg to Hudson Bay, making another short and cheap grain route to Europe. It is understood that for some time past these negotiations have been in progress, and within a year from the official announcement of the building of the road the line will be in operation.

ATHLETIC WORLD

BY OUR SPORTING EDITOR

LACROSSE.

Secretary W. H. Hall, of the Canadian Lacrosse Association, has sent certificates to nearly all the junior and intermediate clubs. Only about sixty have been signed and returned. The season does not open until May 27, which gives plenty of time to send in the certificates. It is expected by Secretary Hall that the number of players this year will far exceed those of last season.

The Shamrocks had a good workout last night in preparation for their game with the Young Torontos here on Victoria Day. The players are fast rounding into shape.

BASEBALL.

The Brantford Expositor says that; "Dan" McCabe, the one-armed wonder has left the city and returned to Peterboro. The Dufferins would not have played him in any event as they could only sign one outsider, and Thomas, the catcher, was needed more than a pitcher.

THE TURF.

Two well known local horses, Harry Direct and Hazel Belle, were last night shipped to Picton. Some of the local Turf Club members express some surprise that after using the local track for training purposes gratis, these well-known fliers will not participate in the races here on the 24th.

• • • •

The races for Victoria Day are now an assured success. Secretary Arthur Rountree has already secured five entries for the 2.30 class, and five for the colt race. It is now upto our local citizens to turn out in good numbers and practically encourage the good work done by the Turf Club.

CHINESE LAW REFORM.

Pekin, May 22.—Wu-Ting-Fang, the former Chinese Minister at Washington, to whom the task of codifying the laws was intrusted, is memorializing the throne for jury trials, for permission for native lawers to practice before the courts, and for the electrocution instead of the decapitation of criminals condemned to death.

TO REFUND AUTO TAXES.

Montreal, May 22.—The City of Montreal yesterday discovered it had no right to impose a special tax on automobiles and announced its intention of refunding all the money collected from the beginning of the season. ### Enraged Father Commits Murder

Woodcliffe, N.J., May 22. — John Cole killed his daughter, Maria, with an axe today, attacking his wife with the same weapon, striking her in the head and probably fatally injuring her, and then killed himself with a revolver buttock. The tragedy followed the departure from Coles house of a young man to whom it is said the daughter was engaged. The girl was still standing on the steps looking in the direction in which the young man had disappeared when her father, axe in hand and agrained, sprang out at her. She jumped aside, but the father drove the axe into her skull and she fell, dying instantly. As the girl fell her mother ran from the house and was immediately attacked by Cole, who rendered her unconscious with a single blow. Then the man hurriedly drew a revolver and killed himself.

The Coles came here to live a week ago, and but little is known about them by their neighbors. The father was an engineer. The young man is in business in New York city. He was some distance away from the house when the girl was killed, and left without knowing of the murder.

To Sail 1,000 Miles In a Balloon

New York, May 22.—A London despatch to the Herald says: More remarkable than any feat of aerial navigation on record is the balloon trip to be made from London this week by Prince Jaime of Bourbon and Baron Josef Von Kerwin, a Lieutenant in the Austrian army. It now develops that the aeronaut will attempt to cross the Baltic sea to some point in Austria, covering the distance of approximately 1,000 miles.

The expedition will be without parallel, the nearest approach to it being the voyage made by Comte De La Vaux from Paris to Kieff, in Russia during the Paris Exposition.

The start will be made today, if the wind is blowing in the right direction. The start is to be made from the grounds of the Austrian Exhibition, and it is probable that it will be witnessed by the Prince and Princess of Wales. The trip is planned in the interest of the Austrian Government.

Prince Jaime, the son and heir of Don Carlos, claimant of the Spanish throne, during the Russo-Japanese war fought in the Russian army, being wounded at Liao Tang, subsequently being decorated for gallantry. Baron Von Kerwin has made 1,000 ascensions and 120 voyages during the last 10 years. He is chief of the balloon department in the Austrian army.

Damp Spring Weather Ruinous to Health

Causes Weakness, Headaches and Feeling of Unrest; the Cure is Simple.

That peculiar weakness so common in the spring, is demoralizing to body and mind alike.

Stupid, absent-minded and dull,—You feel the need of a stimulating tonic.

To impart quickness and great vitality to the entire system nothing acts like Ferrozone.

In a short time it makes you feel fit and fine, creates a feeling of youth and strength that's surprising.

Ferrozone revives and braces the sickly because it nourishes and builds up the organs that are weak. As a spring tonic, appetizer and blood-strengthener it is unequaled.

A well known resident of Utopia, Ont., Mr. H. H. Fouts, writes: "From long experience I am convinced that everyone requires medicine in the spring. As a rule the blood is thin and impure and the whole system is congested with poisons that should be carried off. I use Ferrozone because it clears up the system, gives you an appetite and makes you sleep well. One winter I had serious palpitation of the heart, nervous headaches, and an extreme tired feeling. Sleep was not restful and by spring I was in bad shape. I took six boxes of Ferrozone and was made the picture of health."

Ferrozone makes permanent cures. Absolutely safe because it is purely vegetable and contains no alcohol. Concentrated cure in tablet form,—that's Ferrozone, 50c. per box or six boxes for $2.50 at all dealers or by mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S.A., and Kingston, Ont.

PUTS COST OF GAS AT 25 CENTS

Twenty-five cents is the highest cost for the best illuminating gas made, according to Thomas F. Donnelly, former State Senator of New York, and framer of the New York bill for cheaper gas. The difference from the cost and the selling price is attributed by that authority to the distribution of stock at inflated prices. He quotes the case of the Gaslight Coal and Coke Company, of Boston, which sold gas at fifteen cents and made money, then sold the gas to a pipe line for twenty cents. This pipe line sold to another pipe line for thirty cents, and the last sold to the consumers at seventy-five cents. Mr. Donnelly also recalls the gas war in New York in 1879, when gas was sold down to a price which the companies said would break them, but the publicity given by the papers caused such a consumption that the shareholders of the companies actually pocketed big profits. Mr. Donnelly explains the difficulty in getting expert statements on the cost of gas from the fact that any expert who reveals the true conditions will suffer from the enmity of all companies. His conclusion is that gas is one of the most mysterious of all the commodities that corporate wealth deals in, and a coal strike is a fine thing for it. When people have to pay a high price for coal they put in gas stoves and burn more gas; when there is no coal strike the gas companies sell the contracted coal that threatens to overcrowd their storage capacity. They get the poor both ways. The joke is always on the poor.

ALL HEADED ONE WAY

Several cartoons illustrative of the richness of Western Canada appeared recently in an American paper. One recalls the spies whom the Israelites sent into Canaan to prospect before they entered it from the wilderness. They returned staggering under the burden of great bunches of grapes. The artist has depicted Uncle Sam and John Bull as returning from a similar errand of investigation into the Canadian West. Between them they carry a pole bending with the weight of the symbolic bunch of grapes, which in this instance is probably an irregularly shaped sack of No. 1 hard Red Fife wheat. In another picture we are shown Uncle Sam leaning on a fence and thoughtfully watching a long string of emigrant wagons all headed for the Canadian Provinces, and he remarks, "Where there's money to be made you'll find a Yankee." The Canadian Government is undoubtedly after the American farmer. If considers him one of the best immigrants possible to be had. He has experience in the way of earning a living in a new country, he has some money, and he will transform any district in which he settles into a thriving, prosperous, well-ordered community in the briefest time possible. The statement was made in a Winnipeg paper that within the week no less than 1,000 American farmers has passed through St. Paul all headed for the Canadian West. Every Scottish paper, too, that has come to hand since early in the spring has been filled with notices of the removal of strong young Scotchmen who were going out to Canada to take up land. With the American movement and the English and Scotch settlers that are also coming in this country is getting the very pick of the emigration to this continent. Compare this with with the kind of a stream that goes into New York every day from Southern Europe!

Word comes from British Columbia that a hundred million salmon fry have been liberated this season on the Pacific coast waters from the salmon hatcheries along the river and its tributaries. Evidently we shall have canned salmon to export on for some years to come. When the cook goes on strike in the hot weather, or the beef trust shoves up the price of steak we can patronize the salmon trust.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

To make glass, crockery or china less susceptible to changes of temperature boil it in salt water.

Cheesecloth strips a yard wide sewed over the edges of comfortables and blankets and changed with the bed linen insures cleanliness.

In hemming new table linen if the edge is slightly dampened with soapy water after the hemds turned the cloth when dry will be like soft linen to work on.

A brilliant polish may be given to brass door fixtures, ornaments, etc., by washing them in alum and lye. Make a solution by boiling an ounce of alum in a pint of lye and wash the article in it.

Large pieces of silver, such as urns, baskets and the like, should be kept in canton flannel bags when not in active use. The furry side of the flannel should be turned inside and the bag closed with drawing strings at the top.

Developing the Arms.

If the arm is not sufficiently developed to be graceful it may be improved by proper care and exercise. To begin with, a thin, scrawny arm must have plenty of skin food. Almond oil is good, so is the cold cream that is sold and so are other soft oils. The oil should be rubbed over the arm thoroughly with a downward motion, stroking the arm from the shoulder to the wrist. A little soft hair down on the arms only adds to their beauty, but if there is more than this—say a thickish dark growth—something should be done to remove what will be considered a blemish if it is ever exposed to view. It is rarely seen on the upper arms, and it is only when the gloves are taken off and an elbow sleeved or other short sleeved dress is being worn that there is any self consciousness about it.

Piano Ornamentation.

One word as to the decorating of the top of the piano: Don't. Too much ornamentation is destructive to tone quality. You may have observed that on striking a certain note it gives out a ringing metallic sound. After puzzling over the phenomenon for awhile you at length discover that the sound is due to the presence of a jeweled photograph frame which you thought added so much to the ornamentation of the instrument. But if you love a good toned piano better than you do bric-a-brac you will cease to litter your instrument with picture frames, curios and statuettes, no matter how well they show off, no matter how empty the piano looks without them.

Nor is your instrument complete nowadays without the side cabinet for music.

Cheese Salad.

A novel cheese salad which will be appreciated at the close of dinner is made by creaming together with a silver fork cottage cheese and a little sweet cream. Season generously with salt and paprika and mix with chopped ripe olives, about half the quantity of olives being the proper proportion. Shape into croquettes and serve very cold on crisped chicory leaves with mayonnaise.

If you prefer to take medicine in tablet form you can now obtain Dr. Shoop's Restorative Tablets. Absolutely no change has been made in the medicinal ingredients. Sold by J. D. Tully.

Railway to Own Telephone.

Montreal, May 21.—Further discussion is at present taking place among the chiefs of the Grand Trunk Railway in connection with the construction of a telephone service over the entire system.

It is admitted that the present system, particularly the long distance talking, is a good one, but it is thought that the time is nearly ripe for the company to own its own plant from Chicago to Portland.

At first it was thought that it would be wise to have the head office of the telephone system in Montreal, but there is now a feeling that Toronto would be a more central point. Just when the final decision will be made is not yet known.

Hearts Courageous

By... HALLIE ERMINIE RIVES

Copyright, 1902, by THE BOWEN-MERRILL COMPANY

Over the upper rail the passengers leaned, watching.

"A shame!" cried one. "That bloody bounte will kill him out of hand!"

"'Tis the clerk! Pshaw!" said the quartermaster. "He sides with the rabble. Let the rabble care for him!"

The woman who had been the unwitting cause of this struggle crouched back of the first sullenly intent rows, waiting, hugging her bundle. The others watched, guessing well what the issue would be, most of them accepting it as they had accepted the unspeakable fare, the cursings and revilings of the crew, with that stolid acceptance which, multiplied by centuries of heredity, had brought them at last to this same condition.

The Virginian leaned down with vibrant hopelessness. He looked to see the secretary, vised and crackled in those arms, drop limp and senseless. As he looked he saw Armand's face, very white, turn up to him.

Then, like lightning, a wonderful thing happened. The young man's chin sank deep into the hollow of the other's shoulder; his arms went up about the muscles of the bulky back; lithe legs like wire went suddenly curling and twisting about the stocky ones. A moment of strained silence and a glaze of shocked surprise on the mate's slashed face, then—

Crack! The coil untwisted; the mate relaxed, tottered and fell to the deck.

There was at this time in France a curious science known as "La Savate."

A glaze of shocked surprise on the mate's slashed face.

The Japanese have it under another name. It was first taught in the thieving dens of Paris and was to some extent popularized by a clever rogue who earned freedom from the Bastille by teaching it to young officers of title. It was an art of leg fence, and by precisely the same twist and wring which a practiced swordsman uses to disarm an adversary, the blade in this case being bone and flesh, Armand had sent the mate's knee leaping from its socket.

To the majority of those who saw it this was perfectly incomprehensible. A gasp of wonder ran among the redemptioners, and they laughed loudly at the mate's groan. The secretary had lost none of his alertness, though he was breathing hard. He sprang at the stanchion, clearly intending to return to the upper deck by the way he had come.

But he was too late. The mate's sailors rushed upon him.

Cary, shaking with excitement, sent out a cry.

"By Harry!" he shouted to the passengers about him. "Shall we see him that fought so beat like a dog? Are we poltroons, sir?"

He leaped the rail, but before he could reach the lower level aid came to Armand, so hard beset. The skipper dived into the circle on a run, an evil light in his eyes and a marline spike in his hand. He knocked the foremost senseless, and the rest scattered.

"Curse ye!" he bellowed. "Set on a passenger, ye dogfish! By the devil, I'll mizzen ye naked! Get to work and take this away!" he commanded, jerking a thumb at the mate who sat up, nursing his knee.

The woman, still holding the bundle, had pressed to the secretary's side and was pouring out a torrent of grateful incoherencies. Master Elves began cursing her with vigor, but Armand touched his arm.

"The babe is dead," he said. "Your mate would have cast it overboard. I ask for the mother a twelve hours' time. If we do not sight land by then I will ask no more."

But land was not to be seen that day. Next morning came—the secretary's fight had been in vain. Then there was another gathering to the forward rail of the upper deck.

This was to watch the young Frenchman sitting among the redemptioners, sewing a round shot carefully into the foot of a white silk bundle the size of a babe. The mother, now with empty arms, trailed her long hair and sat, red eyed, sodden with weeping, beside him. This done, he stitched over the silk neckerchief a clean canvas and last of all sewed to its top a tiny gold cross which he took from his pocket. The bundle, held now by willing hands, was laid on a little board whose end projected over the rail, and then Armand, with bared head, took his stand beside it, and they heard his voice repeating part of the Huguenot service for the dead.

Few understood the words, for they were French, but all grasped their meaning. The fresh cheeks of the girls were wet with tears. The toilers' seamed faces were pitiful. Even the crime smirched Gold Wire sobbed. And the mother was satisfied. Had not her child been blessed? To her none but a priest could perform such a rite, and Armand, though wearing no cassock, was yet in some mysterious way a priest.

So are we all His ministers!

CHAPTER III.

THE Yorktown wharf was a fair sight to the passengers of the Two Sisters as the ship swung to her moorings. Beyond the yellow clay bank the shore glowed in a violet green dazzle of foliage, a flame of amethyst and pink, and over all the sun hung hazy, like some splendid dream rose, strewing its petals upon a bay of tinted glass.

The bank behind the wharf was a fringe of negroes, their vacant minded happiness shaking out laughter as wind shakes blossoms from a locust tree. The gay colored turbans bobbed like variegated poppies on a breezy day. The planking below was sprinkled with town folk, and on the road behind it several chariots were drawn up at some distance.

In advance of these and in the rear of the crowd, with Betsy Byrd in the saddle beside it, stood the Tillotson coach, framing in its window a face with a flicker of laughter over it like the wind on a May meadow. Anne was in close green and with her oak yellow hair looked a gold spear rising straight from its sheath. As early as noon one of the Tillotson blacks had ridden to Gladden Hall with the news that the ship had been sighted down the bay, and Anne had ordered the chariot forthwith. Betsy had a new peacock shawl coming in Master Elves' care and had made the pilgrimage from Williamsburg every day for a week.

"What a pity!" exclaimed Anne, who had been first to arrive. "Mr. Cary—Breckinridge Cary—came on the ship, but she lay in Hampton Roads last night, and he there found a packet for Philadelphia. So we shall not see him till the spring."

"I'm sorry," Betsy answered. "Frank saw him in London. What a lot there are here! There is Burnaby Rolph of Westham, here for more redemptioners no doubt. He bought a round dozen last ship. Why doesn't he leave that for his factor, like a gentleman, I wonder?"

Succession Duties.

Toronto, May 31. — The succession duties for the first four months of 1906, ending April 30, amount to $167,645, being some $7,000 less than for the same period of 1905. Several large estates, however, which have not yet been valued and assessed, will probably bring the receipts fully up to last year's.

100 PER CENT. ADVANCE JUNE 1

Present Price of Stock FIVE Cents per Share

If you want to get in on the ground floor before the price advances to 10 Cents per share, NOW IS YOUR CHANCE

When The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Company was organized the officers of the company foresaw the certainty of a big mining boom in Clear Creek County, Colorado, U.S.A., and they congratulated themselves on securing a property which showed 1,500 feet of development work, and could be classed with the MINES of the region.

The steady increase in the mineral production of the county, new strikes, the development of old mines at depth (proving the continuity of the ore bodies and the increased richness of the ores), the availability of mining supplies, the abundance of water the great amount of timber for mining and fuel, the adaptability of the topography for deep tunnel mining, and the large number of milling and smelting plants, means that the district possesses all the elements of successful and economical mining.

It was a foregone conclusion that investors would awake to a realization of the conditions, and inaugurate a new boom in 1906. It is but natural that they should desire to place their money in a locality that shows more PROVEN MINES than prospects, and where the chances for speedy returns are greater than the chances of loss. Because of economic conditions money will go farther in development work and bring RESULTS quicker. Many new companies have recently been organized, foremost among them being The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co. Stock in all Clear Creek County companies is finding a ready market among both Eastern and Western investors, and in consequence The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co forestalled the boom by securing one of the best mining propositions in the locality, consisting of 16 mining claims, situated on Standard Mountain, in the Ohio and Jackson Mining District, two and one-half miles south of Idaho Springs. The Gold Leaf properties are credited with a past production of $75,000, and the tunnel is being steadily driven toward the rich ore bodies from whence former shipments were made. The old workings are now drowned with water which the tunnel will drain and also give unlimited stoping ground for the ores. Surrounding mines have produced over $11,500,000 Now is the time to purchase stock. When we re-open our ore the opportunity will be lost to investors.

Don't overlook this exceptional opportunity! Think of the acreage; Think of the development work done; Think of the past ore production; Think of the future possibilities; Think of investing—THEN ACT AT ONCE!

Sufficient stock subscriptions have already been received to carry our Frontier Tunnel a distance of 600 feet, or to the Standard Vein, from which point ore shipments will be resumed. Future stock subscriptions will be applied on the purchase of a power plant or on contracts to facilitate the work of driving the tunnel.

Our General Manager estimates that the completion of the tunnel will place at our disposal OVER FOUR MILES OF ORE, aggregating 96,000,000 tons.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Food Cure
NATURE'S WAY
See Diet List Below

A man may try all sorts of drugs to help him to get well, but, after all, the "food cure" is the method intended by Nature.

Anyone can prove the efficacy of the food cure by making use of the following breakfast each morning for fifteen or twenty days:

A dish containing not more than four heaping teaspoonfuls of Grape-Nuts food, enough rich cream to go with it, some raw or cooked fruit, not more than two slices of entire wheat bread, and not more than one cup of Postum Food Coffee, to be sipped, not drank hurriedly. Let this suffice for the breakfast.

Let one meal in the day consist of an abundance of good meat, potato, and one other vegetable.

This method will quickly prove the value of the selection of the right kind of food to rebuild the body and replace the lost tissue which is destroyed every day and must be made up, or disease of some sort enters in. This is an age of specialists, and the above suggestions are given by a specialist in food values, dietics and hygiene.

Nature's Way Is Best.

The function strengthening and tissue building plan of treating chronic, lingering and obstinate cases of disease as pursued by Dr. Pierce, is following after Nature's plan of restoring health.

He uses natural remedies, that is extracts from native medicinal roots, prepared by processes wrought out by the expenditure of much time and money, without the use of alcohol, and by skilful combination in just the right proportions.

Used as ingredients of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, Black Cherry-bark, Queen's root, Golden Seal root, Bloodroot and Stone root, specially exert their influence in cases of lung, bronchial and throat troubles, and this "Discovery" is, therefore, a sovereign remedy for bronchitis, laryngitis, chronic coughs, catarrh and kindred ailments.

The above native roots also have the strongest possible endorsement from the leading medical writers, of all the several schools of practice, for the cure not only of the diseases named above but also for indigestion, torpor of liver, or biliousness, obstinate constipation, kidney and bladder troubles and catarrh, no matter where located.

You don't have to take Dr. Pierce's say-so alone as to this; what he claims for his "Discovery" is backed up by the writings of the most eminent men in the medical profession. A request by postal card or letter, addressed to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., for a little book of extracts from eminent medical authorities endorsing the ingredients of his medicines, will bring a little book free that is worthy of your attention if needing a good, safe, reliable remedy of known composition for the cure of almost any old chronic, or lingering malady.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. One little "Pellet" is a gentle laxative, and two a mild cathartic.

The most valuable book for both men and women is Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. A splendid 1008-page volume, with engravings and colored plates. A copy, paper-covered, will be sent to anyone sending 21 cents in one-cent stamps, to pay the cost of mailing only, to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y. Cloth-bound, 50 stamps.

Pupils Must Work on Holiday.

The Campbellford Despatch says; The department exams. begin on June 30th, and last for about a week. A regrettable feature of the examination is that the pupils will be writing on July 2nd, when not a single one can do himself or herself justice. We think it would be wise for the school board and council to communicate with other towns asking that a vigorous attempt be made to have the Minister of Education change the arrangement so that candidates will not be writing on a public holiday.

Alderman Graham Leaves the Meeting

Fire, Water and Light Committee Allow One Man to Do What Other Are Denied.

Last night the Fire Water and Light Committee in the clerk's office, Mr J. H. Larmonth addressed the council at some length regarding the proposed change of street lights It was decided to postpone action until the electrical expert, as noted in a former issue of The Times, comes here and makes his report.

The application made by Mr. Finney for permission to erect a building, within the fire limits, with walls less than 14 inches thick, as required by Law, brought up a lengthy discussion on the subject of buildings within the fire limits.

Ald. Mason moved that the by-law be modified so that, in the case of houses of two stories only, the first story might be 13 inches, and the second nine inches. This not to apply to the business portion and for residential purposes only.—Carried.

Ald. Graham asked "What is the use of asking our city engineer to make a report and then pass by-laws contrary to his opinion. The Mayor noted that for the past seven years, buildings have been erected within the fire limits directly contrary to the by-laws, by consent of he city engineer

At this juncture Ald. Graham arose in evident disgust and said, "Well gentlemen you can scratch my name off the Fire, Water & Light Committee. When members of this committee or council, begin to make fish of one and flesh of another, you can count me out." The alderman, who knows as much about building as any one in the city, further called attention to a building on the same street, within a few yards of where the committee allowed a nine-inch wall to be erected, where he was compelled to put up a 14-inch wall. The gentleman for whom he had to erect this 14-inch wall was present, and corroborated Mr. Graham's statements, saying, "Yes that's true. I had to put up a 14-inch wall, and now another man comes along and does as he pleases."

Ald. Graham then left the meeting.

An Appeal Has Been Entered

Case of McWilliams vs. Dickson Co. to be Further Considered

It will interest our readers to learn that in the report of legal proceeding in Osgoode Hall, Toronto, the following is noted.

McWilliams vs. Dickson Co. of Peterboro—G. H. Watson, K.C. and G. M Roger, Peterboro, for defendants appealed from judgment of Street J., (6 O.W.R. 706), in so far as it was in favor of plaintiff, Theodore McWilliams, in an action to recover the value of certain lumber, and also the value of certain work and labor upon timber. The logs in question were cut by plaintiff during the winter of 1903-04 upon lots 18 to 23 inclusive, in the fourth concession, and lots 19 to 23 inclusive in the third concession of Cavendish. Defendants had a timber license covering all these lots, and claimed under it to be entitled to all the timber upon them. Defendants contended that plaintiff had failed to prove right and title in him to the logs and timber or the right and title in him to the possession thereof as against defendants R. P. McWilliams, Peterboro, and A. B. Clute for plaintiff opposed defendants' appeal, and supported a cross-appeal from the same judgment.

Mr. Roper Sends In Resignation

Asst. Sec'y of Local Y. M. C. A. is Leaving the City.

It is with much regret that his many friends learn that Mr. George H. Roper, assistant secretary and physical director for the boys' department of the Y.M.C.A. has tendered his resignation.

Mr. Roper came to this city in 1905, since which time he has made many friends here. He has proved himself a capable instructor in the gymnasium and has been of great value to the general secretary.

His reason for leaving is entirely in connection with demands of his personal future, as Mr. Roper is about to devote his time to studying for the mid-summer university matriculation examination. He will also attend the Y.M.C.A. summer school of instruction at Lake Couchiching

He leaves Peterboro with the best wishes of the officers and members of the Y.M.C.A. and the large circle of friends he has made.

POLICE NEWS

Daily Happenings in Court Room and Station.

Yesterday a long trial took place in the police court, when David Doig was charged with stealing a quantity of brass from the W. Hamilton Manufacturing Co's Works. Mr. Wood acted for the Crown, and Mr. Kerr had been retained by the prisoner. Mr. Kerr asked that Doig's action at the first hearing of the case, for summary trial be changed and that he take trial at the higher court. This, however, the magistrate declined to do as witnesses had been subpoenaed and would have to be paid their fees and expenses. Mr. Kerr then declined to act, and left the court.

Mr. Smith, general manager of the William Hamilton Manufacturing Co. the first witness, said his firm ordered some scrap brass from the J. P. Scott Co., of Toronto. He produced the invoice which read for 1125 pounds red scrap brass, and was received on May 10th, via G.T.R., in a barrel. The goods cost $167.40.

David Spence is foreman at the same factory. On April 25th they missed some brass castings. The loss was reported to him by Mr. Crowe, as eleven pieces. They were finished as far as in done in the foundry. The castings are not common stock but made specially for their machines, and some of them were marked with letters and figures. He identified those in court as the ones stolen.

Mr. Charles Crowe, who looks after the weighing of patterns in same shop, testified no missing certain castings on April 23rd.

On May 7th, he missed the larger casting. Next saw them on May 11th in the brass shop.

Thos. Mucintee testified to receipt of the barrel of scrap brass at the foundry, from Toronto.

At this stage of the trial, Mr. O'Connell, whom Doig had sent for arrived, but declined to act as the case had gone so far.

Jas. T. Scott of Toronto, wholesale dealer in scrap metals, noted having sent the barrel of brass in question to the W.H.M. Co. Did not know personally where the goods for W.H.M. Co. came from, but his books show that it was purchased from Holmes of Port Hope.

Jas Ellis who works for Mr. Scott, recognized one of the castings in court as one shipped to the W.H.M. Co. here

A. L Scott of Toronto, testified to having got two kegs of brass from Holmes of Port Hope. The casks had previously contained dry red paint, and the castings in court showed marks of the paint. His firm received no brass direct from Peterboro.

Reid Munro, an apprentice in the W.H.M Co's Works. His uncle, who is president of the company, sent him to Port Hope to see Mr. Holmes. Took the six pieces of stolen brass with him. Mr Holmes and his employes both denied having seen the brass in question. He and Chief Roszel went to see Mr. Scott in Toronto. On his return went to see Mr. Doig about the matter as he learned from Chief Bond of Port Hope, that Holmes had got the brass from Doig. Doig told him he had never seen the brass.

Mr. Holmes of Port Hope, said 137 pounds of the two kegs he sent to Toronto came from Mr. Doig. He got 146 pounds of heavy brass from Doig on April 30th, and shipped it to Scott the same day.

Chas. Johns who works for Mr. Holmes, remembered getting brass from Doig and sending it on to Scott, but could not recognize the pieces in court.

Mr. Doig went into the box and swore he knew nothing about the matter. To Mr. Wood, Doig gave the names of several people from whom he bought the brass shipped to Holmes.

The magistrate remarked, "Well Mr. Doig this brass is clearly traced up to you, it is now for you to say from whom you got it or take the consequences of stealing and having had it in your possession." He advised Mr. Doig to tell from whom he got it. His Worship reserved judgment for one week.

Yesterday evening about six o'clock P. C. Rutherford found a young man asleep on the rear steps of the opera house, and in classic language "ran him in." Up to time of going to press the one run in was sleeping the sleep of the whiskey befuddled too soundly to awaken and give his name. He will probably awake with "hot coppers" in time to attend his Worship's matinee.

Opera House Shows Not High Class

Many of Them Neither Entertaining or Elevating.

The stage and its influence upon society has long been a matter of controversy between not only purists, but all classes with the moral interests of the community at heart.

We contend, and have always done so, that high class dramatic renderings of decent and instructive plays has an elevating tendency upon those witnessing them. There have been however so-called "plays" And "shows" exhibited recently in this city that are undoubtedly and unedniably demoralising and vicious in their effects, especially on the younger generation.

The bill boards and papers of our city are now, with unblushing effrontery, bidding for the dollars of our callow youth, depicting the delights (?) of the London Gaiety Girls. A simple glance at some of the partially nude nymphs alleged to appear in this show, should receive the condemnation of any decent man or woman

There is a class of men, unfortunately, mainly cigarette smokers, to whom, what is vulgarly called a "leg show," is often attractive. Those in "the know," are fully aware that these brazenly advertized females depicted on the advertisements of such shows who may be grandmothers, strutting about in abreviated skirts.

So that our readers may obtain an unbiased opinion of such shows we propose to have several Times representatives present who will bring in a full report of all present on the ground floor and first gallery for publication.

Local Dealer's Goods Praised

Messrs J. M. Greene & Co. Get Commendatory Letter.

Yesterday Messrs. J. M. Green & Co., the George street musical dealers received the following communication which sufficiently explains itself.

Mount Forest, Ont.
May 19, 1906.

J. M. Green & Co.,

Dear Sir,—I received the double-bell baritone O.K., and I am delighted with it. I wish I had ordered a case to be sent with it.

I shall order one of your new long model B flat cornets in a few weeks when they can be shipped together.

Auto Bus For Chemong Lake

Mr. Olmstead, Buffalo, Will Settle Matter in a Few Days.

Mr. Olmstead, of Buffalo, N.Y., left for home yesterday. It might be noted that Mr. Olmstead is the gentleman with whom certain local citizens have, for some time, been negotiating for the purchase of an automobile bus for the Chemong Lake traffic. The auto-bus, in question, will have a carrying capacity of 22 with baggage.

Mr. Olmstead yesterday drove with his future local customers, but to Chemong so that he could make a thorough inspection of the hills enroute, and thus ascertain the number of horsepowers, etc., required, with a full load, to climb all the Smith-town hills. Mr. Olmstead will, in a day or two send in his report, when the deal will probably be completed, and the automobile van, at once placed in service. By consummation of this deal, travellers to Chemong will be whisked out and back in remarkably quick time, and in perfect safety and comfort.

Windsor Shield Is Shipped

Messrs J. J. Turner & Sons Send Artistic Product Away.

Yesterday Messrs. U. J. Turner & Sons shipped to Windsor, Ont., a product of their factory, that will redound, not only to their own, but to this city's credit.

Their shipment consisted of two cases, one containing seven 15-foot poles, and the other a steel shield for civic decoration in the great 24th of May demonstration at Windsor.

The shield is something unique of its kind, being 5x4 feet in size, of sheet steel and surmounted by a golden crown. The body of the shield in appropriate colors, contains the letters E.R. (Edward Rex). Affixed to its apex are seven 15-feet long flag poles, each bearing a different flag, but all belonging to the British nation.

The whole design when set in position is most attractive, being not only beautiful in design and patriotic in significance, but will undoubtedly prove a good advt. for Peterboro's manufactories.

The design will be affixed to the Windsor city hall and court house.

Series of Local Accidents Lately

List of Persons Injured By Accidental Happenings.

Peterboro has within the past few days had a continuous series of accidents, which have mostly escaped public notice.

On Sunday, Michael Hefferman, the ten-year-old son of Mr. Wm. Hefferman, of Douro, was kicked by a 3-year-old colt, and nearly killed. It seems that the colt, on being struck by the lad, struck out with his fore feet, hitting him and fracturing the frontal skull bone, and breaking the boy's jawbone. Young Hefferman, who was taken to St. Joseph's hospital, is doing as well as could be expected.

On Monday, as Arthur Effeson, an employe of the American Cereal Co., was working in the puffed rice department, he went to light the gas used in heating the large oven. Unfortunately he did not detect in time that the cock regulating the flow had not been turned off, the oven thus being filled with the explosive gas An explosion immediately followed the lighting of his match, by which Effeson's face and hands were badly burned.

Another Monday accident came the way of Frank, the son of Mr. James Grady, who, whilst playing at the Separate school grounds was struck in the mouth by a swiftly-thrown base ball. Two of his front teeth were knocked out.

An Old Claim is Brought to Light

New Light on the Subject---Document Discovered May Strengthen Case---Bounty On Iron and Steel Debated.

Ottawa, May 22.—In the midst of all the immigration talk the House has had during the past week, the members yesterday got a glimpse of the first attempt at colonizing the West made nearly a hundred years ago by Thomas, Lord Selkirk.

The matter came up in the form of a resolution from G. E. McCraney, the Saskatchewan Liberal, to have the papers relating to the claim of the retired servants of the Hudson's Bay Company and their descendants brought down. The claim is an old one, and has been considered periodically since Confederation; but a new deed which has turned up lately gives the claim more stability. Mr. McCraney in his explanation traced the history of the claim.

In 1811, when Lord Selkirk undertook to establish a British agricultural colony on the banks of the Red River, the Hudson's Bay Co. deeded to him 74,555,000 acres of land, stipulating, however, that one-tenth should be set apart for the reward of retired Hudson's Bay servants, who might desire to desert the adventurous and hazardous life of traders, trappers, and voyageurs for the simpler pioneer life. Lord Selkirk died in 1820, and his executors administered the colony until 1824, when Governor George Simpson took charge. In 1836 the colony was finally abandoned as a failure and the settlers took refuge in old Ontario, whilst he Hudson's Bay Co., came again into possession of the land. They held it until 1869, when the Dominion Government bough. out their land interests.

"The Dominion Government," argued Mr. McCranley, "only took such title as the Hudson's Bay Company could give them, and therefore are bound to recognize the claims of these retired servants and their descendants. I urge upon the Government the necessity of investigating the claims."

"There is no objection whatever to bringing down all the papers in the archives of the Dominion relating to these claims," said Sir Wilfrid Laurier. "The Government has considered the claim, and has not been able to come to the conclusion that we are in any way responsible. None of the other Governments of Canada were able to recognize the responsibility of the country in this claim."

It was Mr. George O. Alcorn of Prince Edward County who mentioned the new document. He had heard of it, and said that it might place a different face upon the claim. The Government was not aware of its existence

The motion to bring down all the documents passed without dissent.

BOUNTY ON IRON.

That the continuation of the bounties on iron and steel produced from Canadian ore and the remission of the duty upon coal imported for coking, when used for smelting purposes, was necessary to encourage Canadian furnaces and stimulate the development of the iron deposits of which Canada has such a bountiful supply, was the principal enunciated by a resolution offered by Mr. Jas. Conmee, Rainy River. It was withdrawn at the Government's request after considerable discussion.

Mr. Borden called the attention of the Government to an order-in-council recently passed making the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway Company the first applicant for minerals under their tracks or buildings, and asked for the correspondence dealing with the matter. He thought the action very far-reaching.

Mr. Oliver said the correspondence would be brought down. He explained that the object was to protect the company's property from disturbance by other miners.

"Other railway companies in Canada must be in awful danger," commented Mr. Borden.

Six Killed Fifty Injured

Terrible Explosion In a Glucose Factory Near New York Today--Sailors Help.

New York, May 23.—Six men were killed and fifty others more or less injured yesterday by an explosion in the plant of the New York Glucose Company, at Shadyside, N.J.. It is believed the explosion was caused by a defect in one of the steam boilers.

A four-storey brick building, one hundred by two hundred feet, was completely wrecked, and outbuildings were torn to pieces.

There were 500 men in the building at the time, and the wives and children of these, who live in the neighborhood, were thrown into a panic.

Calls were sent to nearby towns for ambulances and police, and sailors of the warships lying in the Hudson river gave aid in the rescue.

The explosion could be heard for many miles. It sounded as though a monstrous charge of dynamite had been set off.

Immediately after the report the hundreds of women residing in the one, makes the British load line provisions applicable to foreign ships while they are within any port of the Kingdom. Havelock Wilson moved an amendment to extend the clause to all ports within the King's dominions

Mr. Lloyd George hoped the committee would consider the matter very seriously before the accepted the amendment. By this amendment Great Britain would for the first time assume the function of legislating for the colonies. The colonies had their own regulations. Some shipowners held these regulations were detrimental to British shipping, but still we never interfered with colonies in the matter. In fact, it was a serious matter to interfere with the colonies' regulation of foreign ships calling at their ports.

Sir Gilbert Parker agreed with Mr. Lloyd George and the amendment was withdrawn.

Mr. A. B. Morine, who has been leader of the Opposition in the Newfoundland Legislature for some years, has resigned his seat, and will return to Canada.

Soldier Left Two Widows.

Brockville, May 21.—There was a decidedly peculiar incident in connection with the funeral of an old soldier, Wm. Hutchins, of Malone Two widows were present at the last sad rites. Hutchins in life had won the affections of many women, who from time to time had occupied the position of wife, and departing he leaves two to mourn his loss. The fight for his pension will be an interesting one.

Must Leave the Colonies Alone

London May 23.—The Lord Mayor of Liverpool, addressing a meeting of sheltering homes, said the seventy-third party of youthful emigrants will sail shortly for Canada. Since the emigration scheme connected with Mrs. Birt's homes has been put into practice, 5,000 children has been sent to Canada, and in nearly every case they were doing well and prosperously.

The Standing Committee on Trade met in the Commons for consideration of the Merchant shipping Acts. An amendment to the bill, clause

Food Authority

A Famous English Physician (who requests that his name be withheld from publication says of

GRAPE-NUTS

"In cases of slow digestion, lack of stomach tone, and debility, this food is invaluable"

NOW FOR THE REASON:—

The great bulk of human food is starch in some form—bread, pastry, potetoes, rice, cereals (such as oats) wheat, rye, barley, etc.

This class of food supplies "energy" if it be properly digested, but there's the rub. Starch and sugar in food are digested by the liver and intestines. When these organs are overworked or become weak, then the food is not entirely digested and lies in the warm moisture of the stomach until it decays, producing gas, and therefore disturbance and incipient disease of the liver and intestines and frequently appendicitis.

To meet this trouble Grape-Nuts food was invented. In it, the starch part of wheat and barley is transformed by long soaking, warmth, and time, into sugar—just the same method as the body employs in digestion. Hence when one eats Grape-Nuts he eats a predigested food, ready for immediate digestion and assimilation, supplying the body with the needed food elements in a soluble and delicious form.

THE LONDON "LANCET" SAYS:

"The features worthy of note in our analysis are the excellent proportion of proteid, mineral matters, and soluble carbohydrates per cent. The mineral matter was rich in phosphoric acid. 'Grape-Nuts' is described as a brain and nerve food, whatever that may mean. Our analysis, at any rate, shows that it is a nutritive of a high order, since it contains the constituents of a complete food in very satisfactory and rich proportion and in an easily assimilable state."

The food is naturally predigested by heat, moisture and time. The diastase is thus produced and the transformation of starch into sugar accomplished.

A perfect food for persons with weak intestinal digestion and who need, but cannot fully digest ordinary bread and starchy food.

For athletes, brain-workerr, or the weakest babe.

(For infants, pour hot water over three or four teaspoonfuls of the food. Use that water with a trifle of the food dissolved in it.)

"THERE'S A REASON."

DR. FED HIMSELF.

Found The Food That Saved His Life.

A good old family physician with a life time experience in saving people, finally found himself sick unto death.

Medicine failed and he—but let him tell his own story. "For the first time in my life of 61 years I am impelled to publicly testify to the value of a largely advertised article and I certainly would not pen these lines except that, what seems to me a direct act of Providence, saved my life and I am impressed that it is a bounden duty to make it known.

"For 2 years I kept failing with stomach and liver disorders until I was reduced 70 lbs. from my normal weight. When I got too low to treat myself, 2 of my associate physicians advised me to 'put my house in order' for I would be quickly going the way of all mankind. Just about that time I was put on a diet of Grape-Nuts predigested food. Curiously enough it quickly began to build me up, appetite returned and in 15 days I gained 6 lbs. That started my return to health and really saved my life.

"A physician is naturally prejudiced against writing such a letter but in this case I am willing to declare it from the housetops that the multiplied thousands who are now suffering as I did can find relief and health as easily and promptly by Grape-Nuts. If they only knew what to do. Sincerely and Fraternally yours." Name of this prominent physician furnished by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

PUTLIC OWNERSHIP TESTS

When the cry for municipal ownership was most vociferous in the United States a commission of investigators was sent to Great Britain to ascertain how well the plan had operated there. The reports of this commission have been held to be confidential, but one of them has been made public.

The conclusions reached are that the municipal operation of public utilities in Great Britain has proved only partially successful; but it has failed in many of the particulars upon which its advocates in the United States lay most stress; and that whatever success has attended it in the British Isles is due to conditions which do not exist and are not wanted in America.

The most serious of the ill effects of municipal ownership were found to lie in the hampering and restricting of industry. This was so noticeable in respect to electrical development that in 1902 the council of the Institution of Electrical Engineers, in England, ordered an investigation.

It ascertained that the public officials in control of electric railroads, electric lighting plants and telegraph and telephone lines were naturally hostile to private enterprise which aimed to invade those fields. The legislation affecting these public utilities had the same tendency. For instance, Glasgow refused to allow private capital to build eleven miles of track to connect the city with several important suburbs. The statistics brought to light by the inquiry showed that in electric railways Great Britain had progressed at a snail's pace while the United States had gone ahead by leaps and bounds.

On the whole, the financial results of the plan have been discouraging. The official returns for the municipal electric lighting undertakings in Great Britain, to December 1, 1904, show that 58 per cent. of the plants produced an average profit of only $4,270 per year apiece, while 42 per cent. were operated at a loss. The government telephone lines for the year ending March 31, 1905, showed a loss of $637,000 and the telegraph lines a loss of $4,497,000.

The agitation for municipal ownership may do good in Canada by mending corporations that have secured franchises or obtained them on unfair terms. The introduction of the system here, with the ordinary grade of city politicians to operate it, would bring results much worse than those found in England.

FASTER RAILROAD TRAINS

Railroad experts maintain that the speed limit of passenger trains hauled by steam locomotives is far from having been reached. The recent breaking of the record for the Empire State express run may be taken as interesting evidence on that point.

E. H. Harriman, president of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, wished to get to New York as quickly as possible from San Francisco, not long after the earthquake. The railroad men did not try to break the record. They merely hurried. But the result was the record broken. The distance, 3,906 miles, was traversed in 71 hours and 27 minutes, an average speed of 46.3 miles an hour. The nature of the feat will be better appreciated when it is remembered that the fastest trains in the world, for distances more than 300 miles, averages only about 54 miles an hour.

The railroad men anticipate a constant increase in the speed of passenger trains, as the locomotive is improved, roadbeds are made more solid and safety appliances perfected and put into general use. Railroads are beginning to recognize the pecuniary advantage in good tracks and the best possible rolling stock, man and methods. They are coming to look upon economy in such matters as misdirected and money-losing stinginess.

A Priestly Diamond.

Probably in no other part of the United States, except in East Liverpool, O., is there a baseball diamond from which it is possible to bat a ball into any one of three states. Such a condition actually exists at the grounds which have been leased for the Klondike club there. The diamond is laid out on a lot which is known as "State Line corner." If a batsman makes a hit over third base the ball will be sent into West Virginia. Should a foul tip result the catcher would have to chase the ball into Pennsylvania. If a straight drive or a bunt is made the ball will bowl into the state of Ohio. Taking advantage of this freak of nature, the Klondike club is going to advertise the fact that its club will play ball in three states simultaneously.

The Professional Beggar.

Owen Seaman, the new editor of London Punch, has studied all sorts of odd things. Among others he has devoted much attention to the professional beggar, for whose ingenuity he has immense admiration. He tells of a woman beggar who, with her seven-year-old girl, was admitted to the home of an English aristocrat. As the two waited in the hall the mother was heard to say, "What will you say when you come into the drawing room where the countess is?" The child, smiling, whispered in reply: "I know. I'll put on a beautiful, loat look and bu'st out: 'Oh, mother! Is this heaven?'"

One Must Be Careful in Germany.

German punishment for loze majesty falls especially heavy upon the soldier. If he says anything that can be twisted slightly in reference to a certain august and imperial personage it goes hard with him. A private was recently drummed out of the army and sentenced to seven years' imprisonment for saying to a comrade that the kaiser might have slowed down the train in which he was traveling in order to see the salute of the soldiers who were lining the route.

Perils of the Climbers.

While climbing in the New Zealand Alps a man of the name of Low slipped on a snow couloir and fell till he struck a rock, dislocating an ankle and lacerating a knee. For four days he crawled over broken ice and moraine, half the time in a severe snowstorm, and at last made a bivouac under the shelter of a rock. He lived ten days on one day's food. He was then rescued.

No More French Brier.

From Bordeaux, France, United States Consul Murphy reports that the supply of what is known as French brier root is practically exhausted. The product, which formerly came from the department of the Landes and from near the frontier in the Pyrenees, is now obtained in Scotland exclusively. The pipes are manufactured at St. Claude.

By... HALLIE ERMINIE RIVES

Copyright, 1902, by THE BOWEN-MERRILL COMPANY

Anne looked at the man she indicated—of medium height, with a sheep face, long in the tooth—and turned away with a little shudder. He stood with thick legs planted firmly, talking with a neighbor, his head turned over his shoulder, and as they looked he raised his sword hilt and struck savagely at a black who jostled him. "Poor servants who fall into Mr. Rolph's hands. I pity them," she said in a low voice.

"John the Baptist," she called to her mounted servant, "did you go down to inquire about Miss Betsy's chest, as I told you?"

"Yas'm, yas'm. Done been down dar twic't."

"Are you sure?"

"Yas'm, on meh honah!"

"Honor!" Anne said severely. "What do you know about honor, John the Baptist?"

The darky responded with a ragged grin. "I uster hah er heap er honah," he said vaguely, "but I got so 'strav'gant wid it I spec' I ain't got much lef' now."

"Look yonder, Anne," whispered Betsy. "Isn't that a genteel looking young man? What a lovely brown his hair is! He's looking this way. His coat has a foreign cut. I warrant he came on the ship. There is Master Brooke standing by him now."

Anne's eyes showed her a gray coat unslashed, plain hose and shoes with a neat steel buckle—a dress neither rich nor poor. There was no lace upon the hat, no paste knee buckles, no sword—none of the marks of distinction. But the face was open and the nut dark eyes frank and clear.

She had gazed but a moment when a familiar red coat shouldered its way through the press. She bit her lip and turned her head away, but Betsy was deep in chat with young Mr. Carlyle, kinsman to the Belvoir Fairfaxes, a youth lean as a rake, of a pale disposition, all hair and eyes.

The newcomer strode to the steps with assurance and touched Anne's fingers with his lips. "Still so cold, so far away? Still cherishing a frown for me?"

"I looked not to see you, Captain Jarrat."

"I am but just returned from London."

"On the Two Sisters?"

"Aye," he answered, with a slumbering flush on his face. "The moth returns to the lamp. A pretty conceit, is it not?"

She moved her shoulders with a gesture of impatience.

"Why am I doomed to be ever in your bad graces, Mistress Tillotson? Oh, 'tis true. I would it were not! 'Twas so in Williamsburg. Had you a smile for me? 'Twas when I went. Well, I return to the frown."

"I have naught else for you. I have told you so."

"And yet," he said constrainedly, "for another kind of look from you I would forget all else. I would change all, risk all. Can I never win aught from such a love as mine? Will you never tell me how to change myself for you? Shall I go always wanting?" A fierce and unhappy passion was written in his face.

She turned from him coldly. "I beg you will not recur to that, captain," she said. "My answer was my answer. I can never give you more."

He touched his breast, drawing his hand across the gold slashings of his coat. "Is it this? Do you frown upon his majesty's uniform? I swear I would I were a Whig!"

"A Tory before a turncoat," she answered him.

Jarrat shut his teeth like a trap. Then without reply he bowed to her and strode toward the ship. Betsy, turning her horse, saw only his vanishing figure. Anne's face a flush red gust of anger and her eyes gleaming like blue ice.

"Why," exclaimed she in surprise, "'twas Captain Jarrat!"

"I wish," said Anne, with temper, giving Betsy's horse a slap that made him dance and called forth a curdling scream from its rider—"I wish Captain Jarrat was in Guinea!"

As Jarrat stepped on to the deck the gangway was thrown down for the herded human cattle that had thronged the lower deck. Sixty odd, they came trooping out to where the factors were gathered, and the ship's agent at once began the bidding by offering a convict smith bound for seven years and allowed only diet and lodging, who, he declared, made great diversion by singing and whistling, besides being rare at iron work.

The sale proceeded rapidly, for bond servants were in demand and the lot was above an average one. They stood for inspection eagerly or stolidly, as their faces promised, some sullen eyed, some smirking. The women were offered last. But few remained when the agent beckoned to the swarthy skinned woman whose babe had died during the voyage, and she came forward timidly, turning her sloe-black Italian eyes upon the crowd in misunderstanding and cowering dread. Her hair and the red olive of her skin made a curious contrast to the light complexions of the other women.

Burnaby Rolph, who had purchased two laborers, looked her over with satisfaction.

"A likely wench," he gulped. "Twenty pounds is enough, I doubt not, since she is foreign. I take her. Put that down to my reckoning, Master Clarkson."

"Poor thing!" said Anne. "I would I were a man. That brute should never have her!" She looked up and felt the young Frenchman's eyes full upon her. He had clearly overheard.

"You belong to him now," said the agent to the woman, pointing to Rolph. "D'ye understand?"

She gazed into Rolph's face and shrinkingly about the circle. Then, with a sudden cry, doubling like an animal, she dodged between the knots of spectators and threw herself at Armand's feet.

Rolph's curse was lost in a great laugh which rose from the factors, and Anne's face stung red at a coarse remark from one of them.

M. Armand did not seem nonplused. He stooped and lifted the cringing woman to her feet as Rolph approached, his lean eyes winking.

"My wench seems to have an uncommon fancy," the latter sneered. "Call me, why did you not buy her?"

"Will you sell her to me?"

The latter looked at the secretary's dress and glowered at the merriment of the onlookers.

"No," he blurted.

Armand smiled with suavity. "Perhaps it would pleasure you to game with me for her? In my country, gentlemen," he remarked to those around, "we are overfond of the dice table. As for me, I could never resist to woo the hazard of fortune. Mayhap, however, here you are less adventurous, more cautious, monsieur, or, as those who, having little, hesitate to risk."

Rolph grunted at this airy thrust and gnawed his lip. His estate of Bentcliff was the largest on all the James, and this, it was said, he had won in the palace in Williamsburg fifteen years before in a wild night of play with Governor Fauquier's gambling crew.

"I will lay against her," added Armand, "double the amount she cost you. And a toss of a coin shall decide."

The factors gasped and stood looking the speaker over. Rolph stared an instant, then: "Done! Leave the indenture open, Master Clarkson, and bring it here."

A wager in Virginia never failed to provoke interest, whether it was for a pair of spurs or a pipe of canary, and now all were listening eagerly. The two girls, from their positions, could see without difficulty over the intervening heads.

"Let us go farther away," said Anne, but Betsy was of a different mind. "No, no," she protested. "They are going to toss. I wouldn't miss it now for anything. He is French, Aune. I can tell it by the accent."

Rolph called and threw the gold coin he had drawn from his pocket with a flourish. "The king's head!" rose a score of voices as it fell. "Mr. Rolph wins."

Diamonds and Diamond Mining

It would be difficult to name a commercial commodity representing a more tangible basis of intrinsic value than a diamond. Diamonds are enhancing in value yearly—the demand for them is ever increasing—and the diamond market shows a remarkably healthy condition.

Very little is known in this country by the general public about diamond mining, and the vast returns from it. All are more or less familiar with the mining of gold, silver, copper, zinc, lead, &c., &c., and know the immense fortunes that are realized yearly from them, and the enormous source of wealth which they represent to the country annually. Yet as a matter of fact the most profitable mining enterprises of the world are those devoted to the mining of diamonds, and in London, the great financial centre of the world, this is well understood, and diamond mining securities are an important factor in financial operations there.

The two most profitable commercial institutions in the world today are the De Beers and Premier diamond mining companies of South Africa, which pay fabulous returns on even the present price of the stock, which has enhanced in value many times during the last few years.

THE COLONIAL DIAMOND MINING COMPANY

controlled largely by Boston capital, own in British Guiana, South America, a property containing 42 mines which, during the six months we have been operating it, has paid over 50 per cent. profit, and that after expending large sums for machinery and mining appurtenances. From careful tests made during these six months we have demonstrated that we have a larger diamond field than either the De Beers or Premier Diamond Mining Companies, and that each laborer we employ produces larger results than the African laborers. We also know positively that our property will produce three times as much per cubic yard of dirt as the South African mines. We also have the priceless advantage of a healthy climate and an unlimited supply of water—two essential factors in success.

This company is conducting a legitimate business enterprise upon business principles and we court the fullest investigation of our enterprise. The property being on British territory and conducted under the strict laws governing all mining operations carried on in British domains, detailed information relative to it may be obtained from the commissioner of lands and mines, who receives from a government inspector on the grounds the actual condition and production of the property. Thus our production is a matter of official record and may be obtained at all times from this authentic source.

To provide the necessary capital to increase our production 10 fold, we are offering a block of $100,000 of our stock at par, $10 per share. When it is considered that we paid $220,000 in cash for our property, which we own outright, it must be admitted that $100,000 is not an excessive amount of stock to issue, and is all that we will offer for sale.

The undersigned will be pleased to have parties interested in legitimate investments call at our office, where we can supply much valuable information relative to diamond mining. If not convenient to call, write for prospectus.

100 PER CENT. ADVANCE JUNE 1

Present Price of Stock FIVE Cents per Share

If you want to get in on the ground floor before the price advances to 10 Cents per share, NOW IS YOUR CHANCE

When The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Company was organized the officers of the company foresaw the certainty of a big mining boom in Clear Creek County, Colorado, U.S.A., and they congratulated themselves on securing a property which showed 1,500 feet of development work, and could be classed with the MINES of the region.

The steady increase in the mineral production of the county, new strikes, the development of old mines at depth (proving the continuity of the ore bodies and the increased richness of the ores), the availability of mining supplies, the abundance of water the great amount of timber for mining and fuel, the adaptability of the topography for deep tunnel mining, and the large number of milling and smelting plants, means that the district possesses all the elements of successful and economical mining.

It was a foregone conclusion that investors would awake to a realization of the conditions, and inaugurate a new boom in 1906. It is but natural that they should desire to place their money in a locality that shows more PROVEN MINES than prospects, and where the chances for speedy returns are greater than the chances of loss. Because of economic conditions money will go farther in development work and bring RESULTS quicker. Many new companies have recently been organized, foremost among them being The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co. Stock in all Clear Creek County companies is finding a ready market among both Eastern and Western investors, and in consequence The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co forestalled the boom by securing one of the best mining propositions in the locality, consisting of 16 mining claims, situated on Standard Mountain, in the Ohio and Jackson Mining District, two and one-half miles south of Idaho Springs. The Gold Leaf properties are credited with a past production of $75,000, and the tunnel is being steadily driven toward the rich ore bodies from whence former shipments were made. The old workings are now drowned with water which the tunnel will drain and also give unlimited stoping ground for the ores. Surrounding mines have produced over $11,500,000 Now is the time to purchase stock. When we re-open our ore the opportunity will be lost to investors.

Don't overlook this exceptional opportunity! Think of the acreage; Think of the development work done; Think of the past ore production; Think of the future possibilities; Think of investing—THEN ACT AT ONCE!

Sufficient stock subscriptions have already been received to carry our Frontier Tunnel a distance of 600 feet, or to the Standard Vein, from which point ore shipments will be resumed. Future stock subscriptions will be applied on the purchase of a power plant or on contracts to facilitate the work of driving the tunnel.

Our General Manager estimates that the completion of the tunnel will place at our disposal OVER FOUR MILES OF ORE, aggregating 96,000,000 tons.

$5.00 DOWN AND $5.00 PER MONTH FOR FOUR MONTHS WILL BUY 500 Shares OF STOCK WHICH MAY SOON BE WORTH $500.00

This opportunity to buy stock will not last always. Price will promptly advance May 1st, and shortly thereafter be withdrawn from the market.

Sin Against Health

Why the Usefulness of All Organs is Destroyed by Costiveness.

Most important to health and comfort is proper action of the bowels.

By nature these organs are intended for the removal of the waste particles of matter which accumulate in the system.

Retain these wastes and you poison the blood, ruin digestion, bring on nervousness and anaemia.

Habitual costiveness is best overcome by Dr. Hamilton's Pills, which establish regularity that is exactly consistent with nature.

Not a drastic purgative—not even a pain or sensation of grip, because Dr. Hamilton's Pills are vegetable and free from irritating mineral substances found in so many widely advertised remedies.

In every case Dr. Hamilton's Pills do cure and bring sure relief from headache, billousness and other manifestations of constipation.

Jas. McConnell of Walkerton writes: "Since I was comparatively a young man I have not enjoyed real good health.

"My appetite was good and strength kept up, yet I knew something was wrong.

"Frequently I took billous attacks and violent headaches. My stomach was disordered, skin was murky, under my eyes were heavy dark rings.

"Last winter I read through the Poison's almanac and decided my trouble was constipation. I used Dr. Hamilton's Pills, and can hardly tell the help they have been. I am now as fresh, strong and well as a boy."

Just try the wonderful magic of Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Sold by all dealers 25c. per box, or five boxes for $1.00. By mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., or Kingston, Ont.

Col. Miller For Grand Warden

Local Oddfellow Strong Candidate for Important Office.

One of the most important functions developing on the coming meet of the I.O.O.F. Grand Lodge in this city, is the election of grand warden. This office is rendered more important in view of the fact that its incumbent is almost certain of election as grand master the coming year.

It will be remembered that a former Peterboro Oddfellow, Dr. R. W. Bell, P.G., of Otonabee lodge, now inspector for the Provincial Board of Health, held the exalted position of grand master.

The following brethren are now candidates for the prominent office of grand warden, viz.—J. W. Miller, Peterboro; J. H. Aulph, Bracebridge; Allan Cameron, Owen Sound; F. S. Evanson, Prescott; R. H. James, Oshawa; A. B. McBride, Waterloo; E. B. Murrey, Ingersoll; W. H. Ross, Dundas; C. E. Nightingale, Wallaceburg; S. C. Parks, Toronto; S. A. Popplestone, Exeter; B. J. Rothwell, Sault Ste. Marie; W. D. Spence, St. Mary's, Chas. E. Steele, Port Colborne and S. M. Thomson, Brantford.

Both of the local subordinate lodges, and all the fraternity in this district, will doubtless do their utmost to ensure Col. Miller's election.

Another May Bride Wedded

Marriage of Miss Goodfellow and Mr. J. C. Elliott.

Yesterday morning interest was created throughout the city owing to the many white ribbon bedecked whips on local cabs.

The cause of this was a very prettily arranged wedding celebrated at the home of Mr. R. McWhinnie, 25 Harvey street, when Miss Olive Goodfellow, and Mr. W. G. Elliott, son of Mr. J. C. Elliott of Peterboro, were made man and wife, Rev. Dr. Crothers officiating. The ceremony was solemnized under an arch of evergreens and apple blossoms, from which was suspended a large floral bell. The bride was assisted by her sister, Miss Ethel Goodfellow, and the best man was Mr. Percy G. Mighr of Toronto. The bride was becomingly attired in a costume of chiffon voile over silk with a bertha of maltese lace, and carried a bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley. The bridesmaid was daintily costumed in a gown of flowered silk, and carried a bouquet of pink roses.

Mr. H. Long, the George street caterer served a most sumptuous wedding breakfast, after which the happy couple left by the 11.45 G.T.R. train for the west.

Mr. and Mrs. Elliott will reside in Brandon, Man., and carry with them the best wishes of a host of friends.

Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

"Here's to the Water in the Creek"

A Toast Drank Yesterday at Jackson Park.

Yesterday afternoon six local gentlemen took a walk out to Jackson Park to spend a few hours communing with Nature. The young men took the precaution of taking one bottle of ale each with them for future refrence. On arrival, they lay round in the grass admiring the scenery in general. A happy thought struck one of them, viz., that their age would get warm. By mutual agreement each placed his bottle, side by side with, that of the others, in the cold embrace of the gurgling waters of the creek. Whilst waiting for the hop extract to cool, two of the party went for a stroll through the bushy dells of the park.

During their absence a consuming thirst overcame the remaining four. With concurrent action four bottles were withdrawn from the waters, and, in short order four corks were withdrawn and as many bottles emptied their contents down as many throats. After a few minutes one of the four suggested tapping one of the bottles belonging to the wanderers. This was quickly done and as quickly the bottle was refilled with the aqua pura from the creek.

Presently the two returned thirsty. Pulling his bottle out of the creek, Dick withdrew the cork, and holding the glass receptacle to his lips, said: "Well boys here's to the water that runs in the creek."

In a moment, one of the four remarked: "That's no dream." Dick considered a change had come over the "spirit" of his dreams.

Narrowly Escaped Lynching.

Newcastle, Pa., May 21.—Thomas Burke, a former Pittsburg teamster, owes his escape from lynching to the prompt action of the police in arresting the leader of a mob on Saturday. Burke shot little Ada Wiley through the back, and she may die. Another bullet struck Mrs. Jane Wiley and a third slightly wounded Avery Wiley, a cripple, inmates of a farm house at which Burke demanded money and was refused.

As made up by improved and exact processes Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a most efficient remedy for regulating all the womanly functions, correcting displacements, as prolapsus, anteversion and retroversion, overcoming painful periods, toning up the nerves and bringing about a perfect state of health. It cures the backache, periodical headaches, the dragging-down distress in the pelvic region, the pain and tenderness over lower abdominal region, dries up the pelvic catarrhal drain, so disagreeable and weakening, and overcomes every form of weakness incident to the organs distinctly feminine.

"Favorite Prescription" is the only medicine for women, the makers of which are not afraid to print their formula on the bottle wrapper, thus taking their patrons into their full confidence. It is the only medicine for women, every ingredient of which has the strongest possible endorsement of the most eminent medical practitioners and writers of our day, recommending it for the diseases for which "Favorite Prescription" is used. It is the only medicine for women sold through druggists, which does not contain a large percentage of alcohol, so harmful in the long run, especially to delicate women. It has more genuine cures to its credit than all other medicines for women combined, having saved thousands of sufferers from the operating table and the surgeon's knife. It has restored delicate, weak women to strong and vigorous health and virility, making motherhood possible where there was barrenness before, thereby brightening and making happy many thousands of homes by the advent of little ones to strengthen the marital bonds and add sunshine where gloom and despondency had reigned before.

The Signs of Heart Trouble

You can Surely Secure Heart Health and Strength through Dr. Shoop's Restorative.

Heart weakness which can be dealt with at all is nerve weakness. Just as your hand trembles when its nerves are weak, when your heart nerves are weak your heart flutters and palpitates. Other signs are shortness of breath after slight exercise; fainting spells; pain or tenderness about the heart caused by irregular heart action; choking sensation as if the heart was in the throat; uneasy sensation in the chest, showing that the heart isn't working right; pain when you lie on one side usually the left side, but frequently the right, painful and difficult breathing; smothered feeling. There is absolutely only one way to treat a weak heart. That is to bring back natural and permanent strength to its nerves. Can you imagine how anything else can be done? Dr. Shoop's Restorative will bring back the strength to the heart nerves always. There is nothing in this remedy to stimulate; nothing that lends to reaction. The strength that it gives is natural and permanent. It is just the same strength as Nature gives to those who are well. Dr. Shoop's Restorative creates strength which extends over the whole inside nerve system—it overcomes the cause of the trouble as well as the result. For sale and recommended by

PEARY'S DASH TO THE POLE NOW BEING MADE

Last Stages of Trip to the Pole at Present Being Made.

JOURNEY ONE OF GREAT DANGER

Journey is Expected to Last Six Weeks at Least.

St. Johns, N. F., 24.—Now that the Norwegian expedition under Roald Amundsen, in the whaler Gros, has fixed the locality of the magnetic North Pole in King William Land, and has successfully traversed the long-sought North-west Passage, the lure of semi-commercial explorers for centuries, the sole prize that remains in the Arctic regions is the terrestial pole itself.

For the conquest of this, the intrepid American voyager, Robert E. Peary, who sailed from Newfoundland last July in his fine new steamer Roosevelt, is at this writing engaged in his final onward march.

If all his plans have matured he should now be somewhere on the far-stretched ice floes which cover the Polar ocean, gallantly endeavoring with two civilized companions and a party of Eskimo helpers with dog teams to make a northing yet unattained, if, indeed, he does not reach the pole itself.

For the past twenty years Peary has given himself up unreservedly to the pursuit of the Arctic enigma—battling forward with heroic endeavor to solve the mystery hid behind the crystal plains.

His present method is to carry his ship to the farthest point possible toward the pole, and then dash across the intervening ice-covered ocean until he reaches the coveted goal.

Peary, in this, his seventh, venture, has gone into the North, with the finest equipment ever yet carried there. His ship, the Roosevelt, has been specially built for that cruise at a cost of $100,000. She is of his own design, constructed of oak, with sloping bow, which will enable her to run up on the ice floes and break them down under her weight, rather than attempt to ram them.

Hence he hoped to make great progress, and, if favored with an open season last fall, should have pushed her forward into the Polar Sea beyond the farthest limit of Greenland.

One of two Polar voyages have already penetrated the "North water" and reached the 82d parallel, and as their ships were small and of low speed, he expects his much more powerful vessel to reach a still higher point.

She is officered and manned by Newfoundlanders, and with these experts and capable firemen he feels certain to have every help in forcing her forward.

Besides her regular crew, he has on board only two comrades—Dr. Hook, a young physician, and Math Henson, his faithful colored man, who is a living refutation of the theory that the negro cannot endure cold, for Henson has stood front so intense that the mercury has frozen in the thermometer.

These three compose the expedition proper, but they are assisted by a party of Eskimos from Greenland, to be employed in driving dog teams, about 100 dogs being taken for the purpose.

Peary hopes at least to reach within 400 miles of the Pole with the ship, and by averaging ten miles a day in his march across the floes to attain the "ultimate" within six weeks. He, with his American colleagues and ten Eskimos, would start in a body and subsist on the stock of a single sledge until it was empty. It and its driver then being sent back.

When they reach the Pole, Peary and his aides will plant the flag and retreat, and will take the most hazardous chances.

The Death of a Riel Rebel

Gabriel Dumont, One of the Leaders in 1885, Died Suddenly.

Rosthern, Sask., May 22.—Gabriel Dumont, the man who furnished the skill to conduct the Riel rebellion, died suddenly near Batoche on Saturday morning. Death was not expected, and Dumont had not been ailing previously. He was about 75 years old, but quite robust.

Dumont figured in the rebellion as Riel's lieutenant. In reality he conducted the campaign which thrilled all Canada. Afterwards he escaped to Montana. Riel being captured and hanged. Dumont was granted amnesty and returned to Batoche, where he settled on a river lot, Gabriel's Crossing being named after him on the North Saskatchewan River, due east of Rosthern.

He lived quietly, the Indians and half-breeds worshipping him.

A most peculiar coincidence in connection with the death of Dumont is the death of Riel's mother at St. Vital on the same day that her son confederate passed away at Batoche.

The death of Dumont removes one of the central figures of the Canadian North-West rebellion of 1885. To him Major-General Middleton attributed the despatching off he bullet that went through the general's hat at Fish Creek, where Dumont commanded the rebels and was foiled in a crafty scheme to capture the general and hold him as hostage. Dumont was also active at Batoche.

The importance attached to Gabriel Dumont by Sir Frederick Middleton is shown in a report from the general to the war department, May 13, 1885, as a postscript to the report of the Fish Creek engagement:

"I find from papers captured at Batoche yesterday that the number of rebels at Fish Creek was 280, under Gabriel Dumont; that they had intended to let me enter the ravine or creek and then destroy us, taking me prisoner and holding me as a hostage to assist them in making terms with the Government at Ottawa. Their scheme was defeated by my having my scouts so far in advance, which obliged them to fire on them, and thus disclosed their position.

BROUGHT RIEL HERE.

Major Boulton in his book tells of how Riel, then in banishment in Montana, was sought by the half-breeds of Saskatchewan. Gabriel Dumont was one of four who went to Montana to persuade him to come to Saskatchewan. Riel accompanied Dumont on his return to Canada. Dumont presided, sitting on a syrup keg, when at a session of Riel's provisional government in March, 1885, McKay was put on trial for treason to the half-breeds, who were rebelling. This was just before the proposed attack on Fort Carlton. Riel apologized to McKay, but at Fort Carlton McKay chose to accompany the police to remove stores from Mitchell's store to Duck Lake. Gabriel Dumont headed a party, which met them, and Dumont threatened to blow out McKay's brains, firing over his head. Then the rebels forced the police party ko return to Fort Carlton. The Duck Lake fight, which followed opened up real hostilities. After the capture of Riel, Gabriel Dumont and his companion, Damars fled to the States. In a week they were arrested south of the boundary and 350 miles away from the scene of the engagement. They were released by the American authorities, no application having been made for their retention.

Objection Taken to Local Shows

Fair Play Considers Peterboro Audiences as Being Victimized.

(To the Editor of The Times.)

Dear Sir,—Allow me to congratulate your paper on the independent and plucky stand you have taken, in the public's interests, by calling attention to the poor class of shows our local opera house has given to this city of late.

It is now up to the public to demonstrate in a practical manner their appreciation of the fact that, at least, one Peterboro paper has the courage of its convictions, and, regardless of what it might possibly miss in theatrical patronage, in letting the world know that the public of this city, is being soaked on high prices for low quality shows.

This system of bleeding the public has been in evidence since long before the new opera house was finished. We all remember how with a great flourish of trumpets and loud-mouthed promises, those who subscribed large sums towards the building of the house, by medium of subscriptions towards its opening play, were victimized. This is too fresh in the memory of those putting up many dollars for seats to require further notice. Then when those who were gullible enough to believe the promises made and paid the high prices subscribed for tickets, attended another show than that originally promised, they had the pleasure (?) of sitting beside people who had waited to buy, and who only paid a small fraction of the subscription price for tickets.

I hope you will, as noted in your issue of yesterday, publish the names of all those attending the London Gaiety Girls' performance, so that next day their opinions of the show will be made known to their friends and the public.

It is now in order for the management to keep faith with their patrons and to regulate prices according to the class of show given. Why should a Peterboro audience be charged from 25 to 100 per cent. more than Toronto people pay for the same identical show?

Yours truly,
FAIR PLAY.

Mr. P. Simon's Sad Bereavement

Funeral of the Late Mrs. E. H. White Will Be Held Tomorrow at 2.30 P. M.

The many friends in this city and county of, not only the late Mrs. Elrick H. White, but of her father, Mr. P. Simons will sincerely extend their most heartfelt condolences to those bereaved by her loss.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Elrick H. White, who passed away Tuesday morning at her home 303 Rubidge street, will be held from there to St. Peter's Cathedral and thence to the Roman Catholic cemetery tomorrow afternoon at three o'clock.

The late Mrs. White was a thoroughly christian woman, possessed of the attributes that command veneration, love and respect. She had been ill for only a few days with kidney trouble, hence her death came with all the more shock to her relatives.

The deceased's maiden name was Mary Josephine Simons, and she was a daughter of Mr. Peter Simons, 310 Rubidge street. She was forty-two years of age, and is survived by her husband and a family of five sons and two daughters. The sons are Joseph, Peter, Elrick, Harold and Dan, and the daughters, Carrie and Elizabeth. Other surviving relatives are her father and mother, four sisters, Mrs. E. A. Shannon, and Misses Annie and Nellie, of Peterboro, and Lily, of St. Joseph's Hospital, Port Arthur, and four brothers, Peter and James, of Peterboro; Dan, of Middletown, N.Y., and Richard of Altoona, Penn.

The celebration was held at the residence of C. W. Brown, of Pelham township, and the lady whose birthday was honored was the late Mrs. Cohoe, mother of Mrs. Brown.

LITTLE POCKET PHYSICIAN

Hyomei Inhaler that Never Fails to Cure Catarrh.

Thousands who have been cured by Hyomei, call the inhaler that comes with every outfit "The little pocket physician," as it is so small that it can be carried in the pocket or purse.

Prior to the discovery of Hyomei, statistics showed that at least 97 out of every 100 persons in this state were suffering from catarrh in some form. The remarkable results following the use of Hyomei are shown by the smaller percentage today of people suffering from catarrh.

A complete Hyomei outfit consists of "the little pocket physician," a medicine dropper, and a bottle of Hyomei, and costs only $1, while additional bottles of Hyomei can be procured for 50 cents, making it the most economical, as well as the most reliable treatment for the cure of catarrh.

Do not delay longer the use of Hyomei, if you have catarrh. This is a purely local disease, and Hyomei goes right to the spot where the catarrhal germs are present, destroys them, soothes and heals all inflammation, and makes a permanent and lasting cure.

If you cannot obtain Hyomei of your dealer, it will be forwarded by mail, postage paid, on receipt of price. Write today for consultation blank that will entitle you to services of our medical department without charge. The R. T. Booth Company, Hyomei Building, Ithaca, N. Y.

KING ALFONSO STIRS ROYALTY

Madcap Alfonso Shocks Courtiers by Turning a Somersault in Palace.

SEEKS PACT WITH ENGLAND

The Spanish Ruler Would Have Two Nations and Portugal Unite Against Kaiser.

London, May 21.—A curious story is told about the King of Spain upon his recent visit to the palace here, according to which Alfonso, who is chock-full of animal spirits, disturbed the fossil-like calm of the British courtiers by turning a somersault as he was going up the grand corridor.

Alfonso, once so pro-German, when here took every opportunity of displaying his pro-English tendencies, and he is today the leader in this country in favoring an Anglo-Spanish-Portuguese entente, the principal idea of which is to protect the islands in African territories against Germany's ambitious greed.

Of course the natural question is, what is England going to get in return? Spain and Portugal reply, the full use of all harbors in both countries.

ENA GETS RARE GIFTS.

Friends of the future Queen of Spain from over the seas have contributed some beautiful wedding gifts, which the smiling bride-elect displayed so proudly on Thursday afternoon to her girl friends in the old world in the white and pink room at Kensington Palace, where her grandmother, Queen Victoria, held her first council.

There was conspicuous among the silver articles a large tray from the American ambassador and Mrs. Whitelaw Reid, whose only daughter has been one of the girls in London society honored with the special friendship of the young princess.

There came during the afternoon a charming gift from the Duke and Duchess of Marlborough, a splendid pearly necklace with a ball pendant of green on white enamel, which one ingenuous visitor thought had reference to the new world discovered by Christopher Columbus.

ASTOR'S GIFT ORIGINAL.

There was no daintier or more original gift than Waldorf Astor's crystal and enamel bonboniere set with diamonds. Lady Leith of Fyvie, the American wife of the popular Deeside laird, joined with Lord Leith in a gift of a beautiful lace fan.

Sir Thomas Lipton's gift of a piano player is indicated by a photograph.

Hundreds of friends of the princess and her mother, many from the Isle of Wight, dashed up in automobiles, glided in carriages, crawled in four-wheelers, sauntered on foot up to Kensington Palace to see the presents and to say good-by to the princess, while many of her girl friends, among them Lady Marjorie Manners and the pretty Misses Trefusis, their youthful beauty framed in hansoms, came to envy and admire the splendid jewels, notably the diamond and big turquoise necklace which King Edward and Queen Alexandra have given their pretty niece.

The diamond doves' wings were sent by Empress Eugenie to grace the pretty, fair head of her beloved goddaughter, whose wedding she hopes to attend.

HAS NOTED VISITORS.

The Duke and Duchess of Norfolk, the Duchess of Somerset, the Duchess of Buckingham and Chandos, Lady Dundonald and her daughter, who is one of Princess Ena's girl friends; the Maharance of Cooch Behar, who has given the bride a beautiful diamond brooch; the Spanish ambassador and Mme. De Bernabi, who gave an antique Spanish fan; the Belgian minister and Lady Sangattoot were a few of those who came.

The young princess, simply dressed in blue and white, was overwhelmed with the good wishes of her friends, but some of the visitors were heard to admit that the good will of these has shown much less conspicuously in the way of presents than when the Duke of Connaught's daughter, Princess Margaret, married just about a year ago; and, by the way, the young princess had not forgotten her cousin, for two Swedish silver vases had come from Stockholm last April with the tender inscription, "From Daisy."

Talked of Lynching Negroe.

St. John, N. B., May 21.—Mrs. Judson, Hettie, of Passeqas, King's County, yesterday, while waiting for the Maritime express to take her to Hampton, was brutally assaulted by a young negro lad about seventeen or eighteen years of age, named George Hecton, a resident of St. John. The arrival of the express caused the negro to flee to the woods, and Mrs. Bettie was brought to Hampton with her face very much cut and scratched, her hair dishevelled and her clothing muddy. About half-past five Hector was arrested by Police Officer Isaac Campbell on a warrant issued by Henry Piers, J. P., and now lies safely in the Hampton gaol. There was considerable talk among the residents of a lynching should the negro be caught, but the prompt action of the authorities stopped all trouble.

Victoria Day Amusements

List of Entertainments for Our Readers Today.

This is the day in which Canadians celebrate the birthday of our late lamented Queen Victoria, who ascended the British throne in the year 1837. Today we celebrate the birth of perhaps the most consistently christian and woman-like ruler the most commendable mother of a family, and one of the most generally respected occupants of the throne of England.

Whilst no particularly notable event has been arranged for Peterboro's celebration of Victoria Day, there are quite a number of attractions available. In addition to many privately arranged and managed private outings, there are open today to our readers, the following list of public amusements, viz.:

Riverside Park — Lacrosse match Peterboro Shamrocks vs. the Young Torontos at 3.30 o'clock.

Exhibition Grounds—Turf Club races at 2 o'clock.

Excursion down the Otonabee on Steamer Water Lily, under the auspices of the Salvation Army Band. Leave wharf at 8.30.

Quaker football club goes to Norwood to play the team of that place.

Mixed foresomes will be played at the golf grounds at 2.30 o'clock. Tea will be served on the grounds at five o'clock. A large number of the members of the Peterboro Golf and Country Club are expected to be present. In the afternoon there will be lawn bowling on the grounds of the Peterboro Lawn Bowling Club.

POLICE NEWS

Daily Happenings in Court Room and Station.

Yesterday the police court paid its running expenses in fines, with possibly a margin left over.

Louis Green was assessed $2 for having absorbed not wisely but too well of the juice that biteth like an adder. Louis shut up.

Thos. Jackson of 9 Bolivar street, was fined $1 with $2.65 costs for having forget to remember to pay for a locket engroased "D.T.P." or dog tax paid. Thomas was also notified to put up his tax at once, and avoid further complications.

George and Cory Killenbeck a few days ago, took a little excursion via C.P.R. Whilst their itinery only extended from the diamond to the Peterboro station, they were fined $5 each. The complaint was laid by a C.P.R. detective, who has for some time been engaged in watching for people stealing rides and trespassing on railway property.

The magistrate noted that the next case of stealing rides that might be brought before him, he would cause the one convicted to go down into his jeans for $10.

Last night Chief of Police Rossel, arrested a young man charged with stealing a ride on the local department of the C.P.R. It is now upto those desiring quick transit to choose between a street car, bicycle, livery rig or "shank's mare." Riding on the C.P.R. trains, without a ticket, is apt to become decidedly unpopular if not unfashionable, as it means, on conviction a V. or an X towards the city's revenue.

Str. Monarch's First Trip Here

New Boat From Gore's Landing Passed Through the Locks Yesterday

Yesterday evening, shortly after seven o'clock, the fine new steamer Monarch, owned by Messrs. Harris and McAllister of Gore's Landing, passed through the locks on her virgin trip.

This splendid acquisition to Peterboro's fleet of excursion and freight steamers, although having passed a most satisfactory examination by the government inspectors of hulls and boilers, is not yet fully completed. Her present trip to the city is to get the steel hurrican deck and overhangings placed in position. This it is expected will take about a week.

On completion the Monarch will not only be a great acquisition to the local steamers, but will doubtless obtain her full share of patronage between this city and Gore's Landing. Her owners are both practical steamboat men and highly popular with patrons of river travel.

County Teachers Meet Tomorrow

As noted in a former issue of The Times, we might remind our readers that a convention of the teachers of this county will be held in the Y.M.C.A. hall tomorrow morning at ten o'clock. The association will lay special stress on "Nature study" at this meeting and the program has been arranged accordingly.

In the evening an illustrated lecture on "Japan" will be given by Mr. Elliott, of the Toronto Normal school to which the public generally are cordially invited. A field excursion for "Nature Study" is proposed for Saturday forenoon. All teachers trustees and others interested in education are invited to attend.

Russian Soldiers Refuse Ball Cartridges

Do Not Want to Shoot Down Peasants--Bloody Revolution Feared by One Who Regards Premier as a Mere Puppet.

St. Petersburg, May 24. — Count Solsky has been relieved of the presidency of the Council of the Empire, or Upper House of Parliament, at his own request and on account of ill-health.

The soldiers of the Obajyo Regiment at Kursk, who were to be despatched into the country districts in anticipation of agrarian troubles, have refused to take ball cartridges with them.

Professor Milukoff, the spokesman of the Constitutional Democrats, according to a thoughtful article published by him in the Rech yesterday, is rather despondent over the prospect of staying the tide of revolution in the country. He bases his pessimism upon the conviction that the Government will not yield a full constitutional regime, with which, he says, it is still possible to calm the passions of the people. He regards Premier Goremykin and his Cabinet as mere puppets, doing the bidding of the powerful influences at court, and believes that Emperor Nicholas is destined to throw away the opportunity as Louis XVI. did, of transferring the country to a peaceful, Parliamentary regime. This the professor considers to be the Government's last chance, and that a refusal to do so will cut the ground under the Constitutional Democrats, and strengthen the revolutionary elements, which are preaching that Parliamentarism is an illusion, and make anrchy and a bloody revolution inevitable.

Nevertheless the Constitutional Democrats will persevere in their attempt to place the country on a solid, constitutional basis, and if they fail and disaster follows, the responsibility will not be upon their shoulders.

SOME ADVANCED LAWS.

The Central Committee of the Constitutional Democrats has completed the drafts of the laws to be introduced in Parliament, including universal suffrage, irrespective of sex, and equal rights for all citizens; laws guaranteeing immunity of the person and inviolability of domicile without due process of law; providing also the guarantee of habeas corpus, and specifically excluding all exceptions. While no party at court favors a complete surrender to the demands of the lower house of parliament, the Trepoff Cabal, which secretly favors a dissolution of parliament, is not strong enough for the moment to seriously urge such a course. The Emperor continues to be well disposed and is supported not only by many nobles of the court, but by other big, landed proprietors throughout the country, which now seem to be fully convinced that unless the peasants can be measurably satisfied by a compromise on the land question, a revolt of the peasants against the nobles will be aroused which will ruin the latter, as the peasants will forcibly seize their property to the accompaniment of horrors and excesses.

The Provincial papers are filled with advertisements offering estates for sale, inserted by property owners who, despairing of saving their property, are ready to accept what they can and flee from the country.

Instructor for 24th F. Battery

An Officer From Kingston Will Teach 24th Field Battery Recruits Their Work.

The many local recruits to the 24th Field Battery will be pleased to learn that a competent instructor from Kingston, will be sent to Peterboro about June 1st to give a few days' drill to the members of the battery, recently organized. The instructor will be a thoroughly qualified officer, and will, no doubt be a great assistance in getting the new corps on a firm basis.

Major Young will be at the drill hall tomorrow night, to enrol a number of men to complete the full complement for the battery.

A Dual Wedding Held Yesterday

Prettily Performed Function in Which Two Misses Manley are Married.

Yesterday afternoon a very interesting double wedding was celebrated at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Manley, 475 Edinburgh street, when their daughters, Misses Jessie Elizabeth, and Eva Maude, were respectively married to Mr. George Lee of Lindsay, and Mr. Thomas Hullied of Peterboro.

Rev. F. J. Scott, pastor of the Murray street Baptist church, officiated at this very happy event, the ceremony being witnessed, with evidently great enthusiasm by a number of invited relatives and friends.

The brides were each becomingly dressed in cream voile costumes trimmed with lace and insertion, and carried bouquets of white roses. The charming ring bearers, Miss Grace Cox, Peterboro, and Miss Stella Lee of Lindsay, sister of Mr. Lee, one of the bridegrooms. The house was prettily decorated with palms, smilax and carnations.

After the nuptials a wedding dinner was participated in and congratulations extended to Mr. and Mrs. Lee and Mr. and Mrs. Hullied.

Yesterday evening a reception was tendered the newly-wedded young people at 200 Antrim street, the residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. Hullied, parents of one of the young bridegrooms. This evening another reception will be given the married couples in Lindsay, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Lee, of that town.

Mr. George Lee and bride will reside on Elgin street, Lindsay, while Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hullied will take up residence at 200 Antrim street in this city.

Church Parade of 57th Regiment

Will Be Held on Sunday June 10th to St. John's Church.

One of the most interesting events of the year, both for members of the 57th Regt., and the public in general, is the annual church parade of our local and splendid corps.

This parade will be held to St. John's church on Sunday, June 10. The hour for the parade has not yet been decided as it is suggested to hold the parade in the evening instead of in the afternoon as in past years, and this plan meets with favor among a large number of those interested. It is argued that if the parade is held in the evening it will not interfere with the attendance at the Sunday schools, and will allow the soldiers to attend church in the morning.

Rev. Canon Davidson, chaplain of the regiment will conduct the service.

A TELL-TALE BELT

Bill Miner, the Train Robber, Surprised at the Trial.

Vancouver, May 23.—The three bandits who robbed the C.P.R. train have been dealt up for trial, which will probably take place in June. Damaging evidence was sprung on the prisoners by the production of a black leather belt which had been found at the scene of the hold-up. It was slipped among the other belongings of the prisoners when they were brought to Kamloops, and Bill Miner claimed it. He learned with surprise and dismay during the course of that trial, that the belt had been found at the railway track. Among Calbourn's papers was a receipt for a membership fee to the Eastern Canadian branch of the Young Men's Christian Association.

Terror of Spring is Sickness

What Are You Doing to Protect Your Weak Body Against Spring Fevers?

A delay gives the germs and weakness a better chance to take hold.

Don't wait, think of your small resisting powers, and begin building up today!

For weakness, overwork and debility the doctors prescribe Ferrozone; let it help you now.

Vitality and power are instilled into the blood; this means new strength for all weak organs.

The fire of youth will dance in your veins, and new found energy will increase your desire to work.

Ferrozone supplies the nourishment and tissue-building material your system lacks. Isn't this a reason why?

Prum Combermere, Ont., Mrs. Jno. Oram writes as follows: "For a number of years I suffered from nervousness, especially in the springtime. I felt tired, nervous and had headaches. My blood was weak and damp days brought on rheumatism. My nervous system was unstrung, and I felt utterly worn out. Ferrozone revived me in a short time. In two days my appetite increased and I could feel a building up process going on. This great tonic made a new person of me, and I don't think a more strengthening medicine for the spring can be found."

Wouldn't it be just fine to get back your old time spirits and vigor? Easily done with "Ferrozone;" commence today. Sold by all dealers, 50c. per box or six boxes for $2.50. By mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., and Kingston, Ont.

ENGLAND IN INDIA

Some thoughtful Englishmen are worrying about the situation in India. The London Times publishes a striking letter from a special correspondent concerning the recent development in India of forces antagonistic to British authority. This antagonism, he says, has its chief source in the very classes which have been most carefully instructed in the ways of western civilization. "We have been engaged," he says, "for nearly a century in expanding the area of English education in India, and in every successive generation an increasing number of young Indians have been initiated through our language and our literature into a new world of thought. Yet so far the main result has been to breed in them a spirit of revolt against the political ascendency of the race to whose superiority in the realm of knowledge their eagerness to share in the benefits of the education which it imparts is any abiding tribute." He finds an explanation of this phenomenon in a paper of Dr. Theodore Morrison, formerly the principal of Aligarh College, who wrote: "The answer which almost all Indians give to the question, 'What has English literature taught you?' is that it has taught them liberty to think for themselves; it has freed them from slavery to authority. The characteristic of all Indian teaching in the past, whether Hindu or Mohammedan, has been reverence for authority. The young scholar has been taught to justify his view by citing a great Pandit or Maulvi, and when he had elected to follow a certain school of thought it was sheer blasphemy to question the teachings of any of its great masters. With such antecedents it is not surprising that the most wonderful and illuminating idea in English literature should have been the freedom and independence to which it introduced them. They found themselves suddenly introduced into a world in which independent private judgment was a duty and the conscious exercise of it a virtue." Dr. Morrison then proceeds to argue that the Indian government has encouraged this spirit without making any provision for its control.

THE RHEUMATISM GERM

From New York comes the important news that after eighteen years of arduous pursuit the marauding rheumatism germs has been captured and is being studied. It is not a matter of much enlightenment to the general public that this term is described as looking like diplococci or streptococci, for the average person has not even a speaking acquaintance with either diplococci or streptococci, but the great human family will rise up and call him blessed who will find some way of exterminating the germ that has caused such widespread misery through all generations.

Next in importance to the discovery of the rheumatism germ is the announcement that the disease itself is infectious. This is news indeed and almost beyond belief, since thousands of others have had the care of others afflicted with rheumatism without themselves becoming infected. Yet as it appears to be a germ disease there is no reason to believe than an isolated germ might not find propagation in another person.

Rheumatism is an affliction that, leaving out the "white plague," has caused more suffering than half of the other diseases put together. The lives of countless thousands have been blighted by it and it has defied cures and attempted cures in numberless generations. One need only visit Hot Springs to witness the pitiful procession of the victims of rheumatism with limbs gnarled and distorted in an agony of suffering. They drag their wracked bodies about in the everlasting hope that somewhere and sometime they may find relief. It is enough to make the hearts of onlookers ache to see these patient invalids for whom in many cases there is no hope of cure.

Despite all that is said on the subject of rheumatism, until this recent discovery little has been known of this mysterious disease. It attacks its victims sometimes without warning and holds to them until it is ready to let go, which often is at their death beds. Remedies without end have been compounded, but while some remedies do apparent good to some, to others the same treatment will be of no avail. Two persons with the same rheumatic symptoms may go to the same springs and drink of the same waters and take the same health-restoring regimen. One of these persons may recover and the other may die. Physicians of the better sort frankly confess that they can do little with a case of rheumatism except to alleviate the pain. It must wear itself out or wear the patient out. It is a toss-up which will be the result. Now there is the renewed hope of an afflicted humanity that men of science may at last conquer this dread universal ailment.

THE OUTING MAGAZINE FOR JUNE

We have read so much of "the man with the muck rake," that we are glad to find that The Outing Magazine has no room for such a person. To take his place this magazine is publishing a series of articles by Ralph D. Paine about "The Builders"—men who are building, not tearing down. The chapter which opens the June number, "The Gold Camps of the Desert," describes the amazing growth of cities with all modern improvements, which, within the first two years, have sprung up in the middle of the most desolate and inaccessible desert places left in our country. The builders of these cities are trail-Americans in their battle against obstacles—obstacles greater than those of the early pioneers.

Another feature in this number that cannot be passed over is the second installment of Jack London's great serial, "White Fang." The publication of this story, following as it does serials by Stewart Edward White, Alfred Henry Lewis and Charles G. D. Roberts, shows that this magazine has become one of the leading magazines for the general reader, who likes virile and wholesome fact and fiction, as hopeful and stimulating as the great outdoors which is the peculiar province of The Outing Magazine.

Other short stories are contributed by Gouverneur Morris, Norman H. Crowell, Clarence E. Mulford, and Maximilian Foster. An article that will appeal to all mothers is entitled "Give the Baby a Chance," by Frank B. Copley. W. T. Burres in "On the Road to Quaint La Paz" takes one into a little-visited section of South America. W. R. C. Latson writes of "The Secret of Success in Feats of Skill." M. D. Follin contributes an interesting article on "The Limitations of the Brute." Walter Hale tells how to "Take an Automobile Abroad," and describes such a journey through Italy and France. Lawrence Mott contributes "Salmon Fishing on the Forteau, Labrador." George H. Brooke reviews the "The Racquets Season." Frank M. Ware tells "How to Shoe Your Horse," while Louis Rhead gives some good advice about "Live Bait for Bass and Pike." Clarence Deming speaks with authority on the topic, "Trouting in the Bushes." Rhen F. Retford is among the contributors with "Making the Country Home."

MOTHER OF LOUIS RIEL

Dies at Winnipeg, Aged 86—Nothing Could Shake Her Faith in Son's Intentions.

Winnipeg, May 22.—Dame Julie Lagimodiere Riel, mother of the late Louis Riel, is dead. She was born 86 years ago at St. Boniface, the daughter of Baptiste Lagimodiere and Marie Anne Gaboury Lagimodiere, the first white couple to place foot upon the soil of the prairie west. At the age of 22 she was married to Louis Riel, trapper, the ceremony taking place at the old Mission Church, St. Boniface. Of this union ten children were born, only three surviving her. They are Alexander, Joseph and Madame Cladu, all residents of Manitoba.

Dame Riel was a quiet, unobtrusive character, living a long and not altogether happy life in three distinct chapters, first as the glad young wife, then as the happy mother, and last as the sorrowing, broken-hearted mourner of a most unfortunate son. Brought from the retiring recesses of a humble life into the light of two rebellions, she stood the test of that right well, her unwavering and unalterable faith in her unhappy son giving distinction to her character, which even the harshest critic could not assail. No condemnation of the public, no act of this son, could shake her faith in the intentions of her son Louis.

COPPER IS KING!

¶ Do you know that the enormous demand for Copper, caused by the daily increasing output of electrical apparatus and machinery, is already beyond the supply. ## Hearts Courageous

By... HALLIE ERMINIE RIVES

Copyright, 1902, by THE BOWEN-MERRILL COMPANY

"Oh, dear!" exclaimed Betsy in great vexation.

"I really believe," said Anne, with heat, "that you want that man to win."

"Weren't you just now wishing you were a man so Mr. Rolph shouldn't?" retorted Betsy.

M. Armand had drawn forth a wallet from his pocket and lifted out the sum. "Fortune beams upon you, monsieur," he smiled. "I was ever unlucky of a Wednesday. Shall we have one more throw? And double or quits mayhap, monsieur? Unless you deem the stake overhigh"—

"High!" said Rolph, with a growl. "Double or quits it is. Eighty pounds against your lost forty and the wench. But, mind you, this one throw ends it. D'you hear?"

The other tossed. There was a shout as the coin descended, for it lodged in the brim of a spectator's hat and could not be counted. At the next trial it rolled in a spiral and finally stood edgewise in a crack of the wharf flooring.

A third time the young Frenchman sent it spinning. It twinkled in the sunlight, fell, bounded sideways, the crowd parting before it, rolled across the open space and toppled over a few feet from Anne. Instinctively she leaned far out of the coach and looked.

"It shows the arms!" she cried in spite of herself. The coin had fallen on its obverse side.

"Fortune has turned," the secretary observed easily. "It appears, monsieur, that the servant is mine. The remainder of the stake, if you please."

"'Twas but his assurance he wagered with," snarled Rolph. "It will not hold. What does this lorry valmant, with thus much money, gentlemen? He does not own so much. I dispute the bet!"

"And Mr. Rolph calls himself a gentleman!" Anne said disgustedly.

M. Armand looked at his antagonist with undisguised contempt, and murmurs of the assembly, who loved fair play, were so unmistakable that Rolph drew out bills and indenture with a curse and drove off with a black look.

Anne watched him go, a curl on her lip. When she turned at Betsy's exclamation it was first to be aware that all on the wharf were looking her way, that some of them were smiling and then that the young Frenchman, with the redemptioner woman following him, was approaching her.

Before she had recovered from her astonishment he was bowing low. "Mademoiselle," he said, "will pardon the liberty I take in addressing her?"

She bowed coldly, half startled.

"Fate," he went on, "has made me the owner of this servant, for whom, being no landholder, I have scant use. She speaks a strange tongue and is in a strange land, and to free her without bond time were small kindness. May I beg the favor, mademoiselle, that you take her in your service, demanding such labor as will requite her support?"

The indignant color flooded Anne's brow. "Sir," she said frigidly, drawing herself up, "we have strange surprises in Virginia, but surely the effrontery of our visitors surpasses them all."

Armand looked clearly at her out of his dark eyes. "Mademoiselle will pardon," he answered, "the error of one of these visitors, who, seeing her face, has overestimated her graciousness and charity."

With this he bowed again till his hat swept the ground, and, followed by the bondwoman, walked down the wharf toward the unlading vessel.

The red in Anne's cheeks had grown to firebrands and her anger lent sting to the half concealed smirks of those who stood nearest.

"Land of mercy!" said Betsy, with emphasis. "What impudence!"

Soon the curious crowd was thinning, Betsy's search was ended, and Anne, having left her seat in the coach, watched at nearer view the disgorging of the cargo.

Here Brooke came primed with a new sensation. This now nothing less than the tale of a fight which had occurred during the voyage between the mate of the vessel and a passenger. Anne's eyes were very soft as he finished.

"And who d'ye think," he ended, "was this champion? Why, the young Frenchman yonder that you crushed so mercilessly, Mistress Tillotson."

"And the redemptioner woman?" asked Anne, with something like dread.

"'Twas the wench he won from Burnaby Rolph."

"Oh!" The cadence was full of liquid self reproach.

"Where are you going?" Betsy asked as Anne rose. She did not answer, but walked quickly across the wharf to the spot where Armand stood. He made no movement as she came.

"Monsieur"— She faltered and stopped.

His hat was in his hand instantly, and he was gravely deferential.

"I wish to take back," she went on, "my words of awhile ago. I assure you they were not rudely meant. I"—

He stayed her with a gesture. "What am I that mademoiselle should speak thus? I was brusque, unmannerly"—

"No, no!"

"I forgot where I was—forgot that I had not the joy of knowing her—forgot everything but what I saw in her face as she sat in the chariot. For I am a great magician, mademoiselle. I know all who are lovely and gracious of heart."

"I was wrong," she said proudly. "And for this I ask your pardon. May—may I have the bond servant?"

He smiled gayly now and bowed low to her. "To be treated with such pleasant surgery all the world would be glad of wounds," he cried. "You recompense me a thousand times!"

He signed to the serving woman who sat stolidly upon a nearby chest and pointed from himself to Anne. She understood, and when Anne put her in charge of John the Baptist to take on ahead a-pillion she went without question.

Betsy watched this transaction open mouthed.

"Did you ever!" she gasped. "I wonder what mother will say to th"

Armand had stepped to post hat under arm, at the coach door. "Mademoiselle will permit me to assist her?" he asked and gave her the tips of his fingers. His eyes were bright on her face.

On the step she stopped, half turned, a delicate flush coming to her cheek—a flush that deepened to damask at his look. She hesitated an instant as if about to speak, then suddenly entered, sat down, gave the word to the driver and was whirled away. The secretary stood looking after the retreating chariot.

"A splendid creature," purred Brooke, at his elbow, "albeit you found her wintry."

"Wintry!" exclaimed the young man. "She who is made only of summer, its incense, its colors, its dreams! Yours is an enchanted land, monsieur, and she its goddess!"

"Egad, I'll make a sonnet of that!" exclaimed Brooke. "Sink me, but it's coming back!" The latter remark was applied to the chariot, which had turned and was now approaching more slowly the spot where they stood.

As it drew up Anne leaned from the ### Wonders of London Traffic.

The wonders of London traffic are narrated and illustrated in two new books of singular interest, volumes V. and VI. of the report of the royal commission of London on traffic, just published. They contain a remarkable series of plates and maps, about 100 in number. They are costly in workmanship and are unique as a collection. All of the features of the daily rush of London life are set aside and among the curious facts obtainable from these maps and diagrams are the following:

One-fourth of the population of England and Wales lives within twenty miles of the radius of Charing Cross. The omnibuses of London carry in one year the whole population of the United Kingdom seven times over. The route mileage of the railways within the area now constituting the administrative County of London was only 29 3-4 in 1845; in 1860 it was 69 1-4; in 1880 it had increased to 215 1-4, and in 1900 to 248 1-2.

At the busy time of the day 642 omnibuses pass by the Bank of England in an hour, making a procession two and one-half miles long; 406 pass through Oxford street and Piccadilly, making a procession eleven miles long.

The motor omnibuses hold thirty-four persons, as against a horse omnibus load of twenty-six, so that if the horse omnibuses of London were replaced by motor omnibuses the streets would be relieved of about one fourth of the existing number.

Diamonds and Diamond Mining

It would be difficult to name a commercial commodity representing a more tangible basis of intrinsic value than a diamond. Diamonds are enhancing in value yearly—the demand for them is ever increasing—and the diamond market shows a remarkably healthy condition.

Very little is known in this country by the general public about diamond mining, and the vast returns from it. All are more or less familiar with the mining of gold, silver, copper, zinc, lead, &c., &c., and know the immense fortunes that are realized yearly from them, and the enormous source of wealth which they represent to the country annually. Yet as a matter of fact the most profitable mining enterprises of the world are those devoted to the mining of diamonds, and in London, the great financial centre of the world, this is well understood, and diamond mining securities are an important factor in financial operations there.

The two most profitable commercial institutions in the world today are the De Beers and Premier diamond mining companies of South Africa, which pay fabulous returns on even the present price of the stock, which has enhanced in value many times during the last few years.

THE COLONIAL DIAMOND MINING COMPANY

controlled largely by Boston capital, own in British Guiana, South America, a property containing 42 miles square, during the six months we have been operating it, has paid over 50 per cent. profit, and that after expending large sums for machinery and mining appurtenances. From careful tests made during these six months we have demonstrated that we have a larger diamond field than either the De Beers or Premier Diamond Mining Companies, and that each laborer we employ produces larger results than the African laborers. We also know positively that our property will produce three times as much per cubic yard of dirt as the South African mines. We also have the priceless advantage of a healthy climate and an unlimited supply of water—two essential factors in success.

This company is conducting a legitimate business enterprise upon business principles and we court the fullest investigation of our enterprise. The property being on British territory and conducted under the strict laws governing all mining operations carried on in British domains, detailed information relative to it may be obtained from the commissioner of lands and mines, who receives from a government inspector on the grounds the actual condition and production of the property. Thus our production is a matter of official record and may be obtained at all times from this authentic source.

To provide the necessary capital to increase our production 10 fold, we are offering a block of $100,000 of our stock at par, $10 per share. When it is considered that we paid $220,000 in cash for our property, which we own outright, it must be admitted that $100,000 is not an excessive amount of stock to issue, and is all that we will offer for sale.

The undersigned will be pleased to have parties interested in legitimate investments call at our office, where we can supply much valuable information relative to diamond mining. If not convenient to call, write for prospectus.

100 PER CENT. ADVANCE JUNE 1

Present Price of Stock FIVE Cents per Share

If you want to get in on the ground floor before the price advances to 10 Cents per share, NOW IS YOUR CHANCE

When The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Company was organized the officers of the company foresaw the certainty, of a big mining boom in Clear Creek County, Colorado, U.S.A., and they congratulated themselves on securing a property which showed 1,500 feet of development work, and could be classed with the MINES of the region.

The steady increase in the mineral production of the county, new strikes, the development of old mines at depth (proving the continuity of the ore bodies and the increased richness of the ores), the availability of mining supplies, the abundance of water the great amount of timber for mining and fuel, the adaptability of the topography for deep tunnel mining, and the large number of milling and smelting plants, means that the district possesses all the elements of successful and economical mining.

It was a foregone conclusion that investors would awake to a realization of the conditions, and inaugurate a new boom in 1906. It is but natural that they should desire to place their money in a locality that shows more PROVEN MINES than prospects, and where the chances for speedy returns are greater than the chances of loss. Because of economic conditions money will go farther in development work and bring RESULTS quicker. Many new companies have recently been organized, foremost among them being The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co. Stock in all Clear Creek County companies is finding a ready market among both Eastern and Western investors, and in consequence The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co forestalled the boom by securing one of the best mining propositions in the locality, consisting of 16 mining claims, situated on Standard Mountain, in the Ohio and Jackson Mining District, two and one-half miles south of Idaho Springs. The Gold Leaf properties are credited with a past production of $75,000, and the tunnel is being steadily driven toward the rich ore bodies from whence former shipments were made. The old workings are now drowned with water which the tunnel will drain and also give unlimited stoping ground for the ores. Surrounding mines have produced over $11,500,000 Now is the time to purchase stock. When we re-open our ore the opportunity will be lost to investors.

Don't overlook this exceptional opportunity! Think of the acreage; Think of the development work done; Think of the past ore production; Think of the future possibilities; Think of investing—THEN ACT AT ONCE!

Sufficient stock subscriptions have already been received to carry our Frontier Tunnel a distance of 600 feet, or to the Standard Vein, from which point ore shipments will be resumed. Future stock subscriptions will be applied on the purchase of a power plant or on contracts to facilitate the work of driving the tunnel.

Our General Manager estimates that the completion of the tunnel will place at our disposal OVER FOUR MILES OF ORE, aggregating 96,000,000 tons.

Beware of Mercury

You May Be Using This Harmful Drug and Not Know It.

A favorite method of administering this deleterious drug is in cathartic pills. Beware of "quick-result" articles, they may do more harm than good.

Drastic cathartics will weaken the strongest. With old people they are a positive menace to life.

Merely to restore normal bowel action and gently stimulate the liver is all that the wise physician recommends.

To keep the system pure and clean, nothing is so effacious as the vegetable pills of Dr. Hamilton, which are composed of such herbs as mandrake, butternut and dandelion; they contain not an atom of any substance that could injure even an infant.

By their certain action on the Liver Dr. Hamilton's Pills cause bile to be secreted which forms the stimulus that moves the bowels—this is nature's own method and the best one.

Mr. R. Hamly, of French River, Ont., writes as follows: "I was inclined to bilious attacks and frequently was too ill to work. Must remedies purged and weakened my bowels, but Dr. Hamilton's Pills gently stimulated my liver, and by strengthening the stomach made a perfect cure. My health has been just splendid since I used Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

Get Dr. Hamilton's Pills from your druggist or storekeeper. 25c. per box or five boxes for $1.00. By mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., or Kingston, Ont.

Blackguard Chases Young Lady.

On Tuesday night a blackguard, called by incorrect custom, a "man," chased a young lady on Water street for quite a full block. This tough after trying to get the lady into conversation, frightened her, and as she ran followed after her. The police are now investigating the case, and should an arrest follow, the "cat" would be only too slight a punishment for such an unforgiveable offence.

DIED SUDDENLY OF HEART DISEASE.

How frequently does a head line similar to the above greet us in the newspapers. The rush, push and strenuousness of the American people has a strong tendency to lead up to valvular and other affections of the heart, attended by irregular action, palpitation, dizziness, smothered sensations and other distressing symptoms.

Three of the prominent ingredients of which Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is made are recommended by some of the leading writers on Materia Medica for the cure of just such cases. Golden Seal root, for instance, is said by the UNITED STATES DISPENSATORY, a standard authority, "to impart tone and increased power to the heart's action." Numerous other leading authorities represent Golden Seal as an unsurpassed tonic for the muscular system in general, and as the heart is almost wholly composed of muscular tissue, it naturally follows that it must be greatly strengthened by this superb, general tonic. But probably the most important ingredient of "Golden Medical Discovery," so far as its marvelous cures of valvular and other affections of the heart are concerned, is Bromine, found in Queen's Delight. Prof. Wm. Paine, author of Paine's Epitomy of Medicine, says of it:

"I, not long since, had a patient who was so much oppressed with valvular disease of the heart that his friends were obliged to carry him up-stairs. He, however, gradually recovered under the influence of Collinsonin (medicinal principle extracted from Stone root), and is now attending to his business. Heretofore physicians knew of no remedy for the removal of so distressing and so dangerous a malady. With them it was all guess-work, and it fearfully warmed the afflicted that death was near at hand. Collinsonin unquestionably affords relief in such cases, and in most instances effects a cure."

Stone root is also recommended by Drs. Hale and Ellingwood, of Chicago, for valvular and other diseases of the heart. The latter says: "It is a heart tonic of direct and permanent influence."

"Golden Medical Discovery," not only cures serious heart affections, but is a most efficient general tonic and invigorator, strengthening the stomach, invigorating the liver, regulating the bowels and curing catarrhal affections in all parts of the system.

"Equity" Commends Ald. Graham's Resignation.

(To the Editor of The Times.)

Dear Sir,—I see in the matter of the Fire, Water and Light Committee's action in changing the bylaw respecting the thickness of walls now demanded within the fire limits, that they claim not to be responsible for what former councils have done. Does this mean that they will return the extra expense to which those not in the ring have been put to when refused privileges the committee now grants to others. If not, what is the reason for the committee soaking one man and letting another down light? I must beg to note my appreciation of the honest indignation shown by Ald. Graham in quitting this committee.

Yours truly,

Princess Ena Departs For Spain

King Alfonso Leaves for Spanish Border to Meet His Bride---Elaborate Wedding Preparations.

London, May 26.—Princess Ena of Battenberg, who will on June 2, become the bride of King Alfonso of Spain, left London for Spain yesterday morning at 9.45 o'clock. The streets between Kensington Palace and Victoria Station were gaily decorated, and were lined with drowds when the Princess' carriage passed.

At the station to greet her were, King Edward, Queen Alexandra, the Prince and Princess of Wales, the Duke and Duchess of Connaught, the Duke and Duchess of Teck, Princess Victoria and the Duchess of Albany.

WEPT AT PARTING.

Princess Ena was radiant and smiling, and maintained her composure until she was saying good-bye to the Queen, whose farewell was exceedingly tender. The Queen broke into tears and the Princess also was unable to restrain her emotion.

SPANIARDS IN LONDON PLEASED.

The Spanish Embassy and the Spanish colony in London were strongly represented on the platform, and a ringing cheer as the train started must have been welcome to the Princess as a good omen.

ALFONSO GOES TO MEET BRIDE

Madrid, May 26.—King Alfonso's departure for the frontier to meet his bride was the first event of the elaborate official program in connection with the royal wedding. His majesty wore the blue uniform of a field marshal, with a broad red sash and white military cap topped by a waving plume. He smiled pleasantly as he saluted his enthusiastic subjects.

THE MAGNIFICENT ROYAL CAR.

The car in which Princess Ena will be received was strewn with white roses, lilies and chrysanthemums. A large number of ministers and a glittering array of military officers accompanied the royal party to the frontier. The track was lined with soldiers, and the crowds of country folk gathered at the stations and gave ovations to the King. The Spaniards seem to have entered into the spirit of their King's love affairs.

CARDINAL SANCHO TO OFFICIATE

Cardinal Sancho, Archbishop of Toledo, has been officially designated to perform the marriage. The choir will consist of 200 artists.

The street decorations are being completed. A superb arch designed by a leading scenic artist spans the avenue leading to the Royal Palace, and scores of tribunes are going up in the streets which are lined by Venetian masts, topped with flags and bunting, making the avenues long vistas of bright colors.

POLICE NEWS

Daily Happenings in Court Room and Station.

Yesterday, although the preceding day had been a public holiday, with all the dispensaries of wet goods in full swing, only one local man was on trial at the police court, viz., Hugh Gibbs who was assessed by acting Magistrate Armstrong the sum of $2 for having elevated his right hand too often. Hugh was given ten days in which to prospect for the simoleons.

Edward Martin, a middle aged man, was charged by C.P.R. Detective John Robson, with having stolen a ride on his road from Valleyfield to Norwood, where he was arrested. Martin made a strong plea to be allowed to go, saying he had never been arrested before, but his worship, Mr. Armstrong remanded him until this morning for trial.

Imperial Bank of Canada

Highly Successful Record During the Past Thirty Years.

On Wednesday, May 23rd, the 31st annual general meeting of shareholders of the Imperial Bank of Canada, was held in their head office, Toronto.

An interesting feature of this meeting was the large number of shareholders in attendance, and also the prominent position each of them holds in the financial world of Canada.

The directors' report of business done by this bank for the preceding year was most encouraging both to the directorate and shareholders, testifying to the conservative but still aggressive policy of those in control.

The net profits of the Imperial Bank for the year, after making provisions for all bad or doubtful debts, interest on unmatured bills under discount, contributions to pension and guarantee funds and other taxation, amounted to $855,706.29. This most creditable amount was applied as follows. Dividends at the rate of 10 per cent. per annum, amounting to $335,408.23 were paid, $100,000 was devoted to bank premises and furniture and $100,379.97 was carried to profit and loss account.

$927,741.50 received as a premium on new capital stock allotted to shareholders on June 30th, 1905, has been transferred in bulk to the rest account, which now amounts to $3,927,741.50, and will be further increased to $4,000,000 when balance due upon subscribed shares is paid in.

New branches were, during last year opened in Cobalt, Fonthill, London and Ridgeway, in Ontario. In the city of Quebec, Quebec; North Battleford, Sask.; and in Banff, Calgary, east, and Red Deer, Alta.

The whole report of this meeting given in other columns of this year is most interesting reading to those interested in the progress of Canada's financial institutions, and demonstrates most undeniably that the Imperial Bank of Canada is one of the soundest and most admirably managed banks in the Dominion.

Local Fisherman Meets Mosquitos.

Mr. Geo Irwin, the Charlotte street famourin artist, yesterday, with justifiable pride, displayed a fine strint of brook trout he captured in Blezzard's creek on the 24th. Mr. Irwin caught the full legal limit and they were beauties. Mr. Clark went with him, but by the time he had interviewed 7,228,317 musquitos, he made for the clearing and got busy with a newspaper, whilst his rhum wandered up and down the creek swapping worms for fatty trout.

The Convention Now in Session

West Peterboro Teachers' Association in Y. M. C. A. Hall.

Yesterday at ten a.m., the West Peterboro Teachers Association convention opened in the Y.M.C.A. hall. In the absence of Mr. John Davidson, of Norwood, president, Mr. P. T. Pilkie, vice-president, occupied the chair. As Mr. Pilkie's name appeared on the program on "Study of Insects, with Specimens," he asked to be relieved from presiding.

Moved by Mr. S. A. Smithson, seconded by Inspector Brown, that Inspector Lees take the chair.

Mr. Lees, after some very practical though general remarks concerning the raison d'etre of the association, asked the members to meet at 1.30 p.m. to consider some matters important to the association. He then called on Mr. S. A. Smithson to read the report of the O.E.A. in the absence of Miss Campbell, of Havelock. Mr. Smithson reported for both delegates.

Mr. P. T. Pilkie's paper on "Study of Insects" was very interesting. He illustrated his paper with specimens. Several kinds of matter were classified and sub-divided into various orders of insects. After dealing with the orders in general, the various sub-orders and families were dealt with. The life history of the different orders were given. He concluded by giving some useful advice on the collecting of insects and their preservation.

At the afternoon session one of the features of the program was an address on "Nature Study Bird, with Specimens," by Mr. W. H. Elliott, B. A., of the Normal School, Toronto, which was listened to with keen interest by all present.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Rev. Dr. Crothers Elected Chairman

The many friends in this city of Rev. Dr. Crothers will heartily congratulate this highly esteemed divine on his election as chairman of the Peterboro district of the Methodist Church.

This honor was conferred on Rev. Mr. Crothers at the annual session held in Millbrook last week.

Rev. Geo. Nickle, of Warsaw, was appointed secretary, and Rev. N. D. Drew, of Pontypool, assistant secretary. Rev. C. S. Riddick was appointed statistical secretary. Rev. N. D. Drew, and R. W. Clarke, Esq., were appointed auditors.

The laymen met and elected the following laymen to attend the annual conference at Port Perry;—

H. Shortly, R. J. Kidd, W. A. Sargent, R. W. Clarke, W. H. Staples, R. W. Walsh, Peter Dawson, John Hull, W. F. Finster, Job White, T. R. Graham, Hector Preston, Stephen Harrison.

The Rev. Dr. Crothers was elected chairman of the district in place of Rev. W. J. Jolliffe, who is leaving the conference.

Dr. Crothers made a suitable reply to the honor conferred upon him.

Why King Should Visit Canada

Some Cogent Reasons Given By E. B. Osborn in a Letter to the Post.

London, May 26.—E. B. Osborn, in a long article to the Post, discusses the invitation to the King to visit Canada, and points out the intense loyalty of the colonies to the Crown. He says Canadian regard for the Crown is the only adequate symbol of the Empire.

If the conference of Premiers comes to assume control of all matters of Imperial policy, then the King eventually will be regarded as a perpetual president. The effect of the King's visit would certainly be a step in the direction of creating an imperial constitution. He would find a Dominion on his arrival; he would leave a kingdom. The honor rendered Canada as a representative of a Greater Britain would raise all sister states to the status of kingdoms, leaving the United Kingdom merely first among its peers.

To a select committee Sir Charles Dilke said England derived much more revenue from the income tax than do the colonies.

The Prince of Wales, in a message to the Red Cross Society, said that much generous aid had been forthcoming from the colonies to furnish the hope that branches of the British Red Cross Society would soon be found in every part of the Empire.

MEDICAL RECIPROCITY.

In the annual presidential address to the General Medical College, Dr. McAlister said it was highly desirable in the interests of Canada and the Empire that closer professional relations be established between the Mother Country and the colonies. Nova Scotia was first to seek medical reciprocity with the United Kingdom under the Act of 1905, and the Council would welcome the rest of the Provinces if they followed this example. He was glad to notice the progressive medical legislation of the colonies.

Before a committee on the adulteration of butter, John Speir, representing Scotch bodies, recommended that colonial butters be refused admission unless accompanied by a certificate of purity.

Interviewed by a Glasgow official the Allan Line said the Canadian mails were twelve hours longer en route by calling at Moville than when steamers proceed direct to Londonderry. The Sentinel believes the Allan and C.P.R. lines have joined hands and that not Canadian mails alone, but also the mails for the whole Far East will be affected.

A court circular says that a guard of honor from the Prince of Wales' Leinster Regiment, Royal Canadians, under command of Capt. J. Crasker, was mounted at Blackdown Barracks.

CANADA'S GOOD NAME.

The Standard says the Anglo-Canadian community is indignant at the dragging in of Lord Strathcona's name into the Preston controversy. No name stands higher in Canadian esteem than that of the veteran Commissioner, and it is felt to be particularly offensive that he be exposed to suggestions of personal association with transactions of the character alleged. The matter has gone so far now that Canada's good name is at stake.

The Galety Girls Poorly Attended

The Attendance Last Night Was Not of the Regular Order.

The entertainment given last night in the opera house was practically attended by "men only." It was our purpose to have published a list of those who attended, but lack of space at the last moment prevented our doing so. The fact that Manager Strathburn endeavored to bunco the public into the belief that these girls (?) were a lot of Sunday school teachers in disguise, evidently failed. The half nude pictures of the fair (?) ones which for the last week or ten days adorned the walls of our rooms, was enough to dispel any idea that the show was elevating or moral.

The local theater management may fool the people now and then, but it takes a mighty smart man to make to fool all the people all the time.

How Victoria Day Was Celebrated

Thousands of Our Citizens Went to Stony Lake and Toronto.

On May 24th of this year, instead of thousands of people from outside points coming, and spending their money here, thousands of them went out of the city.

Whose fault is this? It is not fair perhaps to challenge the city council. Still a great apathy or even slight exists somewhere. In years gone by Peterboro, on every public holiday had ten dollars spent within her walls for every dollar taken out; now the opposite condition is in evidence.

STONY LAKE.

On the 24th a most delightful trip, via the fine Str. Stony Lake, was taken advantage of by many of our citizens to Burleigh Falls and other points on Kawartha Lakes.

There were about 115 passengers on board when the boat pulled out from Lakefield. The sail up the river was delightful and after the locks at Young's Point had been passed the boat soon glided into the broad and ozone covered stretch of Clear Lake. On arriving at the entrance to Stony Lake, all aboard were delighted with the vista of beauty displayed between the forest clad granite rocks which make up the world beating scenery of this well known lake.

This being the first trip of the season, many cottagers in Stony Lake took advantage of the occasion to visit their summer residences, among whom were noted; Mr. C. B. Moutley, Misses Dot and Helen Routley, Miss Nellie Duncombe and Messrs. Herb. and Kenneth Routley, Mrs. Munro, Miss Hamilton and Mr. H. Munro, Mr. R. B. Rogers, Dr. W. A. Morrison, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Donnelly and Miss Alice Donnell, Mrs. Breeze and Miss Maud Breeze, Mr. Thomas Barrie, Mrs. Elliott, Sheriff Hall and Miss A. Hall, Mr. T. E. Bradburn, M.P.P., Mr. J. D. Collins and Misses Collins, Mr. C. N. Brown and Miss Brown.

IN THE CITY.

On Victoria Day the local golf links attracted many devotees of the game. Over a hundred members of the Golf Club were on the links and tennis courts, and, possibly as many spectators were present. The large attendance was not confined, by any means to the afternoon, as many enthusiasts were present during the morning.

Perhaps the most interesting feature of the day was the mixed foursomes, when twenty-four ladies and gentlemen took part. Mrs. P. Campbell and Mr. A. Poe won the first prize, and Miss Kingan and Mr. T. D. Mulholland won the gross prize.

Those taking part were;—

Miss Bradburn and Mr. B. Hall vs. Miss Pearl Lundy and Mr. H. N. Blanchette.

Mrs. Coulthard and Mr. D. Walker vs. Mrs. R. S. Davidson and Mr. Hill (Montreal.)

Mrs. W. H. Hill and Mr. R. Dobie vs. Miss Kingan and Mr. T. D. Mulholland.

Mrs. R. R. Hall and Mr. Simons vs. Mrs. P. Campbell and Mr. A. Poe.

Miss Rogers and Mr. S. T. Medd vs. Miss Dumble and Mr. F. D. Kerr.

Miss D. Hall and Mr. Coulthard vs. Miss Clementi and Mr. Currier.

At five o'clock tea was served at the club house, and afterwards play was continued until dark. The day was a most enjoyable one, and nothing occurred to mar the universal success of the meeting.

TORONTO TRIP.

Every train to Toronto from the one leaving long before the average citizen usually awakes to thoughts of breakfast, were crowded with our citizens intent on pleasure in the Queen City. At a late hour Thursday night the back accommodation were severely strained to convey excursionists to their respective homes.

AT HOME.

The day in Peterboro was very quietly celebrated thanks to the stringent measures taken by the police, forbidding the use of fireworks and other gunpowder combinations, there were no serious accidents nor fires. The principal forms of amusements for those remaining in the city, were the races at the Driving Park and the very interesting lacrosse game at Riverside Park. Both of these attractions drew large and thoroughly delighted audiences.

THE PARKS.

Hundreds of our citizens, mainly married folk with their little ones, took advantage of the holiday to spend several hours at Jackson, Victoria, Central and other parks.

DOWN THE RIVER.

The excursion down the Otonabee on the "Water Lily" under the auspices of the Salvation Army band, a most enjoyable outing and those who took it in speak in the highest terms.

THE PUBLIC LIBRARY

Some Fine Books Recently Purchased By the Board.

The directors of the Peterboro Public Library being desirous of cultivating a taste for a higher class of books, and especially for works on the subject of history—a subject which is the foundation of all knowledge—have just purchased the Great Events by Famous Historians, compiled under the direction of some of the most distinguished scholars of Europe and America.

This history, made up of selections from the masterpieces of all ages, and thus introducing its readers to the greatest historians from Herodotus down forms at the same time, a narrative as connected and continuous as if it were the production of one master mind.

While the chief advantage from the reading of these volumes will always be a connected view of all the most important events in the development of the human family, with their causes, and their influence on their own and subsequent times, the directors would respectfully call the attention of the reading public to the index volume for a knowledge of the different uses to which the work may be put.

The directors intend to use every effort, consistent with their limited resources, to increase the usefulness of the library, and trust that the public will show their appreciation, if not by liberal contributions, at least by the purchase of membership tickets, and, especially by making themselves acquainted with the best books.

A Successful Bank Manager

Enviable Record Made During Thirty Years by Mr. D. R. Wilkie.

It is always interesting to Canadians to watch the continous and successful way in which some of her sons, whilst advancing the interests of the country, rise to high estimation in the opinion of those engaged in large affairs. Prominent among the leading bankers of Canada, with a successful history extending over many years, Mr. D. R. Wilkie holds an enviable record.

During the 30 years and more that Mr. Wilkie has so ably performed his duties as general manager of the Imperial Bank, his great grasp on the financial pulse, and his ability to read the tokens and act quickly, he has been largely instrumental in the continued success of this strong bank. He has caused its capital to grow to $4,000,000. he has brought the rest account to become equal to the capital, he has made the bank's stock worth twice its face value to its owners, and he has, by generous treatment of the bank's customers been of incalculable assistence towards the latter.

Gentleman Writes Re Dog.

Yesterday Chief Rousil was in receipt of an anonymous letter from some one evidently living near the corner of Hunter and Stewart Sts., complaining that a neighbor keeps a vicious dog which rushes at passers-by tearing their clothing. As the writer did not sign his name the chief will take no notice of it. The writer asked whether "rags are said to people keeping vicious dogs." The chief explains that where one asks for a tag, and pays his money, a certificate of the dog's character is not asked.

He May Commit His Girl Wife

Child of Fourteen or Under Refuses to Testify Against Her Alleged Husband--- To Go to Appeal Court.

Goderich, May 26.—The bigamy trial which opened yesterday here before his Honor Judge Holt is probably the most important action tried in Goderich for a considerable time. The proceedings were instituted on the complaint of the father of the second wife of the defendant, against whose wish the marriage took place, while the mother of the girl assisted the defendant in the attempt to marry her daughter, and in fact for some time back had been living with the defendant herself, off and on, against the wish of the husband.

The evidence of the defendant's father, Wm. Brindley, is that his son, Jasper Brindley, is a British subject, and a resident of Canada, in Goderich township. The evidence of the clergyman who performed the first marriage in 1897, and the evidence of Justice Ott of Detroit, who performed the second marriage last month, were given yesterday, and also the evidence of Brindley's first wife, Rosa Carl. When the second wife was put in the witness box as a crown witness she refused to answer any question put to her, acting on the advice of the defendant's solicitor.

Crown Attorney Seager then applied for an order, committing the girl for contempt of court, and an adjournment was made till this morning, pending the judge's decision on this point.

A feature that gives the case an added seriousness is that the girl is said to be under 14 years of age, below the age limit when a legal marriage can take place.

TWO YEARS' RESIDENCE.

Wm. Murch, a lawyer, of Detroit, is here as a Crown witness, as an expert in the Michigan divorce law, and the registrar of the divorce court is also here, to prove the granting of the divorce to Brindley's first wife, issued by Judge Hosmer, in Detroit, last January. In the decree the name is spelled Brinley, while the popular spelling of the name is Brindley. Miss Card, however, says Brinley is the correct spelling. Such a mistake in spelling, Mr. Murch considers would destroy the jurisdiction of the court to grant the divorce. He states, too, that where, as in this case, the cause of divorce arises in Canada, two years' residence in Michigan on the part of the applicant would be necessary to secure a divorce. The divorce, he says, assuming it to be validly granted, places the person residing in Michigan at liberty to remarry there, but that it has no such effect on the other party, if he remains a citizen of Canada. When asked to explain the anomalous state of affairs that a divorce could free one of the parties and not the other, Mr. Murch replied, "You are as well able to figure that out as I am."

Mr. Murch also states that the law in Michigan requires an affidavit before marriage that the parties are over 16 years of age. The effect of this statement, if proof is forthcoming that the girl to whom Brindley was married last month is under that age, will be readily understood. The trial is still in progress.

TO GO TO APPEAL COURT.

Goderich, May 26.—The taking of evidence and the hearing of the argument in the bigamy trial which was held here was completed yesterday afternoon, and an adjournment of the court was made till Saturday, June 2. It is understood the case will probably be reserved for the Court of Appeal for a decision on the question whether a court in the States granting a divorce has any jurisdiction extending to a resident of Canada, as the defendant in this case is, as a decision on this point will be of such widespread application.

KISSED A WAITRESS.

Andover, Mass., May 26.—Six more pupils were expelled yesterday from Phillips-Andover Academy, making a total of twenty who have thus far been so punished for participating in the assault upon John M. Stewart, an innkeeper, last Friday night, when he was thrown into a pond because some of the students thought he had complained to the school faculty that one of the boys had kissed a waitress at his establishment.

LACROSSE.

That Canada's national game, lacrosse, has a firm hold on this city, was in evidence Thursday afternoon at Riverside Park, when, in spite of thousands of citizens out of town on excursions, and hundreds at the horse races, some six hundred lovers of the game, attended the match between the Shamrocks and Young Torontos.

(W. H. Cavanah, last year's inside home, of the Peterboro's, handled the whistle to the satisfaction of everyone. The match was one of the cleanest ever seen in this city.

The teams lined up as follows:

THE TURF.

The races on the 24th, held at Exhibition Park were perhaps the most generally appreciated of any that have been held for years.

The attendance, considering the many counter attractions, was very good, and under the circumstances, fully testified to the universal appreciation of the way in which our local Turf Club is managing affairs.

The races, as per advertised program were well run off. The score card included two events, one for colts with a purse of $50 and the other was a 2.28 class with a purse of $100. Every heat was well contested. Three horses started in the colts' race, and four in the 2.28 class.

The officials were:

Starter—Wm. Lahey, Lakefield.
Judges—Messrs. Bailey, Barrie and Richard Darling, Toronto.
Timekeeper—Dr. Bradd.

The first race was the 2.28 class. Miss Paisley drew the pole. Little Will 2nd, Little Jap 3rd and Little Girl 4th.

The race by heats was;

| | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Miss Paisley | 1 | 1 | 1 | |
| Little Will | 3 | 2 | 2 | |
| Little Girl | 2 | 3 | 4 | |
| Little Jap | 4 | 4 | 3 | |

Time 1.11, 1.11 3-4, 1.09 3-4.

Only three horses started in the colt's race, and it took five heats to decide the winner. The race by heats:

| | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| City Queen | 2 | 3 | 1 | 1 | 1 |
| Godfrey's Pride | 1 | 1 | 2 | 3 | 2 |
| Miss Tariff | 3 | 2 | 3 | 2 | 3 |

Best Time—1.12 1-2.

Taken as a whole the races were clean, fast and reflected great credit upon the local Turf Club as well as providing a great afternoon's amusement for the public.

COMMUNISM AND SOCIALISM

Communism and socialism are based on the same principle. They contemplate the abolition of private property, at least so far as the means of production are concerned. Both agree that the land, the forests, the mines, the workshops, the railroads should be the property of all instead of individuals. There are differences of opinion as to the exact extent to which the abolition of private ownership should be carried.

Communism is the older word for the principle. Sixty years ago there was much said about communism and little, if anything, about socialism. Today there are many socialists and few communists. Of the numerous communities established at different times in this country practically all are dead.

There is no disagreement between communists and socialists as to vital principles, but there is a radical difference in the manner of putting them in operation. It has been the theory and the practice for those who held communistic theories to found separate communities where men could regulate their lives in accordance with those theories. That was the method pursued by Fourier, Robert Dale Owen, and others.

That is not the method of the socialist. He is not content to withdraw from the world and build up a little socialist settlement where the land and other means of production may be owned in common. Some of the American communists went into the wilderness, bought land, and made it fertile with their labor. The socialists will have none of that. He resorts to political agitation to impose his theories upon a nation and to confiscate for his benefit means of production which owe their productiveness to the labor of others. If socialism were to win the day communism would be inaugurated, but it would be enforced communism, not the voluntary kind of Fourier. The communards of Paris in 1871 were not communists of the old type. They were more properly revolutionary socialists trying to secure political ends.

The genuine communist is a harmless kind of dreamer. The socialist is the dangerous man of action.

MANITOBA SCHOOL LAW.

London, May 24.—Discussing the education question at the National Liberal Club, Lord Stanley of Alderly, explained that the Manitoba settlement clause allowed a Catholic teacher to forty Catholic children there is about the same as the fourfifths clause here. He thought the Manitoba plan of letting denominations have the last half hour for religious instruction suitable here rather than the first.

REBUILD YOUR TIRED, ACHING BODY

Winter has left you in a state of fatigue and weariness.

The vitality of your blood is gone.

Your nerves are wretchedly weak and you find it hard to sleep.

The temptation to "brace up" with an alcoholic mixture is great,—but it's uselessness is plain to everyone.

Better follow Nature's plan; it's always a sure one.

First create new appetite.

Improve your digestion.

Perfect the process of assimilation.

This will ensure a supply of rich, nourishing blood.

Healthy blood soon makes a healthy body, and a system fed by pure, rich blood is bound to gain in energy and strength.

To get well and stay well, use the food tonic "Ferrozone" which is composed of concentrated vegetable extracts that supply nutrition that every sickly person needs.

No matter how long you've been in poor health, Ferrozone will win you back like it did Mrs. Sadie B Hislop, of Whitby, Ont., who writes: "Ferrozone not only brings health to the sick, but has power to cure quickly. After being confined to bed with sickness, I seemed unable to make any headway on the road to complete health. My vitality was low and I was in great need of strength. My nerves knew was gone, and from headaches and poor sleep I was in bad straits. Ferrozone was just what I needed. It increased my strength, gave me a new feeling entirely. I used about eight boxes and was made perfectly well. My doctor thinks Ferrozone a wonderful cure."

Your druggist sells it in 50c. boxes or six boxes for $2.50. By mail from E. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., and Kingston, Ont.

Slaves to Spring Catarrh Restored to Health by Pe-ru-na.

SPRING THE TIME TO CURE CATARRH.

Pe-ru-na Invigorates Mind and Body.

Hon. Wm. G. Hunter, Ex-member North Carolina Legislature, writes from the Census Office Building, Washington, D. C., as follows:

"The greatest family medicine ever discovered, in my opinion, which comes from experience as well as observation, is Peruna.

"The most common affliction to humankind is a bad cold. Peruna drives it out of doors, wards off catarrh, invigorates and gives fresh strength to mind and body. I give Peruna my unqualified endorsement."—Wm. G. Hunter.

Takes Pe-ru-na Every Spring.

Miss Tilly Marx, 421 14th St., Milwaukee, Wis., writes:

"I am pleased to endorse Peruna, as I found it very efficient in ridding my system of a severe cold and catarrhal trouble, after I had tried many other remedies without getting relief.

"I took Peruna for two weeks, when I was much better, and in two weeks more I was entirely rid of the cold and catarrh. I shall take it every spring as a tonic, as I found that it made me much better in every way."—Tilly Marx.

Miss Lydia Herziger, Grand Recorder of American Daughters of Independence, writes from Neenah, Wis., as follows:

"I have used Peruna now for four years, each Spring and Fall, and it keeps me perfectly well and strong.

"I am able to continue working and do not have to take a three months' rest, as I used to do every year. This is a great comfort to me, as I was not able to afford such a long rest.

"I find that it is a great preventative for colds and coughs and soon rids the system of all disease and is an admirable medicine. I can heartily endorse it."—Lydia Herziger.

Mr. James A. Moody, Ex-president Board of Education, Mineral Co., W. Va., writes from 314 Massachusetts avenue, N. E., Washington, D. C., as follows:

"My family have used Peruna for several years past with excellent results and I take pleasure in testifying to its superiority as a remedy for catarrh.

"Every spring that dreaded disease will show up in my family and we always turn instinctively to Peruna to ward it off.

"It has never yet failed, and I never lose an opportunity of recommending it to my friends."—James A. Moody.

Spring Catarrh.

Almost every one has come to believe that spring is a season that brings derangements of the body dependent on blood impurities.

This belief is an old one, is nearly universal, and has arisen, not as the result of the teachings of the medical fraternity, but has been learned in the bitter school of experience.

Nervous Depression.

Depression of the nervous system at the approach of spring is a fertile source of blood impurities.

There are general lassitude, dull, heavy sensations, continual tired feelings, with irregular appetite, and sometimes loss of sleep.

That Tired Feeling.

That tired feeling, which is the natural result of the depressing effect of warm weather immediately after the invigorating cold of winter, quickly disappears when Peruna is taken.

The Proper Remedy.

Peruna meets every indication and proves itself to be perfectly adapted to all their varied peculiarities. Peruna invigorates the system, rejuvenates the feelings, restores the normal appetite and procures regular sleep.

Do Not Delay.

Get a bottle of Peruna when the first languid feelings make themselves apparent in the spring. Take it according to the directions on the bottle. Continue this treatment through the first months of spring.

This course of treatment is no experiment; it is as positive in its results as any fact of science can be.

A Spring Tonic.

Almost everybody needs a tonic in the spring. Something to brace the nerves, invigorate the brain, and cleanse the blood. That Peruna will do this is beyond all question. Everyone who has tried it has had the same experience as Mrs. Winnifred Power, an artist, who, in a recent letter from 246 7th St., Portland, Ore., says:

"I am pleased to speak a good word for Peruna, as I found it an excellent tonic and spring medicine and very effective in ridding the system of cold and catarrh.

"About two years ago my system was all run down in the spring and I thought I would try and see if Peruna would be of any assistance in bringing back my health and strength.

"I found that it was splendid and all the medicine that I needed. In a little over a month I was well and did not need to take any more medicine.

"I shall recommend it to every one in need of a tonic, and know that I have only to take a few doses of Peruna when I take a cold and I will soon be over it."—Winnifred Power.

Nature's Assistance.

Spring is the best time to treat catarrh. Nature renews herself every spring. The system is rejuvenated by spring weather. This renders medicines more effective.

A short course of Peruna, assisted by the balmy air of spring, will cure old, stubborn cases of catarrh that have resisted treatment for years.

A Word of Advice.

To those who have been afflicted with chronic catarrh we wish to say that the spring season affords you a splendid opportunity to get rid of your disease.

It may be you have been afflicted for several years; you may have tried different remedies. Perhaps you have become discouraged.

Now Is Your Opportunity.

This failure was during the winter months. But now is your opportunity. Nature comes to your assistance at this season.

Just help her a little and she will bring you out of the quagmire in which you have been floundering so long. Give Nature a little assistance lest her struggles be in vain.

A Typical Case.

Geo. M. Fillmore, late 1st Lieut. 3rd, U. S. Artillery, writes from 909 L St., N. W., Washington, D. C., as follows:

"I brought forward from winter into spring a sickening case of catarrh which was making existence miserable for me, until I was induced to try a bottle of Peruna.

"An immediate improvement gave me hope, if not relief. I kept up taking Peruna and it has so strengthened and relieved me that I am now confident of a cure. I heartily endorse Peruna for catarrhal affections and as a tonic for their weakening effects."—Geo. M. Fillmore.

A short course of Peruna now will be just in time. During the month of April you will find the strategic time to rid yourself of chronic catarrh, one of the most persistent, stubborn diseases in the whole list of human ailments.

After you have tried it you will say Peruna is positively the best spring medicine you have ever used.

A great many years of extensive trials of this remedy in this class of derangements have demonstrated that there are no failures.

Thousands of Testimonials.

Thousands of cases might be quoted in which Peruna has rescued people from the ravages of spring catarrh, and put them on a good, solid foundation of health.

We can give our readers only a slight glimpse of the vast array of unsolicited endorsements Dr. Hartman is constantly receiving. No other physician in the world has received such a volume of enthusiastic letters of thanks.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

—Mr. David Garvey and sister, Theresa, of Asphodel, visited friends in Douro on Sunday last.

—Mr. James Moher and his sister, Agnes, of Lakefield, were visiting friends here on Sunday last.

—A young lady, while visiting, recently had the misfortune to injure her foot while indulging in a sociable game of football.

—The Indian River football team held their annual meeting on Saturday. The officers of last year were all appointed for another term, Mr. Arthur Fife, the genial captain, is prepared to meet any of the league teams and play a match.

—The bachelors held a most exciting meeting on Saturday evening last, the hall being filled to the door. Mr. Frank Devlin declared Andrew Quinlan elected president for the coming year, his salary not to exceed $589.89. Mr. T. Cavanagh was disqualified for the usual reason. The society notified John Sullivan as to his conduct of late, but it seems he has not been keeping in accordance with the rules. If he breaks the rules once more he shall be sentenced to three months' work on the railroad. John says: Eventually it is heavy, hard, laborious work, but all the folks are well. James Moher and Mr. Cummings were the only new members that had to ride the goat. Ladies are cordially invited to attend the next meeting on June 1st.

KEENE

The Sons of Rest numbered one hundred and five on Tuesday night. This was the best attended meeting since the club was organized. Monney Wale, the president, was present and opened the meeting with prayer at precisely eight o'clock. He then sounded the gavel and demanded the attention of the brethren. He then rose to his feet and apologized for his absence at the last meeting. He intimated that fighting of any kind was hard on the eyes and face, but I must admit that a rooster was the hardest opponent that I ever undertook to conquer. Fighting Archy laughed at him and told him that if he had any science at all about him a rooster would not knock him out so easy. Minney Wale told Archy to dry up and make no insinuations concerning his ability as a pugilist. Fighting Archy took his seat but told him he would see him later. Minney Wale then informed the brethren that the meeting was open for general business. Cockatoo Elliot rose and said that he had a charge to lay against Shiney Jim and Slick Lex for wheeling to Hastings on the Sabbath day in march of three young ladies. The president censured them for desecrating the Lord's day, and imposed a fine of fifty dollars each to be paid in one hour or three months in jail. They paid the fine and wheeled home wiser but sadder boys. Bobtail Pue laid a charge against Tom Decackey for chasing a woodchuck across a field of fall wheat. The president told Decackey that trespassing was strictly forbidden and he therefore would impose a fine of one hundred dollars to be paid in one day, or six months in jail at hard labor. The chances are that Decackey will go to jail, as he undoubtedly is a lover of hard work. Poney Moore laid a charge against Floridale Dixon for leading a bike on one side of him and a young lady on the other side. The president fined Floridale sixty dollars to be paid at once or there would be further trouble. Positive Legget laid a charge against Poney Moore for not being present to dig a grave. The president fined Poney five dollars, with a warning to pay better attention to business in the future. Tea-merchant Kennealey laid a charge against Roadmaker Doris for disturbing Teamster Lynch while engaged in prayer. Minney Wale fined Doris six hundred dollars to be paid when the council meets. Teamster Spiers laid a charge against Montgomery McCarthy for setting fire to a wagon containing hay, chop, dry goods and a pipe. The president fined Montgomery two hundred dollars to be paid in ten days or two months in jail. Ted Mulcahey laid a charge against Tea-merchant Kennealey for throwing a box of onions on the roadside. The president fined him thirty dollars to be cash down. Jackplane Taylor laid a charge against Shorty Lukes for carrying taffy in his coat pocket. The president fined Shorty fifty cents and told him that he did not object to him eating taffy but he would not allow him to carry it in his pocket. Wolf Howson now rose and moved that the meeting be closed. The president then asked Cockatoo Elliott and Floridale Dixon to sing the closing ode. Their singing was much appreciated. The meeting was then closed until next Tuesday night.

ENGLAND'S LOST LAND.

The Melting Coasts Getting to Be a Serious Question.

Dr. Andrew Wilson writes: "Year by year the subject of the lost land of Britain grows in importance. If, as the geologists tell us, we lose annually a mass of land equal to Gibraltar, it may be an easy matter to calculate the period it will take well nigh to annihilate certain areas of our country. We are told that on our east coast alone there is swept away every year a land mass equal to the island of Helgoland. The rate at which erosion takes place depends on the nature of the materials on which the waves wreak their force and vengeance. When the materials consist of soft clay, gravel and chalk the rate of sea inroad is very rapid. Where we find hard rocks the rate of wear and tear is appreciably lessened. The sea, moreover, in dealing with even hard rocks has a very distinct plan of invasion. It will undermine a cliff, for example. It will use the detached bowlders as a kind of marine artillery, the waves seizing them and hurling them against the rocks. The undermined cliff topples over and falls, and the waves play around the detached mass until it is worn away. Sometimes the attack assumes a different guise. The waves beat against a cliff and tunnel it through, leaving thus a natural archway such as the locality around Torquay illustrates very aptly. Then in time the top of the arch falls in, and the outer side appears as the lone sea stack or pillar. This in due season is also worn down by degrees until it appears as the tangle covered rock over which the waves are ever breaking.

"To be convinced of the immense loss of land for which the sea is responsible one has only to consult geological works and ordnance survey records. Take the case of Yorkshire, for example. Professor Phillips said that the rate at which the cliffs recede from Bridlington to Spurn, a distance of thirty-six miles, equals on an average two yards and a quarter yearly. Estimated for thirty-six miles of coast, the total amount of loss is about thirty acres. Further calculated, the loss since the Norman conquest amounts to one mile in breadth and more than two miles since York, the old Eboracum, was occupied by the Romans.

"In old Yorkshire maps there are sites of towns marked as Auburn, Hartburn and Hyde. Today these sites are represented by sand banks. Near Hornsea there was a street called Hornsea Beck, which has long ago been swallowed up. Ravenspur, or Ravensburgh, a rival as a port to Hull, was well known in 1332, for Edward Baliol and the English barons sailed from it to invade Scotland. In 1399 Henry IV. landed here to adjust matters with Richard II. Now not a trace of Ravenspur remains."

Waiting For Him.

A new vicar was being shown round the parish by his warden.

"The natives are a hardy lot, sir," he said, "but you haven't seen Peter Sparks—he's the quaintest character in these parts."

This individual turned out to be the sexton, and he was discovered ringing the church bell.

"Is not this bell-ringing almost too much for you, my friend?" asked the vicar, sympathetically, noting the bent figure of the old man. "You must be a great age?"

"Yessir, yessir," mumbled the old fellow. "Ow many years I've tolled the bell I can't tell ye, but it's beginning to tell on me. 'Owsoever, I've tolled the bell for five vicars."

"Dear me!" ejaculated the clergyman, uncomfortably.

"And," continued the sexton, "I'll be happy when I've made up the 'alf dozen. I think I'll retire then!"—Glasgow Herald.

Wall Paper Blisters.

If a blister is found in wall paper after it is hung take a penknife, carefully cut the slit, then dip a small camel's hair brush in a little paste and paste the cut surface down. Go over the spot lightly with a small hammer, and when the paste is dry the blisters will have disappeared, and the doctoring of the spot will not be suspected. This is the way that professional paper hangers treat blisters in lightweight and light colored papers. If very heavy, embossed or dark colored plain papers were used a different treatment would be necessary.

An Old Claim is Brought to Light

Ottawa, May 22—In the midst of all the immigration talk the House has had during the past six weeks, the members yesterday got a glimpse of the first attempt at colonizing the West made nearly a hundred years ago by Thomas, Lord Selkirk.

The matter came up in the form of a resolution from G. E. McCreary, the Saskatchewan Liberal, to have the papers relating to the claim of the retired servants of the Hudson's Bay Company and their descendants brought down. The claim is not a new one, and has been considered periodically since Confederation, but a new deed which has turned up now gives the claim more credibility. Mr. McCreary in his explanation traced the history of the claim.

In 1811, when Lord Selkirk undertook to establish a British agricultural colony on the banks of the Red River, the Hudson's Bay Co. deeded to him 74,555,000 acres of land, stipulating, however, that one-tenth should be open for the use of retired Hudson's Bay servants who might desire to desert the adventurous and hazardous life of traders, trappers, and voyageurs for the simple pioneer life. Lord Selkirk died in 1820, and his executors administered the colony until 1826, when Governor George Simpson took charge. In 1836 the colony was finally abandoned as a failure and the people took refuge in Canada, while the Hudson's Bay Co. came again into possession of the land. They held it until 1869, when the Dominion Government bought out their interest.

"The Dominion Government," argued Mr. McCreary, "only took such title as the Hudson's Bay Company could give them, and therefore are bound to recognize the claims of these retired servants and their descendants. I urge upon the Government the necessity of investigating the claims."

"There is no objection whatever to bringing down all the papers in the archives of the Dominion relating to these claims," said Sir Wilfrid Laurier. "The Government has considered the claim, and has not been able to come to the conclusion that we are in any way responsible. None of the other Governments of Canada were able to recognize the responsibility of the country in this claim."

It was Mr. George O. Ahearn of Prince Edward County who drew attention to the new document. He had heard of it, and said that it might place a different face upon the claim. The Government was not aware of its existence.

The motion to bring down all the documents passed without dissent.

THE EMPIRE OF BRITAIN

THE CANADIAN DOMINION FORMS ITS LARGEST UNIT.

The Census of the Whole Region Over Which the Union Jack Flies Shows That It Has Over a Fifth of the Earth's Surface and a Fourth of Its Population—Romance of Its Rapid Expansion.

The task undertaken at the suggestion of Mr. Chamberlain, when Secretary of State for the Colonies, has at last been completed and issued by the British Local Government Board in a blue book entitled "Census of the British Empire." Figures have been gathered from every quarter—from the immense Dominion of Canada and the unthinkable immensity of the Indian Empire, with its 147 distinct vernacular languages, to the miniature Falkland Islands, with their 2,253 inhabitants. The result is a demonstration that the British flag now flies over one-fifth of the earth's surface, and protects over 400,000,000 people.

Rapid British Expansion.

Here is the romantic story of British expansion as summarized from the report:

At the time of the census of 1861 the Empire comprised, in round numbers, 8,500,000 square miles; in the next two decennia no important territorial additions took place, but between 1881 and 1891 the extensions in the East Indies and in our Indian dependency, and the great annexations of territory in South, East and Central Africa, added about two millions of square miles; since 1891 further expansions have occurred, principally in Africa and in Asia, raising the grand total, as near as can be ascertained, to 11,908,378 square miles; thus, in the short space of 40 years the aggregate area of our colonies, dependencies and protectorates has increased by about 40 per cent., and now amounts to more than one-fifth of the land surface of the globe.

Of this huge territory, somewhat more than four million square miles are situated in North, Central and South America; 3,000,000 in Australasia; 2,500,000 in Africa, and nearly two millions in the Indian Empire and other parts of Asia, while the portion that lies in Europe constitutes a very inconsiderable fraction of the whole, amounting to only 125,095 square miles, of which 121,059 constitute the area of the United Kingdom.

How Population Leaped.

At the same time the population has leaped up by tens of millions. Whereas in 1861, inclusive of the Indian feudatory states, it amounted to about 259 millions, it progressed, in round figures, in subsequent periods, as follows:

| Year. | Population. |
|---|---|
| 1871 | 283,000,000 |
| 1881 | 310,000,000 |
| 1891 | 381,000,000 |
| 1901 | 400,000,000 |

In Asia there were more than 300,000,000, in Africa about 42,000,000, in North America 7,500,000, in Australasia more than 5,000,000, in our Mediterranean possessions nearly 500,000, and in the islands in the British seas 150,000, while the remaining 41,700,000 were enumerated within the limits of the United Kingdom.

Decline of the Birth Rate.

It is admittedly no easy task to estimate the increase from decennium to decennium, because in some earlier years the enumeration, even in India, was not very complete. Of late his Majesty's subjects have been decimated by famine and plague. But if this disturbing factor is eliminated by excluding the data from calculation it still appears that the population of the remainder of the Empire did not advance anything like as rapidly in the final ten years of the last century as in the three previous decennia. The figures are:

| Intercensal Period. | Increase per cent. of population in the British Empire, excluding India. Total. | By Added Territory. | By Actual Increase. |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1861-71 | 11.9 | 0.1 | 11.8 |
| 1871-81 | 15.2 | 0.8 | 14.5 |
| 1881-91 | 81.7 | *70.7 | 11.6 |
| 1891-1901 | 13.7 | 5.1 | 8.6 |

*Mainly due to the acquisition of Nigeria, East Africa protectorate, Uganda, British Central Africa, Rhodesia, etc.

Rate of Increase.

From the foregoing statement it will be seen that, excluding India, the rate of actual increase in the Empire, which had been 14.8 per cent. between 1861 and 1871, rose to 14.5 per cent. between 1871 and 1881, and then fell to 11.6 and 8.6 per cent. respectively in the next two decennia. The decline in the rate of actual increase is therefore not confined to the Indian Empire. The report states that "a large factor connected with this fall in the increase of the population is the continued depression of the birth rate, which has now become general in nearly all countries in Australasia, and especially in South Australia, in Victoria and in New South Wales (where the matter has recently been reported upon by a royal commission) the fall in the birthrate is remarkable."

Crowding and Underpopulation.

In some respects the Empire presents extraordinary inequalities. In the United Kingdom, though one may travel in some parts of the country for hours on end and see wild stretches of moorland, and great areas of pasture land, dotted only sparsely with hamlets, the population is unhappily very dense, while in Australia and Canada there is something approximating a mile for each inhabitant. The figures are so remarkable, in spite of all the emigration which has been in progress for years past, that they merit quotation. They show the average number of persons per square mile.

| British Empire | 33.5 |
| United Kingdom | 342.4 |
| Isle of Man and Channel Islands | 496.3 |

| In Asia | 161.7 |

| South America | 2.7 |

| Other possessions | 5.0 |

The Superfluous Woman.

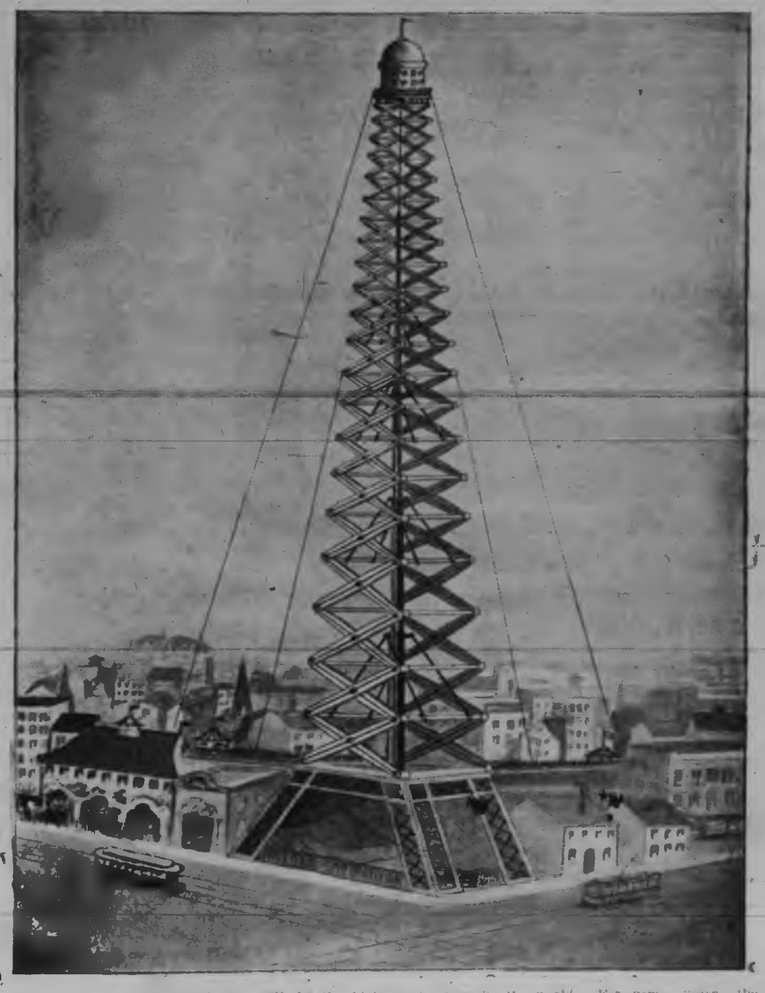
The compilers of the "Census" somewhat dispassionately point out that "in larger and more populous colonies, the reverse is the case." Apparently the white woman prefers comfort and civilization to the toil and trouble of life in a new country. It is here that the growth of population is mainly due to European countries, with few exceptions, the females outnumber the males; such is the case in the United Kingdom and in several of the colonies; but in the excess of immigration, and here also the male sex predominates to the greatest degree. Thus, the four colonies with the highest proportion of males are Western Australia, Straits Settlement, Federated Malay States and Hong Kong.

But whether civilized or uncivilized, women are the bane of census compilers, as far as revealing their age is concerned. The authors of the "Census" here remark: "The wilful misstatement of age has caused us many embarrassments." Evidently the Irish woman tells the truth, for here, out of every 1,000 of population, there are sixty-four men and sixty-three women of 65 years of age or upward, while in England and Wales the figures are forty-two and fifty-one, respectively; in Scotland forty-one and fifty-six, at Cape Colony twenty-eight and thirty, fifty-one for both sexes in Newfoundland and Labrador forty-nine and forty-three, and in Queensland twenty-nine and twenty-two.



This moving tower, which completed, will be the highest structure in the world. For some years the Eiffel Tower in Paris, has had the distinction of being the highest, but this gigantic tower reaching up to the enormous height of 1250 feet, surpasses it by 365 feet. You do not climb steps to attain this height, nor are you carried up by separate elevator, but you will be comfortably seated in the observatory at the top, when the whole structure is gradually raised from the earth to 1250 feet in mid air. And again the whole structure gradually lets down, and you have been carried the distance of one-half mile, a quarter of a mile going up, and a quarter of a mile coming down. Nothing will be more popular than a ride up in this tower, search lights will be used at night from the observatory at the top, and when brilliantly illuminated by electricity, forms an enchanting spectacle. This will not be the eighth wonder of the world, but the first eclipsing the seven, that have borne that distinction for so many centuries. Here is one of the greatest money makers that can be found. The profits derived from this source alone should be immense, and by investing in the Fleming Aerial Ladder you will participate in all these great enterprises. A machine is now on exhibition at our offices, 52 Yonge Street Arcade, Toronto, Canada, and we would be pleased to have you call and inspect it.

MAN WHO INVENTED MAUVE.

Jubilee of the Color Much Affected by Queen Alexandra Celebrated.

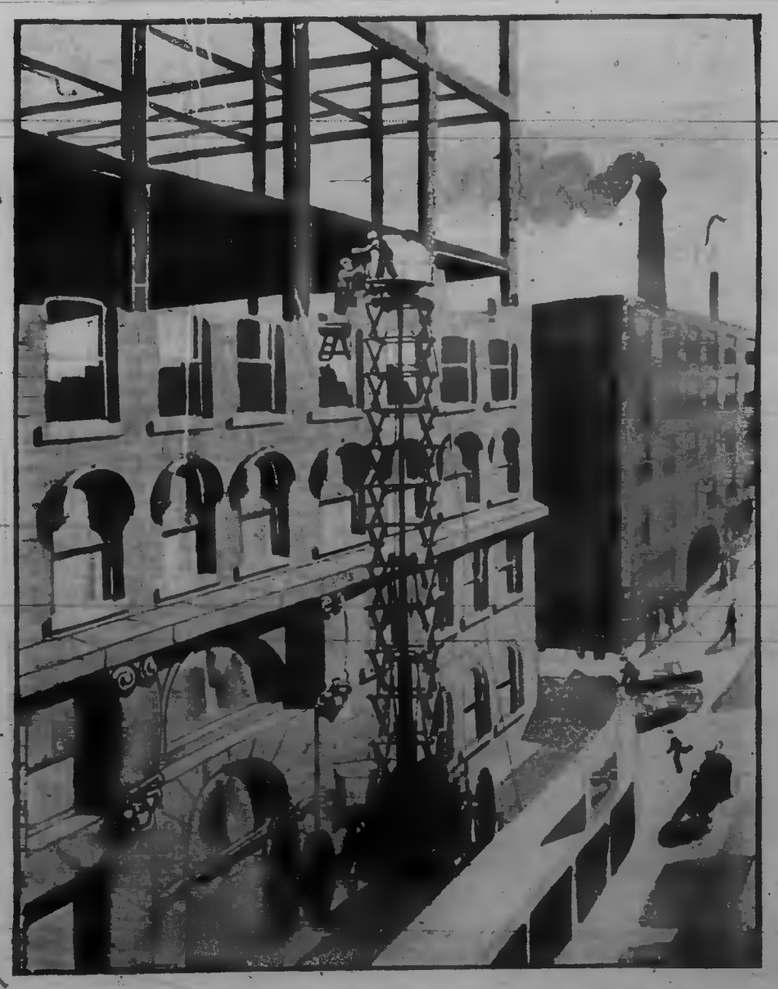
The jubilee of the remarkable discovery of mauve, the popular color which has been revived over and over again in the world of fashion in the last half century, and which always has remained the favorite color of Queen Alexandra, fell due in March, and was celebrated in a fitting manner. But probably few know how the public color was discovered.

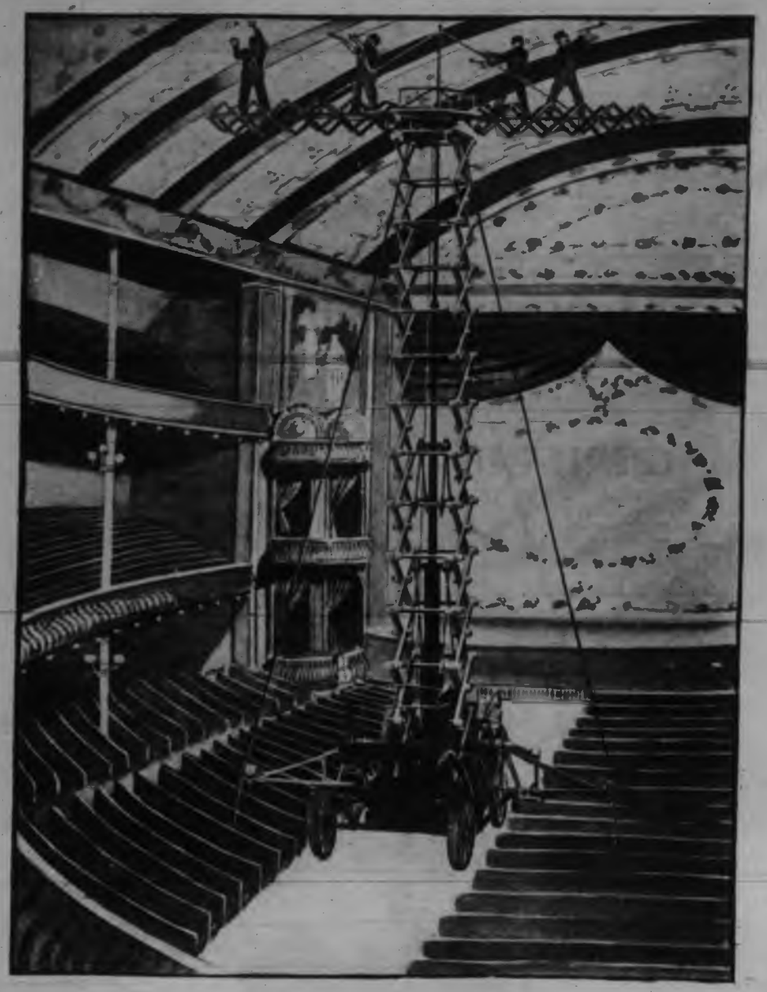
When 18 years old, Dr. W. H. Perkin, assistant to Prof. A. Hoffman, who had charge of the Royal College of Chemistry, spent all his evening in research work in a laboratory which he had fitted up in the house of his father, set up a plant near Harrow for the manufacture of aniline dyes. After eight or nine years he abandoned business and devoted himself to chemical research, but already he had laid the foundations of the many and great industries which have grown out of the utilization of coal tar.

At a gathering of Perkin's many commercial and scientific friends at the mansion house the other day it was discussed what form the memorial to his discovery should take. It was suggested that a Perkin research fund should be founded in his honor, and that a portrait in oils and a marble bust of Perkin should be made.

This is a view of the Fleming Aerial Ladder, when extended, showing position at work with seven men on platform to work on. It can be lowered and raised as they desire. Here is the means of getting rich with little or no exertion, for every dollar you invest in this ladder will reward you handsomely, so do not delay. Buy your shares now before they rise in price, as a short time hence you may have to pay double for the same shares. Rather reap the dividends from a successful enterprise than reap the regrets of a lost opportunity.



This is a view of the Fleming Aerial Ladder, when used as a hoist for raising building material or for any other uses. Everything goes to show that the Fleming Aerial Ladder is a valuable investment, and a highly profitable business project, and there is not a doubt but what every dollar invested should double itself in a short time.



This is a view showing how the Fleming Aerial Ladder, standing in the middle of an auditorium, will enable men to paint and decorate ceilings. A safer and surer investment is hard to find, for any way the Fleming Aerial Ladder is utilized, it is bound to bring large profits, no anxiety as to its prospects, you see for yourself in these illustrations, that each and every way it is used, fortunes can be made, and every share you buy is sure to pay you handsome dividends.

The jubilee of the remarkable discovery of mauve, the popular color, which has been revived over and over again in the world of fashion in the last half century, and which always has remained the favorite color of Queen Alexandra, fell due in March, and was celebrated in a fitting manner. But probably few know how the popular color was discovered.

When 18 years old, Dr. W. H. Perkin, assistant to Prof. A. Hoffman, who had charge of the Royal College of Chemistry, spent all his evenings in research work. One day a professor suggested he should try to produce quinine by artificial means. The experiment failed, and the lad was preparing to make another attempt, when on the side of the glass vessel he saw a wonderful new color, a shade of purple never fixed before. It was mauve.

Perkin patented the process, and, with his father, set up a plant near Harrow for the manufacture of aniline dyes. After eighteen years he abandoned business and devoted himself to chemical research, but already he had laid the foundations of the many and great industries which have grown out of the utilisation of coal tar.

At a gathering of Perkin's many commercial and scientific friends at the mansion house the other day it was discussed what form the memorial to his discovery should take. It was suggested that a Perkin research fund should be founded in his honor, and that a portrait in oils and a marble bust of Perkin should be made.

SPOILER OF THE POOR.

Prison Gates Shut on Gaynor and Greene But Open to Notorious Swindler, Jabez S. Balfour.

Prison gates clanged behind Gaynor and Greene at the same time that they opened in another part of the world to set free again Jabez Spencer Balfour, one of the most successful and notorious of the swindlers in all history. Sentenced to fourteen years' penal servitude in 1895, he has had the term shortened by good behavior. It is pretty generally understood that Balfour will not have to go to the workhouse. Of the millions of pounds that he stole he had a large portion with him when he fled to the Argentine Republic, and it is supposed to be there invested to this day. But Balfour is getting along in years, and prison rules are not calculated to prolong life.

Balfour, Hooley and Wright.

At the time of Balfour's arrest and conviction no comment in the press was more common than (to specified) that his case would be a warning to others. It was predicted that Balfour was something like a freak of nature, that another such could never prey upon the savings of the nation. And there was much solemn congratulation on this point. In the years that have elapsed many other prophesies have been made, but none has been more completely falsified. Balfour was merely the first of a tribe. By Hooley he was outdone, and Hooley in his turn was distanced by Whittaker Wright. In fifteen years London has developed three swindlers whose combined defalcations would probably exceed $100,000,000, to say nothing of the smaller rogues who steal ease and comfort at the expense of the toil of others. Yet English investors are the shrewdest in the world, and England's company laws the strictest. The result is that the English swindler has to be a genius.

A Famous Hypocrite.

But no rascal on a grand scale has ever been so bitterly hated and attacked as Balfour. He was a hypocrite, and he preyed upon the poor. In this sentence is the explanation to the fury that his misdeeds provoked. Had he been frankly a promoter without pretentions to religious faith, like Hooley, and had his victims been people who could, in a sense, afford to lose, his punishment would have been lighter and his crimes more quickly forgotten. But Balfour used the church to help him to rob the widows and the orphans, and for him there is no forgiveness. Religion, too, received a blow in his downfall, for one of his chief accomplices was a minister, even if his degree did come from an obscure college in the United States. His father was a missionary, and his father's friend, after whom he was named, was a preacher.

The Balfours and the Burns'.

Jabez Spencer Balfour was born in 1843. His father, "Little Jimmy Balfour," was a man of versatile gifts. Originally the proprietor of a rag, bone and bottle shop in Chelsea, he was also a missionary, and a messenger in the House of Commons. The Balfour family were living in rooms over the bone emporium when, by chance, they made the acquaintance of a man who was to bulk so large in the career of their son. This was Rev. Jabez Burns, noted locally as a dissenting exhorter and the proprietor of a weekly pamphlet. To this publication Mrs. Balfour contributed a few essays, and thus came to know the editor. The friendship became strong, and soon the family moved from Chelsea to be near the Burns' chapel. The naming of young Balfour in honor of Rev. Jabez Burns was another tribute. Later on the marriage of his sister to Rev. Dawson Burns forged a link in the chain. For some years the whole energies of both families seemed to be devoted to religious propaganda, and James Balfour and the Burns' became quite prominent in the work.

Jabez, the Proper Youth.

At the time of Jabez Balfour's prosperity and fame his biographical notices stated that he had been educated abroad. As a matter of fact he was educated in Chelsea, and was sent to work at an early age. His father got him a job as office boy with a firm of Parliamentary agents, and in due time he became a clerk. He was a dutiful son, and soon became as prominent in religious circles of his neighborhood as his father. He seemed a youth of promise—strictly moral, bright, unctuous, a master of detail, and ambitious. In business he made many friends that proved useful to him later on, and among Nonconformists his acquaintance became large. He was 25 years old when he set up in business for himself, and launched the Liberator Building Society, the first of the Liberator group of companies that was to swallow up $30,000,000 of hard-earned British gold.

The Philanthropic Millionaire.

Without going into the details of the company's work, it is sufficient to say that it was supposed to be a semi-philanthropic undertaking, and that Balfour posed as a high-minded young business man, whose heart was wrapped up in the project, and who was content to take a merely nominal salary on that account. The building society prospered from the first, and, striking while the iron was hot, Balfour launched a half-dozen more companies. Assisted by his ministerial friends, he literally ransacked the coffers of Nonconformist England for investors. So successful was his hypocrisy, so strong his business instinct, that the properties grew by leaps and bounds. Balfour was hailed as a financial genius. He became a member of Parliament, and an authority on business questions. He even aspired to the Postmaster-Generalship, and was aggrieved when Mr. Gladstone passed him by. He blossomed forth as a millionaire, bought a great country place, headed every Nonconformist charity. Then one day he packed several trunks and fled to the Argentine Republic. The time had come when the loans of people had to be repaid, and there were practically no funds. It took three years to get Balfour back to England, for there was no extradition treaty with the republic. In 1895 he was sentenced, and several confederates with him. In many another country he would have been lynched, for it was pennies of the poor that made a millionaire of Jabez Spencer Balfour, ex-M. P. for Burnley, the most successful of modern hypocrites.

Cheese Board Met On Wednesday

1,373 Boxes Were Sold at From 11.7-8c. to 11.3-8c. Per Pound.

Considerable interest was taken in yesterday's meeting of the Cheese Board, it being the first of the season; consequently there was a large attendance.

1371 boxes were sold on the Board. Mr. Gillespie, representing Dobson Bros., of Montreal, secured 591 boxes at 11 5-8 cents and the remainder went to Mr. Kerr at 11 3-8 cents.

The president of the Board, Mr. T. D. Young, presided.

Mr. Young predicted a most successful season. A greater percentage of the cheese registered was sold on the board in Peterboro than on any other board in the province. The buyers, he was sure, were honest men and would act fairly if they were treated in a similar manner. Mr. Young emphasized the importance of selling all cheese on the board as it gave the buyers an opportunity to buy fairly.

The following was the boarding of cheese.

The buyers present were Messrs. Jones, Kerr, Gillespie, Cook, Whitten, Brenton, Grant, Wrighton and Morton.

Mr. Whitton opened the bidding by an offer of 11. After Messrs. Kerr, Gillespie, and Jones, had successively raised his price, Mr. Gillespie capped the climax by a bid of 11 5-8 cents.

On the first selection of 11 5-8c., Mr. Gillespie secured Keene, at 85; Central Smith, 60; Villiers, 45; Westwood, 100; Lakefield, 40; Beresford, 60; Fleetwood, 70, and Buckhorn, 60. Total, 500.

HOW TO MANAGE WILLIE.

"Don't!" Said His Mother, and at Once He Posed For His Picture.

With a joyous smile the photographer bowed his customers out.

"Come again," he urged.

"Thank you," humbly murmured the father of little Willie, who had just been taken.

Father's presence had been dispensed with during that operation on the ground that he was too upsetting. Still he had been there the first five minutes of the attempt, and he was decidedly skeptical of the photographer's really going to repeat the experience.

But he was grateful for the blandness of the farewell and turned a relieved countenance toward his wife. She seemed singularly calm after what she must have been through.

"Do you think he got him?" he whispered, indicating Willie.

"Oh, yes," nonchalantly. "Awfully cunning pose too. He was holding a tin steamboat."

"How in the world did you do it?"

"Oh," with an easy smile, "Willie happened to pick up the steamboat himself, and the photographer said to me, 'You couldn't make him hold that, could you?' and I said: 'Certainly. Do you want him to hold it?' and he said he did. So I turned to Willie, and I said 'Why, Willie, don't you know you mustn't have that steamboat?'"

"Well?" inquired Willie's father.

"Why," remarked his wife, "of course Willie hung on to the steamboat like grim death then."—New York Sun.

Too Far Away.

There is a sign nailed against a Deadwood thirst parlor so that he who runs may read that it is "five miles to the next saloon." A short time ago the colored porter of a rival sample room down the street borrowed a beer pump from his competitor with the misleading sign, but did not return it according to agreement.

Becoming impatient one morning and seeing the colored porter standing in the doorway of his saloon, the owner of the loaned article yelled in a loud voice, "Why in thunder don't you return that beer pump?"

After a little hesitation the porter replied, "If you're talking to me I can't hear you, because you are five miles away."—Lippincott's Magazine.

Tried to Do His Duty.

"Remember you have sworn to tell the whole truth," said the lawyer fiercely.

"Here goes, then. You are an impertinent, incompetent, overbearing"—

At this point the lawyer appealed to the court.

"Well," resumed the witness, smarting under judicial rebuke, "the whole truth is considerable, and I began in the hindmost place."—Philadelphia Ledger.

Annoying.

Mr. Gardner—Well, dear, how are the tomatoes you planted?

Mrs. Gardner—Oh, John!, I'm afraid we'll have to buy what we need this year.

Mr. Gardner — Why, how's that, Mary?

Mrs. Gardner — I recollected today that when I did the planting I forgot to open the cans!—Puck.

The Aftermath.

"Talking of that banquet last night," said Holmes, "I suppose you heard some fine language."

"Yes," replied Lushman; "I heard some fine language this morning that affected me very much."

"This morning?"

"Yes. It was, 'Ten dollars and costs.'"—Philadelphia Press.

A Satisfactory Condition.

"My invention will increase your income by millions," said the mechanical genius.

"I don't want my income increased," answered Mr. Dustin Stax. "It is exactly right as it is, big enough to buy everything I want and small enough to keep grand juries from being inquisitive."—Washington Star.

Amateur Dramatics.

Dora—How is it the play you gave was not so well attended as the one you gave awhile ago?

Dolly—Well, you see, we went around and sold tickets to all our friends for the first performance, and—er—after that we had no friends. Judge.

Hewitt—I understand that you said that I was the biggest liar that you ever met.

Jewett—Well, you must remember that I never knew Ananias.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

Then They Eloped.

He—Come, fly with me, dearest. But I trust your father won't catch us.

She—It's perfectly safe. Father flew into a lighted candle last night and singed both his wings off.

At the Bargain Sale.

"See," said his wife proudly, "I saved 39 cents by coming here today."

"Yes," growled her husband, "and I lost $5 worth of time coming with you."—Detroit Tribune.

In ordinary chemical analysis the one hundred and twentieth of a grain approaches very nearly the lowest limit of practical determination. ## THE USUAL FRIEND.

He comes to see me nearly every day,
Strolls in my room in quite a casual way,
Sits in my easy chair, takes a cigar,
Calls for a drink, as if I tended bar,
Gives me some good advice I don't require,
Gossips for hours and never seems to tire,
Makes me neglect my work and take a walk,
Still rattling on with stupid, vapid talk,
Proposes dinner, goes to a cafe
And never has the wherewithal to pay,
Apologizing—making matters worse—
He's very sorry, he forgot his purse!
Ready to borrow, never wants to lend—
He's what you call a "darned good natured friend."

The other day two good looking old ladies entered a prominent bank. One of them wanted a check cashed.

"But," said the cashier, "I don't know you. You'll have to get some one to identify you."

"My friend here will identify me," said the lady.

"But I don't know your friend," said the cashier.

"Well," said the lady, with a withering smile, "I'll introduce you."—Judge's Magazine of Fun.

A Close Shave.

A little girl asked her mother if there were any men in heaven.

"Mamma," she said, "I never saw a picture of an angel with a beard or a mustache. Do men ever go to heaven?"

"Oh, yes," replied her mother; "men go to heaven, but it's always by a close shave."—Philadelphia Ledger.

Woodeny.

"George, you may boast as much as you like about your mother's cooking, but that last piece of cake she gave me tasted like wood. She didn't use any recipe for that, did she?"

"No. Mother always made her cake out of her own head."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The Modern Father.

"When I was your age, Tommy, I had no mother and father. Strangers took care of me, and they beat me and didn't always give me plenty to eat."

"But now you've got it nice with us," his son replied, "and mamma gives you to eat three times a day."—Judge.

The Wrong Tack.

"But," argued the young man, "you know that two can live on what it costs to support one."

"That settles your case," growled her father. "Nobody fool enough to accept that statement could ever earn a living for one."—Philadelphia Press.

Always Busy.

Kind Lady—But why do you beg? Can't you earn a living?

The Hobo—I dunno, ma'am.

Kind Lady—You don't know!

Hobo—No, ma'am. It keeps me so busy beggin' dat I ain't got no time to try. See?—Baltimore Sun.

A Sense of Humor.

Patrice—That's just the trouble. Blue is so awfully unbecoming to me.—Yonkers Statesman.

This cut shows how the Fleming Aerial ladder will look out of action, ready to be hoisted, and the construction of the same from a side view. It will be noticed that the arms are collapsible, and they can be made any length to go any desired height. In the centre of the machine there are telescope wedges which are supplied with compressed air from a tank in the rear of the machine. There are four worm-screws underneath that are turned by a crank to lock the machine and assist it in raising. The top will revolve in any direction. It will be 7 x 9 in size for men to stand on. It will have an extension bridge on both ends that can be thrown out 40 feet. The men mount on the top platform, and are carried up with hose, and all apparatus ready for action. To invest in necessities is the sure way to get rich. This is an old saying and a true one. The Fleming Aerial Ladder is a necessity and it is almost impossible to find a more profitable investment.

THE FLEMING AERIAL LADDER

One of the greatest inventions ever conceived by man is the Fleming Aerial Ladder. It is a remarkable improvement on aerial ladders and lifts, and is the only one of its kind known in the world today that promises to accomplish so much and be of such universal benefit in ascensions to any desired height in fighting fires, rescuing life, carrying weights and generally of supreme utility. It has been found, through the patent offices of different countries, that inventors have been working and experimenting since 1840, and millions of dollars have been spent trying to perfect what has now been accomplished. The machine is constructed with expansible standards, composed of sides, formed by a series of cross bars pivotally connected together at their point of intersection, connecting bars between the ends of the crossbars and means of adjusting the height of the standard. A platform at the top of the standard for carrying up any load required. The power for lifting is compressed air, of fluid of any kind, stored in the tank and forced into the telescopes, which force up the top platform and opens up the expansible arms. Four worm-screws work in conjunction with the compressed air at the bottom, and as it ascends upwards these worm-screws lock and hold the ladder where desired.

The platform at the top revolves and can be turned in any direction, with two expansible rolling platforms that can be extended out 40 feet on each side if desired, making a revolving bridge. When the machine stands in the middle of the street with the bridges extended communication can be had between the buildings on both sides of the street. The bottom is so constructed that the machine can be levelled in an instant upon arriving at place required.

Two of the strongest and cheapest known powers are used to elevate to any desired height, compressed air and worm-screws.

This machine is capable of ascending at the rate of 40 feet per second, but so constructed as to go quickly or slowly as desired, it being under perfect control at all times, one man being able to raise or lower it without any exertion.

The illustrations to be seen in this paper show the usefulness and the great necessity there is in the world at the present day for this Aerial Ladder. It will be the means of saving money, time and labor, and also life. There are many other ways in which it may be used that we have not attempted to illustrate here, but its usefulness makes it a necessity in any and every civilized country. It is the ambition of the present generation, in all countries and continents, to attain a higher height than the other in observation towers and buildings. At present the Eiffel Tower in Paris, is the highest standing erection, being 985 feet. The Fleming Ladder is shown in the illustration at a height of 1250 feet.

This machine is so constructed and supported by guy-wires, that, as the machine ascends, the guy-wires are released to go with it, never losing their hold at any time, and the same thing occurs when the ladder descends, the wires work in conjunction with the worm-screws and can only travel and do their work according to the raising and lowering of the ladder, so at all heights the ladder is perfectly firm and absolutely safe.

The illustrations show the ladder in use from 70 feet in height up to 1250 feet. In the 1250 feet tower we will have an observatory with palm room and cafe, which will have a seating capacity for a large number of people, each person will be supplied with strong magnifying glasses. The observatory will be revolving, enabling people to see in all directions; at night it will serve as an illuminating tower, lighted with thousands of electric lights of all colors from top to bottom, and strong search lights shooting out from the four sides will enable a view for a great distance.

The machine exhibited at the Toronto Exhibition, September 1905, was commended by hundreds of firemen and thousands of people from all over the world. The history of this enterprise, giving an infinitely varied character of its uses, should be of unfailing interest to everybody.

If you are looking for a good investment, here is your opportunity; to invest in necessities is the sure way to get rich, and here is the article, the Fleming Aerial Ladder, that, once shown to the world, they cannot do without; so be a safe and sane investor and get as much of this stock as your means will allow. It will pay you a life income in handsome dividends, giving you an income for life better than a salary, Rather reap the dividends from a successful enterprise than reap the regrets of a lost opportunity.

Here is the opportunity to make money, a safer and surer investment cannot be found; the means of getting rich with little or no exertion, for every dollar you invest in this ladder will reward you handsomely, so, do not delay, buy your shares, now before they raise in price, as a short time hence you may have to pay double for the same shares.

WONDERFUL AERIAL LADDER.

One of the greatest inventions of the age is the large working model of the Fleming Aerial Ladder, on exhibition in the Implement Building. This device is far in advance of anything heretofore attempted, and the future for it is assured. Inventive genius has reached a remarkable state of perfection in this appliance, the ladder at once impressing one with its simplicity, completeness and perfection. This striking device is mounted on a wagon, and owing to its marvelous construction is much more portable than most of the fire-fighting appliances of today. On arriving at fire the firemen mount a circular platform eight by ten feet in diameter placed above the ladder, which, when folded, only reaches a few feet from the ground. They can be raised to a height of 150 feet in five seconds owing to the use of compressed air and a worm-screw, two of the most powerful forces known. As the platform rises it provides its own foundation by means of telescoping tubes and a folding frame work. From the platform two steel bridges can be thrown out, forming a complete suspension bridge, reaching from one side of the street to the other. The platform revolves and forms an ideal location from which to fight the flames. When occasion arises the whole may be covered with a fireproof asbestos tent, with loop holes, through which the fire-fighters may carry on their work. As fast as people are rescued they are allowed to cross the bridge or descend to the ground by means of rope ladders. The whole is of inestimable value in fighting flames or saving lives. The stock is selling fast at $10 per share, and can be obtained at the office, 52 Yonge Street Arcade.—The World, Sept. 5th, 1905.

A WONDERFUL AERIAL.

"That's really a wonderful thing," remarked Mayor Urquhart yesterday afternoon, after critically examining the Fleming Aerial Ladder exhibited by Mr. R. Fleming, in the Implement Building.

The News reporter arrived on the scene just as The Worship was inspecting the machine. The Mayor ascertained that the smaller size of this Aerial could be used to wash windows, pick fruit, paint the house or fix the eavestroughs. In its larger size it is the best thing ever invented for carrying hose and firemen and saving lives at a fire. The patented principle of the aerial is the ladder, which stands up in the air by the application of a single crank.—The News, Sept 6th, 1905.

FLEMING AERIAL LADDER.

"Whose idea?" queried an aged Chicago fire-fighter panning at the model of the Fleming Aerial Ladder in the Machinery Hall.

"A. W. Shaw," was the reply of Mr. Robert Fleming. The idea came to him while watching Toronto's twelve million dollar fire.

"Well, if it cost Toronto twelve millions to produce that idea it will save thousands of lives and millions of dollars of property. It's the best thing I ever saw."

Like all valuable inventions, the Fleming Aerial Ladder is simple in idea and operation. It consists merely of a twin replica in steel of the old extension hand ladder. It is a folding tower of steel with a platform from which the firemen work. From its station in the centre of the street the men on the top of the tower may operate extension bridges both ways to open up avenues of rescue for imperiled human beings, or to facilitate the work of fighting the flames. This tower may be erected 150 feet in five seconds, while the best aerial tower time for half the distance is nearly three minutes. The tower may also be put to many public commercial uses, as its high towers may be painted, chimneys built, observations taken, and wireless messages received.

The Canadian rights for the invention have been sold and a stock company formed for the manufacture of the aerial ladder in all its forms. Those who want to get in on the ground floor in this company should communicate with the Fleming Aerial Ladder Co. The model fire ladder, which has been critically examined during the Fair by hundreds of mechanical experts, was built by the Wells Pattern Co., of Richmond Street East. The practicability of the idea in any feature has never yet been successfully criticized.—Star, Sept. 6th, 1905.

A TRIUMPH OF INVENTION.

Of all the manifold products of inventive genius seen at the Fair, not one can have a brighter for more assured future than the Fleming Aerial Ladder, a large working model of which is to be seen in Implement Hall. This marvellous device consists of a wagon, bearing a huge extension ladder, the latter being surmounted by a circular platform. By pressing the button the firemen mount the ladder, and by the use of two powerful forces, are hoisted 150 feet in five seconds. From the circular platform two steel bridges may be extended, enabling a complete bridge from one side of the street to the other, a contrivance of incalculable value in fighting flames or saving life. The ladder may be placed to many other uses, which will at once suggest themselves. The stock of the Fleming Aerial Ladder Co., Limited, is now on the market at $10.00 per shares, and should be eagerly taken up as a safe and profitable investment.—Mail and Empire, 6th Sept., 1905.

HOISTED UP WITH SAFETY.

Nothing on the Fair grounds has attracted more attention than the aerial truck in the Agricultural Building. Builders, contractors, firemen and those who want to reach high places in safety should see the aerial truck.—Globe.

REAL FIRE-FIGHTING INVENTION.

"Why didn't you think of that before the big Toronto fire?" asked a visitor who inspected the Fleming Aerial Ladder in the Implement Building yesterday, and gave expression to wonder at such a remarkable invention. There is no limit to its utility. Shares in the Fleming Aerial Ladder Co., are having a ready sale at their offices, 52 Yonge Street Arcade. Buy now.—Globe, Sept. 6th.

A WONDERFUL AERIAL LADDER.

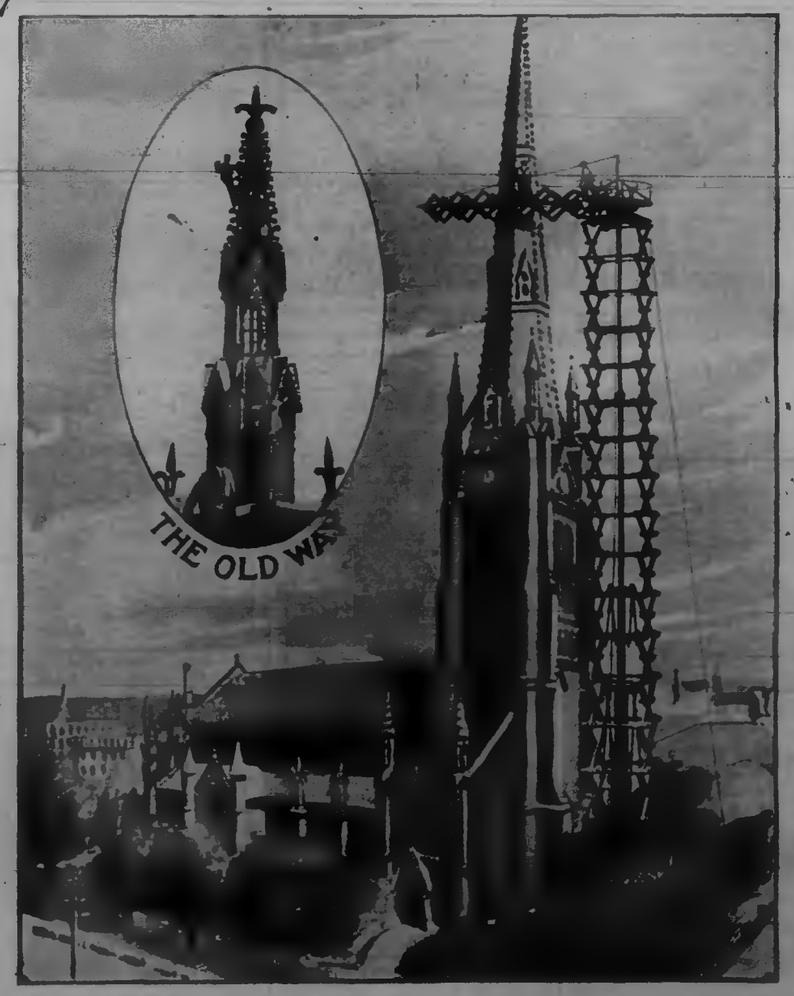
An invention which bids fair to revolutionize modern fire-fighting methods is the Fleming Aerial Ladder, a working model of which is shown in Implement Hall. Since the Fair opened the model has been inspected by Major Urquhart and a party of fire chiefs from the United States, and Canadian firemen and thousands of visitors, and it is a significant fact that not one of these has been able to point out a tangible objection or suggest an improvement. The ladder will not only be invaluable in fire-fighting and life-saving, but can be used as an observation tower, as a wireless telegraph station, or as a platform in painting high buildings and steeples. The Fleming Aerial Ladder Company's stock, just placed on the market, is being eagerly taken up by shrewd investors, who realize the opportunities for immense profits.—Mail, Sept. 7th, 1905.

See page six for Stock Coupon and further particulars.

This is a view showing how the Fleming Aerial Ladder will fight fire at fourteen stories, and also rescue people and lower them by wire ladders. There are always folded up underneath the platform, six of these wire ladders which can be dropped in an instant, also three cotton bag chutes that can be dropped, and put in use at any time an emergency arises. If you are looking for a good investment, here is the article, the Fleming Aerial Ladder, that once shown to the world, they cannot do without. So be a safe and sane investor, and get as much of this stock as your means will allow. It will pay you a life income in handsome dividends. For further information call at head office, 52 Yonge Street Arcade, Toronto. W. Kelsey Hall, Agent, Peterboro.

This is the greatest life saver and fire fighter in the world today, and is a necessity in every civilized country. A splendid opportunity is afforded every one to make money—by purchasing stock in the Fleming Aerial Ladder—as it promises to be one of the greatest money makers on the market today. $10.00 per share, and they are going fast, so be one of the fortunate ones, and secure as much of this stock as your means will allow.



This shows how the Fleming Aerial Ladder, extended, will enable the painting and repairing of church spires, and also shows the old way. Opportunity knocks but once, so not miss this one, for by investing your money in the Fleming Aerial Ladder, you are sure to reap large profits, as it can be used for so many purposes.

window. "Monsieur," she called, "I had quite forgot to speak of the indenture."

He drew it from his pocket and held it out to her.

"Such have to be conveyed, I make sure," she said, looking at it doubtfully. "Your delicacy, sir, forbade you to set me right. We shall have to sign and witness a deed and what not, I suppose."

"'Tis a plain indenture," said Brooke, peering.

She drew it away sharply. "Alas, we women know so little of business. I bethink me my father will wish to receipt to you for it."

"Mademoiselle"—

"Aye, but he will. At any rate, you would not be so ungallant as to have me blamed, sir? Will you not ride to Gladden Hall with me? 'Tis scarce a half league away."

"Mademoiselle!"

"Your father is in Williamsburg, mistress," ventured the exquisite. "I chanced to overhear him say this morning he would remain over at Colonel Byrd's until tomorrow."

Anne frowned. "I fear you did not hear aright, sir," she returned coldly.

"Mademoiselle will permit me to assist her?"

Then, with an enchanting smile, she opened the coach door and made room for the secretary beside her. "I await you, monsieur," she said, her eyes like fringed gentians. He bowed to her with a new light on his face, entered and closed the door.

"Home, Raphleigh!" she cried to the driver, and the heavy coach rolled away.

"Wintry," said the fop to himself, with a chuckle. "Methinks report does the lady wrong."

Jarrat meanwhile had been sitting in the skipper's dingy cabin, for Master Elves had now transferred responsibility to the ship's agent, his face properly smoothed to good fellowship over a noggin of rum from the locker. He had long ago cultivated a new affability with the master of the Two Sisters. Now he had an errand, though he was somewhat long in coming to the point.

"The Marquis de la Trouerie," he said finally and in a purely casual way as he smacked his lips. "It was nigh two months since that he died, if I remember."

The mariner took down his leg from the shelf and, turning it with a hairy thumb, pushed it across the board. The other looked at it closely and laid the book open before him. Incidentally he filled up the glasses. "Knew you aught of his affairs in this colony?" he queried.

One might have noticed that the eyes opposite narrowed perceptibly.

"Not I," answered the skipper. "I hold to my own helm."

"A close tongue," vouchsafed Jarrat, "makes a wide purse."

The drift of this succinct remark was not lost upon his companion, who discreetly kept his eyes upon his glass.

The speaker continued, dropping his voice and leaning on the table: "The marquis and I had somewhat of business together, although we never met. In fact, I made this voyage at his own request. Now, to be frank, the news of his death will not aid a mutual venture of ours here in Virginia, which, for my part, has gone too far for backing. Egods! A mortal pity to publish it!"

There were interest and speculation in the narrow eyes if nothing more. Something jingled. It may have been the visitor's sword knot or a hand in a pocket. The skipper was not deaf.

"The passengers?" he hazarded.

"They are off for the north today. Boston blab will not hurt me. 'Tis the gazettes here I care about. As for the factors, they are bent on business. Our young Virginia woodsack has gone to Pennsylvania. I'll risk him."

"There's the marquis' secretary."

Jarrat snapped his fingers. "He'll be cheap. I know the breed. A leaf lost from a log is no great matter," he continued slowly as though to himself. Again the jingle. The skipper cleared his throat.

Jarrat's hand slowly, very slowly, tore out the leaf, folded it and placed it in his pocketbook. Yellow disks passed across the table.

"I'll be keel hauled if I see your game," said the skipper.

The other smiled. "I'll be keel hauled if I see why you should," said he.

Brooke was scarce done twisting his lovelock when Jarrat cramped the wharf from the ship not from his bargain with the skipper. He made inquiries concerning a young gentleman dressed in gray and by good luck hit upon an apprentice lad who told him he had carried the young gentleman's chest to the Swan tavern, at which he had been directed to bespeak supper and lodging.

CHAPTER IV.

FOR some time the two in the coach rode in silence. The way, when they had left the clustered shipping of the town behind them, wound along the reed rimmed bank of the river where plethoric crows cawed to their mates. The afternoon had come with a vivid sky burning to a char on the horizon. The young secretary gazed out of the open window, and through it the wind came, sweet with the clean smell of dry grass. Anne stole a side glance from under drooping lids.

"You are deeply occupied, monsieur," she said at length, with a lurking thread of sarcasm. "I should not marvel since all Virginia lies just outside."

He threw her a smile that softened his clean cut mouth and lightened his eyes. "All Virginia is not outside the window—for me, mademoiselle."

With a woman it is the new sensation which captivates. Mistress Tillotson had been used enough to pretty speeches. The beaus of half Virginia had recited quatrains to her fan. Here was an unaccustomed subtlety.

"Yet your eyes were there," she rejoined. "Had your thought fled still farther? Overseas, mayhap?"

He met her look full eyed. "Shall I tell you of what I was thinking? I have seen many fair ladies in my own land, gracious and kind belike, but few whose charity could reach to an object so far beneath them as a bondwoman; fewer yet whose graciousness would lend them to ask for pardon from a stranger—like me."

"I," she answered more lightly, "was thinking of how the frost has set the woods afire. Saw you ever such copper reds and russet golds? And those wedges of pink rock—they have the look of raspberries crushed in curdled milk. God is spendthrift of his hues."

The country through which they passed was hung with the marvelous colors which a Virginian autumn lavishes so prodigally. There were the maroon of the wild rose stalk, the ripe brown seams of butternut bark and the shifting tints the sun lends the frosted alder, the gray lichen and bronze fir splotched with scarlet creeper and stippled mosses like saffron butterflies. Here and there showed the splash of a bluebird's wing or the vermilion crest of a kingfisher.

"It is very fair," he said, "as it should be."

Again a silence fell, while the road swung across forest stretches, under springing roofs through which the sky swam in dazzles.

At last she spoke demurely:

"And of what else were you thinking, monsieur?"

Diamonds and Diamond Mining

It would be difficult to name a commercial commodity representing a more tangible basis of intrinsic value than a diamond. Diamonds are enhancing in value yearly—the demand for them is ever increasing—and the diamond market shows a remarkably healthy condition.

Very little is known in this country by the general public about diamond mining, and the vast returns from it. All are more or less familiar with the mining of gold, silver, copper, zinc, lead, &c., &c., and know the immense fortunes that are realized yearly from them, and the enormous source of wealth which they represent to the country annually. Yet as a matter of fact the most profitable mining enterprises of the world are those devoted to the mining of diamonds, and in London, the great financial centre of the world, this is well understood, and diamond mining securities are an important factor in financial operations there.

The two most profitable commercial institutions in the world today are the De Beers and Premier diamond mining companies of South Africa, which pay fabulous returns on even the present price of the stock, which has enhanced in value many times during the last few years.

THE COLONIAL DIAMOND MINING COMPANY

controlled largely by Boston capital, own in British Guiana, South America, a property containing 43 mines which, during the six months we have been operating it, has paid over 30 per cent profit, and that after expending large sums for machinery and mining appurtenances. From careful tests made during these six months we have demonstrated that we have a larger diamond field than either the De Beers or Premier Diamond Mining Companies, and that each laborer we employ produces larger results than the African laborers. We also know positively that our property will produce three times as much per cubic yard of dirt as the South African mines. We also have the priceless advantage of a healthy climate and an unlimited supply of water—two essential factors in success.

This company is conducting a legitimate business enterprise upon business principles and we court the fullest investigation of our enterprise. The property being on British territory and conducted under the strict laws governing all mining operations carried on in British domains, detailed information relative to it may be obtained from the commissioner of lands and mines, who receives from a government inspector on the grounds the actual condition and production of the property. Thus our production is a matter of official record and may be obtained at all times from this authentic source.

To provide the necessary capital to increase our production is told, we are offering a block of $100,000 of our stock at par, $10 per share. When it is considered that we paid $220,000 in cash for our property, which we own outright, it must be admitted that $100,000 is not an excessive amount of stock to issue, and is all that we will offer for sale.

The undersigned will be pleased to have parties interested in legitimate investments call at our office, where we can supply much valuable information relative to diamond mining. If not convenient to call, write for prospectus.

If you want to get in on the ground floor before the price advances to 10 Cents per share, NOW IS YOUR CHANCE

When The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Company was organized the officers of the company foresaw the certainty, of a big mining boom in Clear Creek County, Colorado, U.S.A., and they congratulated themselves on securing a property which showed 1,500 feet of development work, and could be classed with the MINES of the region.

The steady increase in the mineral production of the county, new strikes, the development of old mines at depth (proving the continuity of the ore bodies and the increased richness of the ores), the availability of mining supplies, the abundance of water the great amount of timber for mining and fuel, the adaptability of the topography for deep tunnel mining, and the large number of milling and smelting plants, means that the district possesses all the elements of successful and economical mining.

It was a foregone conclusion that inveators would awake to a realization of the conditions, and inaugurate a new boom in 1906. It is but natural that they should desire to place their money in a locality that shows more PROVEN MINES than prospects, and where the chances for speedy returns are greater than the chances of loss. Because of economic conditions money will go farther in development work and bring RESULTS quicker. Many new companies have recently been organized, foremost among them being The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co. Stock in all Clear Creek County companies is finding a ready market among both Eastern and Western investors, and in consequence The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co forestalled the boom by securing one of the best mining propositions in the locality, consisting of 16 mining claims, situated on Standard Mountain, in the Ohio and Jackson Mining District, two and one-half miles south of Idaho Springs. The Gold Leaf properties are credited with a past production of $75,000, and the tunnel is being steadily driven toward the rich ore bodies from whence former shipments were made. The old workings are now drowned with water which the tunnel will drain and also give unlimited stoping ground for the ores. Surrounding mines have produced over $11,500,000 Now is the time to purchase stock. When we re-open our ore the opportunity will be lost to investors.

Don't overlook this exceptional opportunity! Think of the acreage; Think of the development work done; Think of the past ore production; Think of the future possibilities; Think of investing—THEN ACT AT ONCE!

Sufficient stock subscriptions have already been received to carry our Frontier Tunnel a distance of 600 feet, or to the Standard Vein, from which point ore shipments will be resumed. Future stock subscriptions will be applied on the purchase of a power plant or on contracts to facilitate the work of driving the tunnel.

Our General Manager estimates that the completion of the tunnel will place at our disposal OVER FOUR MILES OF ORE, aggregating 96,000,000 tons.

$5.00 DOWN AND $5.00 PER MONTH FOR FOUR MONTHS WILL BUY 500 Shares OF STOCK WHICH MAY SOON BE WORTH $500.00

This opportunity to buy stock will not last always. Price will promptly advance May 1st, and shortly thereafter be withdrawn from the market.

What Does It Mean?

Dr. Hamilton Gives a Full and Satisfactory Explanation.

Look at your tongue!

Sometimes it's heavily coated sometimes it's clear and red.

Study this out and you'll find some interference with the functional activity of the body.

This means the bowels are not regular, the liver is sluggish and the blood is contaminated.

Strong cathartic pills act so destructively on the intestines as to provoke deathly sickness; this often frightens people from taking medicine when they badly need it.

To the multitude of dangerous purgatives now on the market, Dr. Hamilton's Pills are a notable exception; they neither gripe, cause sickly feeling or headache, yet they cleanse and purify the entire system in one night. No other laxative acts with such mildness and certainty. Giving proper stimulus to the liver and kidneys, strengthening the stomach and lending valuable aid to digestion, it's small wonder that such marvellous results accompany Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

Mr. Geo. O'Hagarty of Amherst, N. S., writes; "Last winter I worked in a lumber camp and neglected my health I was dreadfully constipated and had a headache that fairly made me reel at times. I was most miserable, and hadn't the slightest ambition to work or stir around. I felt heavy and dull and had a bad taste in my mouth. I sent into the city for Dr. Hamilton's Pills, which I knew were good for my condition. They fixed me up very quickly and have kept me in good condition ever since. There are other men in the camp that use Dr. Hamilton's Pills also. They say they wouldn't be with out the pills for ten times their price."

Every dealer in the land sells Dr. Hamilton's Pills—25c per box or five boxes for $1.00. By mail from N. C. Polson, and Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S. A. and Kingston, Ont.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription,

Is not a secret or patent medicine, against which the most intelligent people are quite naturally averse because of the uncertainty as to their harmless character, but is a medicine OF KNOWN COMPOSITION, a full list of all its ingredients being printed, in plain English, on every bottle wrapper. An examination of this list of ingredients will disclose the fact that it is non-alcoholic in its composition, chemically pure glycerine taking the place of the commonly used alcohol, in its make-up. The "Favorite Prescription" of Dr. Pierce is in fact the only medicine put up for the cure of woman's peculiar weaknesses and ailments, sold through druggists, that does not contain alcohol and that too in large quantities. Furthermore, it is the only medicine for woman's special diseases, the ingredients of which have the unanimous endorsement of all the leading medical writers and teachers of all the several schools of practice, and that too as remedies for the ailments for which "Favorite Prescription" is recommended.

A little book of some of these endorsements will be sent to any address, postpaid, and absolutely free if you request same by postal card or letter, of Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Don't forget that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, for woman's weaknesses and delicate ailments, is not a patent or secret medicine, being the "Favorite Prescription" of a regularly educated and graduated physician, engaged in the practice of his chosen specialty—that of diseases of women—that its ingredients are printed in plain English on every bottle-wrapper; that it is the only medicine especially designed for the cure of woman's diseases that contains no alcohol, and the only one that has a professional endorsement worth more than all the so-called "testimonials" ever published for other medicines. Send for these endorsements as above. They are free for the asking.

If you suffer from periodical, headache, backache, dizziness, pain or dragging down sensation low down in the abdomen, weak back, have disagreeable and wasting, catarrhal, pelvic drain, or are in distress from being long on your feet, then you may be sure of benefit from taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets the best laxative and regulator of the bowels. They invigorate stomach, liver and bowels. One a laxative; two or three a cathartic.

Vickers, F. G. Logan, Lyndhurst Ogden, R. N. Gooch, Thomas Walmsley, Charles O'Reilly, M.D., George R. R. Cockburn, C. C. Rowe, Harry Vigeon, R. D. Perry, W. T. Jennings, H. S. Mara, C. H. Wethley, Ira Standish, W. Cecil Lee, W. Gibson Cassels, O. F. Rice, E. Chantler, John Flett, E. S. Ball, R. W. Thompson, Wm. Jephcott, J. J. Bell, T. Mortimer, J. H. Eddis, and others.

The chair was taken by the President, Mr. D. R. Wilkie, and the Assistant General Manager, Mr. E. Hay, was requested to act as Secretary.

Moved by Prof. Andrew Smith, F.R.C.V.S., seconded by Andrew Semple:

That Mr. Lyndhurst Ogden, Mr. R. H. Temple and Mr. W. Gibson Cassels be and are hereby appointed Scrutineers. Carried.

The Assistant General Manager, at the request of the Chairman, read the report of the Directors and the Statement of Affairs.

THE REPORT

The Directors have pleasure in submitting to the Shareholders their Thirty-first Annual Report and Balance Sheet of the affairs of the Bank as on 30th April, 1906, giving the result of the business of the Bank for the financial year (eleven months) which ended that day.

The net profits of the year, after making full provision for all bad and doubtful debts, for interest on unmatured bills under discount, for the usual contributions to the Pension and Guarantee Funds and providing for Provincial and other taxation, amount to $535,786.20, which has been applied as follows:

|---|---|
| (a) Dividends at the rate of 10 per cent. per annum have been paid amounting to | $335,406 25 |
| (b) Bank premises and furniture account has been credited with | 100,000 00 |
| (c) Profit and Loss account has been increased by | 100,379 97 |

The premium amounting to $927,741.50 received on new capital stock, the issue of which was authorized on the 18th June, 1902, and which was allotted to shareholders on 30th June, 1905, has been transferred in bulk to Rest Account, which now amounts to $3,927,741.50, and will be further increased to $4,000,000 when the balance due upon the subscribed shares has been paid in.

Branches of the Bank have been opened during the year at Cobalt, Porthill, London and Ridgeway, in the Province of Ontario; also in the City of Quebec; in North Battleford, in the Province of Saskatchewan; and in Banff, Calgary East and Red Deer, in the Province of Alberta. Suitable premises are now under construction in Winnipeg and in Edmonton to replace existing structures, which have been found insufficient for our requirements.

Since our last meeting the Bank has suffered great loss in the death of its President, Mr. T. R. Merritt, who was one of the founders of the Bank, and a Director since its start in business. Mr. Merritt became Vice-President at the first meeting of Shareholders in 1875, and continued in that office until he succeeded the late Mr. H. S. Howland as President in the year 1902. Throughout this long term he was devoted to the welfare of the Bank, whose success is largely due to his watchfulness and care. The vacancy on the board created by Mr. Merritt's death has been filled by the appointment of Mr. Peleg Howland, a son of our first President. Mr. D. R. Wilkie, Vice-President, was elected to the office of President, and the Honorable Robert Jaffray to that of Vice-President.

The policy of the board in appropriating a considerable portion of the profits of the year in reduction of Bank Premises Account is one which they hope will be appreciated and approved of by the shareholders.

The capital of the Bank was increased in 1902 by $1,500,000, making it as at present $4,000,000. The development of the Dominion since then has been phenomenal, calling for increased banking facilities. Your Directors hold the same opinion today as they held in 1902 and believe that any additional capital required can be readily and most economically furnished by the institutions which are already firmly established. Your Directors have therefore decided that a further addition to the Capital of the Bank is advisable, and a bylaw will be submitted to you for your approval authorizing an increase in the capital by the sum of $1,000,000, to be used in such amounts and at such periods as the Directors may determine.

The change from semi-annual to quarterly dividends, which has been adopted during the past year, will, we trust, also meet with the approval of the shareholders.

A bylaw will be submitted for your approval providing for the remuneration of the President and Directors, and increasing their number from eight to eleven.

The Head Offices and Branches of the Bank have all been carefully inspected during the year, and your Directors have pleasure in bearing testimony to the faithful and efficient manner in which the staff have performed their duties.

D. R. WILKIE, President.

Conflict in Russia Is Now Inevitable

Douma's Demands Called Impossible by Premier--Democrats Express Lack of Confidence and Desire Cabinet to Resign.

St. Petersburg, May 27.—The expectation that Premier Goremykin's statement of the Government's program would be utterly unfavorable caused great excitement at the opening of the Lower House of Parliament yesterday afternoon.

Both the Constitutional Democrats and Labor groups, in anticipation of its unsatisfactory tenor, drafted resolutions expressing lack of confidence in the Government, which they are prepared to move as soon as the reading is finished.

The resolution of the Constitutional Democrats, which was adopted at a caucus yesterday, is as follows:

"Inasmuch as the answer of the Government contradicts the demands expressed in the address of the Lower House of Parliament, the party of the people's liberty (Constitutional Democrats) expresses complete distrust in the Cabinet, desires its immediate resignation, and proceeds with the order of the day."

The Labor party resolution is of similar purport, but it is couched in stronger terms, demanding instead of desiring, the dismissal of the Cabinet, and the formation of a responsible Ministry from the Parliamentary majority.

WHAT PREMIER PROMISED.

Premier Goremykin's speech, which was unexpectedly firm in tone, produced such a very bad impression that a conflict is now considered inevitable. To the demands made in the address of the Lower House, in reply to the speech from the throne, it was almost a complete non possumus. It reiterated that general amnesty was impossible, but promised the release as rapidly as possible of those who had been arrested by administrative order.

There could be no question it was pointed out, of the abolition of the Council of the Empire, or Upper House, as that is an institution covered by the fundamental law, and is beyond the competence of Parliament.

Most important of all, the Premier declared that the basis for a solution of the agrarian problem proposed by the Lower House was completely impossible. There could be no forced expropriation of lands. He promised however, the distribution of some of the appendages of the State domains, and outlined a broad program for popular education, the revision of the tax laws, and the institution of political liberty.

It is not impossible that Premier Goremykin's statement expresses the views of the Cabinet rather than those of the Czar, and that the Emperor will side with the people, dismiss the Ministry, and grant further concessions than those named. It is significant that it was rumored yesterday that the Cabinet would resign, that the Premier hastily summoned the Ministers after seeing the Czar, and that the only reply to the rumor of the resignations was it was "premature." Sensational developments will soon take place in Russia, and the whole world will shortly witness another bloody drama in her history.

Who Are Messrs T. and P. Nicoll?

Letter From San Francisco is Now Seeking a Claimant.

A few days ago a letter addressed originally to "Messrs. T. and P. Nicoll, care of Messrs. Dickson, Hall's Bridge Ont.," posted in San Francisco, Cal., on May 14th, was readdressed "Try Queen's Hotel, Peterboro"

The parties to whom the letters was addressed are not known to The Queen's, but a customer of this hotel, by name Nicolas, who has friends in San Francisco, was given it on Saturday to see if it was for him. Nicholas, who has been expecting correspondence from the shattered city, opened it, but soon discovered it was not for him.

The letter is written from on board the S.S. "Blackenham," in San Francisco, and is signed by W. Nicoll, 2nd engineer of the ship, who gave his next address as care of Meadrs. Bodwell & Co., Tacoma, Wash., U. S. A.

For purposes of identification it might be noted that the writer's ship got to San Francisco three days after the earthquake and fire. He notes that as the ship lay at anchor in the harbor, the city, viewed through a telescope was simply a mass of ruins. He expected that his ship the Blackenham, would shortly load and sail for Vladivostock, Siberia, taking her cargo in at Vancouver, B.C., and Puget Sound. At New Year's the ship was engaged in carrying Russian prisoners from Japan to Vladivostock, carrying in two trips 3000 of them.

Anyone knowing who Messrs. T. and P. Nicoll are, or their present address might notify The Times or the Queen's Hotel, so that their letter, which contains much personal news, might be forwarded.

Fine Gill Net in Wood Duck Creek

Mr. Guerin, Fishing Inspector Makes a Clever Capture.

About 11 a.m. on Friday last, Mr. Tenice Guerin, the veteran riverman, now employed in the fish and game protective service, made a capture at Woodduck creek. This creek is situated behind Cow Island, Rice Lake.

Mr. Guerin, whilst engaged in watching for illegal fish-slaughterers, saw a gang of men, in the creek, evidently engaged in illegal fish murder and slipping into his canoe, silently and quickly paddled to the spot where he had seen the men.

Unfortunately the men, or probably an outpost on the watch for the inspector, saw him coming in time to make their escape. Mr. Guerin, however, captured a fine gill net belonging to the party, which contained several splendid bass; the fish at the time he got the net were dead, so could not be returned to their native element as they otherwise would have been.

Mr. Guerin as well as Mr. D. Johnston and other fishery overseers, have heard numerous complaints about the illegal fishing practised in Woodduck creek, so the spot has been closely watched. This capture of a fine new net will doubtless put an end to the depredations of this gang.

Child's Narrow Escape From Death

Little Boy Falls into Canal at Locks and Nearly Drowned.

A little boy, about five years of age, a son of Mr. W. Colcohoun of James street, east ward, had a very narrow escape from drowning on Saturday morning about 11 o'clock.

The little fellow whilst playing about the canal, just above the locks, accidentally fell in.

His startled cry as he fell in the water was fortunately heard by a Frenchman, whose name by request, through modesty, is withheld. This man at once rushed to the boy's aid, and by prompt use of a pike pole succeeded in getting the little fellow out, just as he was going down for the last time.

Mr. W Davidson, manager of the Dickson Co., fortunately happening along, drove the little fellow to his father's residence, where the usual restoratives were applied, and the boy's life saved. Medical aid was summoned, but by the time the doctor arrived, the boy had recovered consciousness.

Mr. R. M. Hamilton Made President

Former Local Banker, in Fenelon Falls Athletics.

The many friends of Mr. R. M. Hamilton, formerly accountant in the local branch, Bank of Montreal, but recently made manager at Fenelon Falls, will be interested to learn that he has been elected president of the Fenelon Falls lawn bowling club. The other officers are—Mr. F. A. McDiarmid, vice-president, Mr. W. A. Bishop, secretary-treasurer, and Messrs. McDiarmid, J. H. Brandon, Thos. Brandon, and Thos. Graham, managing committee. Mr. Hamilton, who has always been an enthusiastic advocate of outdoor sports, will doubtless be instrumental in making the Fenelon Falls Club a worthy opponent of the locals.

Sad Drowning at Westmeath.

Sleight, 344 Simcoe street, attempted to run Pacquett's Rapids when their canoe upset, and both were drowned.

Why France Took The Russian Loan

The Paris Oversubscription to its $240,000,000 Allotment of Russia's New Bonds.

Paris, May 26.—It has been evident for a week past that the thrifty French citizen was getting all his (and her) disposable cash in hand for the coveted loan. The conditions imposed on Russia are perfectly ironclad, as there is every reason they should be. The loan is at 4 per cent., not convertible for a term of years, for total amount of 2,750,000,000 francs, of which 1,250,000,000 came directly to France here and now, whatever the rest may do later. The issue is at 88 for those who choose to pay down—at 93.60 for those who pay 10 per cent. on subscribing, 15 per cent. when the funds are distributed, and 20 per cent. each on August 10, 1907. This means that about 91 is the figure representing what Russia is actually going to receive and be duly thankful for.

All the great banks put themselves at the disposition of their everyday customers for the subscription. But it is the Banque de Paris et des Pays Bas which leads the small syndicate of French banks floating the loan, and, for the first time, will be able to profit by its new arrangement with the Societe Generale. This puts at its disposition 301 bank wickets all over France for direct sales—an advantage which, in previous loans, the Credit Lyonnais had from its own wickets. The whole system tends to reduce to the lowest figure that part that might otherwise be played by speculating private banks or speculators at the Bourse and to augment the direct passage of the new loan from the issuing bank to the ultimate buyers.

Gaiety Girls Have Baggage Held

Last Week's Troupe Have Difficulty Over Getting Their Trunks.

Some of the "London Gaiety Girls," who presented a show here last appealed only to the ranks of the baldheads and cigarette smoking contingent by a deplorable lack of raiment in the proper covering of their understanding, did not feel so gay themselves on Saturday. Their baggage was held over by the C.P.R., and only released at the last moment by the charges being paid in time to allow them to get off for Belleville via G.T.R. It looked very much as though the necessary coin would not be forthcoming, and that Belleville would be spared the infliction of their very weak and skimmed milk class of entertainment (?)

Mrs. Howitt claims to have many incriminating letters. Her three children reside with her parents in Canada. Decision was reserved.

Not Worth the Living

Sorry Condition of Many in Peterborough Today.

Those who never have any stomach troubles and whose digestion is like that of an ostrich cannot possibly understand the sorry condition of many in Peterborough today.

Life does not seem worth the living; they tear up with nervous irritation, sleeplessness, pain and misery in the stomach, headaches, backaches, and have a constant fear that what they eat is going to disagree with them and cause still greater distress. While persons with a weakened stomach should have our sympathy, it is much better to point out the way to cure their physical troubles and make it possible for them to once more enjoy life without thought or care as to what may be eaten.

In Mi-o-na there is a remedy that restores the lost functions of the digestive system, revives flagging nutrition, and aids in the assimilation of food. This remedy soothes and heals the irritated and inflamed walls of the stomach, strengthens the nerve centers of the digestive system, and makes a permanent and positive cure in all forms of stomach trouble, excepting cancer.

Mi-o-na costs but 50c. a box

SERIOUS WORK FACES BRITAIN

Her Trouble With China is Causing Worry.

TURKEY IS STILL OBTURATE

The Many Questions of Great Moment With Which British Statesmen Must Grapple.

London, May 28.—Great Britain's world-wide interests prevent the possibility of the diplomats ever being without a problem to solve.

Turkey, undismayed by her failure to secure a slice of Egypt, has raised another question in which not only Great Britain but all the powers trading with Turkey are interested. The Sultan, without reference to the embassies, issued during the week an irade dealing with foreign joint stock and insurance companies and the embassies were empowered to issue a joint note to the Turkish Government. It is expected that the Sultan, as usual, will submit.

A more delicate question and one which affects Great Britain more directly is the change in the Chinese customs administration with reference to which China has been asked for an explanation which has not yet been given satisfactorily. The foreign office does not fear the change will have a bad effect during the life of Sir Robert Hart, director of the Chinese customs, but it is claimed that if allowed to pass without China's assurances that it shall not impair the customs revenue of interference with the foreign management of the service which is the only security which the foreign bondholders have, it would leave China an opening to make the customs administration purely Chinese upon the retirement or death of Sir Robert.

In connection with the discussion of Chinese affairs, the frequently repeated assertion that Great Britain is about to evacuate Wei-Hai-Wei, Province of Shantung, has again cropped out. However possible this was before the Russo-Japanese war, it is now impossible, Japan having expressed a desire that Great Britain hold that port in the interest of her ally. Therefore, it was asserted at the foreign office, any idea that Great Britain may have had of returning Wei-Hai-Wei to China has been dissipated.

Starting in Berlin, a report has finally reached the London papers that an agreement has practically been arrived at between Great Britain and Russia, disposing of the questions affecting Persia, Thibet and Afghanistan which had long caused friction of the two powers.

Typhus Bacillus Discovered.

Mexico City, May 28.—Dr. Prieto in a treatise submitted to the Academy of Medicine says he has found the long-sought and elusive bacillus of typhus fever which abounds in cephalus liquid more than in the blood of typhus patients. The discovery of the bacillus is considered most important.

Earthquakes Do Damage in China

Great Walled City Almost Destroyed and Many Are Killed---Several Risings.

Victoria, B.C., May 27.—Mail advices from the Orient state that an earthquake, causing great loss of life and considerable damage to property, occurred early in May at Unikai and vicinity in Mongolia. The Pekin Times reports that a chasm several feet wide was caused by the earthquake. The walled City of Unikai, was almost completely destroyed, the loss of life being very heavy. Officials at Pekin had received news of a calamity of exceptional severity, and arrangements were being made for relief. Severe shocks were also reported from Fokien Province, the most disastrous being in Cheup Chou Prefecture, where many buildings were destroyed. The loss of life was unknown.

The Hunghutza brigands have fomented a serious insurrection in Pengtien Province, Manchuria. The mounted bandits established themselves in a village 30 miles east of Mukden, and mounted quick-firing guns on an elevation guarding the approaches to the village. The Tartar general, Chao Erhsen, despatched mounted troops, aided by Japanese police at Mukden, and they were defeated.

Two regiments were then ordered from Chihle to reinforce a Manchurian battalion sent to the stronghold. Before the troops arrived, the Manchurian battalion was driven back with loss. Emboldened by such successes, the Hunghutza secured large additions and made raids on villages west of Mukden.

Serious risings are reported in other provinces of China.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

Double Murder And Suicide

Revolting Tragedy Near Kingston Follows Family Quarrels---Stories of Crime Vary as to Details.

Sydenham, May 27.—A double murder and a suicide occurred near Railton at 7 o'clock yesterday morning.

A man named Jack Joyce shot his wife and her father and then deliberately cut his throat, and died in a few minutes. The tragedy occurred in a log shanty within a mile of Railton, at the home of Cornelius Wood, the victim of the shooting.

Joyce was a quiet, simple young Englishman, working for William McCauley. Some months ago he married Cornelius Wood's daughter, and apparently loved the girl and they lived happily together until her father interfered and coaxed her to come home, which she did a few days ago.

At the time of the tragedy the old man Wood, his daughter, Mrs. Joyce, and his son's wife were all living together.

Yesterday morning early old man Wood had received a visit from his two sons, who had just departed for Harrowsmith. They met Joyce coming towards the house. Joyce only stayed long enough to threaten the old man what he would do if he did not let him have his wife. Upon refusal he quickly went after a gun and returned with an old Snider rifle, loaded. They saw him from the house and the old man went out to parley with him.

BREAKS INTO HOUSE.

A report told the girls that the father was shot. Joyce reloaded and again shot the old man, who had attempted to run away, but dropped not far from the shanty. The girls in the meantime had barricaded the doors. Joyce broke these very quickly and also the inner bedroom door, and although his wife pleaded with him not to shoot, he shot her with the last bullet he had and she dropped near the door.

Apparently Joyce had deliberately planned what he intended to do, for he made no attempt to harm the other woman, who was inside. He then went out and wandered a little from the porch.

In the meantime the other woman slipped out and ran to a neighbor's for help, and shortly after Joyce was seen in a defiant attitude, ready to shoot the first one who approached. Apparently Sydenham is the nearest business town to the tragedy, about two miles away, and constables were sworn in to arrest the fellow.

CUTS HIS THROAT.

When they arrived they found him lying by the house with his throat cut in a fearful manner.

The old man is shot through the arm and again through the side and the chances are against him. The murderer's wife is shot through the stomach and back and has no chance of recovery.

Joyce himself lies in his own blood, a few steps from the house, his gun within reach and his razor, with which he did the deed, open by his side.

ANOTHER VERSION.

Kingston, May 27.—Early yesterday morning a terrible tragedy was enacted near Railton, a village about two miles from Sydenham, and fourteen miles north of here.

John Joyce is dead, the work of his own hands, he having committed suicide by cutting his throat after having shot and, as he thought, killed his wife and her father, Cornelius Wood, who are being brought to the general hospital here.

Joyce was an English emigrant, having come to this country about a year ago. Since that time he has been employed as a farm laborer near Railton. Last November Joyce was married to a daughter of Cornelius Wood, and they went to live with the old man. They lived in a rough log cabin on an uncultivated piece of rough land owned by J. O'Brien a short distance out of Railton.

The people were very poor and lived in poor circumstances. They are also said to be of a low caliber, mentally and morally. The matrimonial life of Joyce and his wife was by no means happy.

Joyce came to the city a week ago and stated he was looking for his wife who had run away with a man living in that neighborhood named Eli Smith.

Apparently the woman had returned to her husband and the trouble resulted. Cornelius Wood, the father-in-law, had a somewhat bad reputation, and recently served a term in jail for an indecent assault committed on his daughter.

FOLLOWED A QUARREL.

The trouble occurred shortly before eight o'clock yesterday morning. Joyce and his wife quarreled, and the latter securing a shotgun fired on the woman before she could escape from the house. Her father attempted to interfere and he too was shot down by the enraged husband.

A Wedding That Did Not Occur

Result of Silly Joke Causes Much Unpleasantness.

In our issue of last Thursday, we noted that a certain local gentleman, had on the preceding Tuesday married a lady employed in a local hotel.

The information on which our report was based was given us by personal friends of the supposedly contracting parties, and naturally taken in good faith.

It seems that the "groom" has for some time been very friendly with the "bride," who, as noted works in a local hotel. Some of those also connected with the same house thought to get off a very funny "joke" on the young couple, and informed a Times man that they had been married on Tuesday in St. Peter's Cathedral. This wedding never occurred, being only the result of a silly story put up on the young man.

To substantiate the seeming truth of this report, as an actual fact, when on Tuesday night the young lady had occasion to leave for a visit, to friends, east of Peterboro, she happened to leave by the same C.P.R. train as did the young man alleged to have been married to her.

The jokers knowing this, conceived a very brilliant (?) idea and went, in quite a number to the station, and acted as though bidding a bona fide married couple goodby, even throwing many handsful of rice (?) they as they got in the car.

The Times learning of a couple leaving under circumstances indicating a recent wedding admid showers of rice naturally sent a representative to ascertain particulars.

At the hotel in question, The Times man was given full particulars of this wedding which had not been celebrated, and taking its informants as being in earnest, naturally published the accident as being authentic.

As a warning to other practical jokers, it may, in a measure, reduce the jocular proclivities of young people to learn that giving false reports for newspaper publication only done as the result or forerunner of a joke, easily leads, by stringent law, to several years behind the bars, the jokers clad in striped raiment.

In this particular case, the young man supposed to have been married, was very much exasperated, and no wonder, as the young lady, whose name was thus unwarrantably brought into prominence by a foolish practical joke, is of most undoubtedly good character, and high standing in her friends' estimation.

We trust that these jokers will make all due apologies to both parties concerned; and in future, be more careful, before having a young lady's name presented for newspaper notoriety.

Two-thirds of the fever cases were in families using milk supplied by this particular dealer, and he was ordered not to deliver any more.

"I didn't get enough sleep at night and felt poorly in the day time.

AIRSHIPS AND WAR

General Baden-Powell, of the British army, is inclined to take a gloomy view of the future of way. In his opinion the promised perfection of the airships is destined to eliminate armies and navies and leave a vast number of fighting men without employment. He casts a nervous horoscope and predicts the time when two or three men soaring gracefully 2,000 feet above the earth, which is considered the culminating point of the trajectory of field guns, may drop explosives that will simply annihilate ships and fortifications. Listen to his mournful forebodings: "When a Frenchman can dash across to our shores in ten minutes, and be over London within an hour, it will be high time to consider wherein our insularity consists and what good to us is a silver streak and our indomitable navy. Tariff reform is doomed when hundreds of aerial vessels are continually passing at all heights and in all directions. National frontiers and private boundaries will alike be obliterated!"

The agitated British general merely points with alarm and sounds the warning. He does not attempt to say how Great Britain is going to protect itself against aerial invasion. The danger has been discovered and it rests with others to suggest a way of escape. "So let our soldiers and sailors carefully consider while there is yet time," he admonishes, "what course to follow in war; let our politicians anticipate the day when frontiers cease to exist; let our lawgivers ponder over the laws of trespass, and the safeguarding of the public from this awful curse which threatens to cloud our skies with flights of human locusts!"

Most of the fright into which Baden-Powell has been plunged is caused by developments in America. He cites the successful experiments of the Wright brothers with the true flying machine which does not depend upon a gas bag for sustaining power. "We are apt to close one eye and compress the lips on hearing a sensational story from America," observes the general in true British fashion, "but in this case the heroes of the tale are known to be thoroughly reliable men who would not likely elaborate a cock and bull story."

Of course, the advent of successful airships would change the entire aspect of warfare, but would it be for the worse? Probably not. Assuredly it would make such organizations as that graced by the gallant general obsolete and useless and thus far, at least, the world would profit by the change. At the outset there might be aerial cruisers, aerial torpedo boats, aerial torpedo boat destroyers and perhaps aerial battleships of a most formidable character. They might be infinitely more destructive than the present naval systems, yet in this very fact lies the probability of the end of all war. The human race would have to eliminate all war vessels of the air in sheer self-preservation. That would solve the problem of universal peace. Not a bad idea from the standpoint of anybody save a regular army man.

STREET CAR PLEASURE RIDING

Street car riding for recreation, change and amusement is fast increasing. It will grow more rapidly as Canadian cities gain in wealth and the average condition of their inhabitants becomes more prosperous. The great majority will have to go too far to walk, when they seek pleasure away from home.

This use of street cars is necessarily profitable. It is least common in the hours of business travel, when work is beginning and ending for the day. It fills up the cars in fine summer evenings. It pours a stream of nickels into the cash boxes of the street railroad company, in the middle of the forenoon and still more between noon and night.

If it did not cost more than about two-thirds of a nickel there would be much more of this riding for rest and change and amusement. The street cars would be exceedingly inviting. They wheedle thousands of dollars out of the pockets of the people in a city like Peterborough, for pleasure riding, every year, as it is.

This traffic, not absolutely necessary but natural and wholesome, can be developed to an almost unlimited degree by wise management. Well cleaned and orderly cars help greatly. Intelligent and considerate conductors count on the right side of the ledgers. But the greatest stimulus would be low fares. That is what is needed in Peterborough to make a big business much bigger.

TO GO TO APPEAL COURT.

Goderich, May 26.—The taking of evidence and the hearing of the argument in the bigamy trial which was held here was completed yesterday afternoon, and an adjournment of the court was made till Saturday, June 2. It is understood the case will probably be reserved for the Court of Appeal for a decision on the question whether a court in the States granting a divorce has any jurisdiction extending to a resident of Canada, as the defendant in this case is, as a decision on this point will be of such widespread application.

FERN STAND.

An Attractive Ornament For Sitting Room or Library.

The note of "living green" that adds so decidedly to the attractiveness of sitting room, library or other apartment is introduced oftentimes in the most satisfactory way by a fernery. In a room where the coloring is very bright or ornate an ornamental stand for the soft green plants is a desirable addition. And it may be as handsome as taste and purse will permit. An example of such a stand is here illustrated, the lower shelf serving as an excellent resting place for books or magazines.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Celluloid Articles.

A manufacturer of celluloid articles says that the danger of these articles exploding into flame when near a fire is greatly exaggerated. Nevertheless he adds this long list of "don'ts:" "Don't place hot curling irons near your celluloid hair comb; don't drop a match on the celluloid back of a hairbrush or hand glass after you have lighted the gas in your dressing room; don't use the celluloid handle of your paper cutter to press down the tobacco in your lighted pipe; don't put your celluloid beads near a light; don't hang a celluloid bead curtain where there is an unprotected light; don't keep loose matches in the same pocket with your celluloid cardcase or diary." It would be simpler not to use celluloid at all, as a matter of fact.

Hearts Courageous

By... HALLIE ERMINIE RIVES

Copyright, 1902, by THE BOWEN-MERRILL COMPANY

"I was thinking what you are most like. Some ladies are like snow mountains that stand very far off, white and beautiful, but cold—so cold you cannot warm them, and so high. Some are like blossoms, sweet and perfumed, made for only a nosegay in the evening. When the sun is hot they wither. Some are like a song that one hears and thinks lovely—hums it awhile and forgets."

"And which of these am I, sir?"

"You are like a sword—slim and shining and straight and yet delicate. It took centuries to make the sword, mademoiselle. It will bend, bend, but not break. It is sharp and cold to all the world save one—the one who wears it at his side. But to his touch it becomes alive to ward him harm, to guard his life, to keep his honor."

"An we were truly swords," she flashed, "we ladies of Virginia, there were less of bitterness in this fair colony of ours."

"So the sword has the temper!" he cried, his eyes kindling. "It is not for ornament alone! And these troubles of the colonies—they strike so deeply then? Do even the ladies of a land such as this feel the sting?"

She gazed out toward the low knobbed hills limned against the deepening sky, her elbow on the window sill, her chin in her gloved hand, silent. Above them in sun stained air shreds of torn clouds folded away like dreams. From near by came the startled flutter of field larks and the rustle of ripening corn.

The road curved quickly and lurched into a pine forest, where the day slimed to twilight and the hoofs fell noiselessly into a carpet of brown needles. It was a pleasant way, full of mingled odors, all strangely pure and agreeable, where clamorous wood things piped to a musical silence.

"'Tis not all Virginia, after all, that one sees here, monsieur," she said slowly after a time. "Far to the west of us is a vast region, raw, full veined and of scattered tenants. There are great mountain peaks and ravines, wastes waiting seed and hoe, plateaus and woodlands where the musket and the ax are never silent. Deer run in the brake. Wolves race along the ridges. There strong men have lived and toiled and fought back the savages and cleared themselves homes. Their children have grown up unyielding like the granite in the mountain's heart, untrammeled like its torrents. And this life amid the silences has taught them a justice that may not be bought, a strength that knows neither fear nor favor. The region you see here, monsieur, to this great weave I speak of is but the raveled edge.

"Here broad rivers run brackish with tidewater, and ships lie at the wharfs. They bring to our manor houses all of luxury and refinement which Virginia tobacco can buy. And here the planters—for Virginia was first settled by gentlemen, monsieur—choose to put on courtliness and dress in gold lace and make a bit of London for themselves on the edge of the wilderness.

"Just beyond those hills to the southward is Williamsburg, the capital they have built. It has a college and a court. There the cocks are ever fighting, the horses are ever running, the fiddles are ever playing, and there in his palace sits the royal governor his majesty is pleased to put over his colonials, levying on their leaf and sneering at their buckskins."

"The Earl of Dunmore?"

"Aye, my lord the earl. Think you he knows one whit more of this Virginia than does the king, a thousand leagues away? He drinks in his palace and drives his white horses and bullies his burgesses, the representatives whom the people have elected. They must pleasure him or he dissolves them. The king has forgot that the Virginians are Englishmen and that Englishmen love freedom."

"And Englishwomen, too," he said.

"We can do little," she went on. "We wear no swords. All we can do is to hope and to wait."

"Little!" There was a thrill in his voice. "Little! You call such a hope, such a feeling, small? You think it valueless or weak? Ah, mademoiselle, know you what makes a lady adorable to a man's heart, what makes him worship her? It is that she inspires him; that is it—not to dress for her or bow or sing her little songs, but to toil, to struggle, to fight, to die maybe—something high like the stars. Man has a want for two things—a cause to fight for first, and then—then a one, a perfect one, a loved face, to wait and smile on him when he has won.

"With this a man could do miracles. Ah, it could make of a poor nobody a king, an emperor! I, even I, mademoiselle, a stranger from another land I could fight so well for these great things, for this Virginia of yours, if I—if I"—

He paused. There was a tense moment.

Then the air filled itself with a long, dull sigh, and on its train came a sudden snapping of dead boughs, as unjointed, cracking report, and both looked up startled.

A strange faraway circumstance had had part in this. Indians had not been used to fell trees as did their white conquerors. Instead they cut deep rings into the bark and let nature be axman. These trunks fell when dry rot had done its work, sometimes in storms, often when no wind stirred, crashing in a forested silence. A quarter century before perhaps a Mattaponey brave had thus girdled a great pine with his tomahawk, and it was this dead tree, its limbs now white as bleached wolf bones, which was now, after its time, leaning to its fall from the roadside.

A shriek burst from Anne's lips as she saw the toppling bulk through the window, and she started to her feet. Simultaneously came a howl of terror from Rashleigh and a leaping jerk from the horses as he tried to lash them to safety.

There was an instant when the huge bole seemed to hang motionless in the air above them, an instant in which Anne frenziedly wrenched open the door and made as if to leap out. The same instant Armand seized her, dragged her back and threw himself and her against the rear wall of the chariot.

She struggled, but he forced her back and held her as the groaning mass came to earth with a crash that rocked the ground.

Anne, conscious even in her ecstasy of fright of a sense of safety in his arms, felt the body of the coach crush like an eggshell. She had hidden her face on his breast and shut her eyes, waiting the end. The whole world was a splinter of glass, a ripping of boarding, a sickening jumble of thuds, through which stabbed the agonized squeals of the horses.

Then there was stillness, broken by Rashleigh's sobbing scream:

"De good Lawd, Mis' Anne! De good Lawd! Is yo' daid?"

She opened her eyes and looked up. The riven trunk lay right athwart the forward cushions, where it had crashed its way through. A great, gnarled limb, broken off, thrust itself a yard from her face, and through the jagged edges of the top she saw the far foliage swaying. Armand's face bent above her. It was white and strained with an anguish that was slipping away, but it was calm.

Rashleigh's head appeared at the wrecked window, his features blue black with fear.

"Brass Gerd!" he stammered, his

Diamonds and Diamond Mining

It would be difficult to name a commercial commodity representing a more tangible basis of intrinsic value than a diamond. Diamonds are enhancing in value yearly—the demand for them is ever increasing—and the diamond market shows a remarkably healthy condition.

Very little is known in this country by the general public about diamond mining, and the vast returns from it. All are more or less familiar with the mining of gold, silver, copper, zinc, lead, &c., &c., and know the immense fortunes that are realised yearly from them, and the enormous source of wealth which they represent to the country annually. Yet as a matter of fact the most profitable mining enterprises of the world are those devoted to the mining of diamonds, and in London, the great financial centre of the world, this is well understood, and diamond mining securities are an important factor in financial operations there.

The two most profitable commercial institutions in the world today are the De Beers and Premier diamond mining companies of South Africa, which pay fabulous returns on even the present price of the stock, which has enhanced in value many times during the last few years.

THE COLONIAL DIAMOND MINING COMPANY

controlled largely by Boston capital, own in British Guiana, South America, a property containing 42 mines which, during the six months we have been operating it, has paid over 50 per cent. profit, and that after expending large sums for machinery and mining appurtenances. From careful tests made during these six months we have demonstrated that we have a larger diamond field than either the De Beers or Premier Diamond Mining Companies, and that each laborer we employ produces larger results than the African laborers. We also know positively that our property will produce three times as much per cubic yard of dirt as the South African mines. We also have the priceless advantage of a healthy climate and an unlimited supply of water—two essential factors in success.

This company is conducting a legitimate business enterprise upon business principles and we court the fullest investigation of our enterprise. The property being on British territory and conducted under the strict laws governing all mining operations carried on in British domains, detailed information relative to it may be obtained from the commissioner of lands and mines, who receives from a government Inspector on the grounds the actual condition and production of the property. Thus our production is a matter of official record and may be obtained at all times from this authentic source.

To provide the necessary capital to increase our production 10 fold, we are offering a block of $100,000 of our stock at par, $10 per share. When it is considered that we paid $220,000 in cash for our property, which we own outright, it must be admitted that $100,000 is not an excessive amount of stock to issue, and is all that we will offer for sale.

The undersigned will be pleased to have parties interested in legitimate investments call at our office, where we can supply much valuable information relative to diamond mining. If not convenient to call, write for prospectus.

100 PER CENT. ADVANCE JUNE 1

Present Price of Stock FIVE Cents per Share

If you want to get in on the ground floor before the price advances to 10 Cents per share, NOW IS YOUR CHANCE

When The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Company was organized the officers of the company foresaw the certainty, of a big mining boom in Clear Creek County, Colorado, U.S.A., and they congratulated themselves on securing a property which showed 1,500 feet of development work, and could be classed with the MINES of the region.

The steady increase in the mineral production of the county, new strikes, the development of old mines at depth (proving the continuity of the ore bodies and the increased richness of the ores), the availability of mining supplies, the abundance of water the great amount of timber for mining and fuel, the adaptability of the topography for deep tunnel mining, and the large number of milling and smelting plants, means that the district possesses all the elements of successful and economical mining.

It was a foregone conclusion that investors would awake to a realization of the conditions, and inaugurate a new boom in 1906. It is but natural that they should desire to place their money in a locality that shows more PROVEN MINES than prospects, and where the chances for speedy returns are greater than the chances of loss. Because of economic conditions money will go farther in development work and bring RESULTS quicker. Many new companies have recently been organized, foremost among them being The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co. Stock in all Clear Creek County companies is finding a ready market among both Eastern and Western investors, and in consequence The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co forestalled the boom by securing one of the best mining propositions in the locality, consisting of 16 mining claims, situated on Standard Mountain, in the Ohio and Jackson Mining District, two and one-half miles south of Idaho Springs. The Gold Leaf properties are credited with a past production of $75,000, and the tunnel is being steadily driven toward the rich ore bodies from whence former shipments were made. The old workings are now drowned with water which the tunnel will drain and also give unlimited stoping ground for the ores. Surrounding mines have produced over $11,500,000. Now is the time to purchase stock. When we re-open our ore the opportunity will be lost to investors.

Don't overlook this exceptional opportunity! Think of the acreage; Think of the development work done; Think of the past ore production; Think of the future possibilities; Think of investing—THEN ACT AT ONCE!

Sufficient stock subscriptions have already been received to carry our Frontier Tunnel a distance of 600 feet, or to the Standard Vein, from which point ore shipments will be resumed. Future stock subscriptions will be applied on the purchase of a power plant or on contracts to facilitate the work of driving the tunnel.

Our General Manager estimates that the completion of the tunnel will place at our disposal OVER FOUR MILES OF ORE, aggregating 96,000,000 tons.

Improve Your Complexion

Give Up Cosmetics and Seek the Cause of Your Bad Color.

When it's so easy to bring back the bloom of youth, to remove the blemishes and fill the hollows, isn't it foolish to plaster on cosmetics?

Sallowed skin and fallen in cheeks are produced by disorders of the alimentary canal.

Remove the cause—correct the condition that keeps you from looking as you ought. Use Dr. Hamilton's Pills and very soon you'll have a complexion to be proud of.

Just imagine how much happier you will feel when those pimples and murky look have gone.

Lainty looks came to Miss Vrooman, a well-known resident of Belfast, from using Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Read what she says:

"My friends all admit that I have a very delightful complexion. This I owe positively to Dr. Hamilton's Pills. I used to look so yellow I thought it might be jaundice. There was simply no color in my cheeks at all. Today my skin is clear and never gets that murky, dull appearance it had before. Dr. Hamilton's Pills have also given me a good appetite and improved my general health also."

Not only the complexion, but every organ of the body is strengthened, cleansed and made healthy by Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Buoyancy, vim and a feeling of vigor invariably follow their use. Sold in yellow boxes by all dealers: 25c. per box or five boxes for $1.00, or by mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., and Kingston, Ont.

POLICE NEWS

Daily Happenings in Court Room and Station.

Saturday was his Worship's busy day, there being some 22 local citizens summoned for not attending to having their cesspools and privy cleaned out as required by law. Each one had his own explanation to give for his delay. Some of the excuses "went," and in such cases, those giving plausible stories were discharged, whilst others were fined from $1.50 and costs, up. Almost without exception those present laid the blame on the scavengers, many showing that they had even paid these men in advance, but were forgotten or overlooked by the men who had taken their money.

One citizen said he had been charged three dollars for an hour's work by the scavengers, and he did not think it was right.

Magistrate Dumble remarked that he did not think it was fair, but it was the fault of the city council. He said there should be a scavenger tariff in the city. In other cities and towns the councils had fixed a lawfully prescribed barrel, with a fixed charge per barrel.

Edward Martin, a middle-aged man, remanded from Friday morning, was charged with entering a railway train belonging to the C.P.R. with the intention of stealing a ride. He pleaded not guilty.

Detective Wright, who arrested him, gave evidence. He said that on Wednesday, May 23rd, at Norwood freight grain No. 51 came in from Havelock. The prisoner was on top of one of the box cars. When the train stopped, Martin saw the detective and he started to run. Witness said he caught Martin, and the latter told him that he had beat his way from Valleyfield. Martin had no ticket. Martin told him a brakeman named Andrews had let him ride, but witness said there was no brakeman of that name on the train.

The prisoner pleaded clemency of the court, saying he was looking for work and had never been arrested before.

The Magistrate after noting that this ride-stealing had to be stopped imposed a fine of $10 to be paid forthwith or 20 days on the hill. Martin is now a guest at Castle Nearbitt.

C. Teachers Convention in Norwood.

It was decided by the county teachers' convention, held here last week to hold the autumn convention on the first day of the Norwood Fair. On Saturday morning a party of the teachers drove out to Burnham's woods in Otonabee. The party was under the supervision of Mr. J. E. Hodgson, of the Peterboro Collegiate Institute.

At St. John's Yesterday.

Rev. F. J. Lynch, of Wycliffe College, Toronto, officiated at all services at St. John's church yesterday. At the evening offertory the anthem "I Know that My Redeemer Liveth," from Handel's "Messiah," was beautifully and artistically rendered by Mrs. T. O. McGregor, whose presentation of this appropriate selection was very acceptable to the congregation, and called for special and laudatory comment.

Coming Treat in St. John's.

Much interest is being taken in the coming musical treat, on Thursday, May 31st, in St. John's church Sunday school. Prof. Devey, the organist has for some time, been training the boys of the choir, in the musical drama, "The Greek Slave." Special and appropriate scenery and costumes have been furnished, so that this entertainment promises to be most interesting in every respect.

Repairs to Victoria Park Needed.

It is up to the Horticultural Society and city council to forestall possible, if not probable trouble and expense by having badly needed repairs made in the board walk in Victoria Park. In the walkway above the steps near the fountain, many of the narrow boards are broken. It is more than possible that some one will step on or in, one of these broken places and either break or strain a leg. In such case for lack of a few cents spent in repairs, the person hurt would probably sue for damages and likely win out. By the expenditure of a few cents, this possibility of trouble would be obviated and the appearance of the park greatly improved.

—Direct your friends who are are strangers in the city to the Times Bookstore for dainty souvenirs in china and burnt wood. Views of all places of interest hand painted on each. We also have books descriptive of the different localities.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription,

Is not a secret or patent medicine, against which the most intelligent people are quite naturally averse, because of the uncertainty as to their harmless character, but is a medicine OF KNOWN COMPOSITION, a full list of all its ingredients being printed, in plain English, on every bottle wrapper. An examination of this list of ingredients will disclose the fact that it is non-alcoholic in its composition, chemically pure glycerine taking the place of the commonly used alcohol, in its make-up. The "Favorite Prescription" of Dr. Pierce is in fact the only medicine put up for the cure of woman's peculiar weaknesses and ailments, sold through druggists, that does not contain alcohol and that too in large quantities. Furthermore, it is the only medicine for woman's special diseases, the ingredients of which have the unanimous endorsement of all the leading medical writers and teachers of all the several schools of practice, and that too as remedies for the ailments for which "Favorite Prescription" is recommended.

A little book of some of these endorsements will be sent to any address, postpaid, and absolutely free if you request same by postal card or letter, of Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Don't forget that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, for woman's weaknesses and delicate ailments, is not a patent or secret medicine, being the "Favorite Prescription" of a regularly educated and graduated physician, engaged in the practice of his chosen specialty—that of diseases of women—that its ingredients are printed in plain English on every bottle-wrapper; that it is the only medicine especially designed for the cure of woman's diseases that contains no alcohol, and the only one that has a professional endorsement worth more than all the so-called "testimonials" ever published for other medicines. Send for these endorsements as above. They are free for the asking.

If you suffer from periodical, headache, backache, dizziness, pain or dragging down sensation low down in the abdomen, weak back, have disagreeable and wearing, catarrhal, pelvic drain, or are in distress from being long on your feet, then you may be sure of benefit from taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets the best laxative and regulator of the bowels. They invigorate stomach, liver and bowels. One a laxative; two or three a cathartic.

Local Option in Warsaw.

Rumors now come from Warsaw that the local option now in force in that village, does not by any means, result in liquor being "non est." It is said that men, and even boys are getting large quantities of beer, booze and other such internal combustibles and drinking them in stables, barns and such retreats. A Warsaw man was heard on Saturday afternoon to remark, "It's a —— better for men to get liquor in licensed bars than sneaking it into their barns and sheds, and thus teaching boys to drink, who would not be served in a bar."

Empire's Affairs Are at a Deadlock

Douma Angry and Russian Press Pessimistic --Danger of Revolution--Numerous Assassinations.

St. Petersburg, May 29.—The situation to-day is extremely grave and it will be well if the events of the French revolution are not repeated in Russia The reply of Premier Goremykin on Saturday was in no way disguised, and its brutal frankness will undoubtedly lead to serious developments unless the Ministry gives way. The peasant members of Parliament have telegraphed to their constituents in all parts of the country, the refusal of the Government to grant the demands for lands, amnesty and political freedom.

The principle of constitutional government and ministerial responsibility is clearly refused. On the other hand, it is evident that the Ministry does not speak in the name of the sovereign, and the only inference is that it regards itself as a separate, independent institution. This suggests that the Ministry seeks to set itself up as a wall between the sovereign and people. The present situation cannot be indefinitely prolonged.

DEMANDS DISMISSAL.

The Douma on receiving the Government's reply on Saturday, passed a vote of want of confidence with only seven dissentient votes. The retirement of the present Ministry was demanded, and its supercession by one approved by the House.

DANGER OF REVOLUTION.

The spirit of absolute revolution is in the air and a conflict between the Crown and the nation now appears to be inevitable. While the House avoided the appearance of delivering an ultimatum, the Government seems to have no alternative except surrender or war. The gloomiest forebodings are everywhere expressed today, and the general impression is that the country is on the verge of a titanic struggle, which may be delayed, but not averted. Despatches received from the interior indicate that the struggle possibly may be inaugurated today with a general strike when the people learn that all amnesty has been refused them.

THE PRESS IS PESSIMISTIC.

Few hopeful utterances are found in the St. Petersburg papers. They speak of the extreme gravity of the situation and the possibly dangerous effect of the refusal of enforced expropriation of land. Prof. Karacieff says the parallel with the French revolution is complete so far, and warns the Ministry not to invite the fulfillment of the rest of the parallel. The Slavo says the Government has declared war on Parliament.

AN OMINOUS CHANGE.

Orders for the guard corps to go into summer camp at Krasnoyo Selo have been countermanded, and it is supposed these will be retained here in readiness to cope with any outbreak.

NUMEROUS ASSASSINATIONS.

St. Petersburg, May 29.—M. Shakloff, warden of the city prison here, was shot four times on Sunday and mortally wounded by an 18-year-old youth who was executing a social revolutionist sentence in revenge for the warden's ill-treatment of political prisoners.

Vitebsk, May 29.—M. Belkine, director of the Vetebsk Tobacco Factory was killed here for political reasons.

Sebastopol, May 29.—Bombs were thrown here yesterday during a review of troops at General Neptunff, commander of the fortress and the chief of police, but they received only slight injuries.

Libau, May 29.—The police discovered a store of 3,100 revolver cartridges in this city.

Windau, Courland, May 29.—A large peasant proprietor, named Krunberg, of German descent, was killed by a band of Lettish revolutionists.

Tula Central Russia, May 29.—Prof. Radetski, principal of the High school was killed in the streets by a youth of 15 years. The principal had tried to stop a revolutionary propaganda in the school.

TERRORISTS FAILED.

Tiflis, May 29.—Bombs were thrown yesterday at Governor-General Tumoscieff and Chief of Police Martinoff. Neither was injured, but a Cossack belonging to their escort was killed.

Dr. R. P. Boucher on Health Matters

Popular Physician Gives His Views on Matters of Local Interest.

Dr. R. P. Boucher yesterday addressed the local Board of Health, in connection with the recent amendment to the medical health act, which prohibits depositing filth in rivers such as our own Otonabee. The doctor said that he had been particular to impress upon the Provincial organization the state of affairs existing in and around Peterboro—and also the trouble this city was having with villages, summer residents and others dumping sewage into the water from which the city gets its supply for domestic purposes. Dr. Hodgetts, has, on two occasions inspected both the Otonabee river and the lakes, and he is well aware of the conditions. Dr. Boucher suggested that the matter be referred to the Provincial Board to act upon.

The doctor also drew the attention of the local health authorities to the fact that a great deal of raw sewage matter was being emptied into the river below water works intake. This did not effect the water supply but was most injurious to the ice supply.

Board of Health Holds a Session

Many Matters Appertaining to Local Health Matters Discussed.

Yesterday morning the local Board of Health met in their usual gathering spot, those present being, Chairman William Eyres, Dr. McNulty, Dr. Burnham, Geo. Schneider and Mayor Best.

Dr. Boucher represented the Provincial Board of Health.

Dr. Bingham, medical health officer, and Chief Rossel, medical health inspector, were also present.

The attention of the Board was drawn to the fact that there were many private dwellings and terraces conveniently situated to sewers, that were still using cess pools. This practice is one which should be stopped at once. These cess pools are making the neighborhood very dangerous to live in. The board were unanimous in the opinion that the city council should take steps to compel, as far as possible, every resident along a street on which there is a sewer, to make connection therewith.

Mayor Best asked the members of the board why they did not report such cases to the council, making recommendations, at the same time, what should be done. He further noted that the Board of Works in making all sewer connections at the same time main sewer is laid.

This matter was referred to the city council with the request that they look into the matter and pass such bylaw as may be necessary to provide a remedy.—Carried.

Chief Rossel on instructions, made an inspection of the creek which runs through the city to ascertain who were using the creek for sewer purposes, as complaints have been made against this practice and according to the health inspector's report the complaints were well founded. His report reads:

Gentlemen: As requested, I beg leave to report on the condition of the creek. Mr. Hutton has three houses on Sherbrooke street that have sinks connected with creek. Mr. Harlow has one house the same. Mr. Law has one house the same. Mr. Wm. Rudkins, on King street has three houses—two have bath and sink, and one sink.

Parker's Dye Works, Charlotte street, has four pipes emptying into the creek.

Mr. Wm. Snowden has closet on side of creek between Charlotte and Simcoe streets.

Wm. Hamilton has one closet on the creek; also his house is connected with the creek.

G. Walter Green has a closet over the creek at his foundry on McDonnel street.

Moved, that the secretary be instructed to notify each person having sewer connection with the creek, that such connection must cease at once.—Carried.

Mr. T. Rutherford Will Sell Buttons

(To the Editor of The Times.)

Dear Sir,—I see by a late issue of your paper that the Fire, Water and Light Committee of the city council have granted certain privileges to the local street railway company, consequent on the railway company allowing certain specified city officials, the right of riding dead-head upon their cars. Now, sir, you and your readers will doubtless remember that, a few months ago, the fire brigade of this city, on advice of the manager of the local street railway company, purchased a number of buttons that were professedly to entitle the purchasers (and at a considerable expense at that) to ride free. You will also remember that the firemen, relying upon the word of the manager, paid their hard earned money for such badges and were then suddenly told the buttons would not be recognized nor taken as authority for passage on the cars. In fact the street railway manager not only turned down the brigade but broke his promises.

I might suggest that the favored individuals, mentioned by the Fire, Water and Light Committee, should purchase the buttons bought by the firemen. This would both return the money spent by members of the brigade and, at the same time, do for identification purposes by those now granted what the firemen are denied. The firemen will sell these buttons at a very much reduced price, but will not guarantee faith on he part of the railway management.

Yours truly,

T. RUTHERFORD.

COLE BROTHERS' CIRCUS

Will Exhibit in Peterboro on June 8th.

That time honored yet magical phrase, "are you going to the show" is the query most frequently heard these days upon every hand both in Peterborough and for miles out into the surrounding country. The world famed Cole Brothers United Shows are responsible for the question, arrangements having been completed for them to exhibit in Peterborough on the afternoon and evening of Friday, June 8th. The small boy and girl are correspondingly happy, and it goes without saying that their elders have the day marked on the calendar, too. Fresh from their triumphs abroad, the Cole Brothers have greatly augmented their shows in every department. This season their spread of canvas covers an area of about nine acres and when erected the big tent alone affords comfortable accommodations for 11,000 persons. Overcapping the three big rings, three elevated stages and vast hippodrome track is a veritable maze of trapeze riggings, bars, rings, ropes and apparatus upon which dauntless queens and kings of the air twice daily defy death in entertaining the thousands of patrons. Over 300 men, women, children and educated animals are employed in the presentation of the astounding program. From the first to the last number, act follows act in rapid succession and with such precision and skill as can only be found in Cole Brothers United Shows. Throughout the performance as many as fifteen separate features are simultaneously presented on the ground or in the air and one is kept busy in watching the myriad of wonders. An important department, free to all who attend the big show, is the triple menageries which are unquestionably the largest and most complete traveling zoos known. The mammoth tent in which these are exhibited is filled with rare and costly specimens of animal life from all quarters of the globe, captured and shipped direct to these shows by Messrs. Cole's own special agents. A visit to the display will prove of far more interest and educational value than a tour of the best known zoological gardens in this country or Europe.

POLICE NEWS

Daily Happenings in Court Room and Station.

Yesterday's police court was attended by an audience entirely composed of persons there by individual summonses. Some twenty citizens, including one lady, were charged with not having had their cesspools or vaults cleaned as required by the Public Health Act.

Each and every one came with almost the same tale of woe as to perfidity on the part of various scavengers whom they had paid, and in some cases paid in advance, not keeping their engagements. Eleven were assessed the sum of $1.60; each and all warned to have the matter attended to at once under heavy penalty for neglect. Seven were discharged on proof that they had attended to the matter, and one case was enlarged, the defendant being out of town. One gentleman came armed with a certificate drawn up in legal phraseology, signed by the scavenger who did the work and duly witnessed by another. He was promptly discharged.

A young man who was before the court on Saturday on a charge of non-payment of dog tax, denied ownership of the dog, saying he neither owned nor wanted to own it. He asked his Worship if he brought the animal to the station would the police shoot it, saying he could not kill a dog himself. The magistrate advised him to purchase five cents' worth of strychnine.

The Togo's Crew Worked Hard

First Trial Previous to Coming Sailing Race in Chemong Lake.

The first stage in the game connected with the coming sailing race between the Gold Lake Hunt Club's Klondike canoe, "Admiral Togo," and Mr. T. Rutherford's sailing skiff, was in evidence Sunday, when the Klondike was sailed over the coming course on Chemong Lake. The object of this trial was to find whether the canoe would "tack" without leeboards. Her crew, with a fair wind, and incidentally without lee boards with them, ran briskly up the lake some six or eight miles, intending to tack back. Unfortunately the "Togo" would not tack against a head wind without her lee boards, so the crew had to peel off their coats, etc., and labor vigorously against the unfriendly head wind with paddles. The next trial will be had with the accompaniment of lee boards. Still the crew of the Togo are confident of winning the race.

The disgusting discharges from the nose and throat, and the foul catarrhal breath, are quickly dispensed with by using Dr. Shoop's Catarrh Cure. Such soothing antiseptic agents as Eucalyptus, Thymol, Wild Indigo, etc., have been incorporated into a snow white cream making a catarrhal balm unexcelled. Sold by J. D. Tully.

Local Devotees of Rod and Gun

Invited to Attend Great Sportsmens' Meeting in Buffalo.

The officers of the Peterboro branch of the Ontario Fish and Game Protective Association including many other prominent sportsmen have been invited to attend the annual meeting of the League of American Sportsmen, to be held in Buffalo, June 6th and 9th.

The invitations sent to the local gentlemen say in part; "We are endeavoring to secure strong delegations from all the States, and one of the most important problems that will come up for discussion is that of spring shooting of wild fowl. We are anxious to educate the people of all the States, up to the point of abolishing this practice, and you Canadian gentlemen could aid us greatly in this effort by attending this meeting. The Iroquois hotel has been chosen as the headquarters for the meeting, which will be in the assembly room of that house."

Manufacturers' Committee in Session

Permission Will Be Granted the Bell Telephone Co. to Put Their Wires Underground, Under Certain Conditions.

The Manufacturers' Committee met last night, when there were present, Chairman Ald. McWilliams, Mayor Best, Ald. McIntyre, Duncan, Mason, Adams, Elliott, Hicks and Tovey.

The Bell Telephone Company's application for permission to lay their wires under the business section of the city, came up for consideration.

Ald. McWilliams thought it advisable to agree with the Great North-Western Telegraph Co., to pay part of the $450 estimated as the cost of removing this company's poles, which are used jointly by them and the Bell Co. This cost includes the supply of a new cable into the former company's office, necessitated by removing said poles. The committee did not think the city should pay any portion of the cost of installing this new cable.

This matter was left in abeyance until negotiations with other companies for removing their poles from the streets are closed.

Ald. Adams moved, seconded by Mayor Best,—That the request of the Bell Telephone Co., for permission to build underground conduits for their wires be granted, providing the company enter into an agreement protecting the city from all claims for damages arising out of such work, and reserving to the city any rights it now has or may hereafter be given by legislation.—Carried.

FIXED ASSESSMENTS.

The Auburn Woolen Company's application for a fixed assessment came up for discussion, but nothing definite was arrived at.

The committee decided to recommend the granting of the Colonial Weaving Company's application for a remission on their taxes equal to the excess of their assessment above the fixed assessment provided for in a bylaw passed in 1903, which bylaw, however, was never confirmed.

No further action was taken on the application of J. J. Turner & Sons, for lower assessment.

The committee then adjourned.

Manufacturers' Association

Issue Invitations to Those Intending to Join.

The following circular letter, which has just been issued, tells its own story:—

Peterborough, Ont., May 12, 1906

At a meeting of Peterborough manufacturers held in Mr. Dennistoun's office on April 18th, a notice of which was sent to you, an association was formed which is to be called The Manufacturers' Association of Peterborough. The objects of this association shall be to promote the interests of manufacturers doing business in the City of Peterborough and vicinity. Questions are arising continually which can be dealt with to advantage by an organization of this kind, and it was felt by those present at the meeting that one should be formed immediately.

We feel sure you will join with the other manufacturers of our city and join this association.

The regular annual fee was not fixed at any amount, but it was decided to make the "joining fee" $1.00, and later on when the requirements for funds are more apparent the regular annual fee can be settled upon.

Kindly let me know at as early a date as possible as to whether you will join the association or not.

Yours truly,

J. H. LARMOUTH,
Secretary.

No tired Brains when Grape-Nuts food is used.

FACT!!!

Bread dyspepsia is common. It affects the bowels because white bread is nearly all starch, and starch is digested in the intestines, not in the stomach proper.

Up under the shell of the wheat berry Nature has provided a curious deposit which is turned into diastase when it is subjected to the saliva and to the pancreatic juices in the human intestines.

This diastase is absolutely necessary to digest starch and turn it into grape-sugar, which is the next form; but that part of the wheat berry makes dark flour, and the modern miller cannot readily sell dark flour, so nature's valuable digester is thrown out and the human system must handle the starch as best it can, without the help that Nature intended.

Small wonder that appendicitis, peritonitis, constipation, and all sorts of trouble exist when we go so contrary to Nature's law. The food experts that perfected Grape-Nuts Food, knowing these facts, made use in their experiments of the entire wheat and barley, including all the parts, and subjected them to moisture and long continued warmth, which allows time and the proper conditions for developing the diastase, outside of the human body.

In this way the starchy part is transformed into grape-sugar in a perfectly natural manner, without the use of chemicals or any outside ingredients. The little sparkling crystals of grape-sugar can be seen on the pieces of Grape-Nuts. This food therefore is naturally pre-digested and its use in place of bread will quickly correct the troubles that have been brought about by the too free use of starch in the food, and that is very common in the human race today.

The effect of eating Grape-Nuts ten days or two weeks and the discontinuance of ordinary white bread, is very marked. The user will gain rapidly in strength and physical and mental health.

"There's a reason."

Extending Aylmer St. Will Cost $9,000

Council May Not Undertake This Work Unless So Sanctioned By the Ratepayers--No Appropriation This Year For This Work.

The Board of Works met last night when there were present, Chairman Ald. Hicks and Aldermen Graham, Tovey, Elliott, Wilson, Johnston, Adams, and his Worship Mayor Best.

PAYMENT FOR CROSSINGS.

The city solicitor reported that cement crossings can be laid under the local improvement act, at the time the sidewalks are being constructed, if laid subsequent to the construction of the sidewalks to which they are attached, the crossings could not be assessed for under the local improvement act.

Ald. Hicks notified the board that he had put at work four men laying a track for convenient handling of material from the dredge at work in the river, which material is to be used for making city land along the river front, west of the C.P.R. line. Two of these men had been working for Mr. Meldrum, and continued work since Saturday noon for the city. Yesterday morning Ald. Hicks authorized two more to go to work expecting the dredge would be at work. Finding this machine would not be dredging till possibly Tuesday morning, he had instructed these men to draw rails, and lay track in preparation for hauling the excavations from the dredge.

Ald. Hicks asked for instructions as to what course he should continue to labor and supervision in connection with this work. On motion, this matter was left in the hands of the chairman, he to exercise his best judgment.

The board, however, felt that if possible, an estimated cost of filling in this property should be secured before going too far with the work.

EXTENSION OF AYLMER ST.

Mr. Thos. McKee, having estimated the cost of extending Aylmer street, south from Lake street to the boundary according to a plan prepared by him, submitted to the board said plan, the carrying out of which he estimated at $9,000.

Ald. Hicks pointed out that the Board of Works had to be empowered by the council to extend both George and Aylmer streets, and it is a question whether the Board would be justified in exceeding its appropriation by this amount without first submitting the matter to the people. The board has an appropriation of $4,000 for opening George street, and $2,800 of this amount will secure a right of way, exclusive of one property owner, a purchase price with whom has not yet been carried out.

The board agreed with Ald. Hicks that the city would be in pocket if the street were opened right away, but the Mayor advised that this question, which involves the carrying of an overdraft of about $9,000, should first go to the people.

His Worship said it would not be a matter of an overdraft but assuming an unauthorized liability for a specific purpose.

Ald. Hicks remarked that while he would like to see both streets opened right away, personally he would not like to exceed the board's appropriation by so large an amount without first getting the ratepayers' sanction.

This matter was left in abeyance, until after the board have inspected the proposed course of Aylmer St. extension, Wednesday afternoon.

The Board then adjourned.

$25 Damages Are Given for a Dog

Dr. Gray Is Assessed For Shooting a Dog.

It will be remembered that a case creating considerable excitement, was brought "on the tapis," some weeks ago, by Dr. Gray, the local coroner, shooting a dog which he caught in the act of killing a fine black Minorca hen, on his own property.

Yesterday afternoon this case of Mr. Milne Hamilton versus Dr. Gray, was called for two p.m., in the division court. However, as an important witness was unable to be present owing to illness, the case was postponed until 4 p.m. At four o'clock the jury was sworn in.

Mr. G. W. Hatton, for the plaintiff, introduced his client's case, making a strong appeal for "the dog."

Mr. Milne Hamilton, the first witness called, said his dog was a well-bred bull terrier, about a year old. He last saw the dog on April 20th, at breakfast time, until when he found him lying in the road in front of Dr. Gray's house. The doctor told him he had shot the dog with a rifle. The dog when found dead, had a collar with his street number inscribed thereon. The dog was of a kind disposition. He would not have taken $100 for him.

To Mr. Wood, the dog came from Buffalo. A friend had left the dog at his house. The dog was a free gift to him and his sister. The dog was valued as a pet.

Dr. Poole, V.S., next witness, had often seen and treated the dog in question. The dog was worth $30 to $40.

Mr. Harry Winch knew Mr. Hamilton's dog, and often thought he was a thoroughbred.

Mr. W. Johnston then read a report he had taken of Mrs. Gillespie's evidence, taken at her residence, owing to illness. This evidence described how the dog had worried Dr. Gray's hens.

Mr. Hayes was working at Dr. Gray's the day the dog was killed.

Dr. Gray, the defendant, then went into the witness box and described how he did not know whom the dog belonged to the day he shot him. The dog had worried his well bred Minorca chickens, and had killed one of them. He then, as his chickens were on his own property, and were valued by him, put an end to the dog's career, not knowing its owner or to whom to apply for relief.

The jury after considering the evidence for perhaps two hours, brought in a verdict for $25 damages in favor of Mr. Milne Hamilton.

It is likely now that Dr. Gray will institute proceedings for recovery of damages for loss of his valuable poultry.

It might be noted that, in this case, whilst the jury brought in this verdict it is still in the power of the judge to reverse their decision and order a new trial; this however, is only a possibility, but was so mentioned by Mr. Wood counsel for Dr. Gray, after the trial was over.

Escaped Lunatic Captured Yesterday

Constable Doidge of Lakefield Brings Crazy Man Here.

Constable Doidge of Lakefield, yesterday afternoon brought into the city, a lunatic, by name John Pursey. Pursey hails from the township of Levant, near Sharbot Lake. He escaped from the Brockville asylum 30 days ago, and was wandering about Lakefield all day Monday, until spyed by Constable Doidge, who recognized the man as being mentally unbalanced and arrested him. The constable brought him to the local police station by buggy from Lakefield. Mr. Doidge says he had some difficulty in getting his charge to the city. Pursey, it seems, was possessed of a naturally insane fear of arrest and has, since his escape, from the asylum, been wandering along the railroad tracks. On being arrested by Constable Doidge, he said, "For God's sake don't send me back to the asylum." Pursey will be held here until the officers from Brockville asylum arrive to take him back.

Death Yesterday of Mrs. Fowler

Local Lady Passes Away at the Age of 76 Years.

After a lingering illness, Mrs. Isabella Fowler, relict of the late James Fowler, passed away at noon yesterday. She was 76 years of age, and for a long time has lived with her son Mr. John Fowler, corner of Aylmer and Simcoe streets.

The funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon at 2.30 o'clock. Interment will be made at Little Lake cemetery. The deceased lady was most highly esteemed by all who knew her.

AN ENJOYABLE LECTURE

Rev. A. E. Langfeldt Lectures on "A Trip Down the Rhine."

Last night a large and cultured audience were delighted with the lecture given in St. Paul's church S.S. by Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, rector of St. Luke's church.

The rev. gentleman chose as his subject "A Trip Down the Rhine," and held the interest of all present from his opening remarks to his most appropriate conclusion.

Rev. Mr. Langfeldt's lecture dealt with all points of interest in this, perhaps the most picturesque and historic stretch of water in the world.

His splendid word picture of the points of interest was augmented by a series of well chosen and most admirably presented lime-light views.

Taken as a whole, last night's address was most instructive, interesting and presented in a manner that could only be done by one having kindest memories of the Fatherland.

Local Prices vs. What Toronto Pays!

Peterboro Opera House Patrons Paying Far Too Much.

Last night some of our long suffering citizens, who have more generosity than extended knowledge of theatrical matters, paid 50 cents to see the "Prisco moving pictures." These pictures were shown in a "hall" in Toronto on May 18th and 19th, at from 15c. to 25c, and at a matinee for 10c. It is pretty near up to the people of this city to ask why in Peterboro, they are soaked one hundred per cent. more than elsewhere but for which our opera house manager charges them double the price? Is there any reason, further than a contemptible grab game, why our citizens should pay such prices?

And now Prisco pictures are this week being simply weed at the Star theater, Toronto, in a burlesque show, as a side issue. How long will local people submit to such a bald and unjustifiable imposition. The mere fact of one man getting hunnered out of, say $1, on a single show does not seem much to him, but it means a grab of many hundreds from a large audience, that Toronto theater patrons would not stand.

SOME OF BRITAIN'S ALIENS

The London Daily Telegraph in an article on the price of bread says the German workman has always been credited with a genius for frugality, but thinks "the height of it has been reached in domestic economy by the German who boasted that he lived on two shillings a week." "That particular Teuton, it is true, happens to be a baker—in addition to being a genius—and this fortunate choice of a profession seems to have enabled him to solve the problem of cheap living more completely than might otherwise have been the case. The bread, which he got free, it was his custom to soak in gravy from the meat sent in by customers to be baked, and when that failed he bought a herring, which served him for both breakfast and supper." After this it was astonishing to read that 'these men usually come over as boys, and serve with a relative until they have saved a little money, when they set up in business for themselves.' Almost any industrious toiler, in receipt of decent wages, might fairly aspire in time, having discovered the beautiful art of living on five pounds a year, to set up in business on his own account."

There are some of the aliens who compete with British workmen and British business men. Thrift is a very good thing, but there are people who think thrift can be carried too far, and the scale of living carried down too low. At least that is the objection usually made in this country against the Chinese. The case cited was, of course, an extreme one, but it indicates the young German's method when he goes over to London, and probably what he does at home when he is making the cheap German wares to undersell Britain in foreign markets. Thrift is desirable in everybody; waste is to be deplored; but thrift that is meanness, and the lower standard of living that is morally and physically injurious, is most deplorable of all.

THE DANGERS OF SAVING

Many years ago the doctrine was advanced that it is wrong to save money. It is the old decision that is to be made between laying up treasures on earth, where moth and rust corrupt and thieves break through and steal, and laying up treasures in heaven. There may be no heaven in modern theology, the joys formerly ascribed to that city of golden streets and eternal bliss coming to service to one's fellow men, but, even with that modification of conditions granted, there will hardly be general acceptance of the theory once again announced that frugality and economy are dangerous tendencies in life.

"The men and women who spend," one speaker declared, "are not dangerous; they are helpful; they keep the money perpetually reverting to the people in some form." It would be far better that both rich and poor should be prodigal of their means and so keep money in circulation than for the rich and the poor to be frugal and saving," were the words of another. The mania for saving which makes the individual miserly and hard is one thing, a misdirection of purpose which has never failed to meet condemnation. The desire for saving which puts millions into savings banks, opens the door to opportunity, makes capitalization of industry possible, gives employment to thousands in special pursuits, encourages endowments for religion, art, education, science, has been commended in every age.

Such statements as those which have been quoted are one sided and consequently of comparatively little importance. The drunkard, the gambler, the rake, spend their money freely. They keep it in circulation, but the experience of the past, which is always the safest guide, does not show that such a habit has been of benefit to humanity. The training to save has meant sobriety, industry, home ownership, integrity, responsibility, good citizenship. It has made the prosperity of the nation. It is a blessing. The occasional examples of those who, having risen from the ranks and having been possessed of the miser's greed, have been overbearing and harsh toward their less prudent former companions cannot be used as arguments against the desirability of encouraging the spirit of thrift. There may be positive evils connected with the desire to save, but the resultant advantages are so much more important that no one who thinks deeply would ever advocate the theory that the savings habit is one dangerous to society on principle. The facts are all bearing testimony to the opposite conclusion.

We Ought to Live 140 Years.

"I see that Dr. Lasalle has been communicating his ideas of longevity to the Academy of Medicine," says the Paris correspondent of Truth.

"They are those of Flourens, who set them forth in his lectures at the Sorbonne; but Flourens had not the same opportunities for basing his lectures on a broad foundation of statistics. Reasoning from analogy, he concluded that human beings ought to live five or six times longer than it took them to attain the full adult state—that is to say from twenty to twenty-five years.

"It takes a cat eighteen months to grow up, and the creature, if left to die a natural death, does so at the age varying from ten to twelve years. The dog takes two years, and lives from twelve to fourteen; the horse five, and goes on to twenty-five or thirty. A well-constituted human being ought to live from 120 to 140 years.

"In addition to the cases of longevity cited by Flourens, Dr. Lasalle gives a long list. For instance: Peter Csortan, who died recently at Temesvar, in Hungary, at the age of 185 years, and an old man who has just turned his 200th year in an asylum at Pulsk. He buried his wife in his 183rd year. Would it not be well to send a scientific commission to Pulsk to investigate into this Methuselah's claim to extraordinary longevity?"

He Saw Sir Walter Scott.

Richard D. Thompson of Edinburgh the other day told an audience that when a schoolboy he frequently saw Sir Walter Scott. Once when on a fishing expedition Sir Walter's carriage came along and stopped, and Mr. Scott of Rasburn told Sir Walter who Mr. Thomson was. Sir Walter spoke to him, patted him on the shoulder and hoped that he would be a good boy and a credit to his ancestors. He was known to the Scotts, as his grandfather sold the first bit of Abbotsford to Sir Walter. Mr. Thomson was quite elated at the carriage stopping on his account. On going home he mentioned the incident, and he remembered his aunt saying, "Remember that. It will be something to tell when you are an old man."

grizzled forelock working. "Bress his name! So yo' ain' hurt, honey? Den I gwineter ketch de hosses 'fore dey scare missus to def!"

The head withdrew, and Anne tried to smile up at Armand.

"We are safe," she said, speaking slowly, like a child. "I know. 'Twas—so sudden. Let me—wait a moment."

She closed her eyes again, sick and faint in the reaction.

He did not speak at once, but she felt his arms, which were under and around her, shake with a little tremor and draw her closer.

"Suppose," she breathed, her eyes still closed—"suppose it had struck nearer?"

"We should not have felt it—a quick death and merciful."

She shuddered.

"They would have found us—so," he said, with an underbreath.

She lifted her head at this and started, the color coming back to her lips. "Help me out."

Stooping under the splintered door frame, he assisted her to the ground. It was a burly of broken branches, sprangling spokes, thrusting springs and distorted fragments of wood. A snapped limb a foot in thickness lay with its end upon the bent and twisted step.

"Had I leaped it would have struck me!"

"Yes," he answered.

"So swift and terrible!" she said, her voice catching. "Like a bolt from a cloud—like the judgment. That moment—I would not live it again for worlds!"

He spoke with a flame in his cheeks. "And I—I would I might! Ah, I would endure all agonies for that moment again, that moment when"—

"Monsieur!"

He stopped at the indignation in her tone.

"Let us go," she said. "Gladden Hall is just behind these pines."

"I beg you"—

"Bethink, sir," she added coldly, "that so late as yesterday I had never seen you!"

"So late as yesterday!" he cried. "To measure all things by the hands of the clock! What has time to do with the feeling of the heart? Is death all that comes suddenly, unexpectedly? Are there no sweeter things that come as swiftly? Ah, a man can live a year in an hour, mademoiselle—a lifetime within one little day. Yesterday, you say? Mademoiselle, yesterday for me were only dim waters and gray sky; now there are flowers and birds and laughter and all glad things. Shall I tell you what has changed it all? The moment you spoke to me on the wharf, the hour we have ridden side by side along the field, most of all, mademoiselle, the moment you will not have me tell you of, that one moment I lived when death came falling out of the sky upon us, when you cried out—when"—

"Stop!" she protested, her hands to her red cheeks.

"When your face was on my shoulder—I felt your breath! You cling to me—to me you, the fairest lady God has made! My arms were around you."

"Oh!" she gasped. "No more! You have no right"—

"Right?"

"No!" she cried stormily, her breast rising and falling. "No! You presume upon a danger into which fate thrust me without my wish. Why, we have but ridden a half league. I know not even your name! Who are you to speak thus to me?"

"Who am I?" repeated the young man slowly, the rich color dyeing his face. "I am—only a Frenchman, mademoiselle, only a man who gazed upon your face in a crowd and whom—whom you asked to ride beside you in the coach."

His tone had fallen. "Is it his fault, mademoiselle, if his custom is not the custom of your land, if he knows not to repress, if he must say what he feels?" He finished very low. "Is it his fault that he cannot forget that your face hid itself upon his breast for one little moment here in the forest?"

She was alternately flushing and paling, and her eyes were shining. "You must not! You must not!" she cried out with softer voice.

With the words she started walking rapidly, hastening without glancing at him. The dimness of the interlaced branches overhead parted; the trees stood sparser. Just ahead a leafy arch let in the fading sunlight and a view of yellow stubble, and beyond this showed a broad gateway—twin brick pillars crested with martlets opening on a winding road to a great house that looked a many windowed welcome.

It sat snuggled in elms on a hill from whose crest a terraced lawn fell softly into the arms of the shining, twisted river—a southern home in its high days, its dairy, meat house, ice house and granaries all dazzling white against the blue and olive of sky and wood. Spacious offices stood to the left, and wide negro quarters squatted at some distance behind it. Near by a tiny creek sparkled down to wash a tangle of islands. From adjacent fields came the piping whistle of partridges in grass.

Just before the gateway the young man's voice caught her. "For the sake of that one moment, mademoiselle," he said huskily.

She paused, looked back and held out her hand. He dropped upon one knee and touched his lips to her fingers.

"I am glad I owe my life to you," she said softly.

Gazing at him uncertainly an instant, she hesitated, then turned and ran rapidly up the winding drive. Her hound lifted his shag head from the columned porch and came leaping down to meet her, while his whine drew Mammy Evaline peering from the kitchen door, her weather beaten face dilating into a smile.

"Lawd, dar come mammy's honey chile safe an' sound!" she cried to Miss Tillotson, who came hastily to the steps and waved her hand at the girl's fluttering signal.

"Down, Sweetlips! Down!" cried Anne as the hound leaped against her. She stopped, bethinking herself of the indenture.

She ran back to the gateway, but the young Frenchman was not to be seen. As she stood peering into the pines the breeze went playing with some torn bits of paper scattered in the ruts. She picked up several fragments and strove

Large Emigration to Canada.

London, May 28.—Official emigration figures show the number leaving the United Kingdom for Canada in 1906 was 52,457, against 49,681 the previous year. The number to Australia was 15,191, against 13,969. The number to Europe, South Africa and the United States has decreased.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Diamonds and Diamond Mining

It would be difficult to name a commercial commodity representing a more tangible basis of intrinsic value than a diamond. Diamonds are enhancing in value yearly—the demand for them is ever increasing—and the diamond market shows a remarkably healthy condition.

Very little is known in this country by the general public about diamond mining, and the vast returns from it. All are more or less familiar with the mining of gold, silver, copper, zinc, lead, &c., &c., and know the immense fortunes that are realized yearly from them, and the enormous source of wealth which they represent to the country annually. Yet as a matter of fact the most profitable mining enterprises of the world are those devoted to the mining of diamonds, and in London, the great financial centre of the world, this is well understood, and diamond mining securities are an important factor in financial operations there.

The two most profitable commercial institutions in the world to-day are the De Beers and Premier diamond mining companies of South Africa, which pay fabulous returns on even the present price of the stock, which has enhanced in value many times during the last few years.

THE COLONIAL DIAMOND MINING COMPANY

controlled largely by Boston capital, own in British Guiana, South America, a property containing 43 mines which, during the six months we have been operating it, has paid over 50 per cent. profit, and that after expending large sums for machinery and mining appurtenances. From careful tests made during these six months we have demonstrated that we have a larger diamond field than either the De Beers or Premier Diamond Mining Companies, and that each laborer we employ produces larger results than the African laborers. We also know positively that our property will produce three times as much per cubic yard of dirt as the South African mines. We also have the priceless advantage of a healthy climate and an unlimited supply of water—two essential factors in success.

This company is conducting a legitimate business enterprise upon business principles and we court the fullest investigation of our enterprise. The property being on British territory and conducted under the strict laws governing all mining operations carried on in British domains, detailed information relative to it may be obtained from the commissioner of lands and mines, who receives from a government inspector on the grounds the actual condition and production of the property. Thus our production is a matter of official record and may be obtained at all times from this authentic source.

To provide the necessary capital to increase our production 10 fold, we are offering a block of $100,000 of our stock at par, $10 per share. When it is considered that we paid $220,000 in cash for our property, which we own outright, it must be admitted that $100,000 is not an excessive amount of stock to issue, and is all that we will offer for sale.

The undersigned will be pleased to have parties interested in legitimate investments call at our office, where we can supply much valuable information relative to diamond mining. If not convenient to call, write for prospectus.

100 PER CENT. ADVANCE JUNE 1

Present Price of Stock FIVE Cents per Share

If you want to get in on the ground floor before the price advances to 10 Cents per share, NOW IS YOUR CHANCE

When The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Company was organized the officers of the company foresaw the certainty of a big mining boom in Clear Creek County, Colorado, U.S.A., and they congratulated themselves on securing a property which showed 1,500 feet of development work, and could be classed with the MINES of the region.

The steady increase in the mineral production of the county, new strikes, the development of old mines at depth (proving the continuity of the ore bodies and the increased richness of the ores), the availability of mining supplies, the abundance of water the great amount of timber for mining and fuel, the adaptability of the topography for deep tunnel mining, and the large number of milling and smelting plants, means that the district possesses all the elements of successful and economical mining.

It was a foregone conclusion that investors would awake to a realization of the conditions, and insugurate a new boom in 1906. It is but natural that they should desire to place their money in a locality that shows more PROVEN MINES than prospects, and where the chances for speedy returns are greater than the chances of loss. Because of economic conditions money will go farther in development work and bring RESULTS quicker. Many new companies have recently been organized, foremost among them being The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co. Stock in all Clear Creek County companies is finding a ready market among both Eastern and Western investors, and in consequence The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co forestalled the boom by securing one of the best mining propositions in the locality, consisting of 16 mining claims, situated on Standard Mountain, in the Ohio and Jackson Mining District, two and one-half miles south of Idaho Springs. The Gold Leaf properties are credited with a past production of $75,000, and the tunnel is being steadily driven toward the rich ore bodies from whence former shipments were made. The old workings are now drowned with water which the tunnel will drain and also give unlimited stoping ground for the ores. Surrounding mines have produced over $11,500,000. Now is the time to purchase stock. When we re-open our ore the opportunity will be lost to investors.

Don't overlook this exceptional opportunity! Think of the acreage; Think of the development work done; Think of the past ore production; Think of the future possibilities; Think of investing—THEN ACT AT ONCE!

Sufficient stock subscriptions have already been received to carry our Frontier Tunnel a distance of 600 feet, or to the Standard Vein, from which point ore shipments will be resumed. Future stock subscriptions will be applied on the purchase of a power plant or on contracts to facilitate the work of driving the tunnel.

Our General Manager estimates that the completion of the tunnel will place at our disposal OVER FOUR MILES OF ORE, aggregating 96,000,000 tons.

Local Man Goes A Begging

Chas. E. Higgins Claiming to Belong Here Arrested in Hamilton.

The Hamilton Herald says:

Charles E. Higgins, of Peterboro, was begging at the T. H. & B. station on Wednesday night. He told a pretty good story, at the police court, about being in hard luck, and supported his story by showing his left arm, which is amputated at the elbow. He said he wanted to get to his sister in Peterboro.

The magistrate told him that he should leave drink alone if he was looking for sympathy, and then allowed him to go.

Lacrosse Player Seriously Ill.

Yesterday morning about eleven o'clock a young man, well known in lacrosse circles entered a local barber shop. It seems that a year ago this lacrosse player sustained a severe blow in the head with a lacrosse stick, since which the head affects him at times. Shortly after entering the barber shop he seemed to take a fit and it took three men to hold him. Dr. King was called in, and after administering restoratives, the patient was taken to his home in a cab, in a semi-unconscious state.

Habit-forming Medicines.

Whatever may be the fact as to many of the so-called patent medicines containing injurious ingredients as broadly published in some journals of more or less influence, this publicity has certainly been of great benefit in arousing needed attention to this subject. It has, in a considerable measure, resulted in the most intelligent people avoiding such foods and medicines as may be fairly suspected of containing the injurious ingredients complained of. Recognizing this fact some time ago, Dr. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., "took time by the forelock," as it were, and published broadcast all the ingredients of which his popular medicines are composed. Thus he has completely forestalled all harping critics and all opposition that might otherwise be urged against his medicines, because they are now OF KNOWN COMPOSITION. Furthermore, from the formula printed on every bottle wrapper, it will be seen that these medicines contain no alcohol or other habit-forming drugs. Neither do they contain any narcotics or injurious agents, their ingredients being purely vegetable, extracted from the roots of medicinal plants found growing in the depths of our American forests and of well recognized curative virtues.

Instead of alcohol, which even in small portions long continued, as in obstinate cases of diseases, becomes highly objectionable from its tendency to produce a craving for stimulants, Dr. Pierce employs chemically pure, triple-refined glycerine, which of itself is a valuable remedy in many cases of chronic diseases, being a superior demulcent, antiseptic, antiferment and supporting nutritive. It enhances the curative action of the Golden Seal root, Stone root, Black Cherrybark and Bloodroot, contained in "Golden Medical Discovery," in all bronchial, throat and lung affections attended with severe coughs. As will be seen from the writings of the eminent Drs. Grover Coe, of New York; Bartholow, of Jefferson Medical College, Phila.; Scudder, of Cincinnati; Ellingwood, of Chicago; Hale, of Chicago, and others, who stand as leaders in their several schools of practice, the foregoing agents are the very best ingredients that Dr. Pierce could have chosen to make up his famous "Discovery" for the cure of not only bronchial, throat and lung affections, but also of chronic catarrh in all its various forms wherever located.

Immigrants Story Not Confirmed

The Complaints Regarding Steamer Norseman Apparently Not the Facts---Salvation Army Statement.

Toronto, May 30.—After enquiry of the Salvation Army officers regarding the complaint lodged by an immigrant with Mr. Thos. Southworth, director of colonization, against conditions alleged to have prevailed on the steamer Norseman, no confirmation of the story has been received.

Mr. Southworth states that the officer who accompanied the Army immigrants from Halifax to Toronto, said their passengers made no complaints whatever, and that a misapprehension has occurred in giving publicity to the complaints.

In view of these facts Mr. Southworth believes that the emphatic complaint lodged with him must have resulted from the expectation of finding better accommodation in the steerage than is afforded in ships where the passenger arrangements are merely temporary, and will not without further information consult the Government relative to an investigation.

Innumerable complaints are continually being made as to the manner in which the poor immigrants are herded on the ocean steamships, but so far as has been learned conditions on the Norseman were no worse than on others.

SALVATION ARMY STATEMENT.

Commissioner Coombs, of the Salvation Army, was interviewed regarding the alleged ill-treatment of passengers on the steamer Norseman. He said:

"I sent two men to Halifax to meet our six hundred of the passengers who came by the Norseman. They say that no complaints were made to them and that the six hundred seemed in the best of spirits, singing the Glory Song as the boat drew up.

"Things were no doubt a little rough on the vessel, however, for the Norseman is not an ordinary passenger steamer and the crew is not used to dealing with passengers. Everything, therefore, was probably not as spick and span as on a passenger steamer, though I do not think there was much ground for complaint as has been stated. The Norseman is an ordinary cargo or cattle boat, fitted up as an immigrant vessel for the one trip. I don't think there was cooking apparatus on board, and perhaps on that account stews occupied a more prominent place than usual on the bill of fare.

"However, such is the rush of people who desire to come to this country that they are glad to accept almost any accommodation, but when they get aboard they sometimes expect the best that an up-to-date Atlantic liner can afford."

WHAT THE COMPANY SAY.

London, May 30.—The Toronto correspondent of the Daily Mail cables that immigrants complain bitterly of the treatment received on the steamer Norseman. Mr. Parton, London manager of the company, speaking to the Canadian Association Press, said he had no information concerning the complaints, but added, "Our ships are too well managed for any such treatment as complained of."

Local Man on the Executive

Mr. R. H. Bradburn an Officer on Theatrical Combine.

As noted in a former issue, the Theatre Managers' Association of this province, are in session in Ottawa considering how to make the most money out of their patrons. In other words, the theaters over of Canada are now managed by a combine which manages the various passing shows to best advantage.

Yesterday the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:—President, A. J. Small, Toronto; 1st vice president, W. A. Edwards, Montreal; 2nd vice president, D. P. Brannigan, Kingston; secretary, J. E. Turton, London; treasurer, J. W. Cowan, Toronto; executive, C. A. Pyne, Woodstock; P. Gorman, Ottawa; R. H. Bradburn, Peterboro; C. H. Wilson, St. Catharines; A. R. Loudon, Hamilton; F. H. Briscoe, Chatham.

Our telegram from Ottawa conveying the above news, omitted to state whether prices charged in this city would, in future be as low as what cities like Toronto pay for the same companies.

C. P. R.'s Phenomenal Gains

Montreal, May 30.—A conspicuous feature in the railroad world during the past few months has been the large earnings of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, says the Wall Street Journal. The company's gross and net returns thus far reported during the present fiscal year, as compared with the same period of 1905, have displayed an expansion little short of phenomenal. In the fiscal year ending June 30, 1906, the gross receipts were over $4,000,000 greater than in the previous year, and contrasted with 1903 a gain of over $6,000,000 was recorded.

The gross earnings for the first nine months of the present fiscal year are only $1,940,726 less than in the entire fiscal year of 1904, and, as compared with twelve months ended June 30, 1903, were greater by $1,105,043.

Elizabeth Bell W. F. M. S. Meets

Well Attended Meeting Held in St. Andrews Church S. S.

The regular monthly meeting of the Elizabeth Bell Women's Home Mission Society was held Monday night in the school room of St. Andrew's church, in connection with that of the Young People's Association and there was an unusually large attendance. The president, Miss H. Bathgate, presided. Miss Waddell gave a short address. Miss Elizabeth Martin read a paper on home mission work, and Misses Alford and Kennedy contributed an appropriate vocal duet.

Underground Telephone Wires.

As a contrast between the different ways in which different town councils regard the matter of ridding streets of telephone poles and wires, it might be noted that Berlin, Ont., is so anxious to get its streets cleared of these unsightly, obstructive and often dangerous over-head wires, the town has made very important and practical concessions to the Bell Telephone Co., consequent upon the company placing their wires underground. In this city, the councillors, for reasons best known to themselves, have shown great apathy in allowing the Bell Co. to do, at their own cost, what Berlin practically pays them for doing.

Much Interested In Canadians

Montreal, May 30.—Mr. Charles R. Hosmer, who spent the winter on the Continent and in England, has just returned to Montreal, looking extremely well after his long holiday. Mr. Hosmer is of the opinion that a great deal of English and French capital is going to be attracted to Canada, as the people in both countries are exhibiting any amount of interest in the subject. While in London, Mr. Hosmer was dined by the Governors of the Bank of England, and these staid old financiers exhibited a wonderful interest in the Dominion, plying Mr. Hosmer with questions regarding the country's possibilities. All classes of people over there are discussing this country's development and are always anxious for information.

Mr. Hosmer was very much struck with the apparent youth and vitality of Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, whom he met quite frequently in London.

"Mr. Chamberlain is a young man," said the returned financier in spite of his three score and ten, and he has before him apparently many years of usefulness."

While at Biarritz, Mr. Hosmer was honored with an invitation to dine with His Majesty, King Edward.

Gay Paris Still Increasing.

Paris, May 30.—The result of the census of Paris, which was taken last March, was published, showing that the population has increased since the last census five years ago by 71,169. The total population is now 2,711,722.

POLICE NEWS

Daily Happenings in Court Room and Station.

The Sunfish Club must have taken up summer quarters in friendly loafing places as no audience attended yesterday's court, although a trial of the kind that appeals to their usual craving was on deck.

Three cesspool cases were first of all cleared off the docket, the defendants being discharged.

The next case was that of Mr. Murphy, of former police court notoriety, who had summonsed a local junk dealer named Izenburg, claiming that Izenburg owed him $7 wages.

Murphy, in the witness box, said Izenburg had employed him to move a partition. He asked 50 cents an hour and, when defendant said he would only pay 25 cents, picked up his tools to leave. Izenburg then laughingly said to go ahead with your work, it will be all right. On completion of his work, Izenburg would not pay him his wages for twenty-four hours he had worked.

Izenburg then went into the box and said that he had only agreed to pay Murphy 25 cents an hour, and that Murphy had been away for two hours one morning getting a ladder and two hours during the afternoon, so that Murphy had only worked twenty hours.

An employee of Izenburg's then went into the box and corroborated what the last witness said.

His Worship allowed the full 25 hours time at 25 cents per hour, whereupon Izenberg made out a cheque for $8 to Murphy.

The next case was that of David Doig, remanded from last week for sentence on a charge of receiving brass stolen from the Wm. Hamilton Manufacturing Company. Doig, when asked what he had to say, replied: I am not guilty.

The Magistrate told Doig he had, since Doig's former trial, found that a quantity of brass and other goods stolen from the Canadian General Electric Company were found in the goods shipped to the Wm. Hamilton Manufacturing Company along with the brass proved to have been stolen. He fully appreciated the hardships done to Doig's family by sentencing him, and regretted having to do so. However Doig had had a full week to tell from whom he had bought these goods. He did not think that Doig stole them personally, but the fact that they had been in his possession was clearly proven. Doig was shielding some one else, as the goods were of such a nature that any one seeing them could not but recognize and remember them. Doig, as he would not tell the name of the thief, must take the consequences. The sentence of the court was that he be confined in the county jail for five months at hard labor.

New Telegraph Cable at Prescott.

Brockville, May 30.—A new submarine cable has been laid between Prescott and Ogdensburg for telegraphic communication.

Children Drew Plough.

Oshkosh, Wis., May 30.—The attention of the authorities was called today to the fact that four children, two boys and two girls, were hitched daily to a plough which their father guided over a garden plot near Neenah.

Mineral Found Near Chelmsford.

Chelmsford, Ont., May 30.—Gold and silver have been found within five miles of the village of Chelmsford, the ore assaying, gold, $560 to the ton; silver, $40, and cobalt, $16 to $20. The people of Chelmsford are very enthusiastic over the find, and are busy securing claims.

New Patrols in Far North.

Ottawa, May 30.—The Mounted Police department has arranged for the establishment of two patrols to Port Churchill, on Hudson Bay. One of these will etxend from Norway House, at the head of Lake Winnipeg, and the other from Cumberland House, on the Saskatchewan River. These patrols are regarded as the precursors of railway lines, which are already beginning to extend in that direction.

Zulus Given Trouble.

London, May 30.—The Pietermaritzburg correspondent of the Telegraph says that Colonel McKenzie has notified the Government that he requires 2,000 more men in order to cope with the rebellious natives. It is the opinion of those at the front that the natives will refuse to stand and fight. The prospect of prolonged guerilla warfare is certain.

AMENDMENTS TO LORD'S DAY BILL

Changes in Bill Agreed to By Sabbath Observance Association.

SATISFIES THE RAILWAYS

Trains Beginning Journey on Week Day Proceed—Ocean Vessels May Unload.

Ottawa, May 30.—The result of the meetings which have taken place between the Minister of Justice and Mr. R. V. McPherson, counsel for the Sabbath Observance Association, will be the submission of a series of amendments for consideration of the special committee who have the Lord's Day Bill in charge. The most important amendments relate to transportation.

Trains or steamships carrying freight which have begun their journey on a week day will be allowed to proceed unmolested. Express matter also can be transported, and where it consists of perishable freight the necessary icing of cars can be done in order to keep the freight in good condition.

The feeding of or caring for live stock in transit and on arrival also will be considered a work of necessity on Sunday. When snow storms occur on Sunday, railway companies will be at liberty to clear their lines in order to ensure continuous operation. Shunting and other necessary yard work will be permitted before 9 in the morning and after 9 at night.

OCEAN VESSELS MAY UNLOAD.

Where an ocean liner has been delayed by storms in reaching port and Sunday labor is vital in order to reach the English market on her return trip within schedule time no obstacle will be placed in the way. These proposed concessions with respect to transportation, to which the representatives of Sunday observance have consented are very liberal and practically meet all the objections which have been urged by the railway, steamship and express companies.

DOES NOT EFFECT QUEBEC.

It is likely that the commission will eliminate the section in the bill making certain exceptions to the operation of the province of Quebec, and instead provide that anything now permitted by the provincial statutes shall not be interfered with. The bill, as originally drafted, permitted "urgent repairs" in case of manufacturing industries. The committee will be asked to omit the word "urgent." Repairs in case of emergency will be then permissible. It is also suggested that repairs to furnaces be permitted in a manufactory where cessation of operation would result in serious injury.

Publication of Sunday newspapers and their importation from the United States will be prohibited. Work on Sunday night in the interests of newspapers appearing on Monday morning will not be interfered with.

Peterboro Actor Highly Praised

Danny Simons is Well Spoken of By U. S. Press.

Referring to a gentleman too well and favorably known in this city to require extended notice, the Newburg, N.Y., Daily News of recent issue, says;

"Danny Simons is playing with the Adam Good Company at the Academy this week and those who have seen him have been very enthusiastic over his work especially his rough rider speciality, in which Mr. Simons impersonates "Dee-lighted" Tedds in his famous charge up San Juan hill. He has been presenting that ever since the charge was made; in fact, he was the originator of it, and it is done so well and the make-up is so perfect that the mere announcement of it sends the plaudits tearing all over the house. But that is not the extent of his work for his parts have shown him remarkably versatile. Taking into consideration that Mr. Simons is not so old by many years as the late Sir Henry Irving, or some of the others, he is a very clever fellow."

This very complimentary and deservedly good account of our old time favorite is supplemented by a very life-like portrait of this former Peterboro boy.

Prosecution for Selling Liquor

Mr. Miles Wendover to Be Tried By County Magistrate Today.

On Monday High County Constable Cochrane served a summons on Miles Wendover, Cavendish township, to appear before his Worship County Magistrate Edmison today on the charge of selling liquor without a license. There are two charges preferred against the accused, but both are for the same offence, viz., the illegal selling of liquor.

Wendover will appear before his Worship at the court house this afternoon. A number of witnesses will be heard.

Mr. D. Johnston Seizes a Net

Local Fishery Inspector After Law Breakers.

On Monday night as Fish and Game Inspector David Johnston, silently paddling down the moonlit waters of our sinuous Otonabee, in search of illegal fish slaughterers, was about six miles below the locks, his experienced eyes and ears notified him that there was something doing.

Taking a careful grip of his paddle and making sure that no noise was created by the drip of water from his blade, Mr. Johnston entered a small creek emptying into the river. Here he soon located a net containing one maskinonge. By the side of a camp fire lay one individual asleep, whilst in the further distance, a crashing of undergrowth, and heavy quick footsteps denoted the flight of other law breakers. Owing to the gloomy shadows of the woodland, Mr. Johnston was unable, with any chance of success, to pursue the escaping law breakers. However, he fined the man he caught $10, letting him down light as it was a first offence. The net was of course confiscated.

Are Local New Sewers Stopped?

Mr. John Robson Says His Work in East Ward is Held Up.

There seems to be a mix-up in city contract work in the east ward. Our readers will remember that a misunderstanding exists between Contractor Jas. Bogue and the city over payments to the former for his work or the outfall sewer.

The complication arises over the sewer on Hunter street east, for which a contract of 1,000 feet was awarded to Mr. John Robson. Mr. Robson has a gang of men at work tearing up Hunter street, in pursuance of his contract, and is anxious to get the work through and the street made passable as quickly as possible. Mr. Robson was heard yesterday by a Times' representative to remark that the difficulty between Mr. Bogue and the city is resulting in his (Robson's) work being tied up, as Mr. Bogue refuses to grant him an outlet.

If such be the case an equitable arrangement should be attained between the city and Mr. Bogue, as it is manifestly unjust to Mr. Robson, and a matter of inconvenience to the city, that the streets should be indefinitely kept in a torn up condition.

Work Starts and Stops Same Day

Operations in Connection With Dom. Express Co. Building Stops.

Yesterday morning work was commenced on the extension of the C. P. R. sheds in this city, for the accommodation of the Dominion Express Company, whose business has increased so largely that more storage room is required. The new store room will be used for the express coming off the midnight and early morning trains.

The contract for this work has been awarded to Mr. John E. Webb, the Toronto contractor and his representative, Mr. Geo. W. Webb, is at present stopping in the city looking after the job.

Yesterday morning Mr. Webb had a gang of men busy excavating for the new building.

Shortly after noon work was stopped on the job. A Times representative yesterday afternoon interviewed Mr. Webb to enquire why this stoppage occurred.

It might be explained that the stoppage, erroniously rumored is resulting from a strike, is simply a personal matter having no interest except to the contractor. Work will probably be resumed in a day or two.

The remaining three innings of the St. Paul's-Charlotte street game will be played tomorrow night on Riverside Park. As these two teams are probably the best two aggregations in the city, the contest should attract a large audience.

Secrecy Urged About The N.A.T. Contract

Conservatives Were Unable to Get Much Out of Preston, Though the Famous Sealed Letter Has Been Opened.

Ottawa, May 30.—The examination of Mr. W. T. R. Preston was resumed in the Public Accounts Committee yesterday.

A cable from Lord Strathcona to the chairman was read, acknowledging the receipt of the committee's cable asking for the letter on which was based Preston's memorandum, alleging that correspondence had been taken from Mr. Ennis' office at Liverpool. Lord Strathcona's cable said that the letter had been forwarded to Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

After some protest by Mr. Barker and Mr. Northrup, who wished to continue their examination, Mr. Gervais succeeded in getting the witness to read the memorandum, dated October 26, 1899, which he submitted to Lord Strathcona outlining the proposal for the formation of the North Atlantic Trading Company, and giving the draft of the agreement and reciting the various steps in the negotiations. To this memorandum, which was very voluminous, followed a letter dated November 15, 1899, by Lord Strathcona to Mr. Sifton, reviewing the situation and stating that the legal firm of Hon. Charles Russell and Company deprecated the conclusion of such an arrangement. In the course of his letter Lord Strathcona said; "Personally I do not see that there is much difference in principle between the new scheme and that formerly in operation, excepting that the former is to be confined to a few of the booking agents." He noted that "it involves certain risks," and concluded by saying: "I need hardly point out that the new arrangement must be regarded as very confidential, and that it must not be made public in any way."

A PECULIAR INCIDENT.

An odd episode followed. Some days ago in the Agriculture Committee Mr. Preston was shown a small envelope enclosing a number of vouchers for the North Atlantic Trading Company initialled by Mr. Leopold. Across the envelope was written, in a large flowing hands, with a heavy pencil, "Not to go in."

Asked by the Conservative who examined him whether he recognized the handwriting, he said he did.

"Whose is it? Whose is it?"

"I think it is the handwriting of the secretary of the North Atlantic Trading Company."

Now the handwriting was that of Mr. J. A. Smart.

Yesterday Mr. Barker showed him the envelope again and this time Mr. Preston refused absolutely to identify the handwriting.

MR. PRESTON SURPRISED.

The examination shifted to the circumstances under which Leopold, a German Jew coming from the Continent, was taken up by Mr. Preston. The witness had been familiar all along with the work of the Farmers' Auxiliary, one of Leopold's concerns, had been aware that he was working on the Continent, and had not learned until the other day that Leopold was connected with the North Atlantic Trading Company. He might have thought of it; he was surprised that it had not occurred to him that such a connection must exist. The Conservatives of the committee commented on the fact that the North Atlantic Trading company was getting the bonus for all agricultural immigrants, and that Leopold was getting immigrants on the Continent.

ROY SOMERVILLE'S SHARE.

Soon after a squabble arose between Mr. Barker and Mr. Fielding with the auditor-general as cause. The examination had shifted to the payments for printing to the Arundel Printing Company, otherwise Mr. Roy Somerville, and the auditor-general was asked to produce the cheques to this company.

When the cheques came it developed that one of the cheques had been cashed at Hamburg by Mr. Karlshad, a member of the North Atlantic Trading Company. Another cheque of Somerville's was cashed by Leopold. The latter was news to Mr. Preston.

THE SEALED LETTER OPENED.

Further discussion of Karlsburg brought up again the question of the membership of the company, and Mr. Preston said that yesterday he saw for the first time the list of shareholders. He adhered to his refusal to divulge the names. It would appear from this that permission had been obtained to open the famous letter with the five seals.

Further wrangling of a technical nature ensued, and then Mr. Barker closed his examination until after Mr. Griffith and Mr. Jury have been examined.

Mr. Belcourt asked Mr. Preston if he had addressed a meeting at Wolverhampton, and he denied it. It appeared that Mr. Belcourt had received a letter signed "Victim," asserting that he had addressed such a meeting apparently in the interests of the Canadian Manufacturers Association.

Lunatic Taken To Brockville

Guard Ferguson of the Asylum Takes Crazy Man Back.

Yesterday a guard from the Brockville Insane Asylum, by name Ferguson, arrived in the city, and took back with him the lunatic named Pursey, who as noted in yesterday's morning paper exclusively, was arrested on Monday in Lakefield by Constable Doidge of that village.

Mr. Ferguson noted that this man Pursey is a very violent patient, who during his detention of the past eight years required much watching. It might be added that yesterday a Times' representative, noticing that Pursey's nose showed undeniable evidence of contact with terra firma of a block of wood or other hard substance, asked him how he hurt it. "Oh," said the poor fellow, "that sore is due to the large earthworms in my head." The reporter asked, "Are there earthworms in your brain, Pursey?" "Yes," replied the man. "You ought to know that my brain is full of big worms. I can feel them creeping about. Just put your hand here," pointing to his fore head, "and you will feel them crawling about." It was a sad case, and Pursey is far better off under restraint, than at large. Constable Doidge of Lakefield, is deserving of great credit for his arrest.

Railton Murderer's Body Stolen

Kingston, May 30.—A new and startling phase of the double tragedy at Railton, has taken place in the disappearance of the body of John Joyce, the wife murderer and suicide. It is supposed that the body fell into the hands of medical students. It was in the log enclosure in rear of the Wood hut, at ten o'clock yesterday morning, and, therefore, was carried off in broad daylight, while members of the family were keeping watch over the remains of the dead wife inside.

The township would have had to bury Joyce's remains, and no one is worrying over the disappearance of the body.

The scene at the inquest yesterday afternoon was peculiar. Some of the witnesses, relatives and connections of the Wood family, laughed in their ignorance while under cross-examination by the coroner. Eli Peters, the man who three weeks before went off with the dead girl's mother, did not seem to think he had done anything wrong. The inquest scenes were strange indeed, and the loose methods of life prevalent among certain families shocked those accustomed to ordinary ways of civilization.

DOINGS AT MADRID

Being married is usually an ordeal from which the apprehensive groom shrinks and trembles, while the happy bride takes to it as a duck to water. The Man in the case doesn't amount to much and is fairly miserable until the thing is over with and he can get back into his working clothes and look his fellows squarely in the face. The Woman sighs that there should be an end to the preparations and reluctantly bids her bridesmaids goodby. But over in Spain young Alfonso appears to be having the times of his life. All affairs of mere statesmanship are submerged in the gala celebration into which the proud Castillians have plunged.

Alfonso and Ena have finished their preliminary billing and cooing and are in a frenzy of activity. A wedding of a king in Spain is of mighty importance and everybody seems to have stopped business except the hotel keepers and the florists. It is interesting to read about the fun the boy king is getting out of all this. He looks upon it as a picnic and he is the soul and center of the whole business. He is not bashfully hanging back as though it were his funeral and not his wedding that is in anticipation. No "after you, my dear Gaston" for Alfonso. It only remains to be seen if, as they say of a man condemned to the gallows, he "will be game to the last."

Madrid is filled with distinguished guests and the florists of the Canary Islands are filling the order for 1,200 tons of flowers. Everywhere is bustle and excitement, and envoys are being banqueted with nightly splendor that will take much of the starch out of some of the guests before the principal event. A great British battleship brought Princess Ena from England, and from the moment she crossed the frontier until after the ceremony she will be in a bewildering confusion of excitement. She have had no part in the fun of arranging her own wedding. This was all cut out centuries ago and tradition is to be followed to the slightest detail. The poor princess has never been consulted by anybody about anything. When it was decided that she should wed the king it made not the slightest difference to the premiers what she thought about it. It was an affair of state. She was even compelled to go through the farce of changing her religious beliefs. But soon it will be over and the music will cease, the lights go out and the curtain will fall. The play will be ended.

A good many things happened in San Francisco. Antonio Companis, when the quake came, with a number of other Italians, was at the fish market. Most of the men knelt in prayer while the building crumbled about them, but Companis rushed into the large refrigerator and slammed the door after him. As the door could not be opened from the inside, he was cut off from all escape. Fire raged on all sides for many hours, and then the building was blown up with dynamite, but the refrigerator remained intact. When the building was searched for bodies by the marines and soldiers, no one thought of looking in the refrigerator. On the eighth day, however, some of Companis's companions remembered seeing the man enter the vault, and they broke open the door. Companis was found lying on the floor and was dragged into the street, where he died a few moments later.

Former Local Divine Mentioned

Rev. W. M. Mackays Appointment in Toronto.

The Toronto News says:

Rev. W. M. Mackay, who for some months past was assistant minister in St. Paul's Presbyterian church, Peterboro, has been appointed secretary of the University of Toronto Y.M.C.A. and has entered upon his duties. Mr. Mackay had intended to pursue a course of study in the Old Country this year, but was prevented from doing so by the serious illness of his father. The advisory board of the Y.M.C.A. then offered him the secretaryship, which he accepted. Mr. Mackay is a graduate of Knox College and the University of Toronto.

LONDON'S TOLL OF FIRES.

Fourteen Million Gallons of Water Used to Put Out Flames.

One hundred persons lost their lives and 269 were injured by fires in the County of London last year, according to the annual report of the London fire brigade for 1905.

Of those who lost their lives, forty-six were under eight years of age, and fourteen over sixty. No fewer than sixty-seven were dead or had been removed before the brigade was called.

Excluding chimney fires, the total number of fires reported to the brigade was 2,511, or 105 less than in the previous year. The number classified as serious was sixty-four, or only 1.82 per cent. of the total.

Thirty-eight lives endangered by fire were saved by the efforts of the firemen. The number of accidents to firemen due to service was 194.

The quantity of water used for extinguishing fires in the County of London during the year was fourteen million gallons, or 62,500 tons. Of this quantity more than one-third was taken from the river, canals, and docks, and the remainder from the street pipes.

The gross amount insured against fire in respect of property in the County of London is £1,023,641,470. The expenditure of the fire brigade during the year was £76,959 2s 3d, on maintenance. This means that the expenditure on the brigade was approximately .03 per cent. of the gross amount for which property in London was insured against fire.

"The satisfactory results attained," the Fire Brigade Committee of the London County Council declare, "are doubtless due in great measure to the augmentation of the staff and appliances of the brigade, and of the facilities for ensuring rapid and efficient mobilisation."

Much valuable time, the committee add, is often lost in summoning the brigade.

"To remedy this as far as possible, great attention is being paid to increasing the facilities for calling the brigade, and to making these facilities known to the public. The number of fire alarms in the public thoroughfares has been steadily increased, having risen from 358 in 1889 to 1,150 at the end of 1905."

Captain Hamilton, in his annual report as chief of the fire brigade, expresses satisfaction that in spite of the greater fire risks, owing to the storage of petrol and inflammable material, there has been no increase in the number of serious fires.

"It cannot be too strongly impressed on the inhabitants of London," he says, "that, in the event of fire, however trivial the outbreak may appear to be, the fire brigade should be immediately called, there being no charge for attendance, except in the case of chimney fires."

CHAPTER V.

IN the Swan tavern, which lifted its yellow Holland brick front and peaked shingle roof not far from the Yorktown river front, the candles had been early lighted that night. There, as day fainted out, supping at his ease at a table in the long parlor, sat a man of middle age whose effrontery and insolence had long ago earned him cordial hatred throughout Williamsburg. He was Captain Foy, aid to Governor Dunmore.

He looked up as another guest entered and dropped his knife clattering.

"Jarrat!" he cried. "I thought you were in London!"

"So I was; so I was, but I am returned today," Jarrat answered easily. "How goes it at Williamsburg, Captain Foy? And how does Governor Dunmore with that ant hill of disloyalty?"

"He is away with the troops to quell the Indians on the Pennsylvania boundary. He will not see Williamsburg again before November. You stayed not long abroad. I heard you were gone for a year of off duty pleasuring."

"These Virginias get in the blood." Jarrat simulated a sigh. "I have lost the old land love, I fear."

He did not see fit to tell the true reason of his sea voyage or that he had been more in Paris than in London. He was a more subtle servant of Dunmore's than the governor's aid, who dreamed he knew all of the great man's mind.

"What has happened since I left, captain?" he finished.

The other got up, pulled the door to carefully and came back. "Jarrat, I wonder if I shall ever see you royal governor of this colony you love so well."

"Ah!" said the secretary.

Jarrat had risen with an exclamation.

"Sit down, man," said Foy. "'Odsbobs! 'Tis a fair enough ambition. Why not? You are young, and you can do much yet for Lord Dunmore. The king rewards his servants. Demme, I like you the better for aiming high! Stranger things have happened. Methinks Mistress Tillotson would not frown as upon a royal governor, eh?"

Jarrat sat down again. It is a harrowing moment when one's most secret thought is laid bare at a slash. He waited to hear what the other might say.

"Affairs are awry here," Foy continued, "and I must overtake the governor with advices. Meanwhile there is an important matter I intend to tell you. I judge I can speak plain. You may be able to assist in a delicate undertaking, and you can rest easy Dunmore will not be ungrateful, nor will the king neither."

A keenness came into Jarrat's face. "Say on," he said.

"Very well. Here it is in a nutshell. As you perchance know, Lord Stormont in Paris has been at much pains to keep informed of the feeling in the French court. He has lately reported a growing danger. That rascally son of a tinker, Beaumarchais, whose schemes so tickled the fancy of the old king, has been buzzing about Louis XVI. to some purpose. De Vergennes, his dog of a councilor, was always itching to comfort the colonies. Well, the matter has come to a head, and France's aid is in a fair way to be pledged in the near future to the colonies. Egad, Jarrat, as the rebels' congress knew all that is in the wind at Versailles they would split themselves with joy!"

"I warrant," said the listener, noncommittal.

"Louis," pursued Foy, "is pretty well assured of affairs in the north, thanks to that renegade Franklin, but as to the Virginias he is not so certain. So he is sending over one of his noble popinjays to see for him and report. 'Twas rumored in Paris that the envoy was to be the Marquis de la Trouette."

"I have heard of the gentleman," said Jarrat, with careful deliberation. "Another young puppet of Marie Antoinette's, and a worse republican than Beaumarchais. And you think he will report that Virginia is ripe for insurrection?"

"Think! Why, the whole colony is a seethe of it. To be sure he will. Trust the courtier to smooth the king the way he would be smoothed."

"When does the gentleman arrive?"

"A fortnight since word came hither by the Royal George that he was soon to take ship."

Jarrat smiled beneath his hand. Knowing himself so close to the governor's confidence, he could afford to be amused. Moreover, he had had more than one meeting while abroad with Lord Stormont in regard to this same matter. Foy's hangman's humor, however, made him a favorite with Lord Dunmore, and it was still worth Jarrat's while to cultivate him.

"I am flattered that you confide in me," he said. "But what will you do with him when he comes? You cannot seize his person."

"Why not?" cried Foy petulantly. "There's more to his coming than that, Jarrat. He will report 'aye' to this venture of the king. Well, Louis

Diamonds and Diamond Mining

It would be difficult to name a commercial commodity representing a more tangible basis of intrinsic value than a diamond. Diamonds are enhancing in value yearly—the demand for them is ever increasing—and the diamond market shows a remarkably healthy condition.

Very little is known in this country by the general public about diamond mining, and the vast returns from it. All are more or less familiar with the mining of gold, silver, copper, zinc, lead, &c., &c., and know the immense fortunes that are realized yearly from them, and the enormous source of wealth which they represent to the country annually. Yet as a matter of fact the most profitable mining enterprises of the world are those devoted to the mining of diamonds, and in London, the great financial centre of the world, this is well understood, and diamond mining securities are an important factor in financial operations there.

The two most profitable commercial institutions in the world today are the De Beers and Premier diamond mining companies of South Africa, which pay fabulous returns on even the present price of the stock, which has enhanced in value many times during the last few years.

THE COLONIAL DIAMOND MINING COMPANY

controlled largely by Boston capital, own in British Guiana, South America, a property containing 42 mines which, during the six months we have been operating it, has paid over 50 per cent. profit, and that after expending large sums for machinery and mining appurtenances. From careful tests made during these six months we have demonstrated that we have a larger diamond field than either the De Beers or Premier Diamond Mining Companies, and that each laborer we employ produces larger results than the African laborers. We also know positively that our property will produce three times as much per cubic yard of dirt as the South African mines. We also have the priceless advantage of a healthy climate and an unlimited supply of water—two essential factors in success.

This company is conducting a legitimate business enterprise upon business principles and we court the fullest investigation of our enterprise. The property being on British territory and conducted under the strict laws governing all mining operations carried on in British domains, detailed information relative to it may be obtained from the commissioner of lands and mines, who receives from a government inspector on the grounds the actual condition and production of the property. Thus our production is a matter of official record and may be obtained at all times from this authentic source.

To provide the necessary capital to increase our production 10 fold, we are offering a block of $100,000 of our stock at par, $10 per share. When it is considered that we paid $220,000 in cash for our property, which we own outright, it must be admitted that $100,000 is not an excessive amount of stock to issue, and is all that we will offer for sale.

The undersigned will be pleased to have parties interested in legitimate investments call at our office, where we can supply much valuable information relative to diamond mining. If not convenient to call, write for prospectus.

100 PER CENT. ADVANCE JUNE 1

Present Price of Stock FIVE Cents per Share

If you want to get in on the ground floor before the price advances to 10 Cents per share, NOW IS YOUR CHANCE

When The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Company was organized the officers of the company foresaw the certainty of a big mining boom in Clear Creek County, Colorado, U.S.A., and they congratulated themselves on securing a property which showed 1,500 feet of development work, and could be classed with the MINES of the region.

The steady increase in the mineral production of the county, new strikes, the development of old mines at depth (proving the continuity of the ore bodies and the increased richness of the ores), the availability of mining supplies, the abundance of water the great amount of timber for mining and fuel, the adaptability of the topography for deep tunnel mining, and the large number of milling and smelting plants, means that the district possesses all the elements of successful and economical mining.

It was a foregone conclusion that investors would awake to a realization of the conditions, and inaugurate a new boom in 1906. It is but natural that they should desire to place their money in a locality that shows more PROVEN MINES than prospects, and where the chances for speedy returns are greater than the chances of loss. Because of economic conditions money will go farther in development work and bring RESULTS quicker. Many new companies have recently been organized, foremost among them being The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co. Stock in all Clear Creek County companies is finding a ready market among both Eastern and Western investors, and in consequence The Gold Leaf Mining, Milling & Drainage Co forestalled the boom by securing one of the best mining propositions in the locality, consisting of 16 mining claims, situated on Standard Mountain, in the Ohio and Jackson Mining District, two and one-half miles south of Idaho Springs. The Gold Leaf properties are credited with a past production of $75,000, and the tunnel is being steadily driven toward the rich ore bodies from whence former shipments were made. The old workings are now drowned with water which the tunnel will drain and also give unlimited stoping ground for the ores. Surrounding mines have produced over $11,500,000. Now is the time to purchase stock. When we re-open our ore the opportunity will be lost to investors.

Don't overlook this exceptional opportunity! Think of the acreage; Think of the development work done; Think of the past ore production; Think of the future possibilities; Think of investing—THEN ACT AT ONCE!

Sufficient stock subscriptions have already been received to carry our Frontier Tunnel a distance of 600 feet, or to the Standard Vein, from which point ore shipments will be resumed. Future stock subscriptions will be applied on the purchase of a power plant or on contracts to facilitate the work of driving the tunnel.

Our General Manager estimates that the completion of the tunnel will place at our disposal OVER FOUR MILES OF ORE, aggregating 96,000,000 tons.

ABOUT FEMALE AILMENTS

Not Hard to Cure if Properly and Promptly Treated.

Ask any intelligent physician what causes nine-tenths of all female diseases, even including anaemia, nervousness and consumption.

Back comes the answer quick and sharp "Constipated Bowels."

There is scarcely a single female ailment that had not in its earlier stages symptoms of constipation.

How much better off the system is without the poisonous accumulations caused by constipation. How much clearer the complexion, how much fresher one feels when the system is pure and clean.

Think it over yourself.

Isn't it apparent that a bowel regulator and liver stimulant like Dr. Hamilton's Pills is sure to do good?

Gay spirits, good looks and happy health have returned to many a sick woman through Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

Better get a few boxes today; purely vegetable, free from injurious ingredients, healthful and antiseptic. Dr Hamilton's Pills will assist you in a thousand ways.

An delay is always dangerous, your plain duty is to follow the example of Mrs. F. Rowe, who sends the following letter from Gravels, Port Au Port, Newfoundland. "Four years ago I got kidney and bladder trouble. I thought it was 'female trouble and treated it accordingly. Even my doctor in St John said it was so.

"In reading about Dr. Hamilton's Pills I noticed symptoms like mine and I bought six boxes. These pills went right to work on my sick condition and helped me from the first. My supposed female trouble, which was bladder disease, was cured. My weight increased eight pounds and never before was I as well as today. Dr. Hamilton's Pills did it all."

All dealers sell Dr. Hamilton's Pills, 25c. per box or five boxes for $1.00. By mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., or Kingston, Ont.

Blackguards Disturb a Family.

On Monday night a sample of hoodlumism, fortunately rare in this city, was in evidence on Division St. near Dublin street. The residents of a house in that vicinity were badly frightened by the actions of four men. About midnight they aroused the occupants by pounding at the door. To repeated enquiries by the head of the family as to their business they refused to answer, and on being threatened, they left the premises and the occupants again retired.

A short time afterwards, however, they returned, and again caused a disturbance. Now that the police force has been augmented, such hoodlums should be watched.

Fishermen's Stories Disagree.

How is it that when a Times' man interviews, separately, several members of a party which on Monday went to Biesgard's Station after brook trout, one of the party assured him that their catch amounted to 43 whilst another, interviewed shortly afterwards, modestly admitted catching 74? Where the consistency of the various stories agreed on, came in, was the unusually large size of the trout caught. After interrogating the members of the party, Mr. W. Snowden, an expert fisherman, remarked that the catch of this party made him think of imported sardines. Truly the credibility of the average fisherman in these parts is subject to a large discount.

Of Interest to Local Fishermen

Hatchery May Be Established on Kawartha Lakes.

The Ontario Government Fishery Department has just issued their 7th annual report for 1905, from which we learn that;

Overseer Merriam, Harwood, Rice Lake reports that the fish luring the spawning season were as plentiful as usual. Only one violation came to his notice during the close season. The fishing was good and everyone was satisfied. Many tourists expressing their intention of coming again next year. In regard to the fee of one dollar for American tourists he thinks that it would only be fair for each and every one to pay a fee of one dollar before putting a line into the water, and if they were caught fishing before taking out a permit to charge them two dollars or enforce a penalty.

Overseer Shewen, Mount Julian, Peterboro County, reports that another successful season has closed which has given keen enjoyment to many sportsmen. He thinks the department will have to consider some means of re-stocking the lakes with fish. If a hatchery were constructed at Burleigh Falls it would be an untold benefit to this district. He calls the attention of the department to the place mentioned as being a natural spot for such an institution, and hopes that the Department will look at the matter in a serious light, with the object of constructing the hatchery at an early date for the preservation of the fishing grounds in the Kawartha Lakes. He patrolled his district and found no illegal fishing.

Insurance Agents In Session Here

Representatives of G. W. Life Assurance Co. Meet Here.

The agents for the Peterboro district of the Great West Life Assurance Company were in session yesterday at the local offices of the company in the Bank of Commerce building. About twenty were in attendance, among those present being Mr. A. Jardine of Winnipeg, secretary of the company, and Mr. J. O. McArthur of Winnipeg, manager for Ontario. The convention was called for the purpose of discussing the business of the company in this district, with special reference to field work, it being felt that a meeting of the company's agents would be beneficial to all concerned. Mr. H. P. Lindsay, local manager of the company was congratulated upon the eminent success he has met with here.

Last night the agents held an informal conquet at McCallum's restaurant, which concluded the convention.

Local Man's Success in Chicago.

Best, son of Mr. John Best, Donegal street, is a member of the graduate class of 1906 of the Chicago College of Dental Surgery, the 24th annual commencement exercises of which were held yesterday afternoon in Garrick Theater. Dr. Best's many friends in the city will learn with pleasure of his success in the Windy City.

57th Regiment Band Noticed.

Belleville Intelligencer says: Talking of city bands and their encouragement, it is worthy of note that the city of Peterboro gives the 57th Regiment Band a yearly grant of $500, besides providing them with a room for practice, heated and lighted. This is said to be worth $150 more, making a total of $650 per annum. In return the band gives thirteen concerts in one of the city parks in summer.

Do You Want to Know What You Swallow?

There is a growing sentiment in this country in favor of MEDICINES OF KNOWN COMPOSITION. It is but natural that one should have some interest in the composition of that which he or she is expected to swallow, whether it be food, drink or medicine.

Recognizing this growing disposition on the part of the public, and satisfied that the fullest publicity can only add to the well-earned reputation of his medicines, Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., has "taken time by the forelock," as it were, and is publishing broadcast a list of all the ingredients entering into his leading medicines, the "Golden Medical Discovery" the popular liver invigorator, stomach tonic, blood purifier and heart regulator; also of his "Favorite Prescription" for weak, over-worked, broken-down, nervous and invalid women.

This bold and out-spoken movement on the part of Dr. Pierce, has, by showing exactly what his well-known medicines are composed of, completely disarmed all harping critics who have heretofore unjustly attacked them. A little pamphlet has been compiled, from the standard medical authorities of all the several schools of practice, showing the strongest endorsements by leading medical writers of the several ingredients which enter into Dr. Pierce's medicines. A copy of this little book is mailed free to any one desiring to learn more concerning the valuable, native, medicinal plants which enter into the composition of Dr. Pierce's medicines. Address Dr. Pierce as above.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are tiny, sugar-coated anti-bilious granules. They regulate and invigorate Stomach, Liver and Bowels. Do not forget the "pill habit," but cure constipation. One or two each day for a laxative and regulator, three or four for an active cathartic. Once tried always in favor.

$50,000 GIVEN AWAY, in copies of The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, a book that sold to the extent of 500,000 copies a few years ago, at $1.50 per copy. Last year we gave away 680,000 worth of these invaluable books. This year we shall give away 650,000 worth of them. Will you share in this benefit? If so, send only 21 one-cent stamps to cover cost of mailing only, for book in paper covers, or 50 stamps for cloth-bound. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Mr. P. Heffernan Passes Away

Respected Citizen Dead After Three Years' Illness.

The many friends of the late Mr. Patrick Heffernan will doubtless not only feel deep regret over his death on Monday night, but attend his funeral in large numbers at 9 o'clock this morning to St. Peter's Cathedral and thence to the Roman Catholic cemetery.

The late Mr. Heffernan, was a highly respected citizen and had a large number of friends in the city. Mr. Heffernan had suffered from throat trouble for nearly three years, but was able to be up and around until a short time ago. He was 51 years of age, and was born in Otonabee, but had lived in Peterboro since he was ten years of age. He was a member of St. Peter's T.A.S. and the C.M.B.A., and had held office in these organizations, almost since their inception.

Mr. Heffernan is survived by his wife and five children, two daughters, Misses Annie and Margaret, and three sons, Messrs. Joseph, Herbert and Francis, all of Peterboro. The other surviving relatives are his mother, Mrs. Michael Heffernan, of Peres township; four brothers, Michael and Thomas, of Percy township, and John and James, of Williston, North Dakota; and three sisters, Mrs. John Lamey and Mrs. Jas. Grain, of Percy, and Mrs. Michael Sullivan, of Sydney township.

English Immigrants Here.

Yesterday afternoon some amusement was caused by a procession headed by a typical Cockney and his wife, following his family, as they went down George street. The woman, whose hair showed a long separation from brush and comb carried a baby in arms. A numerous brood of children came after them. One little fellow, evidently tired out began to cry, whereupon his elder brother, perhaps 12 years of age, took the little chap on his back and carried him for several blocks, whilst the man walked serenely along, a bull dog pipe in his mouth being the only burden he bore.

SOUTH AMERICAN WAR NOW IN FULL SWING

Guatemala is Being Invaded By the Former President

Armies Enter Country From Four Different Routes.

Mexico City, May 30.—Guatemala is in full state of revolution. Four bodies of troops led by skilled and determined men having crossed her borders. The revolutionists are being received with joy by many of the people among whom they are marching, and it would seem that the rule of President Carbeira is an end.

The quadruple invasion has taken the government entirely by surprise. They knew that dissatisfaction was widespread, and unexpected trouble from the Salvador frontier, but not from other quarters.

General Manuel Larande Barillas, the leader of the revolution, is a man of sixty years of age, was formerly president, and is said to be the only president of Guatemala who did not try to prolong his term. The people in the hill region, where he belongs, are said to be loyal to him, while the English and American planters, who have suffered from the tyranny of Carbeira, are in sympathy with the revolution.

General Barillas went to San Francisco after his expulsion from his plantations four years ago, and recently came to Mexico. Accompanied by General Jose Leon Castillo, who was President Estrada's opponent at the presidential election, seven years ago, General Barillas left Mexico and the two men, disguised as American prospectors, to a point on the Mexican frontier, whither they had shipped arms as mining machinery.

General Barillas himself crossed the frontier on Sunday at Metozlink, with 200 cavalry, and 700 rifles.

He headed for Quitratlange, which is garrisoned by Guatamalean regulars, who are said to be disaffected and ready to receive Barillas with joy. All along the road he has been gaining recruits from his own and neighboring coffee plantations.

General Castillo captured the important town of Ocos, considered the best strategic point on the frontier. He was met with enthusiasm by the people, while the troops joined his standard. He had with him five hundred men, and plenty of supplies.

On Sunday also, General Pineda, a stalwart soldier and typical Guatamalean revolutionists, with five hundred hardened fighters, came in from British Honduras, and invaded the province of Peten. He expects to rally the Indians of that province to the cause of Barillas.

TWO OTHER COUNTRIES INVOLVED

Early on Monday, General Toledo, former Minister of War in Guatamala, crossed into Guatamala with two thousand troops including regular troops of Salvador and refugees from Carbeira's tyranny. This body is well supplied with modern weapons and is well drilled. The act constitutes a declaration of war by Salvador.

Nicaragua, another neighboring state, has also practically declared war by sending a warship from New Orleans to Puerto Barrios, the sea terminus of Guatamala, to intercept Carbeira, should he attempt to escape that way.

The revolutionists are well provided with money, and sedition is widespread against President Carbeira, so that their success seems assured. The Empire State left San Francisco on May 14th with five hundred desperate fighters and five thousand rifles. These have been utilized, and with the contributions of the planters and the recruiting done along the line of march, the Barillas party is quite confident of success.

GENERALS ISSUED PROCLAMATION.

On crossing the line, Sunday, General Barillas and Castillo distributed a proclamation to the people, referring to Cabrera as "the most calamitous figure of our contemporaneous history, who, having possessed himself of the power by crime, has perpetuated himself therein by a chain of crimes."

They continued by declaring for true liberty, and protection of individuals against arbitrary imprisonment, torture and executions without trial. The proclamation also expresses a desire to cultivate friendly relations with sister republics and other countries, by settling all claims, so that foreigners may live in Guatamala as in any other civilized country.

Bishop O'Connor In Lindsay

His Lordship on Parochial Work in Peterboro's Suburbs.

Lindsay Post says;

His Lordship Bishop O'Connor, of Peterboro, was in town yesterday, the guest of Ven. Archdeacon Casey, and in the course of a visit to the convent and boys' separate schools took occasion to say some encouraging words to the young scholars. His lordship was on his return journey from Bobcaygeon, where he administered the rite of confirmation to a large number of candidates on Sunday. During the afternoon a number of our leading citizens called on the bishop, and enjoyed a half hour's conversation with him.

Injured at a Barn Raising.

Madoc Review says; Mr. Wilson Bailey was the victim of what might have proved a very serious accident on Monday afternoon. While assisting at a barn raising at Mr. Danford's, a piece of timber fell and struck him on the head, inflicting a painful wound. He was taken to Dr Harper and the injury dressed, fortunately it not being of a very serious nature, and Mr. Bailey may be expected to be around as usual in a few days.

The Cavendish Case Enlarged

North Country Former Charged With Selling Liquor Illegially.

Yesterday afternoon a whisky case was heard by County Police Magistrate Edmison, wherein Nelson Windover, of the township of Cavandish was charged on two counts with having this month, sold liquor illegally, Windover not having a license. High County Constable Cochrane conducted the case for the prosecution.

R. H. Woods, of Tweed, the first witness, was in Cavendish, working for the Dickson Co. He and William Kilman on the 7th of May, were at prisoner's place, when he bought a $1 bottle of whisky. The flask produced by Mr. Wood in court and nothing to do with that day. Windover gave him a glass of whisky on the premises, but did not charge for it.

To Mr. Hatch, his business is that of general workman. First saw prisoner on 8th of May. He hired defendant to bring him to Peterboro. He left the Dickson Co. because he got the sack. He with others walked to Windover's place, arriving about 9 a.m.

Made a bargain with Windover at $1.50 each to drive them to Peterboro. Got back there on Sunday, May 6th. Was hired again at Buckhorn for the Dickson Co. Windover drove them back. Three of them went back, but one, with whom they quarrelled stayed in town. Left Peterboro at nine a.m., Sunday with Windover. Got to Buckhorn at 12. Had drinks en route, out of two bottles. Drank both bottles between here and Ketchuecum. Got to Windover's about six p.m. and slept there. Next morning went to the woods. Had a drink at six o'clock a.m. Was subpoenaed on Tuesday. Elmer was in the barn the Sunday night the worse of liquor. Saw Elmer between five and six on Monday in the barn. Mr. Windover gave him and Engle a drink at the house.

Mr. Hatton for the defendant, made a long cross-examination of this witness, which did not materially change his evidence.

The court adjourned at 4.15 for about an hour, and then got to work again. Several more witnesses were heard, whose evidence went to show that possibly the defendant may only have acted as an agent in purchasing the whisky for those who drank it. Shortly after 10 p.m. the case was enlarged until this evening.

Leaves Regiopolis.

A despatch received last night from Kingston, says; William Brick, B.A., principal of Regiopolis College, after nine years' service has resigned, and will move to Los Angeles for the benefit of his health. He has been teaching for twenty years in Haldimand County, his native place, Peterboro, Ottawa, and Kingston. He was very successful at all these places. He is well known in fraternal circles.

Married Convict Within Jail

Detroit, Mich., May 31. — Married within a bleak jail cell with scant ceremony, the honeymoon of Thos. Walsh will be spent within the walls of Marquette Penitentiary. He is the wayward son of wealthy and influential parents in Montreal, Que., and was sentenced yesterday in the Kent Circuit Court to an indeterminate term in State prison, nor more than five years, nor less than two and a half years, for burglary. He is 24 years old, handsome, and exceedingly well educated.

The bride was Miss Cora Ellis, a beautiful young woman who knew Walsh in Canada some years ago, before either came to the United States. They were sweethearts in childhood. Her friends sought to dissuade her from marrying a convicted felon, but she refused to listen to their arguments or appeals. She declared that she will remain true to her husband until his release, when both will go back to the Dominion and bury the past. Walsh was taken to Marquette this afternoon to begin his sentence.

The marriage ceremony was performed by Justice Frank J. Cook, the sheriff and prosecuting attorney acting as witnesses.

The Famous "Deadwood Dick" Is Dead

Denver, Col., May 31.—A despatch from Cripple Creek says that Frank Palmer, said to be the original "Deadwood Dick" of dime novel fame, died in the county hospital here yesterday of pneumonia. According to the despatch, Palmer was a nephew of former Secretary John M. Palmer, and claimed relationship to the late Potter Palmer of Chicago.

When 17 years old, Palmer left home and drifted west. He went to Deadwood, S.D., in the early days of that camp, and became a successful gambler, and the sports of that mining camp dubbed him "Deadwood Dick, the Plunger." He drifted into Cripple Creek nine years ago. Reverses in fortune came, and for eight years he sold chewing gum and candy which he carried around in a shoe box.

Bartenders Are Protected By Law

Regulations Regarding Wine-Clerks Holding Licenses.

Following are the sections of the Ontario License Act relating to bartenders and their duties;

Clause 2 says; No keeper of a licensed tavern (tavern in any city of town, or in any locality, shall employ any bartender, or permit any person to act as such in or upon his licensed premises, who is not during the whole time he is employed, or permitted to act, the holder of a bartender's license, as provided by this section.

The penalty provided for an offence by any bartender is a fine of not less than $10 or more than $20 and cancellation of his license, and for a second offence of any nature within two years the license shall ipso facto become void and the former holder shall not thereafter be eligible to hold a license under the Act for two years.

Clause 8.—Any bartender who shall sell or deliver, or cause to be sold or delivered, any liquor in contravention of any of the provisions of this act, or the Liquor License Act, etc., to any person whomsoever, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding $20, or to imprisonment for one month.

Mr. Tom. Boddy in the City.

Yesterday Mr. George Herbert, C.P.R. agent at Credit Forks, Ont., and Mr. Thos. E. Boddy, formerly up town C.P.R. ticket agent here, but now engaged in fruit farming, were in the city for a few days. Mr. Herbert is one of the oldest employes of the C.P.R., having entered the service, together with Mr. Boddy, when that company purchased the Credit Valley R.R. These gentlemen are the guests of Mr. W. Snowden, the genial proprietor of the garnavsary of that ilk, who will assuredly do all in his power, and he knows how, to give these gentlemen a good time while in the city.

Lindsay Wants More Gas Light

It Seems That Promoters of a Gas Co. There May Fail to Connect.

Lindsay Post says:

"Any citizens have been asking "what about the gas proposition?" According to the agreement entered into between last year's council and Mr. L. E. Dancy, promoter of the company, a start was to have been made on construction work about June 1st, and the system was to be in operation by Nov. 1st, but things have gone slightly awrey, and Mr. Dancy arrived in town today to interview the members of council and leading citizens respecting the franchise.

We understand from Mr. Dancy that owing to the unexpected withdrawal of Mr. Peter Ryan of Toronto from the little band of financiers interested, he felt it his duty to make an effort to interest local capital in the promising venture, and with that object in view has secured a meeting of the council of the Board of Trade to be held in the office of Mr. D. Ray, secretary of the water commissioners, tomorrow, Wednesday, evening, at eight o'clock.

Dog Poisoners Again at Work

Valued Dog of Mr. A. Rountree is Killed By Mean Underhand Work.

Yesterday morning, Mr. Arthur Rountree, the well known George street grocer, was, if not mourning, at least sad. It seems that his dog "Jerry," a cross between—but we will not go too finely into his pedigree, on the axiom, "De mortinis nil nisi bonum"—was poisoned in the morning "Jerry" has caused many a customer of Mr. Rountree's, to thoroughly enjoy poor Jerry's usual mad chase after the cash box flying along the overhead wire to the office. This matter of cowardly poisoning of dogs in general, whether good or bad should be investigated, and such contemptible poisoners brought to the severest justice.

Not only was Mr. Rountree a sufferer by dog poisoners, but yesterday a valuable greyhound belonging to Messrs. McCollum, the Water street livery men, poisoned to death, and a thoroughbred collie belonging to Dr. Poole, V.S., Water street, a fox terrier of Mr. J. Brigg's, Brock street, a coach dog of Mr. Swift, of the Singer Sewing Machine Co., and a collie dog belonging to Mr. Ackerman also fell victims to the dog poisoners.

Whilst it is undoubted that certain people are annoyed by strange dogs crossing their lawns, or disturbing their flower-beds, it is too mean for expression to poison valuable dogs, on which the taxes have been paid, broadcast.

WIFE DESERTER ARRESTED.

Detroit, Mich., May 31. — Charged with wife abandonment, Henry Burrell of Chatham, Ont., aged 30 years, was arrested yesterday, and later turned over to Provincial Constable Maloney, of Windsor. He will be sent back to Chatham.

Faithless Wife Skips With Her Lover

Mrs. Wescott 366 Sherbrooke Street, Gone With A. Penrose to Orillia, Her Little Son With Her.

Peterboro has a real live matrimonial scandal in her midst, wherein a faithless wife, accompanied by her five-year-old boy, skips out for Orillia with another man.

The deserted husband is Mr. E. Wescott, a junk dealer, doing business at 366 Sherbrook street.

The whole history of the case, as related by the (seemingly) not broken hearted husband is as follows:

A few days before the 24th of May Wescott's wife went up town in the morning and did not return, as usual in the evening. Next day Wescott, who had walked the streets the preceding day until 11 p.m., made a thorough search of the likely places to find the absent wife. Meeting an acquaintance, a carter named Fredenburg, he asked, "Is my wife at your house?" to which Fredenburg answered "Yes." Wescott went to Fredenburg's residence. Then he asked a boy who answered the door, "Is my wife here;" to this the boy answered, "No, she has not been here for a long time." Mrs. Wescott, however, insisted on gaining admission, relying on what Fredenburg had told him. At this juncture Mrs. Fredenburg told him his wife had been there, but gone. She offered to allow Wescott to search the house for his wife. This Wescott did, looking through every room in the house, upstairs and downstairs. At last he went to the stable to continue the search and here he found his wife.

She promised as soon as she had finished a dress she was making for Mrs. Fredenburg, to go home early that evening. She did not, however, show up. Once more, next day, Wescott went after her and again she promised to come home but told her husband although he had always used her right and dressed her as well as any woman in town, and given her what money she asked for, she was so infatuated with a man named Arthur Penrose, she did not want to go back to him. However, she once more promised to go back with him, but Wescott discovered she had left on Saturday in a livery rig with Penrose, taking some $10 or $12 of her husband's money.

It now seems that Penrose drove her to Brat's Station, and then, after bringing the horse and rig back to the city, followed her to Orillia by G.T.R.

Yesterday Wescott wrote the following letter to the chief of police at Orillia;

"Dear Sir,—On Saturday last, my wife, accompanied with my little boy, five years of age, left this city for Orillia, and is now living there with a scavanger, by name Arthur Penrose, and a mighty dirty scavenger at that. Now, I do not want my wife back. If she had gone with a decent man, I might have forgiven and taken her back; but when she leaves with a dirty, drunken scavenger, with only his one dirty suit to his name, and who put in 18 months in the Central Prison for horse theft, she can stay. However, I want to get my little boy away from such influences, so please arrest him, and telegraph me. On receipt I will at once send the money for his passage to Peterboro, or go after him myself. I am afraid, as Penrose is a drinking man, he will beat and abuse my boy, so please hunt him up, and let me know at once, and I will pay all costs.

"(Sgd.) E. E. WESCOTT."

LITTLE POCKET PHYSICIAN

Hyomei Inhaler that Never Fails to Cure Catarrh.

Thousands who have been cured by Hyomei, call the inhaler that comes with every outfit "The little pocket physician," as it is so small that it can be carried in the pocket or purse.

Prior to the discovery of Hyomei, statistics showed that at least 97 out of every 100 persons in this state were suffering from catarrh in some form. The remarkable results following the use of Hyomei are shown by the smaller percentage today of people suffering from catarrh.

A complete Hyomei outfit consists of "the little pocket physician," a medicine dropper, and a bottle of Hyomei, and costs only $1, while additional bottles of Hyomei can be procured for 50 cents, making it the most economical, as well as the most reliable treatment for the cure of catarrh.

Do not delay longer the use of Hyomei, if you have catarrh. This is a purely local disease, and Hyomei goes right to the spot where the catarrhal germs are present, destroys them, soothes and heals all inflammation, and makes a permanent and lasting cure.

If you cannot obtain Hyomei of your dealer, it will be forwarded by mail, postage paid, on receipt of price. Write today for consultation blank that will entitle you to the services of our medical department without charge. The R. T. Booth Company, Hyomei Building, Ithaca, N. Y.

Blame Located For Collapse

Supervising Architect and Contractor Both Negligent and the Department Responsible---Main Building Safe.

Ottawa, May 31.—The report of the commission, composed of S. G. Curry and A. C. Hutchinson, respecting the fall of the Laurier tower, was brought down yesterday. Among other things the report says;

"The supervision of the work by the department up to the level of the first floor was of the most formal character. Practically there was no supervision of the work, as it should have been supervised, from the time the work reached the ground floor until the tower collapsed."

L. F. Taylor was placed in charge of the work and was responsible to the chief architect, but he did not make any reasonable attempt to fulfil his duties.

He admitted that he paid no attention to the character of the masonry in the tower, and that the upper portion of the tower, was built without any supervision on his part whatever.

As to the causes of collapse of the tower, the commissioners say;

1. The walls, as built by the contractor, were not according to the specifications, and that the bad quality of the work was sufficient cause for the collapse of the tower.

2. The plans and specifications prepared for this work were not as explicit and clear as they might have been. They were, however, reasonably and sufficiently clear to enable the contractor to determine the quality of the work required.

3. That the construction at and above the quatrefoils and water tables, and the introduction of steel beams in the manner shown on the drawings was faulty and defective in that the quatrefoil openings weakened the wall at a point where the full strength should have been maintained and the steel beams brought a concentrated and eccentric load upon the wall at its weakest point. The more serious defect of the two is the introduction of the steel beams.

4. There was no proper and efficient supervision of the works by the department from the level of the ground floor upwards.

MAIN BUILDING SAFE.

5. The main building, owing to the use of blockstone in the backing, is safe, the work being of a substantial character.

6. It was advisable to proceed with the erection of the upper portion of the tower in the months of November and December, especially as the wall at and below the water table had been built late in the fall, and the lime mortar had not an opportunity to set.

7. The contractor must be held responsible for the collapse, in that he did not carry out his work in a good and substantial manner, in accordance with the plans and specifications, or take any precaution to see that the work was thoroughly well built at all points where it should be self-evident to any intelligent or practical builder that the construction would require special care and attention.

8. The Department of Public Works is also responsible, in that it did not properly supervise the work and detect and correct faults of construction as the work progressed.

The E. Hunter St. Extension Fixed?

Mr. R. R. Hall, M.P. Interviews Messrs Armour re Right of Way.

As noted in a former issue of The Times, Messrs. Armour, of Toronto, are asking this city to pass a by-law to buy a right of way through their property, from Hunter street east, to the lift lock.

Mr. R. R. Hall, M.P., interviewed them, in Toronto on Tuesday about this matter, as it seems the city fathers do not want to establish a precedent in such cases by purchasing this roadway.

Mr. Hall communicated the result of his talk with the Armours to Ald. Adams, who has charge of the city's end of this business. Ald. Adams recommended that Mr. Hall write to the Armours to the effect that the deal be put through in the ordinary way. The city will hand over the purchase price and the estate give a deed in return. If the Armours want any conditions recorded they can have them inserted in the deed. Mr. Hall wrote the Messrs. Armour yesterday to that effect.

It is probable that at next Monday's session of the council, a report of the successful purchase will be presented.

Devlin Knows Naught Of It

London, May 31.—The Church Army has addressed a letter to the Home Secretary drawing attention to the fact that the efforts of the society to improve the conditions of the labor market by sending unemployed to Canada is largely nullified by the influx of aliens. Mr. Gladstone replied promising consideration of the complaint.

One hundred and sixty emigrants under the care of the Church Army sailed on the C.P.R. Lake Erie. A permanent situation has been guaranteed each emigrant.

Charles Devlin, M.P., says he knows nothing about the reference in an Ottawa cable, stating he is resigning his seat in the House to accept a seat in the Canadian Cabinet as Minister of Justice.

ROOSEVELT THERE.

Portsmouth, Va., May 31. — The yacht Mayflower, bearing President Roosevelt and party from Washington, arrived here at 8.45 o'clock yesterday morning. The President is to deliver a memorial day address before the Army and Navy Union.

Spearmint Won British Derby

Epsom, Eng., May 31.—Derby Day was favored with ideal weather yesterday, and the dusty road from London to Epsom never carried a greater crowd, while the railroads, although they ran scores of special trains, were unable to accommodate all the Epsom-bound people. The contrasts, and cosmopolitanism of the throngs composing the road-borne traffic were as marked as ever. The general din was terrific, inharmonious wails of the bugles, cornets, harps, concertinas, violins, and mouth organs was added the rattle and throb of motors and the blasts of their horns, incessantly sounding in futile endeavors to get the coaters to draw their donkeys on one side so as to allow the automobiles to hurry on to their goal.

King Edward and a party of friends came down by special train in time for the first race.

The crowd at the course was believed to be a record one.

The race for the Derby Stakes, 6,500 sovereigns, for entire colts and fillies foaled in 1903, about one mile and a half, was won by Sir Tatton Sykes Spearmint. Mr. Dugdale's Sheldon was second, and the Duke of Westminster's Troutbeck was third. Twenty-two horses started.

WAS IT MURDER?

Toronto, May 31.—The police are investigating the circumstances under which Mrs. Dora Dunn was severely burned at 68 1-2 Queen street west two weeks ago. The explanation given at first was that she had stepped on a match, but last evening she stated to P. C. McKinney that a man had set her clothing on fire, and the police are searching for him.

GENERALS ISSUED PROCLAMATION.

On crossing the line, Sunday, Generals Barillas and Castillo distributed a proclamation to the people, referring to Cambreira as "the most calamitous figure of our contemporaneous history, who, having possessed himself of the power by crime, has perpetuated himself therein by a chain of crimes."

They continued by declaring for true liberty, and protection of individuals against arbitrary imprisonment, torture and executions without trial. The proclamation also expresses a desire to cultivate friendly relations with sister republics and other countries, by settling all claims, so that foreigners may live in Guatamala as in any other civilized country.

Bishop O'Connor In Lindsay

His Lordship on Parochial Work in Peterboro's Suburbs.

Lindsay Post says:

His Lordship Bishop O'Connor, of Peterboro, was in town yesterday, the guest of Ven. Archdeacon Casey, and in the course of a visit to the convent and boys' separate schools took occasion to say some encouraging words to the young scholars. His lordship was on his return journey from Bobcaygeon, where he administered the rite of confirmation to a large number of candidates on Sunday. During the afternoon a number of our leading citizens called on the bishop and enjoyed a half hour's conversation with him.

Injured at a Barn Raising.

Madoc Review says: Mr. Wilson Bailey was the victim of what might have proved a very serious accident on Monday afternoon. While assisting at a barn raising at Mr. Danford's, a piece of timber fell and struck him on the head, inflicting a painful wound. He was taken to Dr. Harper and the injury dressed, fortunately it not being of a very serious nature, and Mr. Bailey may be expected to be around as usual in a few days.

The Cavendish Case Enlarged

North Country Farmer Charged With Selling Liquor Illegally.

Yesterday afternoon a whisky case was heard by County Police Magistrate Edmison, wherein Nelson Windover, of the township of Cavandish was charged on two counts with having this month, sold liquor illegally, Windover not having a license. High County Constable Cochrane conducted the case for the prosecution.

R. H. Woods, of Tweed, the first witness, was in Cavendish, working for the Dickson Co. He and William Elmin on the 7th of May, were at prisoner's place, when he bought a $1 bottle of whisky. The flask produced by Mr. Wood in court and nothing to do with that day. Windover gave him a glass of whisky on the premises, but did not charge for it.

To Mr. Hatton, his business is that of general workman. First saw prisoner on 5th of May. He hired defendant to bring him to Peterboro. He left the Dickson Co. because he got the sack. He with others walked to Windover's place, arriving about 9 a.m.

Made a bargain with Windover at $1.50 each to drive them to Peterboro. Got back there on Sunday, May 6th. Was hired again at Buckhorn for the Dickson Co. Windover drove them back. Three of them went back, but one, with whom they quarrelled stayed in town. Left Peterboro at nine a.m., Sunday with Windover. Got to Buckhorn at 12. Had drinks en route, out of two bottles. Drank both bottles between here and Ketchuecum. Got to Windover's about six p.m. and slept there. Next morning went to the woods. Had a drink at six o'clock a.m. Was supposed on Tuesday. Elmar was in the barn the Sunday night the worse of liquor. Saw Elmer between five and six on Monday in the barn. Mr. Windover gave him and Eagle a drink at the house.

Mr. Hatton for the defendant, made a long cross-examination of this witness, which did not materially change his evidence.

The court adjourned at 4.15 for about an hour, and then got to work again. Several more witnesses were heard, whose evidence went to show that possibly the defendant may only have acted as an agent in purchasing the whisky for those who drank it. Shortly after 10 o.m., the case was enlarged until this evening.

Leaves Regiopolis.

A despatch received last night from Kingston, says: William Brick, B.A., principal of Regiopolis College, after nine years' service has resigned, and will move to Los Angeles for the benefit of his health. He has been teaching for twenty years in Haldimand County, his native place, Peterboro, Ottawa, and Kingston. He was very successful at all these places. He is well known in fraternal circles.

Married Convict Within Jail

Detroit, Mich., May 31. — Married within a bleak jail cell with scant ceremony, the honeymoon of Thos. Walsh will be spent within the walls of Marquette Penitentiary. He is the wayward son of wealthy and influential parents in Montreal, Que., and was sentenced yesterday in the Kent Circuit Court to an indeterminate term in State prison, nor more than five years, nor less than two and a half years, for burglary. He is 24 years old, handsome, and exceedingly well educated.

The bride was Miss Cora Ellis, a beautiful young woman who knew Walsh in Canada some years ago, before either came to the United States. They were sweethearts in childhood. Her friends sought to dissuade her from marrying a convicted felon, but she refused to listen to their arguments or appeals. She declares that she will remain true to her husband until his release, when both will go back to the Dominion and bury the past. Walsh was taken to Marquette this afternoon to begin his sentence.

The marriage ceremony was performed by Justice Frank J. Cook, the sheriff and prosecuting attorney acting as witnesses.

The Famous "Deadwood Dick" Is Dead

Denver, Col., May 31.—A despatch from Cripple Creek, says that Frank Palmer, said to be the original "Deadwood Dick" of dime novel fame, died in the county hospital at here yesterday of pneumonia. According to the despatch, Palmer was a nephew of former Senator John M. Palmer, and claimed relationship to the late Potter Palmer of Chicago.

When 17 years old, Palmer left home and drifted west. He went to Deadwood, S.D., in the early days of that camp, and became a successful gambler, and the sports of that mining camp dubbed him "Deadwood Dick, the Plunger." He drifted into Cripple Creek nine years ago. Reverses in fortune came, and for eight years he sold chewing gum and candy which he carried around in a shoe box.

Bartenders Are Protected By Law

Regulations Regarding Wine-Clerks Holding Licenses.

Following are the sections of the Ontario License Act relating to bartenders and their duties;

Clause 2 says: No keeper of a licensed tavern tavern in any city of town, or in any locality, shall employ any bartender, or permit any person to act as such in or upon his licensed premises, who is not during the whole time he is employed, or permitted to act, the holder of a bartender's license, as provided by this section.

The penalty provided for an offence by any bartender is a fine of not less than $10 or more than $20 and cancellation of his license, and for a second offence of any nature within two years the license shall ipso facto become void and the former holder shall not thereafter be eligible to hold a license under the Act for two years.

Clause 5.—Any bartender who shall sell or deliver, or cause to be sold or delivered, any liquor in contravention of any of the provisions of this act, or the Liquor License Act, etc., to any person whomsoever, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding $20, or to imprisonment for one month.

Mr. Tom. Boddy In the City.

Yesterday Mr. George Herbert, C.P.R. agent at Credit Forks, Ont., and Mr. Thos. E. Boddy, formerly up town C.P.R. ticket agent here, but now engaged in fruit farming, were in the city for a few days. Mr. Herbert is one of the oldest employes of the C.P.R., having entered the service, together with Mr. Boddy, when that company purchased the Credit Valley R.R. These gentlemen are the guests of Mr. W. Snowden, the genial proprietor of the caravansery of that ilk, who will assuredly do all in his power, and he knows how, to give these gentlemen a good time whilst in the city.

Lindsay Wants More Gas Light

It Seems That Promoters of a Gas Co. There May Fail to Connect.

The Lindsay Post says.

Many citizens have been asking "What about the gas proposition?" According to the agreement entered into between last year's council and Mr. L. E. Dancy, promoter of the company, a start was to have been made on construction work about June 1st, and the system was to be in operation by Nov. 1st, but things have gone slightly awry, and Mr. Dancy arrived in town today to interview the members of council and leading citizens respecting the franchise.

We understand from Mr. Dancy that owing to the unexpected withdrawal of Mr. Peter Ryan of Toronto from the little band of financiers interested, he felt it his duty to make an effort to interest local capital in the promising venture, and with that object in view has secured a meeting of the council of the Board of Trade to be held in the office of Mr. D. Ray, secretary of the water commissioners, tomorrow, Wednesday, evening, at eight o'clock.

Dog Poisoners Again at Work

Valued Dog of Mr. A. Rountree is Killed By Mean Underhand Work.

Yesterday morning, Mr. Arthur Rountree, the well known George street grocer, was, if not mourning, at least sad. It seems that his dog "Jerry," a cross between—but we will not go too finely into his pedigree, on the axiom, "De mortinis nil nisi bonum"—was poisoned in the morning "Jerry" has caused many a customer of Mr. Rountree's, to thoroughly enjoy poor Jerry's usual mad chase after the cash box flying along the overhead wire to the office. This matter of cowardly poisoning of dogs in general, whether good or bad should be investigated, and such contemptible poisoners brought to the severest justice.

Not only was Mr. Rountree a sufferer by dog poisoners, but yesterday a valuable greyhound belonging to Messrs. McCollum, the Water street livery men, poisoned to death, and a thoroughbred collie belonging to Dr. Poole, V.S., Water street, a fox terrier of Mr. J. Briggs, Brock street, a coach dog of Mr. Swift, of the Singer Sewing Machine Co., and a collie dog belonging to Mr. Ackerman also fell victims to the dog poisoners.

Whilst it is undoubted that certain people are annoyed by strange dogs crossing their lawns, or disturbing their flower-beds, it is too mean for expression to poison valuable dogs, on which the taxes have been paid, broadcast.

WIFE DESERTER ARRESTED.

Detroit, Mich., May 31. — Charged with wife abandonment, Henry Burrell of Chatham, Ont., aged 30 years, was arrested yesterday, and later turned over to Provincial Constable Maloney, of Windsor. He will be sent back to Chatham.

Faithless Wife Skips With Her Lover

Mrs. Wescott, 366 Sherbrooke Street, Gone With A. Penrose to Orillia, Her Little Son With Her.

Peterboro has a real live matrimonial scandal in her midst, where in a faithless wife, accompanied by her five-year-old boy, skips out for Orillia with another man.

The deserted husband is Mr. E. Wescott, a junk dealer, doing business at 366 Sherbrook street.

The whole history of the case, as related by the (seemingly) not broken hearted husband is as follows:

A few days before the 25th of May Wescott's wife went up town in the morning and did not return, as usual in the evening. Next day Wescott, who had walked the streets the preceding day until 11 p.m., made a thorough search of the likely places to find the absent wife. Meeting an acquaintance, a carter named Fredenburg, he asked, "Is my wife at your house?" to which Fredenburg answered "Yes." Wescott went to Fredenburg's residence. Then he asked a boy who answered the door, "Is my wife here," to this the boy answered, "No, she has not been here for a long time." Mr. Wescott, however, insisted on gaining admission, relying on what Fredenburg had told him. At this juncture Mrs. Fredenburg told him his wife had been there, but gone. She offered to allow Wescott to search the house for his wife. This Wescott did, looking through every room in the house, upstairs and downstairs. At last he went to the stable to continue the search and here he found his wife.

She promised as soon as she had finished a dress she was making for Mrs. Fredenburg, to go home early that evening. She did not, however, show up. Once more, next day, Wescott went after her and again she promised to come home but told her husband although he had always used her right and dressed her as well as any woman in town, and given her what money she asked for, she was so infatuated with a man named Arthur Penrose, she did not want to go back to him. However, she once more promised to go back with him, but Wescott discovered she had left on Saturday in a livery rig with Penrose, taking some $10 or $12 of her husband's money.

It now seems that Penrose drove her to Best's Station, and then, after bringing the horse and rig back to the city, followed her to Orillia by G.T.R.

Yesterday Wescott wrote the following letter to the chief of police at Orillia;

"Dear Sir,—On Saturday last, my wife, accompanied with my little boy, five years of age, left this city for Orillia, and is now living there with a scavanger, by name Arthur Penrose, and a mighty dirty scavenger at that. Now, I do not want my wife back. If she had gone with a decent man, I might have forgiven and taken her back; but when she leaves with a dirty, drunken scavenger, with only his one, dirty suit to his name, and who put in 18 months in the Central Prison for horse theft, she can stay. However, I want to get my little boy awa) from such influences, so please arrest him, and telegraph me. On receipt I will at once send the money for his passage to Peterboro, or go after him myself. I am afraid, as Penrose is a drinking man, he will beat and abuse my boy, so please hunt him up, and let me know at once, and I will pay all costs.

"(Sgd.) E. E. WESCOTT."

LITTLE POCKET PHYSICIAN

Hyomei Inhaler that Never Fails to Cure Catarrh.

Thousands who have been cured by Hyomei, call the inhaler that comes with every outfit "The little pocket physician," as it is so small that it can be carried in the pocket or purse.

Prior to the discovery of Hyomei, statistics showed that at least 97 out of every 100 persons in this state were suffering from catarrh in some form. The remarkable results following the use of Hyomei are shown by the smaller percentage today of people suffering from catarrh.

A complete Hyomei outfit consists of "the little pocket physician," a medicine dropper, and a bottle of Hyomei, and costs only $1, while additional bottles of Hyomei can be procured for 50 cents, making it the most economical, as well as the most reliable treatment for the cure of catarrh.

Do not delay longer the use of Hyomei, if you have catarrh. This is a purely local disease, and Hyomei goes right to the spot where the catarrhal germs are present, destroys them, soothes and heals all inflammation, and makes a permanent and lasting cure.

If you cannot obtain Hyomei of your dealer, it will be forwarded by mail, postage paid, on receipt of price. Write today for consultation blank that will entitle you to services of our medical department without charge. The R. T. Booth Company, Hyomei Building, Ithaca, N. Y.

Blame Located For Collapse

Supervising Architect and Contractor Both Negligent and the Department Responsible---Main Building Safe.

The E. Hunter St. Extension Fixed?

Mr. R. R. Hall, M.P. Interviews Messrs Armour re Right of Way.

As noted in a former issue of The Times, Messrs. Armour, of Toronto, are asking this city to pass a by-law to buy a right of way through their property, from Hunter street east, to the lift lock.

Mr. R. R. Hall, M.P., interviewed them, in Toronto on Tuesday about this matter, as it seems the city fathers do not want to establish a precedent in such cases by purchasing this roadway.

Mr. Hall communicated the result of his talk with the Armours to Ald. Adams, who has charge of the city's end of this business. Ald. Adams recommended that Mr. Hall write to the Armours to the effect that the deal be put through in the ordinary way. The city will hand over the purchase price and the estate give a deed in return. If the Armours want any conditions recorded they can have them inserted in the deed. Mr. Hall wrote the Messrs. Armour yesterday to that effect.

It is probable that at next Monday's session of the council, a report of the successful purchase will be presented.

Devlin Knows Naught Of It

London May 31.—The Church Army has addressed a letter to the Home Secretary drawing attention to the fact that the efforts of the society to improve the conditions of the labor market by sending unemployed to Canada is largely nullified by the influx of aliens. Mr. Gladstone replied promising consideration of the complaint.

One hundred and sixty emigrants under the care of the Church Army sailed on the C.P.R. Lake Erie. A permanent situation has been guaranteed each emigrant.

Charles Devlin, M.P., says he knows nothing about the reference in an Ottawa cable, stating he is resigning his seat in the House to accept a seat in the Canadian Cabinet as Minister of Justice.

ROOSEVELT THERE.

Portsmouth, Va., May 31. — The yacht Mayflower, bearing President Roosevelt and party from Washington, arrived here at 8.45 o'clock yesterday morning. The President is to deliver a memorial day address before the Army and Navy Union.

Ottawa, May 31.—The report of the commission, composed of S. G. Curry and A. C. Hutchinson, respecting the fall of the Laurier tower, was brought down yesterday. Among other things the report says;

"The supervision of the work by the department up to the level of the first floor was of the most formal character. Practically there was no supervision of the work, as it should have been supervised, from the time the work reached the ground floor until the tower collapsed."

L. F. Taylor was placed in charge of the work and was responsible to the chief architect, but he did not make any reasonable attempt to fulfil his duties.

He admitted that he paid no attention to the character of the masonry in the tower, and that the upper portion of the tower, was built without any supervision on his part whatever.

As to the causes of collapse of the tower, the commissioners say;

1. The walls, as built by the contractor, were not according to the specifications, and that the bad quality of the work was sufficient cause for the collapse of the tower.

2. The plans and specifications prepared for this work were not as explicit and clear as they might have been. They were, however, reasonably and sufficiently clear to enable the contractor to determine the quality of the work required.

3. That the construction at and above the quatrefoils and water tables, and the introduction of steel [illegible] on the drawings was faulty and defective in that the quatrefoil openings weakened the wall at a point where the full strength should have been maintained and the steel beams brought a concentrated and eccentric load upon the wall at its weakest point. The more serious defect of the two is the introduction of the steel beams.

4. There was no proper and efficient supervision of the works by the department from the level of the ground floor upwards.

MAIN BUILDING SAFE.

5. The main building, owing to the use of blockstone in the backing, is safe, the work being of a substantial character.

6. It was advisable to proceed with the erection of the upper portion of the tower in the months of November and December, especially as the wall at and below the water table had been built late in the fall, and the lime mortar had not an opportunity to set.

7. The contractor must be held responsible for the collapse, in that he did not carry out his work in a good and substantial manner, in accordance with the plans and specifications, or take any precaution to see that the work was thoroughly well built at all points where it should be self-evident to any intelligent or practical builder that the construction would require special care and attention.

8. The Department of Public Works is also responsible, in that it did not properly supervise the work and detect and correct faults of construction as the work progressed.

Spearmint Won British Derby

Epsom, Eng., May 31.—Derby Day was favored with ideal weather yesterday, and the dusty road from London to Epsom never carried a greater crowd, while the railroads, although they ran scores of special trains, were unable to accommodate all the Epsom-bound people. The contrasts and cosmopolitanism of the throngs composing the road-borne traffic were as marked as ever. The general din was terrific, inharmonious wails of the bugles, cornets, harps, concertinas, violins, and mouth organs was added the rattle and throb of motors and the blasts of their horns, incessantly sounding in futile endeavors to get the coolers to draw their donkeys on one side so as to allow the automobiles to hurry on to their goal.

King Edward and a party of friends came down by special train in time for the first race.

The crowd at the course was believed to be a record one.

The race for the Derby Stakes, 6,500 sovereigns, for entire colts and fillies foaled in 1903, about one mile and a half, was won by Mr Tatton Sykes Spearmint. Mr. Dugdale's Picton was second, and the Duke of Westminster's Troutbeck was third. Twenty-two horses started.

WAS IT MURDER?

Toronto, May 31.—The police are investigating the circumstances under which Mrs. Dora Dunn was severely burned at 60 1-2 Queen street west two weeks ago. The explanation given at first was that she had stepped on a match, but last evening she stated to P. C. McKinney that a man had set her clothing on fire, and the police are searching for him.

THE RUSSIAN SITUATION.

Now that the Douma has definitely locked horns with the Government, we shall see how much power there is behind the elected assembly. For that, after all, is the real question. The best evidence which will be given the outside world of this measure of power will be the attitude of the Government. It is not a naked question, of course, of which authority the army would obey today, but of whether the oligarchy imagines that it can afford to enter into a contest with the Douma.

The men who compose the Douma are undoubtedly men of power throughout the Empire. To send them home in bitter antagonism to the court—which will be the effect of dissolution—would be a piece of questionable tactics; and it is utterly impossible to commit so large and influential a body to Siberia. The court party have shown all along that they will not challenge the nation to combat if they can avoid it; and it must be apparent to the most confident adviser of the Star that no Government can prosper in an attitude of permanent war with its people.

It may possibly be that we shall soon see the reason for Count Witte's recent retirement. He may have seen this conflict between the Government and the Douma coming, and adroitly "side-stepped" the collision. When the deadlock has reached a crisis, he may then step to the front again as the saviour of Russia, and establish a compromise government which will make terms between the two by then weary antagonists. Count Witte has proven himself to be the first tactician in Russia, and he has not gone into retirement; consequently it is not too improbable to look for his return to the scene of action when the opportune moment comes.

The demand of the Douma for a redistribution of the land of the Empire strikes at the very root of all agrarian trouble. It is the demand of the people of Ireland—a demand which a Unionist and Conservative Government took some steps toward satisfying. It was the chief work of the French Revolution: and the work which had more to do with bringing prosperity out of the explosion than any other single achievement.

On a new Continent where there is yet plenty of land for everybody, we do not appreciate the tragedy of the landless man in a civilization where access to land has become a real and visible monopoly. The Single Taxers tell us that the principle of private ownership is precisely the same here as in Europe, and that in the end it will work as profound a mischief; but, at all events, its effects are not as plain and burdensome as they are in a community of vast estates and poverty-ridden peasants.

The Russian Government naturally puts in a plea for the inviolability of property. If a man is to be compelled to divide his land, why should he not be compelled to divide his bank account? What the Russian peasants reply to this, we do not know; but the Single Taxers—whose doctrine is accepted by such Russians as Count Tolstoi—argue that land is not property in the usual sense at all. A man can own only what he makes, say they; and no man makes land. He may contend that he bought it with good money, but so did the slave owners buy slaves with the earnings of a life time—and yet we would not admit that thereby they obtained any real property rights in human flesh. Whether the Russian peasantry as a whole take this ground, we have yet to learn; but their demand for "a new deal" in the land of their Empire is not so novel as we might imagine. It has long been advocated, even in Canada, and it is the specific purpose of most agrarian movements.

DAVITT VERY LOW.

Dublin, May 30.—The bulletin issued yesterday by the physician in attendance upon Michael Davitt says that he continues to lose ground, though he is resting quietly, and is free from pain.

NO WOMEN BARTENDERS.

Hamilton, May 30.—Inspector Birrell has received word from the Department at Toronto that under the new license law women are not allowed to work in bar-rooms, even if they are the wives of the proprietors. A couple of local hotelkeepers have been in the habit of allowing their wives to tend bar while they were otherwise engaged, but the inspector will now notify them that they will have to make other arrangements.

BAD FIRE IN BRITISH COLUMBIA.

Vancouver, May 30.—Fire in the business section of the town of Chilliwhack, sixty miles from here, up the Fraser River, destroyed nine stores and threatened the whole town. The origin of the fire is unknown. The waterworks system, lately installed, proved a very effective aid in fighting the fire.

Childhood's Dreams Are Good.

The curbing or suppression of the fanciful imaginations of childhood was strongly condemned by Dr. J. W. Slaughter, in a lecture given under the auspices of the Childhood Society at the Parkes Museum, Margaret street, London, England.

"A child's view of things may be more real than ours," he said. "Their environment as interpreted by them is real in just the same sense as ours as interpreted by us. There is no phase of life where things are as they are. They are what they are to us because we think they are.

"A child deals with child facts. When it is six it will deal with six-year-old facts, and when it grows to sixteen or eighteen it will deal with sixteen or eighteen-year-old facts. Let us treat the child's world of imagination as real for that child, and utilize it as important in its human nature and education."

In a discussion which followed a teacher remarked that she had scholars ten years old to whom it was impossible to teach history or literature, owing to their imaginative faculty having been early suppressed.

"My six-year-old daughter has been told the story of the Garden of Eden," remarked another lady. "She is now trying to solve the problem whether it is a fairy tale or not. I have left her to her own thoughts, and she is rather inclined to think it is a fairy tale because, she says, snakes don't talk."

Good Blood

Good blood, good health; bad blood, bad health; there you have it. Why not help nature just a little and change the bad to the good? Bad blood to good blood; poor blood to rich blood! Ask your doctor how this applies to Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and how it applies to you! Could anything be more fair?

We have no secrets! We publish the formulas of all our medicines!
